

Chinese Eastern Railway Often Subject of International Intrigue

30-YEAR-OLD FIGHT CENTERS ABOUT LINE TO RUSSIAN OUTLET

Road Extends 1090 Miles From Siberian Border, Across North Manchuria to Port of Vladivostok

By KIRKE SIMPSON Associated Press Feature Writer
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Perhaps no railroad in the world has figured more in the dark mazes of international intrigue than the Chinese Eastern, the bone of present contention between the Nationalist China and Soviet Russia.

Secret files of many foreign offices other than those of Moscow, Peking and Tokyo are filled with records of the 30-year-old struggle over the line.

It is a road cutting almost an all-Asian 1090 miles long, from the Siberian border across northern Manchuria to Vladivostok, Russia's remaining warm water outlet to the Pacific.

Russian Route Paralleled by Amur route to the same port, the Amur railroad that hugs the northern boundaries of Manchuria on a long curve. But the Chinese Eastern cuts 368 miles off the Amur route. Hence its vital importance.

When the Chinese-Japanese war ended in victory for Japan, terms of defeat in the Russo-Japanese war of 1905 gave to China, included were ports like Dalien, old Port Arthur, Russian influence with European support surrounded Japan to take a cash indemnity in lieu of territory. Yet hardly had that been consummated before Russia herself had a grip upon the very territories Japan had renounced and the convention with China for construction of the Chinese Eastern with its southern terminus running from Harbin to Dalien was signed.

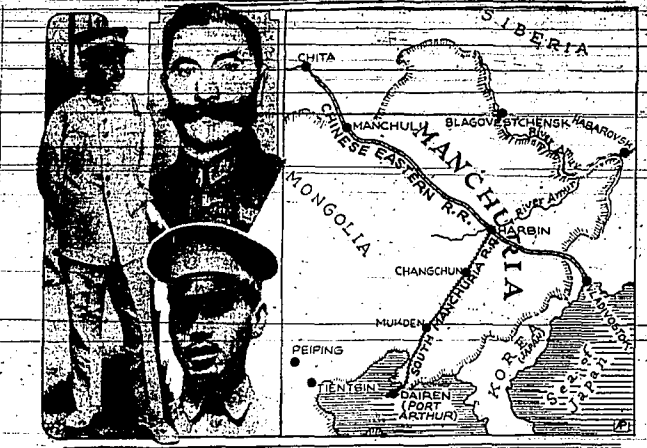

In that transaction lay the seed of the Russo-Japanese war which followed and ended in the loss of the southern arm of the road to Japan.

After the Boxer uprising in China, Russia appeared determined to expand her grip on the road and Manchuria. Other nations protested, but the Russo-Japanese war came to change the situation. China assented to the transfer of former Russian rights to Japan.

Again in the world when the Chinese Eastern was a diplomatic storm center, it was the road and Manchuria. The United States, an opportunity to meet possibly the situation in Russia that was arising here out of the Russo-Japanese war and the eastern front over this route. And out of that flowed the American railway convention headed by John Stevens, which for a time virtually operated the very road over which China and Soviet Russia still move their dispute.

China Makes Move
Almost at once, China moved after the war to limit Russian domination of the railway. The agreement first reached with Russia, specified that the Chinese eastern was to be simply a commercial railway. To the next convention, China specified that the Russian management should not engage in communistic propaganda. And in the present clash, it is that stipulation Nationalist China claims Russia ignored.

Looking back to the original agreement which the road was built, it appears that Imperial China then believed she was buying Russia an ally in the future war with Japan. While Czarist Russia was intent on retaining a dream of dominance in the Orient. And it is the heritage of this dispute which China and Russia now find themselves at loggerheads.

Army Airplane Camera Mapping North Idaho's Precipitous Mountain Peaks

GRANVILLE, July 27 (AP)—The precipitous mountain peaks of North Central Idaho around which early day miners scratched for gold are being mapped by cameras soaring 15,000 feet skyward in an army airplane.

A group of army map makers headed by Lieutenant Edwin B. Bozelen of Grisey Field, California, has been detailed to survey the Newsum quadrangle, which lies in the rugged country southwest of here. After Captain E. D. Pierce discovered gold near here in 1860 the country was soon overrun with prospectors, and much of the quadrangle is scarred with prospect holes left by them and with mines now producing.

Lieutenant Bozelen expects to complete in a month an accurate mosaic which would take land surveyors at least two years.

FAVORABLE ACTION LOOMS FOR BECHLER BASIN DAM

BOISE, July 27 (AP)—Belief that the national parks commission would look favorably on the application of the Bechler basin for storage of a reservoir was expressed here today by Governor Baldrige.

Governor Baldrige will leave here Monday for a conference with the commissioners either in the park or at Ashton, about 40 miles. He is scheduled to address a women's camp at Mack's Inn, near the park, July 30.

It is proposed to build a dam on the Bechler river which would back up water into Bechler Meadows. The water stored would be used to supplement supplies on the Upper Snake river. Several inspections of the basin have been made following protests from the fact that it was "commercializing" a game sanctuary. The basin is located in the southwest section of the park and is rarely visited by park visitors but opponents of the irrigation plan declared it was a wintering ground for certain park animals.

CONSUL CRITICIZES COLOR LINE LAW IN AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, July 27 (AP)—Sharp criticism of the law prohibiting the entry of Asiatics and colored people into Australia was expressed recently at a dinner of welcome by the new Chinese Consul General in Australia, Sun Fung-shan.

"Australia," he said, "is a very great country, but it is too thinly populated. There are only a little over 6,000,000 people here. It should have a population many times greater.

"Here you pay high wages, but you encourage the American white American are not enough workers. We Chinese are peace lovers, not law-breakers. We do our work well and are loyal."

BROWNING AUTOMOBILE COMPANY
HUPP MOTOR CAR CORPORATION

Announcing the Browning Automobile Company as distributors for Hupmobile in Utah and Idaho, with matchless sales and service establishments in Salt Lake City, Ogden, Idaho Falls, Twin Falls.

The Browning Automobile Company is the oldest automobile organization in the inter-mountain territory. It has been under the same continuous management since 1902. For nearly a quarter of a century the Hupp Motor Car Corporation has been manufacturing a rugged, dependable, pace-setting HUPMOBILE. It is therefore fitting that these two pioneers should get together . . . particularly fitting because both of these long established companies are still pioneers blazing new trails in their respective fields.

The Browning Automobile Company serves this rich territory through four strategically located establishments . . . in Salt Lake City, Ogden, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls. With its long experienced executives, its thoroughly trained personnel, its financial stability, the Browning Automobile Company is equipped to render superlative service to the motoring public in the states of Utah and Idaho.

The Hupp Motor Car Corporation, on its part, pledges the public that the HUPMOBILE car will continue to deserve its long established reputation for mechanical excellence, for dependable performance, for style leadership.

We feel that the Browning Automobile Company, the Hupp Motor Car Corporation and car owners in this territory are all three to be congratulated. Every Hupp owner and prospect can be assured that nowhere else in the United States will he be served with more promptness, treated with greater fairness . . . or financed with greater ease and stability.

Mexico's New Roads To Open Romantic Tourist Areas

REPUBLIC BUILDING MODERN SYSTEM OF NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

Government Enlarges Program and Plans for Six-Year Period Call For Expenditure of Huge Sum

By ALLEN QUINN
(Associated Press Automobile Editor)
WASHINGTON, July 27.—A report from 2000 miles of spurs toward roads, Mexico is employing modern American methods and American experience to build an up-to-date highway system.

Since the road building projects of the Spaniards ceased in ancient Mexico little thought had been given to highway construction until 1925. In that year a national highway commission was formed and a program laid out with aid from engineers with much experience in road building in the United States.

That program has been expanded and the plans for the six years, 1929-1934, call for expenditure of $30,564,000. In addition, each of the 20 state governments has its separate road program, linking up with the national system.

