To make certain there would be no repetition of the charges here, every plane in the hangars at the municipal field was moved out and double-locked. The ships moved in and placed under close guard.

When everything was again in readiness Dr. Eckener found the direction and strength of the wind would make handling of the huge bulk difficult and perhaps precarious by the ground crew. At that time it appeared the weather condition was only temporary but when the wind seemed to settle from the unwanted point any attempt to fix a fresh hour for departure was abandoned.

devor to change this bill in the senate.

The special session was called to re-levise agriculture through a farm bill and the tariff. Borah said, adding that both parties pledged themselves to "do all within their power to restore economic equality to agriculture."

"In order to cinch that proposition in the minds of the voters and give proof of its purpose to act without delay," he continued, "a special session is summoned and called by the Republican leader."

"My examination of the bill reported by the senate-financiers committee convinces me that there is very little difference between the two bills insofar as they affect agriculture. If either bill is passed agriculture will suffer the same inequality, the same injustice that we were pledged to remedy."

"This inequality is admitted, a campaign was made upon that proposition, a victory was won upon that proposition, and if ever a great party stood face to face with the fulfillment of a plain, simple, well understood, vital pledge, the Republican party does at this time."

"The farmer did not seek to have the industrial duties reduced, some of which might well have been attacked. These duties were fixed and established by the act it was said let them stand, but give us a chance to live under this protective system—help us to realize a price that we may pay the price which is imposed upon us."

"But, when agriculture secured the special session, over the reluctance and objections of those already projected, when his duties began to receive consideration, up goes the duties on the things which he must buy."

"It is all wrong. It is a violation of our pledge and if it is possible to defeat the scheme, it ought to be defeated."

Dog Days

In the olden days this particular time of the year was referred to as "dog days." August weather was no warmer then than now, though there was much more illness among both man and animals. This was true, we are told, because of the limited varieties of foods available in those days, and the absence of efficient refrigeration.

Now It's All Different

It's all different now, and young people never hear of the "dog days" of August. Foods from every climate are at our command almost every day of the year. Modern refrigeration makes it possible for these foods to reach the consumer's table with all of their original delicacy and freshness. People are eating the right things today. Their diet is properly balanced and there is no more reason for illness in August than any other time, providing foods come from modern, clean stores—Each O. P. NATIONS AGREE ON OFFER TO ENGLAND

Proposal to Give Britain 75 Per Cent of Demand to Snowden for Approval

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22 (AP)—A new offer of increased share in reparations payments was formulated tonight and notified to Henri Jaquet of Belgium to communicate to Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden.

After a day of struggle to keep alive the tottering conference for putting in to effect the Young plan or something to replace the Dawes plan for German payments, the representatives of France, Belgium, Italy and Japan finally reached agreement for an offer which they said represented 75 per cent of the British demand.

The fate of the conference now seems to depend on whether Mr. Snowden tomorrow accepts or rejects this offer.

The new offer to Great Britain from her fellow creditors was compounded of a little taken here and another little subtracted there—credits—also—given all margins not thus far disposed of between German payments since April under the Dawes plan of annuities, and the reduced amount called for under the Young plan. To this added contributions from France and Italy in various forms—another—also—was obtained by adding in the balance owing by Great Britain to Germany on liquidation of sequestered property.

BEAN GROWERS FIND DELEGATE NEEDLESS

Organization Here Will Be Without Representation at Farm Board Meeting

After a thorough discussion, the board of directors of the Southern Idaho Bean Growers' association decided last night at a meeting held at the headquarters of the association that it was unnecessary to send a representative to Washington to attend the conference on beans held before the federal farm board August 20.

This conference was not called by the farm board, it is stated, but was granted at the request of the Michigan growers and dealers to discuss the general situation. An invitation was extended to the Idaho growers to be present.

It was the opinion of the board here that since no definite proposition was before the conference it was unnecessary to have representation present.

California Attends

R. C. Churchill, Oxnard, California, secretary and manager of the California Linn Bean Growers' association, who was here on his way home after a visit to Michigan and other fields, accepted an invitation to attend the meeting and spoke at some length on the issues involving shipping regulations at the hearing in Chicago, August 15, before the Transcontinental Railroad Freight Bureau, at which he represented his association.

This bureau is composed of representatives of all the transcontinental railroads and is formed to hear complaints and avert the necessity of a hearing before the interstate commerce commission.

Expected Modification

Mr. Churchill said that he felt confident that as a result of the hearing a modification would be secured, granting more equitable regulations in the matter of charges in transit of beans, in which, it is claimed, grave abuses have developed.

