The first step in every successful beauty treatment that I carry out is to get the skin really and thoroughly clean. Ordinary soap cleanliness is not enough. The simplest and quite the most effective way. That's found, is by the regular use of Palmolive Soap and pure water.

OFFICERS DELVE IN PROBLEMS OF CRIME

Twin Falls Police Chief and Sheriff Take Part in Sessions at Missoula

At each annual meeting since 1924 the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police has adopted a memorial declaration for appointment of a national crime commission; but this resolution had no part in the proceedings of an international anti-crime conference held under auspices of the association at Missoula, Montana, last week, because occasion for it was removed by President Hoover's recent appointment of such a commission, Ralph E. Liphant, Twin Falls police chief, declared on his return from the Missoula meeting last Sunday evening.

200 Officers Attend

Approximately 200 sheriffs and police chiefs representing seven northwestern states and two Canadian provinces attended the Missoula conference, which was the association's ninth annual meeting. They spent four days in study and discussion of problems of law enforcement and members of outstanding figures in that field of endeavor, including Captain W. J. Birmingham, who came lately from Scotland to become chief constable at Viper cover, British Columbia, and some eminent jurists addressed the sessions. In discussions Mr. Leighton said stress was laid on the importance of uniform records of identification and of attention to detail in discharge of the peace officer's work.

On Board of Control
Mr. Leighton was elected one of the members of the association's board of control for Idaho, and served also as a member of the committee on uniform crime records.
E. P. Praier, Twin Falls county sheriff, attending his first meeting of the association, and Mr. Leighton made the trip together, being joined en route by James Barlogi, Gooding county sheriff. They made the trip by motor by way of Trail creek summit and Arco and the Blitter Root valley in Montana.
Their comment on road conditions was entirely favorable to Idaho's roads.

Woman Wants Divorce For Cruelty and Neglect

On grounds of alleged extreme cruelty and neglect, Mrs. Sylvia D. Glenn has instituted suit for divorce from John H. Glenn, railroad employe, to whom she was married in Seattle in March, 1917. She asks for custody of two children, a girl, 11, and boy, 8, and for $100 a month for their support. The petition was filed by Sweeley and Sweeley, attorneys.

GIPSON URGES SPRAYING FOR COOLING MOTHS WORM

Next Saturday, July 27, of the worms from the "second brood" of cooling moths will be entering apples, it is stated in a warning issued yesterday by E. M. Gipson, district horticultural inspector, who points out that this date constitutes the deadline for the application of spray. He says that the first of the second brood of worms overlap the last of the first brood.
Growers should apply lead arsenate, using at least four pounds to 50 gallons of water, and have the application complete by next Saturday in Twin Falls and in the valley north to Arco and in the Kimberly-Hansen district. New medicated bands to kill cooling moth worms are being used here for the first time this year. Five different kinds of bands are in use. The bands are treated with a beta-naphthol oil combination solution. The use of this device in the Payette and Boise districts last year proved successful, as the worms, in crawling down the trees, go under the bands to make cocoons for themselves, with fatal results. So far the experiments here this year seem to be proving satisfactory, Mr. Gipson states. A complete report will be made later. Hootch pots show many moths flying in some orchards but the spraying seems to indicate satisfactory worm control with the first brood.

COURT DENIES MOON ADMISSION TO BAIL

District Judge W. A. Babcock Overrules Claims of Man Held For Murder

District Judge W. A. Babcock declined Monday to admit Daniel P. Moon to bail. Moon has been held for trial in district court on charge of first degree murder of Jack Lemon, Steigerwald here last July 11.
Under writ of habeas corpus obtained Saturday evening, Moon was brought in district court Monday while his attorney argued for admission to bail on grounds that confinement endangered Moon's life because of advanced age, 76, and physical condition, and on further grounds that evidence at preliminary hearing tended to show excusable or justifiable homicide.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS MEET IN ANNUAL PICNIC

One hundred and fifty persons, attended the first annual picnic of General Laxton post, Spanish American War veterans, attended by 44 members of the camp and their families. Members were present from Pder, Buhl, Kimberly, Hansen, Hollister, Rogerson, Eden, Haxton, Jerome and Twin Falls. The meeting was presided over by Captain P. W. McRoberts, past commander of General Laxton post, who, after the picnic dinner, introduced Congressman Addison T. Smith. Mr. Smith gave a history of the acquisition of territory by the United States, pointing out that it had never resulted from a war of conquest. Several selections were given by a quartet composed of L. L. Patrick, C. E. Albert, A. D. Bellamy and Kenneth Henderson.
The program committee, composed of J. J. Hughes, C. R. Ulrich and Peter Pearson were congratulated by the gathering on the success of the affair, which it was voted to make an annual event.