Most important of the highway projects being built is the Mexican section of the Pan-American highway to link North and South America.

North Section Soon Ready
The northern section of the route from Laredo to Mexico City, will be completed late this year or early in 1930, according to Octavio DuBois, president of the Mexican national highway commission. It already is carrying an influx of American tourists as far south as Monterey.

Southward from Mexico City the highway has been completed as far as the Puerto and great progress has been made from there toward Oaxaca and the Guatemalan border.

Charles M. Upham, secretary-director of the American Road Builders' association, spent several months in Mexico as consulting engineer to the Mexican highway commission. Only the highway and bus routes of road building are being employed, he said.

Land of Romance
On the road route and on many of the hard arteries of the road, it will be led through a land of romance, with many contrasts of the modern and ancient. The catcombs of Chuanhuato, the pyramids of the Aztecs, the temples of the Toltecs and the hanging gardens of the Incas will be opened to sightseeing tourists as the road building program advances.

The primitive and the modern along the Mexican section of the Pan-American highway form interesting contrast. Broad swaths are being cut through forests (below) and along mountain sides in Mexico's road building program in charge of Octavio DuBois (inset).

PREPARATIONS UNDER WAY FOR RAIN SALE AT FILER

CASSIA ASSESSMENTS NEARING OLD FIGURES

Officials Believe County Combined Valuation Will Amount to $9,600,000

BURLEY, July 27.—(Special to The News)—Abstracts and personal tax rolls just completed by the county auditor's office indicate that assessments may be brought back toward normal figures for Cassia county, as expected before the drop in 1928 when reductions were made on grazing lands and on lands devoted to the county.

Real estate as shown by the recent abstract is valued in Cassia county at $7,374,700, which is an increase above the 1928 roll of $51,700. The personal property roll stands at $444,454, which is an increase of $105,615 above 1928.

The combined valuation of real and personal property rolls this year is $9,319,154, which is to be added plus $285,846 to be added upon the utilities assessment as fixed by the state board of equalization as a basis, which is $2,255,242. It seems likely, officials say, that the combined valuation of Cassia county, after readjustment by the state board, will be $9,600,000 or more.

Cassia abstract rolls have already been forwarded to the state auditor by Arthur C. Dunn, deputy county auditor, about two weeks ahead of schedule time.

Mrs. Dowers was 82 years old. The body will be taken to the former home of the family in Kansas.

Hirschfeld Poses and Establishes New Mark

BERLIN, July 27.—Ernst Hirschfeld, holder of the world's record for "putting over" the newspaper photographer, has improved upon his own former record of 16.65 meters by six centimeters, thus making his new record 16.71 meters.

Hirschfeld had completed in an athletic meet staged by the Oram Works club, easily outdistancing his nearest rival of Berlin. He hurled the shot 15.41 meters, which was a record for the world.

The camera man pleaded with him to throw once more while they leveled their lenses upon him. It was then after the competitive program was already over, that Hirschfeld outdistanced himself.

For 20 years he used his best music now I have two jobs. The first is made.

Three-Fuel Power For Long Life

Hart-Parr builds surplus power over the rating into every three-fuel tractor for just one reason. The tremendous surge of power that makes it possible for a Hart-Parr to pull seven 14-inch plows 6 inches deep in a special test, as has been done repeatedly, enables a Hart-Parr to do the everyday work of the farm without straining or laboring. Surplus power means wearless parts and long life and explains why many Hart-Parrs are still operating after more than 20 years of farm work. Hart-Parrs are made in their sizes for small, medium and large farms, and have three forward speeds, from 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 miles an hour. Ask for a demonstration.

DARE-DEVIL'S LEAP AT SHOSHONE FALLS KINDLES INTEREST

Indications Pointing to Throne at Canyon Bowl as Al Faussett Under-takes Ride Over Cataract

When Al Faussett, former Monroe, Washington, lumberjack who has piloted his specially-built boat over six cataracts in Oregon and Washington during the past three years, sets out at 5 P. M. today to conquer Shoshone Falls, his great leap will be witnessed by a crowd of several thousand persons assembled in and about the canyon on the south side of Snake river.

Trailing a keen interest manifested generally throughout the country as soon as Faussett's purpose to ride Shoshone Falls was announced some weeks ago, interest in the event has kindled and spread rapidly during the last few days, and indications last evening pointed to one of the largest crowds ever assembled in this region to see the ride.

The "unrehearsed" event—slid—completed yesterday his final preparations for the leap, winding up with a searching inspection of the boat upon which he relies implicitly for a successful accomplishment of his feat—this morning before himself.

Appearance Changes

The Shoshone Falls that Faussett will endeavor to conquer today bears little resemblance to the mighty cataract that only flood periods bring, since great irrigation projects have been constructed to suck Snake river dry during the summer season of each year. But the great rock wall, 212 feet high, over which the flood waters pour, remains, and is mostly dry and barren, and it is to execute a leap over this giant precipice that Faussett will bend his skill and effort today.

Faussett will lose his boat in a small stream near the north end of the brink. This stream will be supplied with water before Faussett's leap, by release of waters stored by the Idaho Power company back of the dam that diverts a little stream in the Shoshone Falls plant.

A system of signals using detonating bombs has been worked out.

Motion picture camera men in a boat at the foot of the falls will record the great leap. In another boat on the waters below the falls, members of a rescue crew will be on hand to do whatever is necessary in bringing Faussett and his boat to land.

System of Signals—Using Detonating Bombs

Faussett has been arranged to complete his event. Four bombs will be given five minutes later, three bombs will be fired, but firing of two bombs will indicate the elapse of another five minute period. A single bomb will signal Faussett's passing down the channel and over the brink of the falls.

A salvo of bombs will be fired to announce a safe conclusion of Faussett's undertaking, and, as an alternative, a single bomb will be fired after Faussett makes the leap if he is injured and on his way to the hospital.

With View to Safety and Convenience of the crowd expected to witness the event traffic officers and American traffic and parking, with a general rule that cars are to be parked according to their arrival directions in the order of their arrival.

Note of Caution

A note of caution to the crowd was sounded in a statement issued last evening by the American Legion post, cooperating with Faussett in the event, which said:

"This is Al Faussett's show, and he knows that he is about. He is an experienced cataract rider, having piloted his boat over six big waterfalls in Oregon and Washington during the last three years. He has been here for several weeks studying Shoshone Falls and preparing for this ride, and he is confident that he can and will make the leap successfully.

"The Legion's part in this event, primarly, is to collect the admission charge, one-half of which goes to Faussett, the other half going into the American Legion Memorial building fund.

"In addition, the Legion is undertaking to direct traffic and parking, in order that the greatest number of spectators may be accommodated with a minimum of delay and a maximum of safety and convenience. It will be necessary that each car should be parked strictly as directed by the traffic officers. There will be no regulations as to movement of automobiles after they are admitted to the grounds, which will include the canyon rim, the benefit immediately above the river and another bench midway between the river and the canyon rim. Persons coming with the ground advice that a better view will be obtained from the higher level. There will be no admission to the starry way leading to the river below the falls, which has been condemned and warning is issued against attempt to use these stairs.

"The element of danger is not confined to the cataract rider in this event. It will be necessary for each person in the crowd to remain in the place assigned to the safety of others. It is no place for children without their parents or guardians today.

"It is the hope of the American Legion that this event may be altogether free from the slightest mishap, and that it may be the most pleasant and profitable for all who witness it, and justify the wide measure of publicity that has been given it through the press.

The task of directing traffic and parking will be in charge of Theodore J. Gechter, state traffic officer, and Leonard Avant for the American Legion. J. H. Holden will have charge of ticket sales, and G. H. Graves of ticket collection.

Virtually all of the American Legion members have been enlisted for the day in various tasks in connection with the event, and they will be assisted by Twin Falls police officers, national guardsmen and city officers.