He said that in view of facts brought out at the hearing and other facts which he had ascertained, he expected to draft an amended request for presentation to the rate bureau.

VISITORS RETURNING FROM STANLEY PRAISING RODEO

Visitors returning from Stanley, metropolis of the Stanley basin country and surrounding area, are loud in their praise of the rodeo which was held during the final three days of last week. The performance was witnessed by quite a number of Twin Falls visitors although there were as many present this year as last. But all give it as their opinion that the programs for the entire three days offered the best entertainment of the kind ever staged in that part of the state.

The grounds are well selected and fences, pens and chutes have been built for permanent use. Quite a number of professional riders from outside points were on hand and the exhibition work of these and the local boys as well as of the best. While there were three or four minor accidents only one rider was at all seriously hurt and no injuries were believed to be dangerous. The attendance was good throughout the entire three days.

How is sold to have come closer to approximating an old time rodeo than do most events of the kind, even to the dance held nightly to which all were welcome. An atmosphere of friendly good will surrounded the entire performance which was apparently attended by everyone living for miles up and down the valley and in the surrounding country.

MAJESTIC OF THE AIR

Make this SIDE by SIDE test —let your own ears decide

HERE is Majestic's challenge to the whole world of radio: go to your radio dealer today and have him put a Majestic set side-by-side with any other radio no matter how costly. Have him connect both to the same aerial with a switch to operate them alternately. Now, make this side-by-side test under precisely the same conditions, considering each of these seven essential points:

- 1. Tone—at every degree of volume.
- 2. Sensitivity—ability to bring in distant stations clearly at good volume.
- 3. Selectivity—test each for sharp separation of stations.
- 4. Ease of control—Judge and compare for simplicity.
- 5. Beauty—design, of woods, of finish, of metal details. Run it out over each.
- 6. Reliability—look inside and compare for extra power, size and strength.
- 7. Quiet Operation—free from A. C. hum, buzz and all background noise.

What could be fairer than this side-by-side test? Time after time we have said, "You cannot buy a better radio than Majestic at any price." This side-by-side test will prove it. Let your own ears and eyes decide. Any dealer will help you make this test. See him today.

Molla Mallory Defeats Miss Nuthall in Tennis Upset

Former Heroine Of Courts Shuts Out English Favorite

Expected "Return Match" Between Wills and Betty in Discard in Favor of Victor and Californian

By TED VOSBORGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Molla Mallory started the tennis world today and swept England's Betty Nuthall into defeat by the decisive scores of 6-3, 6-3, in the quarter-final round of the national women's tennis championship. An overwhelming favorite before the match, the 18-year-old sensation, whose booming drives caused all kinds of trouble for Helen Wills in the "Brent" which cup series a week ago, found herself beaten at her own deep-driving game by this marvelous Norwegian veteran, a woman more than twice her age.

"Return Match" Called Off
As a result of Mrs. Mallory's surprising victory, the anticipated "return match" between Wills and her principal English challenger for world honors will not take place in this tournament. Instead Mrs. Mallory and Helen Wills will play in one of the semi-finals tomorrow, while in the other American second rank start Helen Jacobs, who came to grips with the surviving English contender, Mrs. Phoebe Watson.

British Players Dominate
British players dominated the doubles play in the quarter-final matches. Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Mitchell, English champions, downed the Massachusetts couple, Hazel Wightman and Mrs. Marjorie Morrill, 6-1, 6-3. Mrs. Phyllis Covell and Mrs. Dorothy Shepherdson renewed the streak of all-British play by crushing Mrs. Charlotte Chalmers and Mrs. Gladman, 6-1, 6-1, in the Anglo-American combination, 6-3, 6-8.

Idaho Coach Keeps Opinion to Himself

Leo B. Calland Declares Prediction on Outcome of Campaign Difficult

MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—Special to The News.—Football prospects at the University of Idaho are difficult for me to predict at present as my only association with the 1929 squad has been a few weeks of spring practice, said Coach Leo B. Calland, new director of physical education and athletics and head football coach at the University of Idaho, in his first statement on the approaching children season. He was well pleased with the spirit of the candidates and believe that we will have a good starting lineup.

Calland feels that Idaho's chief handicap will be in the lack of reserve strength, but this may be overcome by men who develop during the early season games. He takes some time for a general survey and too much should not be expected from the Idaho men during the coming season, said the new vanguard football leader.