Preliminary Waived By Embezzlement Suspect

Robert Francis White, in probate court Monday, waived preliminary hearing on a charge of embezzlement and was held by Judge C. A. Bailey under $1000 bond for trial in the district court. White was arrested in Elko, Nevada, two weeks ago on a two-year old warrant for alleged embezzlement of $81.45 from the White Star laundry here while employed as a driver, from July 31 to August 13, 1927.

City Council Meeting Waits Week For Quorum

With three members of Twin Falls city council, meeting this morning, out of town on vacation or business trips, there was no quorum when Commissioners L. A. Chapin and J. E. White presented themselves for a regular meeting last evening, and the proceedings were postponed to next Monday evening. There was not business of urgent importance to be considered at last evening's session, the city clerk stated.

LICENSE PLATES LACK TRIPS—THEFT SUSPECT

Character Training Object of Education, Declares University Dean

DEVELOPING QUALITY REAL PURPOSE, SAYS WILLIAM F. RUSSELL

Man-With-Something-Sensitive to Right and Wrong and Who Acts Accordingly Wins Responsibility

By WILLIAM F. RUSSELL
(Dean, Teachers College, Columbia University.)
(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 22.—Character education is not merely a matter of importance, it is the outstanding end of our education. To the degree that we achieve it, we succeed; to the degree that it eludes our grasp, in that measure we fail. One way to learn how to accomplish it, our major problems are solved.

What is character? The man of character meeting a new situation determines the right attitude to follow. This with corresponding conduct. It is not a matter of conduct alone. A man may act rightly as a result of habit, accident or force of circumstance. This would not, of necessity, indicate character. Nor is it a matter of determination of right attitude alone. A man may have the highest ideals and principles, only to act very differently.

Character Elements Define

Even Woodrow Wilson, when he was president of Princeton university, made the statement that character training is impossible on the ground that it is an education by scientific investigation reveals that character has specific and definite elements that under proper conditions, these can be trained; and that with more precise methods and clearer knowledge—much can be hoped for and accomplished as a conscious and definite educational process, that now comes only occasionally more or less as a result of accident.

IDAHO OFFICIALS TO PLAN REFORESTATION

Board of Control to Draw Up Outline For Initial Steps in Timber Program

BOISE, July 22 (AP)—A general outline of preliminary steps for reforesting the vast tracts of cut-over and burnt-over lands in the state under the new state law will be drawn up at a meeting of the forestry board of control here tomorrow, I. H. Nash, state land commissioner, said today.

The board is composed of representatives of the various fire protective associations, the land commissioner, state forester, representatives of agricultural interests and the federal forest service. Commissioner Nash said that undoubtedly the board would be first concerned with those tracts which most readily lend themselves to reforestation, in order that the earliest amount of early progress could be made at the least expense.

The board will also draw up the forms for setting aside reforestation districts under which private owners can take over the reforesting of lands virtually free of taxes with the proviso that a yield tax will be collected when the new timber is marketed.

Ostrich Gizzard New Source of Diamonds

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—The wild ostriches of South Africa have developed such ravenous appetites for diamonds that there is a premium on their gizzards.

The United States trade commissioner at Johannesburg sends word that hunters in the Kalahari Desert killed two ostriches recently, one of which had 53 stones in its gizzard and the other 17.

The birds roam over an area of rich alluvial diamond deposits and are said to eat diamonds to aid their digestion.

TAX EXEMPTIONS LIST SHOWS MARKED DECLINE

Twin Falls county's tax exemptions for widows with dependent children have been reduced in number from approximately 400 to 231, according to records of the county commissioners' office last evening at the close of four weeks' period for hearing of exemption claims under provision of a law adopted at the last session of the state legislature. In a number of cases, the records showed, claims for exemption had been denied on account of total value of the claimants' property or income, while in other cases persons who previously had been granted exemptions did not submit claims for exemption this year.