TWIN FALLS FAMILY IN COLORADO FLOOD REGION

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Cosgriff and their son, Milburn, who returned Saturday from two weeks' vacation to Colorado, encountered near Salida, Colorado, the freshest, snuffed out the lives of three out of the members of a party of Oklahoma tourists last July 18.

The torrent came without warning, Mr. Cosgriff stated. He had been driving on a dusty road when suddenly the car ran into mud that marked the freshets path, and the machine skidded off the road.

The Oklahoma party, Mr. Cosgriff said, was caught on the side of the stream opposite the one on which the Cosgriff party was traveling. The Cosgriffs arrived on the scene shortly after the tragic mishap.

While in Denver, Mr. Cosgriff attended a convention of the National Outdoor Advertisers' association. On the trip they visited Telluride and Silverton, Colorado, and returned by way of Ogden canyon.

ATTORNEY INVESTS IN BUSINESS BLOCK

Judge R. Bothwell Purchases Property in Which Firm Occupies Quarters

Judge James R. Bothwell has purchased from the Pacific Savings and Loan association a two-story brick block at the corner of Main avenue and Second street west, in which the law firm of Bothwell and Chapman has had offices for a number of years. It was announced here last evening. The price paid was reported to have been $40,000.

The purchase marked consummation of negotiations in progress for two months past, which the Tacoma association was represented by C. D. Thomas, its local agent.

The building is a two-foot-front-on-Main avenue, was constructed about 10 years ago by T. J. Woods, pioneer Twin Falls real estate dealer and now a resident of Los Angeles.

Since completion of the building, the first floor has been the home of the Lewis Spillers, military, on Main avenue with Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Reno beauty parlors on Second street.

FEDERAL AGENTS STRIKE AT HOME-BREW-MAKERS

Home-brewed beer is quite definitely under the ban of the federal prohibition law, and federal "dry" law officers stated on their return last evening from an excursion into the east end of the canyon which resulted in arrest of two women and one man, and destruction of a quantity of the home-brewed beverage and paraphernalia for its preparation.

Any Marnold, 27, arrested at her residence six miles south of Murtugau, and held here last night on a federal complaint welcomed the officers, they reported and set out sundry bottles of beer. The unexpected denouement came when one of the officers tendered his official "barge" in payment for the refreshment. At this place the officers destroyed 141 bottles of beer, they reported.

Manufacture and sale of home-brewed beer will be charged against Cleo Calico and Mrs. Cleo Calico, Hansen, who were directed to appear before the United States commissioner here for arraignment next Monday, in consequence of the "dry" law agents' visit to the "cald" home last evening. Calico was away from home at the time, and Mrs. Calico was permitted to remain with her children, the officers reported.

Twin Falls Motors to Move to New Quarters

Leasing of the building formerly occupied by the Johns Automobile company at 323 Main avenue east, by the Twin Falls Motors, which will move into the new quarters August 1, was announced here yesterday by officials of the latter.

The move is being made without suspension of business.

Personnel of the Twin Falls Motors is: V. B. Howell, general manager; J. W. Edwards, bookkeeper and partman; N. E. Jones, salesman; W. G. Ringe, service manager, and G. B. O'Neil, chief mechanic.

Idaho's Anglers Report Good Fishing on Many Streams

Poorer Catches Go Back Into Waters In Northern Region

Game Warden in Hailey District Reports Wood River Yielding Good Results Steadily Without Letup

(By The Associated Press) BOISE, July 27.—Fishing is so good in some streams in North Idaho that anglers keep only the choice ones. That is the word brought by Ben Bush, state forester, who declared there were a dozen streams and lakes in the North easily available, where good catches could be made within an hour or two. He mentioned especially Elk creek, much frequented haunt in the Coeur d'Alene district. Here fat brook trout "bite the end off your pole," Bush said. However, it seems the Coeur d'Aleneans prefer the big rainbow trout and are willing to go to great effort to get them. Back into the "feeder streams" of the Clearwater and St. Joe they go. Bush said. This involves pack trains and pork and beans and spiked boots—but the fish are there.

Best Get Best Fish. Less desperate fishermen take to the north fork of the Coeur d'Alene river. Over a mile and a half from the mouth of the river, the water is clear and the fish are fat. This involves pack trains and pork and beans and spiked boots—but the fish are there.

Southern Idaho fishing presents a coat of many colors. Says E. C. Cottle, state auditor, who took last week off to rest for the arduous work of the board of equalization coming soon: "We fished on Little Lost river and over in the Stanley basin, and we made several side trips on horseback. We caught just about enough fish to keep from starving."

Fishing Poor At Pine. The warden at Pine said the fishing was poor in that section and urged the hunting-of-fish clubs to stop bringing it back to normal. On the question of deer, however, he had other words to say, to the effect that there were plenty and all fat.

Hard Going Trails. Hoover's fishing Tale of Two Presidents, Incumbent and Predecessor, Differing Vastly

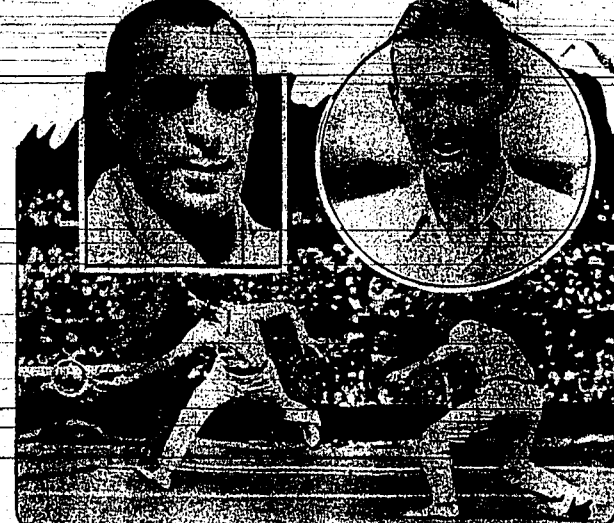

WASHINGTON, July 27.—In the tale of the two presidents, Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge, there is a vast difference in "fisherman's luck."

Hoover has abandoned week-end trips to his Virginia preserve because of a drenched forest and quagmire roads. On one of his first trips in May, a low-hanging branch gave him a black eye. His provision trucks got stuck in the mud. His fishing tackle failed, to mention a few of the ills that befell him. The Blue Ridge mountains. He slipped in a rough, heavily timbered creek while storming rapids. He spent an hour and half carrying his traps. Poachers entered his preserve.

Over near Frederick, Maryland, the citizenry protested, he was usurping the favorite deer ponds and his secretary made plans to sell the Maryland preserve but was dissuaded. Calvin Coolidge, in contrast, came closer to the quagmire type of angler immortalized by James Whitcomb Riley. He was chiefly concerned about the catch. News stories about the Coolidge getting hold of the showing in his sweat-soaked fish basket.

Newly improved roads smoothed the way for the Coolidge lineaments to Boston. Police Chief Leighton has issued orders to arrest every person disregarding DANGEROUS CURVES signs.

Americans Play For World Tennis Honors

THE AMERICAN Davis cup team playing France for the tennis championship of the world consists of three youngsters and the veteran William Tilden, II (upper left). New High Total in Winnings May be Set by Bradley Colt

By partnering an additional $100,000 Blue Larkspur, champion, three-year-old of 1928, may become the greatest money winner of all time of American turfdom.

By ORLO L. ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, July 27.—Monarch of all he surveyed—Blue Larkspur. But the champion three-year-old thoroughbred of 1928 is not content with the supremacy of his set. Already Colonel E. P. Bradley is pointing the great son of Black Servant toward the list of money winners. In his effort to become the leading money winner of all time Blue Larkspur has five of the greatest thoroughbreds ever to race in America "left to surpass."