"I am confident, however, that the

SALMON CANAL BOARD TURNS DOWN OPTION

Directors Adopt Resolution Declining Purchase of Deep Creek Firm Assets

Resolution cancelling the lease and option held by the Salmon River Canal company on the property of the Deep Creek Land and Water company, offered by Nelson Hayward and seconded by Richard Glavin at a meeting of the board of directors of the Salmon River Canal company held yesterday was adopted by the board.

The resolution, including the preamble, reads in full:

"Whereas, a certain lease and option to purchase the assets of the Deep Creek Land and Water company hereinafter referred to as 'the Deep Creek Land and Water company' and the Deep Creek Land and Water company for a period of years with the provision that such lease could be terminated after the first or any succeeding year, and and whereas, the irrigation season of 1929, the first of the years specified in the lease, has now come to a close, and a report of the contractor is available to the board concerning the results and value to the company of the Deep Creek water and re-works for the season of 1929, and and whereas, the board with full knowledge of open opposition on the part of the stockholders, and lack of understanding of the plan of offer; also faced with probable litigation with the realtors of 1929, and the fact that there was a very poor season during which to demonstrate the full value of the Deep Creek property to the canal company, along with the evidence in the contractor's report that without the expenditure of some money for a new gate from the upper reservoir, that there were some certain physical limitations to a proper test.

"Therefore, be it now resolved, that the contractor's report be incorporated in the minutes of this meeting with the expression that its contents fully justify the expenditure made for the test, and that the course taken by the board was also further justified by the decision of the district court.

"But that the board is unwilling to now continue the lease and option without a mandate from the majority of stockholders with the information now available to them, and that it be now, and is hereby, cancelled."

BEAN PRICE OUTLOOK FOR 1929 EXCELLENT

Manager of Californians' Lima Organization, Now in Idaho, Optimistic

Good prices for the large 1929 crop of all varieties of beans was predicted yesterday by R. L. Churchill, owner, California, manager for the California Lima Bean Growers' association, who stopped to visit the Twin Falls project on his way home after a trip through the eastern bean growing states. He declared, however, that in his opinion the level would be somewhat lower at the opening of the season, than the peak of the closing sales season for the 1929 crop.

Speaking of the present bean situation, Mr. Churchill said that in his opinion prices for the 1929 crop, would be above the average for the last five years but, probably below the closing prices for the 1928 crop. "It is hardly probable that the market will open for the 1929 crop at the level of prices for the 1928 crop during the last 60 days," he said, "but although there is a larger crop this year than last, the market is pretty well cleaned of beans and the price level will be good in my opinion."

Competition Among Varieties

"While the Lima bean differs from the Great Northern and other white beans, there is at least a degree of competition between them; in fact, there is between all sorts of food product, there will be a buyers' resistance at a certain level which will divert the food demand to other products."

"If the crop is very short, enough people will continue to use the product to maintain the high price. But if there is a large crop and the level is raised too high, the resistance of buyers will create a counter force. For that reason the trader generally prefers a good price on a stable market to an unduly high price which will create a strong buyers' resistance."

"For this reason, while a good price is desirable for the crop this year, it is, in my opinion, not desirable that the market should open this fall at as high a level as that attained during the climatic days of the sale of the 1928 crop."

Nation's Crack Fliers To Compete In Cleveland Tests

MORE AIRCRAFT AND FLIERS THAN EVER BEFORE WILL MASS

Plane Flights to Event to Consist of Short Hops and Long Non-Stop Air Race and Other Events

By ALLEN QUINN (Associated Press Aviation Editor) DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 22.—Twenty-four military ships from Rockwell field, California, en route to Cleveland for the national air races, arrived at Wright field here late today. The pilots remained overnight and will move off to Cleveland tomorrow. Two of the ships are army planes and 18 are attached to the navy. The pilots were entertained tonight by the Dayton Chamber of Commerce.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22.—From the four corners of the country fliers will race to Cleveland over mountain, desert and plain in nine air derbies of the national air races.

Some will come by easy jumps and others will race non-stop four-fifths of the way across the continent to participate in the events of August 24 to September 2. More planes and aviators than ever before assembled in one place are expected to converge on Cleveland for the 10-day program.

Scores of contracts have prepared to hop off, beginning August 18, from Santa Monica, California; Miami Beach, Florida; Philadelphia, Portland, Ore.; Oakland, California; Montreal, Canada and in two groups around Ohio. Prizes in the derbies amount to $45,000.