Event Draws Attention of Hundreds of Sheepmen, Officials in Charge Say

Consigned to the eighth annual state fair sale are 1200 purebred rams, which will be sold at "quiet" August 7, at Filer, according to officials of the Wool-growers association.

This is the greatest gathering of purebred rams at one time in the Northwest and is a sheep show of real quality breeding, it is announced. These rams come from 35 different breeders over the state representing the tops of their flocks. Such a large assortment of rams and all from purebred breeders in the state makes this an annual event which is looked forward to by hundreds of sheepmen, say officials in charge of the sale.

The following breeders will have rams at this sale: W. T. Leighton, Hitchcock and Asbury, Boise; L. L. Breckenridge, A. E. Boone, R. B. Beatty, Ed Tolbert, Joe Berka, A. ## TWIN FALLS MAN TELLS IMPRESSIONS OF EAST

Charles A. North, president of Twin Falls Kiwanis club, and Mrs. North have returned from a month's tour of the east and Middle West following attendance at four days sessions of an annual meeting of Kiwanis clubs International at Milwaukee. The tour included Niagara Falls, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago.

There is a great deal of activity and many evidences of prosperity in the larger cities, Mr. North stated last evening. In agricultural regions throughout the middle west, however, he said, the situation might be termed "quiet." On account of unfavorable weather conditions continuing for four or five years, he said, possibilities of farm production have declined and values of farm lands have fallen to marked degree. There are indications of a bumper wheat crop, Mr. North said, but the corn crop probably will be short because of unseasonable rains in the corn belt where thousands of acres of corn land were not even planted.

On their visit to New England and the national capital and vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. North availed themselves fully of opportunity for visiting the many points of historic interest.

Traces of Threatened War Between United States and England Fade

AMERICAN TRENCHES REMAIN AT SITE OF ARGUMENT OVER PIG

Blockhouse, Buildings and Stone Chimney Mark Location of Old Dispute Along Canadian Border

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash., July 22—Time and elements are fast hurrying into oblivion the last physical traces of what might have developed into a war between the United States and Great Britain over a pig.

A pair of monuments, a wind-scattered log blockhouse, a few ramshackle buildings, a stone chimney, and the fading memories of old timers on San Juan island are all that remain to bear witness to the last Canadian-American boundary dispute.

For 13 years, during which the United States was swept away by the civil war and endured the throes of reconstruction, small bands of American and British soldiers were engaged on opposite ends of San Juan island, engaged in as peaceful a war as has ever been recorded.

Americans dig trenches on rocky knoll on the southern end of the island, and the depression, overgrown with turf, are visible to this day. The British built their blockhouse, but if they did any shooting from the peepholes, it was only for target practice.

The United States laid claim to San Juan island in 1852 when the Washington territorial legislature included it in Island county and proceeded to levy taxes against it.

The next year the Hudson Bay company handed 1200 sheep on the island with the idea of checking the British claim. The American and Canadian settlers decided to live side by side in peace after minor squabbles in which some of the Hudson Bay sheep were seized for American taxes.

The "overt act" which brought on the troops occurred in 1859 when there were 29 Americans on the island. One of the Americans, annoyed by the roasting prospect of a pig owned by the Hudson Bay officer, shot the animal.

The Britisher demanded that the American be taken to Victoria for trial, even though he offered to pay for the pig. Attempts to arrest the American aroused his compatriots, who revolted at the idea of an American being arrested on American soil for a British trial.

Pickett Commands Company.

A memorial sent to General Haney, then in command of the Pacific, brought a company of American soldiers to the island, commanded by Captain G. E. Pickett, who later joined the Confederate forces in the Civil war and gained fame at Gettysburg.

Two British men of war with almost 500 men reached the scene soon after Pickett and his 60 Yankees had established camp. Pickett defied the British and sent for reinforcements. More British vessels arrived and the situation became tense but nothing more deadly than barrages of proclamations were exchanged.