Americans Triumph In Doubles Contest On Parisian Court

France Waits Another Day to Pour Champagne Into Davis Cup, Symbol of World Tennis Supremacy

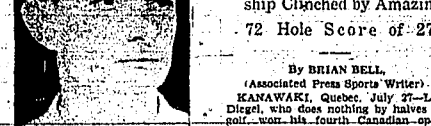

By J. E. ANGLY (Associated Press Staff Writer) Paris, July 27.—France will have to wait another day to pour champagne into the Davis cup, the gleaming silver bowl that symbolizes world supremacy in tennis.

In hopes of winning three straight matches, the French sent their best doubles team of Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra onto the court today against the United States, but the singles conquerors of Big Bill Tilden and George Lott were soundly and smartly beaten by two American youngsters, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, the one from Princeton and the other from Texas. France needs but one more victory in two matches tomorrow, however, to keep the Davis cup, another year. America must win both to win back the trophy.

Ten thousand spectators packed the Roland Garros stadium to see Allison and Van Ryn triumph in double quick time by scores of 6-1, 6-9, 6-4. Until today many a garrulous Gaul would have argued through a full hour and several drinks on the proposition that Cochet and Borotra together constituted the best doubles team in the world. Cochet and Borotra were scarcely a match this afternoon for the dazzling pair of Americans, who, like Helen Williams in women's singles, have conquered all opposition in Europe this summer.

Bosses Cards Again Leo Diegel Victor In Canadian Open

Winner's Fourth Championship Clinched by Amazing 72 Hole Score of 274

By BRIAN BELL (Associated Press Sports Writer) KANAWAKI, Quebec, July 27.—Leo Diegel, who does nothing by halves in golf, won his fourth Canadian open championship today. An amazing 72-hole score of 274, topped off by a record quelling 66 in the final round, gave Leo the crown by a margin of 10 strokes. Tommy Armour taking the runner-up place with 277.

No one but Diegel had ever won the Canadian title—three times. He won in front in 1924, 1925 and 1929 and made it four today. He has never, however, captured the championship with such a score as that compiled today. Nor has anyone else. MacDonald Smith and Joe Kirkwood tied for third place with scores of 284. Bill Melhorn was fifth with 286. Jim Barnes scored 287. Horton Smith with a last minute 67 compiled a score of 288 and squeezed into the money with Bill Burke, Al Watrous, Gene Sarazen and Emmett French with 290. Somerville was the low Canadian player. George Von Elm was the leading amateur from the United States with 290.

THE NEW THREE WINDOW FORD SEDAN

A splendid family car because of its graceful lines, beautiful colors and unusual riding comfort. Generous space is provided for all five passengers. Richly appointed and upholstered, with deeply padded seats in the fashionable lounge style. Storage in rear is recessed to give additional leg room. Driver's seat is adjustable.

VALUE far above the PRICE

IN REVIEWING the many advantages of the new Ford, it is particularly interesting to note the relation between value and price.

The low first cost of the new Ford is a pointer to keep in mind at all times because it means a considerable saving to you in the purchase of the car.

Equally important, however, is the reason for this low price and the manner in which it has been achieved without sacrifice of quality or performance. On the basis of actual, comparative worth, the new Ford represents a value far above the price you pay.

This is made possible only through manufacturing methods and production economies that are as unusual as the car itself.

Every purchaser shares the benefits of the Ford policy of owning the source of most raw materials—of making thousands of cars a day—and of selling at a small margin of profit. Were the new Ford made in any other way, under any other policy, it would unquestionably cost you much more than the present price.

The use of the Triplex shatter-proof glass for the windshield is a definite indication of this quality. So are the four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. The silent, fully enclosed six-brake system. The aluminum pistons. The chrome silicon alloy valves. The simplicity of the lubrication, cooling, ignition and fuel systems. The large number of ball and roller bearings. The extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings. The many other mechanical features that count so much in reliability, economy and long life.

All of these are important considerations to every man or woman who is contemplating the purchase of a motor car. All are important reasons why the new Ford delivers a value far above the price.

Baby Stars Lead Veterans In National Home Run Race

CHUCK KLEIN
Melvin Ott
 In front in the home run race, Mel Ott and Chuck Klein are battling their way to great fame. Mel is 20 and Chuck is 21.

PHILADELPHIA, July 27 (AP)—Two sharp-eyed young men who still have to learn how to bat a ball are the home run champions of the National league. Chuck Klein of the Phillies hit 20 in his first 40 games and Mel Ott of the Braves slugged out 24 in 39 games. Both ran up their totals during recent home stands in parks which do not strictly discourage circuit-climbing. Klein, who is 21, is serving his first term in the majors. He came to the Philadelphia Phillies from the Three-R team last summer. He cost Bert Shotton's club $7500. A few times that much every club in the big show would reach for him now. Ott, who is 20, is somewhat of a veteran compared to Klein. He broke in last year, playing the minors with the Olanits his railroad fare from Clinton, La. to New York. He played his first year as a regular last season, hitting 18 homers and batting .322 in 134 games.

Joe Sewell Aims at Record With 1000 Straight Games

The 1207 continuous game record of Everett Scott seems tottering as this Indian infielder from Alabama slips past his four thousandth game mark this month.

CLEVELAND, July 27.—Joe Sewell, the Cleveland landmark who, having played 1207 consecutive games, has one thousandth consecutive contest and still is going strong.

Joe has scheduled no stops this side of the record of 1307 set by Everett Scott, the great-old shortstop of the American league.

While a while back that Joe was about to be benched, but the Alabama terror staged a great comeback and pulled his batting average above the 300 mark, which it has been for the last six years.

Things haven't been breaking any too good for the older member of the Indians' brother set since he volunteered to shift from short to third base at the start of the season.

After playing short for 12 years, Joe found it hard to pick up the pace at the hot corner, and his worry affected his batting.

But that was just another hurdle for the game southerner to clear. Joe really has played in more than 1300 major league games, but he missed out in an engagement in 1922, so his consecutive run dates from this year.

Instead of 1922, when Joe was called in to take the place of Ray Chapman. He helped the Indians win the pennant and played straight on through the world series.

The Cleveland veteran needs to stay in the game through this year, next year and a few games in 1931. Those who know Joe Sewell predict that he will do it.

Two Pairs of Brothers in Coast Ball Play on Four Rival Teams

By VICTOR G. SIDLER (Associated Press Staff Writer) LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Two sets of brothers—the Carlysles and the Bergers—are coloring the Pacific coast baseball scene with a zealous brotherly rivalry that has not altogether escaped the attention of major league scouts.

To have two pairs of brothers in the league at the same time is not only the unusual circumstance surrounding the play of the Carlysles and the Bergers. All are outfielders, young in years but of great ability. Each one plays with a different club.

Cleo Carlyle center fields for the Hollywood club and his brother, Roy, holds down the outfield for Chicago's "Cubs." Of the Bergers, Walter is the ender and one of the Los Angeles club's hottest hitting fly chasers.

This gave him a 5-point margin over Paul Wanner and placed him only 6 points behind Brother Lloyd.

Amateurs Face True Tests on Course at Pebble Beach

Nation's Best Golf Artists Will Fight For Honors in Fall

Shimmering Green Fairways, Linking Lowland With High, Lures Cream of Sport to Competition

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Staff Writer) DET. MONTE, Cal., July 27.—Stung and along the shores of the Pacific, its shimmering green fairways linking the lowland with the high, is a fantasy in golf creation that will test the skill of the nation's best amateur golfers here in September.

The Pebble Beach course has been distinguished with painstaking exactness for the 1929 national amateur championship, September 2 to 7. Its "butterfly" points with pride the fact that it is one of the greatest perfections of the game have made it a tricky terrain and acknowledge it "a true championship course."

Eight holes border directly on the Pacific ocean, a water hazard from which the balls are returned to play. Wind flurries swoop in to annoy the player, then depart as suddenly as they appeared. A network of barrancas, the surface of the earth from the first hole to the eighteenth.