At the municipal airport here there will start the closed course events for pilots, army, navy and marine corps pilots, for which valuable trophies and cash prizes of $25,000 are offered. There are events for every class of plane from tiny 20-horsepower craft to huge 14-motored transport planes, with prizes being given for both speed and efficiency. There is a free-for-all speed event with some of the fastest planes in the country turning the pylons and a race for experimental planes which depart from the conventional.

Military planes and fliers are on the program for tactical maneuver exhibitions.

August 23, a race for medium powered open cockpit and mail type planes will start from Portland to Cleveland with stops at Walla Walla, Spokane, Missoula, Billings, Bismark, Fargo, St. Paul, Milwaukee, and South Bend.

The next day, light and medium powered cabin or open type planes will fly from Miami Beach, stopping en route at Tampa, Jacksonville, Macon, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Nashville, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

The derby from Oakland to St. Paul, and Buffalo are on the itinerary of the cabin-plane derby from Philadelphia to the Pacific coast.

Two other events, one for light-powered planes and another for large-craft will carry planes to various points in Ohio.

Sweet Potato Research Produces Pleasant Tasting Mucilage

CHEMISTS DISCOVER DEXTRIN IN TUBERS TO TICKLE PALATES

Economical Commercial Production Object of Extended Research when Fall Harvest Arrives

By FRANK T. WELLES Associated Press Farm Editor WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—A new item looms on the horizon of personal liberty—the privilege of licking stamps that suit the individual taste.

Scientists in the bureau of chemistry and soils have discovered that a high quality starch is obtainable from sweet potatoes. From the starch they have produced dextrin of pleasant taste. They are testing its suitability as glue for stationery and stamps.

DR. W. W. SKINNER. All that is left to do is to develop a method of economical commercial production. It is to be undertaken this fall, when the sweet potato crop is harvested. Unusually, it is believed dextrin can be made from sweet potato culls, solution has been found as cheaply as from tapioca, the present source of most stamp and stationery glue.

It can and manufacturers are able to pay enough for sweet potatoes to make it worth the producer's time to market culls, solution has been found for the tremendous sweet potato waste that has forced many farmers to quit growing them.

It is estimated that about 20 per cent of the country's average production of 80,000,000 bushels is culls, heretofore suitable only as feed for cattle and hogs.

Six pounds of sweet potatoes, says Dr. W. W. Skinner, assistant chief of the bureau's chemical and technological research, makes one pound of starch. At that rate he estimates a market for 870,000,000 pounds or 17,400,000 bushels of sweet potato culls.

Present starch requirements, including that used in the manufacture of certain cloths, total 145,000,000 pounds, of which 28,000,000 pounds are made from white potatoes grown principally in Maine. Sago starch amounts to 6,000,000 pounds, and the country imports 33,000,000 pounds of tapioca and 79,000,000 pounds of tapioca flour.

Sweet potatoes are chiefly a southern crop, although they grow far north as New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. The bulk is produced in the Gulf states and along the southern Atlantic seaboard. In the true sense of the word, culls signify sweet potatoes that are too small or too large for the market. Some have weighed as much as 25 to 30 pounds. They are not suitable for table use, and while plant breeders have tried to create a variety that would insure a uniform product they have been unable to conquer the cull or "jumbo" potato.

As the second largest vegetable crop, sweet potatoes totalled 71,000,000 bushels on 910,000 acres last year.

Drastic Michigan Law To Outlaw Cull Spuds

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP)—One of the most drastic potato-marketing and marketing laws in the United States became effective August 12 in Michigan.

It not only established the federal standards as the legal grades for Michigan, but also provided for the regulation of marketing.

It requires the grower to place a label on the outside of all containers, giving the grade and contents. Growers and shippers who sponsored the law are eventually to be outlawed cull potatoes on Michigan markets.

Bankers Urge Caution In Metals Production

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Guaranty Trust company believes that some branches of industry must slow down or the commodity markets will be threatened with overproduction.

MARKET ECONOMISTS TO CONVENE ABROAD

Meeting in England Will Study Relation of City Industry to Agriculture

DARLINGTON HALL, DEVON, England, Aug. 21 (AP)—Marketing trends, relation between city industry and agriculture, and the problem of maintaining a permanent agriculture in an industrial nation are among the subjects for consideration of the first international conference on agricultural economies.

The conference will be held here August 20 to September 6, and according to Dr. C. E. Ladd of the New York State college of agriculture, who suggested it, will fill a need for a more rapid flow of information on agriculture across the ocean.