After a conference of commanders, joint occupancy of the disputed island was decided upon until the sovereignty of the island could be determined. It was not until 1872 that the dispute was settled in favor of the United States by Emperor William of Germany acting as sole arbiter, and the troops were disbanded.

When the United States and Great Britain nearly had a war over a pig on San Juan island in 1859, the British built the blockhouse shown, now crumbling. The monument (inset) marks the scene of the American trenches.

CREAM COLLECTION COST UNDER STUDY

Professor D. R. Theophilus Will Assist Idaho Dairy Men Solve Problems

MOSCOW, July 22 (Special to The News)—Prof. D. R. Theophilus, of the University of Idaho, is conducting a study of the costs of cream collection from farm to plant, and the subject of a detailed investigation being made this summer at the Gooding and Jerome cooperative creameries by Professor D. R. Theophilus, dairy manufacturing expert with the Idaho experiment station.

The study was begun last summer in an effort to assist Idaho dairy men in their marketing problems. In addition to gathering data on the cost of collecting cream, Prof. Theophilus is studying the factors in collection that affect the quality or grade of cream and consequently its market value.

Will Visit Creameries

Professor Theophilus will be at the Gooding Cooperative Creamery for three weeks and at the Jerome Cooperative Creamery for one week. Both plants are located in a scattered area, where the cream must first be assembled by small trucks to a central point and retucked to the central plant. This year the study was made at the Dairyman's Cooperative Creamery of the Boise Valley at Caldwell, an area where cream routes are well organized in a rather densely populated section.

Routes to be Studied

Each truck route will be studied with reference to such factors as length and organization, distance between patrons, volume of cream, and the cost of truck operation. The cream will be graded at the farm and at the creamery, and the influence on quality of cooling equipment on the farm, richness, time of collection, temperature, and method of carrying for cream in transit will be determined.

Quality of Cream is of the Important Considerations in Marketing

More than 60 per cent of butter produced in Idaho is exported, mostly to Los Angeles and southern California. Selling Idaho butter in keen competition with butter from other states makes it important that the quality of cream be kept up to standard. All efforts directed toward raising the quality will result in increased profit.

GRADUATE OF GEM STATE UNIVERSITY TAKES POST

MOSCOW, July 22 (Special to The News)—Earle C. Blodgett, Boise, a graduate of the college of agriculture with the class of 1929, has been appointed field man in potato certification, reports Dean E. J. Iddings, head of the college of agriculture.

Mr. Blodgett has had considerable experience in horticultural work and during his college course acted as assistant in several departments, said Dean Iddings. He will be assigned to one of the large seed growing areas of the state for the summer.

E. L. Whitman, field man last year in potato inspection, has been re-employed for the same work this summer. Mr. Whitman received his master's degree in plant pathology in June, and his disease studies especially prepare him for potato seed certification since disease factors are of great importance in successful seed growing.

Mr. Whitman will resume his position as assistant professor of agriculture at the southern branch of the university. Mr. Blodgett will be assistant plant pathologist in the Idaho experiment station to serve in the absence of J. M. Haeder, associate plant pathologist, who has been granted a year's leave of absence for graduate study at the University of California.

STATE WILL BATTLE CLEARING HEADLIGHTS

Secretary Lukens Announces Date for Beginning of Intensive, Broad Campaign

BOISE, July 22 (Special to The News)—An intensive campaign against defective and glaring headlights of automobiles will be conducted all over the state during the week beginning August 12. It is announced by Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state. The campaign is one of the results of the recent conference of state traffic officers held in Boise. Traffic lights will also come in for their share of inspection.

Prior to the date of the campaign Mr. Lukens is arranging to have a large number of light-testing stations established. Stations in the various cities and towns of the state will be designated as official light-testing stations and where minor adjustments are necessary these stations will be permitted by the secretary to make a change of 50 cents. Charges for accessories such as new bulbs, wiring etc. will be made reasonable. When his lights are properly adjusted each motorist will be given a certificate indicating that on a certain date his lights were satisfactory. This system, Mr. Lukens says, is similar to that used in California and Oregon except that the minimum charge is higher there.

Will Fulfill Hope. Mr. Lukens says, "to bring about correction of the motor vehicle lighting evils in the state. There is nothing more appropriate to the motorist while driving at night than to face glaring headlights, or one headlight or no headlights at all.