Jagged courses whose recesses the great Pacific thunders its waters or swells them "family" according to its mood, like deeply inlaid sculpture, invoked the most ingenious handiwork to create a bit of western scenery.

Since its revelation, not one professional or amateur has qualified the Pebble Beach course. Walter Hagen and Johnny Farrell, professionals whose deeds need no recounting, have bucked up against its hazards, and both have failed. Farrell, who has called the better "card" and is "loaled" 75 strokes.

Farrell Comments: After the round, Farrell said: "Pebble Beach was a great enough and hard enough course before it was stiffened for the 1929 national amateur championship. It is now, without a doubt, one of the supreme championship golf tests in the world."

The Pebble Beach course was re-visited by Chandler Egan, twice national amateur champion and winner of many sectional and state titles. This year he finished on the course with the outward journey, calling for 36 strokes, 18 holes.

Citizens to Erect Man-o-War Statue

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 27 (AP)—Citizens of Lexington, Kentucky are organizing for the bronze to be cast of Man O'War, famous race horse. The bronze statue, the thoroughbred were announced recently, by Governor Sappington, following an exchange of letters with P. C. Reilly, New York, who conceived the idea.

The memorial would be life-size. It originally was Reilly's proposal to have the bronze erected at Churchill Downs, Louisville, over which the Kentucky Derby is run annually, but Lexington citizens have asked that the statue be placed in Man O'War's home town. The thoroughbred is enjoying the life of a prince on a farm near Lexington, Ky. Man O'War was an enthusiastic admirer of the horse and began formulating plans for the statue.

Mr. G. R. Ruth, New York sculptor, has been commissioned to execute the statue.

West Coast Pugilism Gives Court Room Able Attorneys

These two boxers and others on the Pacific coast are making, or have made, the jump from the ring to the bar.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Staff Writer) SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—It is a far thing from the vocal outbursts of the sport of boxing to the grand dignity of the courtroom, but the profession of law has recruited some able members in this section from the chin-socking industry.

For 20 years back, prize fight rings have quivered under the reign coated shoes of some younger who was exchanging punches to the ultimate end of one's blocking head and arm and countering with verbal barbed.

Latest of the gladiators whose ring activity is paving the way to future law activity is Frankie Stetson, 19-year-old San Francisco high school boy. Fighting at night and studying by day, Stetson has advanced so far in pugilistic ranks he is knocking at the door of the junior welterweight championship. Only twice-in-

When Ty Cobb Went Hitless 13 Games

MACON, Ga., July 27 (AP)—This is a little story of what was perhaps the most famous hitting slump in history. In a fanning bee here the other day, Nap Becker, Brooklyn scout and former big league pitcher, recalled that Ty Cobb once went hitless for 13 straight games.

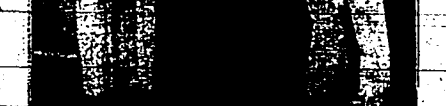

Dixie Cage Coach Non-Stop Golfer

CHATTANOOGA, July 27 (AP)—So far as is known, Ross Edgemon, Chattanooga basketball coach, holds the record for non-stop golfing.

Edgemon went out the other day and for no reason whatever played 72 holes of golf at one sitting, or walking, or whatever you choose to call it.

Starting at 7:30 A. M. Edgemon trudged around the course for 13 weary hours and a half. His score was not so sensational as his stamina, although, factoring in the darkness he shot his last round in 49 on a par 34 course, trotting around the nine holes in exactly 30 minutes.

United States Rifle Team to Seek Title

Soldiers, Marines and Civilians Carry Hopes to Range in Stockholm

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—American hopes of regaining the international rifle match championship rest with a team consisting of soldiers, marines and civilians.

The competition opens in Stockholm, Sweden, August 16 with 13 nations shooting for the cup.

Among the 10 men on the American team are several crack shots who approached world records in tryouts before sailing July 17.

Major Ralph S. Keyser of the marines is captain. The army is represented by Major J. K. Dole, member of the winning team of 1924 and captain of the 1925 team, and Sergeant J. H. Sharp, who has never lost an international match.

Summary Sergeant Morris Fleck, who heads the five marines, was the 1923 rifle champion of the world. Of the other four members, two were on the 1924 team.

The civilians include W. L. Bruce, Cheyenne, Wyoming, who in 1927 broke the world record for prone shooting as a member of the United States team. N. Renshaw, Nogales, Arizona, a noted marksman, who has not previously entered "international" competition.

Another member of the team is the year-old "find" who appeared unheralded at the Quantico, Virginia, tryouts to win a place on the team.

Bracey Should Crouch In Races, Says Manager

HOUSTON, July 27 (AP)—What Claude Bracey should do in the 100-yard dash is crouch, believes Gaylord Johnson, race institute business manager, who accompanied the fast flash on his trip through the east and middle west.

"He attributed Bracey's failure to beat Eddie Tolan, Michigan star, to the fact he did not crouch at the start," Johnson said.

"Bracey is much broader and taller than Tolan, and he will have more resistance to fight than a smaller man who runs crouched over," Johnson said.

Both Jack Meagher, Rice grid coach, and the school's business office manager, George Blinn, are objecting to his track tactics.

Old Pictures New to Ty Who Saved Batting Eye

PARIS, July 27 (AP)—Ty Cobb has been voted the most rated movie fan Paris has ever seen.

Ty Cobb has been in Paris for several weeks and in spite of the "hot" evenings, the former champion batsman of the American League is not missing a single night at the movies.

"You see for 24 years I did not dare to attend the movies for fear of injuring my batting eye," Ty explained to some friends the other day. "My family tells me that some of the films I have come to see in Paris were thrown on the screen in America some years back but all are new to me."

Shortstop Situation Worries Bucky Harris

DETROIT, July 27 (AP)—That shortstop situation in Detroit is one of the things that worry Bucky Harris, Detroit manager.

BROOKLYN, July 27 (AP)—If Babe Herman can keep his batting average up to .400 the remainder of the season, he will eclipse the record of all major league hitters since 1923.

Horstby and Walter Johnson both hit better than .400 that year and the mark has not been equalled since then. The former finished with a mark of .307 while the latter batted .433.

Injured Athletes Back in Stardom

NEW YORK, July 27 (AP)—They always come back for more. Tommy Thevenou, with a badly crushed leg, was threatened with permanent disability in April. He is now playing good ball for the Phillies.

Fred Roe, the Texas polo star, was near death two years ago after his pony bit him in the neck. He recently played brilliantly for the Shelburne tour, finalist in the competition for a Long Island club championship.

George Blinn, sent to the sidelines in the 1928 Olympic trials with a badly strained knee, was better than ever this year and is a special reason of springing with a new record for the century.

Doherty Winner of Decathlon Title After Years of Careful Preparation

Performance By Cadillac Club Star At Denver Meet Contradicts Assertion That Athletes Lead Easy Life

By HERBERT A. HALL (Associated Press Staff Writer) DETROIT, July 27.—Kenneth Doherty, the winner of the Amateur Athletic Union decathlon at Denver, recently laid an emphatic contradiction to the occasional assertion that athletes have a soft life.

Six years of hard training, stiff competition and "bricks" diet were tending their collective force to Doherty when he scored 7744.6 points in the annual Amateur Athletic union track and field championships at Denver.

Facing a whole track team single handed and walking away with the honors of the day-long since has become the routine to the lean and wiry Detroit athlete. "I really matters little to him what ever he is entered in."

The history of Ken Doherty has been written against a background of the elder track and the white frames of hurdle standards. Six years ago he entered Detroit City college where he tried for the track team as high jumper.

His coach, David L. Holmes, while recognizing his value as a specialist, valued even greater fields for his protégé. He began grooming Doherty to stand the grime of as many events as possible in every meet his college entered.

Amplifiers May Tell of Progress of Race Race Young Saint Stars Due for Promotion

NEWPORT, R. I., July 27 (AP)—Powerful amplifiers will keep the spectators abreast of the progress of the annual regatta of the Narragansett Bay regatta association.

Installation of amplifiers along the shore that parallels the course has been approved already by a sub-committee of the regatta association.

Motor boat and airplane racing will be occupied by the Narragansett Bay association during its third annual regatta August 2 and 3.

Billy Bancroft, former Howard college quarterback, plays second base for Spartanburg of the South Atlantic league.

Loe Gehrig has been having trouble getting his share of base hits and in early July was batting more than 50 points below his 1928 average.

Goose Goslin was fined $100 for hitting a pitched ball when the bench signaled otherwise.

HISTORIC CHARM AND DE HOME BUILDER IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY

White Ruffled Curtains at 12-Paned Windows; Old Brass Door Knockers and Long Halls Now Popular

By SUE McNAMARA (Associated Press Feature Writer) WASHINGTON, July 27—White ruffled curtains at 12-paned windows; old brass door knockers; halls running the length of the house with fluted windows over the doors. These things are eagerly sought by Washington society folk. Old mansions with a history—and there are many in this part of the country—are being converted into homes containing the best of modern living while still retaining their historic charm.

Georgetown, that part of Washington which extended to the edge of the city itself was built, it is necessary for writers, artists and others who want something different and individual in the way of a home.

Its nearness to Washington proper is combined with the quiet atmosphere appealed to those who want seclusion. One can tell Georgetown by the gay, painted shutters, doors leading to gardens, trim little porches and window boxes which—droll up the fronts of the plain, old-time houses.

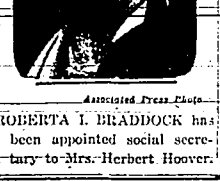

Old Skinner, Maude Adams and other theatrical stars of a decade or two ago have had homes there. Ellen Terry has taken an old house with a big garden. Not much is known about its history. None of its former owners has been identified.

With good roads and cars, old estates far out in the country are being used by Washingtonians as their homes. Mrs. Mazon Gray, widow of an army colonel, has moved into charmingly furnished brick house in Maryland—32 miles from the city. High up under the caves, the figure of the date the brick was brought over from England.

In the deeds dating back over a period of years the house is referred to variously as "Johnnie and Mollie's mansion," "Dove's nest" and "old or mysterious name, although there is no record of who Johnnie and Mollie were or whether they were really the owners of the old house.

Like most of the old houses, this one has shivery tales attached to it of headless dogs and ghosts which fill the night hours. However, the present occupants—and her house, hold sleep soundly with sweet country air of clove-laden fields coming in through the white-curtained windows and the alluring outlines of the Catoctin mountains in the distance.

WIFE'S HOBBY GIVES HOBBY NEW CLOTHES

Working With Six-By-Four Loom Mrs. Bruce Christen Weaves High Grade Cloth

By ADELAIDE KERR (Associated Press Staff Writer) NEW CITY, N. Y., July 27—In a world where a man generally provides his wife "the clothing which she wears," Mrs. Bruce Christen has the distinction of reversing the process and making her husband's clothes.

Working with a six-by-four loom that stands higher than she does, and wools imported from Scotland, she weaves the clothing which she and her husband's and even his overalls are made. A little German tailor completes the job.

"So adept has she become that orders have begun to pour in from the neighbors, and already the cloth for their next winter's overalls is being designed by this woman weaver, who lives up the road.

"I had no idea when I began that my hobby would turn out like this," said Mrs. Christen, who in addition to her career as a weaver, is the mother of two babies, both under three years of age. It started several years ago, because a fall she must have something to do.

"Everybody in our neighborhood was writing plays, making poetry, sculpturing or painting, and I began to feel I was the only one who wasn't doing something interesting.

"My husband suggested that I take up weaving—although he insists now that he had no ulterior motive. So I attended a school of weaving for a few weeks for two or three months, bought myself a loom for $80 and went to work. Now I wouldn't change for anything else in the world."

The wools which she uses, selected from a color chart and imported from Scotland, are hand washed and combed in large tubs.

Shades of brown, combinations of black and gray and shades of red are chosen for the turbans.

Glove makers also seem to be preparing for a "velvet" season, for some of the new summer motifs through intermentations of velvet or velvet cuts on kid.

WHY CHRYSLER CAN'T BE COPIED

For five years the motor car industry has striven unceasingly to emulate and overtake Chrysler—yet all their efforts and most persistent ambitions to that end have fallen far short of their goal.

As time rolls on, it becomes more and more manifest that Chrysler performance can't be copied—that only Chrysler engineering and Chrysler manufacturing methods can produce Chrysler results.

Chrysler results are uncopiable because Chrysler engineering is of an entirely new school of thought, because Chrysler ingenuity is free from the hindering and hampering influence of out-dated and hide-bound traditions.

Conference of Six Powers Will Meet To Eliminate Final Major European Trouble Remaining From World War

Gathering Will Decide Fate of Young Plan for Settlement of German Reparations Account; Delegations to Attend From Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan

By S. F. VABER (Associated Press Writer)

PARIS, July 27.—The elimination of the last big European trouble remaining from the war, not already taken in hand by the League of Nations, is the essence of the program for the conference of six powers, which is to open August 6, and accept or reject the Young plan for settlement of the German reparations account.

Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan will be represented, officially. The United States may have an unofficial observer present.

In detail, the ambitious project this conference will undertake involves the application of the Young plan for reparations payments, arrangements for the evacuation of what territory is still occupied in the Rhineland, and the setting up of a commission of conciliation to supervise either temporarily or permanently as the other powers may agree with Germany, any future armament on the left bank of the Rhine, within the Star basin and the strip of territory between the river and the frontiers of France and Belgium.

The application of the Young plan implies the end of the Dawes plan and will take from S. Parker Gilbert his post as General Agent for Reparations. It will also require action on the proposal to substitute for present reparations agencies a bank for international settlements, proposed by the expert committee.

That the Rhineland would be evacuated after the final reparations settlement has been tacitly understood ever since the Allies and Germany arranged for a final liquidation of the war. There will be the addition of French public works to the construction program, which may be some difficulty in bringing the Germans to accept a control commission in the Rhineland, even temporarily, as is provided, too, is regarded as quite soluble, in the present amicable state of mind of European statesmen.

The setting up of the proposed international bank also may give trouble on account of the ease among some public-minded parties that this institution may develop too much financial power. The radicals and Socialists in France, for example, demand that the French government possess and other power for this institution than the role of trustee for reparations payments.

The conference probably also will concern itself with the commercialization of the unexploited part of annuities Germany must pay under the Young plan. This will represent in all the present value of 37 annuities, each of $70,000,000 francs, equivalent in total to $27,000,000,000.

To Appoint Committee. An expert committee to set up the bank and arrange the details for the issue and distribution of bonds covering the amount to be commercialized will be appointed under present plans to report to the governments as soon as the technical details can be agreed upon.

France expects to take the lion's share of the bonds to be issued for negotiable purposes. She will get securities of the present value of about $2 billion francs (approximately $1,680,000,000) equivalent to 37 annuities of 500 million marks each.

When these questions have been settled there will remain hanging over from the war to threaten the peace of Europe, chiefly the territorial dispute between Poland and Lithuania, the German claim to the Danzig corridor, and the question of minorities which lately has already been dealt with by the League of Nations.

More vaguely there loom in the future such subjects as Germany's wish to regain some of her mandated colonies, the attitude of the United States, Italy and the Austrian republic, and Hungary's desire to see a revision of the 1919 treaty which would restore to her sovereignty a big proportion of her former Magyar population.

OPERA COMPANY IN ENGLAND TO TRAVEL

HISTORIC ORGANIZATION TO TOUR UNDER LEADERSHIP OF 29 Year-Old Composer

LONDON, July 27.—A rejuvenated Covent Garden opera company is being organized for an extensive fall tour. For the first time in its long history the organization will be a year-round one instead of a ten-week one, lasting only during the London season. John Barbirolli, a 29-year-old English composer and conductor, has been named musical director of the permanent organization. "We are going to build up a genuine national opera company with headquarters in London, and the keynote of the movement is going to be youth," said Lieutenant Colonel Eustace Bliss, one of the directors.

For the first time in many seasons Covent Garden closed its London season without suffering a loss and Lieutenant Colonel Bliss said he hopes that the new organization will provide a year-round musical success. "The company has started rehearsals on the road tour in September, opening in Halifax. In the past Covent Garden opera has been a going organization only during the ten weeks of its London stay, each year necessitating a complete reassembly of staff members.

The National British Opera company, which had to give up its ambitious program of touring to English cities outside London because of financial difficulties, will turn over part of its organization to the enlarged Covent Garden company.

HUNGARIANS PRISONERS IN RUSSIA, COUNT SAYS

BUDAPEST, July 27.—Count Czaky, minister of war, told parliament that 10,000 Hungarians, captured in the world war, are still held in Russian prison camps and forced to work in the state mines of Siberia.

He explained that these men could not be repatriated because the government has no money for such a purpose and also because there are no diplomatic relations between Hungary and Russia. A friendly power, which is only Rumania, has been asked to collect information as to the fate of thousands of ex-soldiers of this country who have been separated from their homeland for more than a decade.

Count Czaky said that the prisoners are distributed all over Siberia and lead a miserable existence. He said they were not even allowed to correspond with their relatives in Hungary because the letter censorship permits use only of Russian, German, French or English.

Some escaped prisoners have come back with startling tales of the life in Siberia. The mortality among the Hungarians is appalling, they declare, because the men receive only enough food to keep body and soul together.

BEZGRAD HAS WOMAN COP

BEZGRAD, July 27.—The first police woman in Jug-Slavia has been appointed to the Belgrade force in the person of Dr. Maria Illich. Her chief duty is to appear with the corps on parade in its treatment of female and juvenile crime.

Elbe River Dredgers

WITTENBERG, Germany, July 27.—A treasure chest full of gold and silver coins of the eighteenth century was pulled out of the mud by a dredge on the Elbe river. Most of the money consisted of silver coins dated from 1740 to 1811, but there also were a number of French Louis d'ors. Though the find was made in broad daylight, it became known only when a policeman saw a child near the dredge playing with it. The greater part of the money was traced to two bargemen. It is assumed that the treasure was loot from the Napoleonic wars.

Deaths Exceeding Births In France, Report Shows

PARIS, July 27.—Latest vital statistics for France are the most discouraging in recent years. They show that in the first three months of 1929, there were 70,200 more deaths than births, a figure of more than a quarter million a year.

The ministry of labor warned against undue alarm, claiming that the influenza of last winter was responsible for the large proportion of deaths, and that the population was still recovering from the effects of the war.

French Workers Buy Channel Tunnel Jobs

CALAIS, France, July 27.—The Calais to Dover, France-England tunnel, is already regarded as such a certainty, although the negotiations between the French and British governments are still in its embryonic stage, that 44 workmen from southern France arrived recently and asked the railroad agent where they should be housed during the tunneling.

"We paid 1000 francs—about $40—for the jobs," explained the leader of the party, "and we want to go to work."

When it was explained to them that the tunnel might, perhaps, maybe, be started by 1940, the workmen were indignant. "And we had such confidence in those two men," said one of them.

You were quite right," soothed the agent, "that's what they were, confidence men."

SMARTEST STYLE and Definitely-Proofed Mechanical Superiority

FACTS stand behind the success won by the New Durant Six-Sixty. Ultra-modern in every detail of style, motorists find this beautiful car comparable to the highest-priced automobiles. To make that vogueishness mean something, there is mechanical excellence unmatched by any other low-priced Six. Proved by COMPARISON.

Adverse Conditions Cause Theatres And Music Halls of Vienna to Close

By JAMES A. MILLER (Associated Press Correspondent)

VIENNA, July 27.—Vienna, though the first of these is being opened by Max Reinhardt, the famous Viennese, while the other enjoys its old-time fame as the home of Viennese musical comedy.

Every year since the World war a large number of amusement places have closed their doors for want of patronage. Many of those still running exist only under the greatest difficulties.

Within the last year no less than eight first-class theatres were closed. These included the Apollo, the Komiker, the Neue-Wiener-Bühne, the Stadt-Theater, the Olympia, the Opernhaus, the Karltheater, and the Volkoper. Together, these playhouses represented seating accommodations for approximately 12,000 persons. About 1600 stage-hands are left without work.

With the advent of the summer season, it was announced that a number of smaller theatres would soon close their doors. Last year's deficit of the capital's theatres combined was more than $1,000,000.

The three state-owned theatres in Vienna, the Staatsoper, the Burgtheater, and the Akademischer Theater, are in the midst of state subsidies without which it would be impossible for them to continue. Of the privately-owned theatres there are only two, the Josef-Staedler theatre and the Theater an der Wien, which can be said to be meeting expenses. The first of these is being opened by Max Reinhardt, the famous Viennese, while the other enjoys its old-time fame as the home of Viennese musical comedy.

Theatre owners say that excessive entertainment taxes charged by the city, have had much to do with the situation. The tax rate runs from 5 to 10 per cent and are levied, not upon the actual receipts, but upon the full price of all the seats in the theatre.

Another factor is that Vienna is the only big capital on the Continent which grants no subsidies to privately owned theatres. Some theatrical men hint this is a deliberate socialist policy of the municipal government aiming at the abolition of privately owned houses.

The situation of theatres in the provinces is not much better. Houses in Villach, Baden bei Wien, Wiener-Neustadt and other places have closed their doors. Many Viennese cafes are also experiencing great difficulties. The one thing which keeps them from sharing the fate of state-owned theatres is the relatively low rental which cafe owners pay for the rooms. Restriction acts, but for that low which critics of the Vienna city government consider a revolutionary measure, thousands of cafes would have been wiped out.

Small Brazilian Isle Important to Airmen

PERNAMBUCO DO NORONHA, July 27.—Over a hundred and 25 miles east of the easternmost point of Brazil this little island is an important landfall for trans-Atlantic aviators. It is only 11 miles in circumference and half that across at its widest point, but it has a mountain 1000 feet high which can be seen for many miles.

The island belongs to the state of Pernambuco and has a convict settlement of about 1000.

There are still vestiges of the occupation by Holland in the seventeenth century in which critics of the Vienna city council all falling to ruin.

OLDEST GERMAN VINE DIES

OBERLUSTADT, Rheinland, Palatinate, July 27.—The oldest grapevine in Germany is dead. For 400 years it grew on a private estate, producing its 75 gallons of wine regularly every year. But, after the most severe winter, now but short ahead.

A NEW UTOPIA
There is a material for a fantastic tower in the search of M. F. Bramley of Cleveland for an island in the Pacific Ocean by flying around in an airplane. It turned out to be Cortez Shoals, submerged land lying about thirty feet below the surface of the Pacific Ocean.

Sancho Panza learned to think better of his folly. Bramley has the money to go ahead and pump with his dream: a tunnel in the Pacific Ocean, 100 feet in diameter, with a wall and pumping in sand from the bottom of the Pacific Ocean would be an easy stunt, but it should be all-absorbing for a while.

City of God Is Ideal for Man
By DR. WILLIAM H. POWERS
(Superintendent, Episcopate, New York, East District of Methodists-Episcopal-Church)
PACH of us has an ideal toward which we journey. If it is a city of our own building, it is reared in selfishness and ultimate dissatisfaction. If it is a city of God, it is a city of peace, of love, of justice, of righteousness, of purity, of holiness, of unselfishness.
The social ideal known as the city of special privilege has always been a failure. It is not until this process is reversed and the spirit of royalty expressed in the giving of one man's life that the multitude might have their rights and privileges, that the process become ethical and social.

News In Twin Falls - 19 Years Ago
Taken From The Falls News Files
Friday, July 29, 1910.
Reports of the Oregon Short Line transportation officials, covering the month of June in 1909 and 1910, show that the traffic in Idaho what is probably the largest growth experienced by any section of southern Idaho the past year. In less than six months the freight handled in Twin Falls station aggregated 10,276,684 pounds during June of 1909, and in June this year the aggregate brought in 12,220,656 pounds, an increase of 15 per cent. Rapid growth of the Twin Falls tract has made the Minidoka and Southwestern branch, although but 74 miles in length, one of the most remunerative little stretches of railroad in the entire Short Line system, although its construction was a handi-capped by a risky business by the railroad officials.

A GROWING BUSINESS
The bank-robbing industry grows apace. From Wichita, Kansas comes word of the despoiling of three institutions in a single day by armed gangs, in one of which a woman served.
An every-day cross section of the crime map of America illustrates as nothing else could the fact that as a nation we are perhaps the most lawless of all civilized peoples. Not in spirit of all our efforts, but in fact there is apparently no diminution of crime of a violent sort. The fact is well understood among people everywhere but as long as the situation does not touch upon their own orbit of activity there is very little interest in the matter. President Hoover appoints a commission to study crime and its cause, plus a means of at least curtailing it but no matter what the remedy proposed there will probably be very little result until such time as the rank and file of the people as a whole shake out of the action which will reach clear down from the highest to the lowest of social strata, and individually accept their full share of responsibility in the work of cleaning up on the situation.

Whales Once Land-Living Animals, Scientists Believe

SEARCH OF DEPOSITS MAY GIVE CLUE TO ANCIENT CREATURES

After Millions of Years Mammals Reach Present Form; Appearance Before Change Not Determined

By OSCAR LEIDING Associated Press Science Editor
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Millions of years ago, when the coal beds of the United States were being deposited, whales roamed the land instead of the sea.

Science has accepted this fact, but it can only guess what the creatures looked like and what caused them to take to the water.
A clue to their ancient identity, according to Dr. Remington Kellogg of the Smithsonian Institution, may be found in a thorough search of fresh water marine deposits of the Cretaceous period, or age of reptiles.
Hidden in deposits dating to the time when crawling creatures are believed to have represented the highest form of life on earth, fossil records may be preserving the beginnings of whale stock.
Whale Not a Fish
The whale today is a mammal; and not a fish. Like man, it is air-breathing, warm-blooded, and suckles its young.
Of its old life on land, only rudimentary remains are to be seen in its skeleton. The bones of an extinct three-toed hind limb and an almost hand-like structure in the front flippers.
Traces of the hind limbs have been found in the living sperm whale, and most of the whalebone whales have one or two vestigial limb bones which are buried deep in the front of the hip region.
For countless centuries, it is pointed out by Dr. Kellogg, impulses from within and forces from without have been transforming the animals to their present structure.

Ancestors of the whale, who lived on land may be buried in fresh water marine deposits, according to Dr. Remington Kellogg (inset) of the Smithsonian Institution. Undeveloped hind limbs and "hands" in skeleton of extinct whale (above) and finger-bones in Chinese porpoise (lower left) are scientific reasons for believing the whale family once lived on land.

Old Species Disappear
Some of the modifications which were tried out in the course of geologic time proved more successful than others, and, as a result, old species continuously disappeared and new ones took their places.
The remodeling continued until so adapted did the whale become for aquatic life that it was thought of as a fish.
Because of its membership in the family of mammals, scientists believe that much can be learned from the whale that will enable man to solve some of his problems of sea life.
Study of the whale may reveal the secret of an air-breathing animal capable of living for more than an hour beneath the sea where the present-day fish is a ton to the men.

AVIATORS GET WEATHER REPORT BY NEW SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Aviators flying radio-equipped planes will not have to watch the clock to get their hourly weather reports under a new system being tested out by the department of commerce.
New frequencies have been assigned radio weather reporting stations at Hadley Field, New Jersey; Baltimore, Pennsylvania, and Cleveland. They operate on the same frequencies as the present stations at those points. Interference signals will be interrupted hourly to give pilots weather bulletins. This will obviate the necessity of pilots keeping an hour on their watch and tuning to another point on their receiver to get the hourly weather information.

Several times in the past radio beacon signals have been interrupted for emergency communication with pilots in the air. The success of the trials led the airways division of the commerce at Brooks field, to Wright field, Dayton, Ohio.

For years his flying logs have been Captain Clint L. Chennault, operations officer at the military aviation base. They flew together in the Philippines before both were transferred to army posts in this country.
It fell to Captain Chennault to double for Lieutenant Brooks when his friend left, pending the appointment of a successor to direct flying at Brooks field's primary training school.

Government Sounds Doom of One-Man Air Schools

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The "one-man flying school" is doomed. Under new department of commerce regulations requiring that flying instructors be licensed, only transport pilots actually employed by approved flying schools will be granted licenses. A transport pilot may instruct as many persons as he wishes individually without being licensed—but he cannot set-up a "one-man school."
Flying schools over the country now are being inspected by department of commerce field workers who make recommendations for approval. Approved flying schools will be rated as private flying schools and transport pilots employed by them will be required to give instruction.

Only sleeve-valve action gives such smoothness

Only Master Artistry Creates Such Beauty

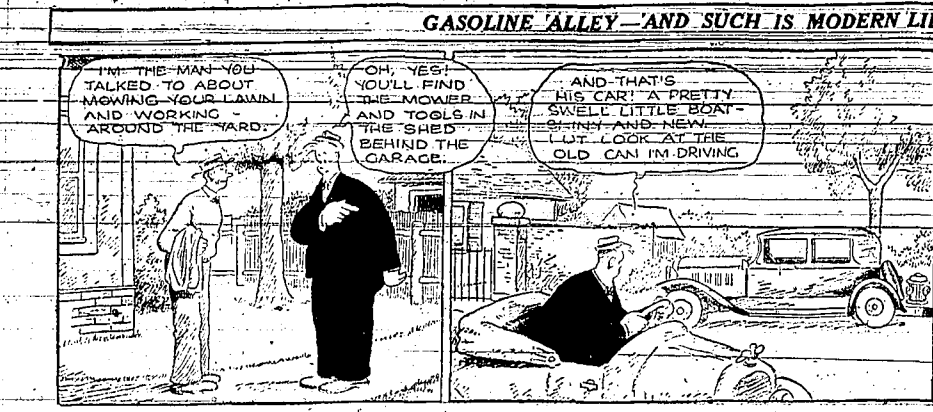

IN THE opinion of leading engineers and hundreds of thousands of enthusiastic owners, the patented Knight double sleeve-valve engine is the simplest and most efficient automobile power plant ever designed.
In each cylinder, two sliding sleeves combine with the dome-shaped cylinder head to form a tightly-sealed combustion chamber. This cylinder head directs the full force of the explosion straight downward against the piston, making the most efficient use of the highly compressed gas. The great turbulence of the gases in the spherical chamber causes a faster burning of the fuel and therefore a more effective explosion and extra power. The Willys-Knight engine gives uniform compression at all times, at all speeds and with any gas.

Oklahoma Chief Justice Seeking Pilot's License

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 27.—Oklahoma's flying supreme court chief justice, Charles W. Mason, seeks a commercial transport pilot's license. Another 24 hours in the air will give Justice Mason 300 hours of flying. He took up aviation about a year ago and bought a small biplane. Frequently he takes solo flights after working hours. He also is a lieutenant colonel in the reserve officers corps. Each summer he takes charge of a section of the citizens' training camp at Fort Sill.