Dr. Ladd spent six months in England and aided Leonard K. Elmhurst, head of the agricultural school here, in some research.

CITY MAN GROWS CROPS ON "WORTHLESS" FARM

WAUPACA, Wis., Aug. 22 (AP)—What a few years ago was a hopeless piece of "blow land" has been rejuvenated into one of the richest farms in Waupaca county—and by a city man, an agricultural novice.

The first thing C. J. Shrock did was to buy reliable sources of scientific information, using the most promising suggestions for building up the soil.

In a few years he has the loose sand permanently anchored with humus alfalfa and clover roots. The soil has changed during his treatment from a whitish color to a rich, sandy loam.

Today he is raising fine crops of alfalfa, corn and potatoes. So great is his success that farmers and agricultural experts come from distant points to study his methods.

Neighboring farmers are following his lead. His prospects this year are 300 bushels of potatoes to an acre in a 30-acre tract and an average yield of three tons to the acre on a 30-acre field.

BOSTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—A census of banks in the United States shows that there are 108 which have deposits of more than $50,000,000. New York has 46.

CITIES FAIL TO LURE FARMERS FROM TOWNS

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP)—The small town has not lost its lure as a meeting place for farmers on Saturday nights despite the development of the automobile, the improved highways and big city competition.

Every inch of parking space on Main street in Michigan villages is taken Saturday nights when the farmers come to town to pack a week's trading and visiting into one night.

Small town merchants, who were fearful a decade ago that their future was doomed by the automobile and the big city, now report business better than ever before. They have found a new way to hold the rural trade. They have copied the system of their metropolitan competitors and are advertising special week-end trade leaders in a style to which they were not accustomed a decade ago.

Herman Brand, also living in the same district, had a 14-acre field of red clover which produced seven bushels per acre.

Austin Schwanke announces that the two big potato cellars in Wendell, E. L. Simonton home left Thursday on a two weeks' outing in the Stanley Basin country. They were accompanied by local representative for a Postella firm, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Murphy, Duil, and Long a landmark, the house in recent years stood deserted and dilapidated, devoid of any indication that once it housed the distinguished clergyman. It was a frame house of two stories popular in its day, but hardly matching modern homes.

THE GUMPS—LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN

The GREEN SHADOW

by Herman Landon

Flieger's was an old establishment of quiet dignity and unobtrusive elegance. He knew that Mr. Castle sometimes went there; in fact, he had seen him there on several occasions. The head waiter, a man with a long and highly remunerative memory for faces, bowed profoundly and inquired concerning Dale's preference with regard to a table. Dale let his eyes wander over the crowd of diners. Gaze was attracted by a man in a military uniform who was seated at a table with a nervous strain in his face, but also something commanding and aggressive. Then his gaze wavered, he saw another face that was equally familiar.

Julius H. Barnes is chairman of the new $50,000,000 United Growers of America, fruit and vegetable cooperative.

"Now if you will excuse me, I have a great many things to attend to at the office." "Don't forget," said Dale. "Left alone, Dale smiled agreeably. He had driven another spike into Dr. Moffett's big gun. In doing so, he had anticipated an emergency that might not develop, but he wished to be prepared against every possible chance. Even if Dr. Moffett's plan should succeed up to a certain point he would be thrown into confusion by his inability to communicate with his victim.

Dale lingered a long time over coffee and cigarette. He had seen a number of strange things since he entered the restaurant, and he was turning several new ideas over in his mind, but these developments would not affect his plans for the night.

Sporting Governor

The astounding statements seemed to be a little odd to Mr. Castle. His eyes alternately bulged and narrowed. A medley of expression crossed his face. "What have you to say to me?" he asked thickly. "Are you returning to your office after dinner?" "Yes," came the answer in a staccato voice. "I expect to remain there till midnight." "Good! This is all I have to ask you. If your telephone should ring, I will think that I have to answer it, you agree to that?" Mr. Castle regarded him with astounded attention, but the latter's expression vanished rapidly.

an hour later he drew up in front of the Castle house. One of the windows were dark. The sidewalks on either side were deserted. He glanced at his watch. Miss Castle was not likely to appear for ten or fifteen minutes yet, and he did not care to spend more time than necessary waiting in the cramped position between the two folds of the top. He decided to remain seated at the wheel and enjoy a cigarette before he slunk into his uncomfortable hiding place.

"Hello, Dale," said a sharp, low-pitched voice. "I have started. A grim quiver of apprehension ran through him. A short, stocky curly-footed man stepped out from the shadows of a tree. Dale sprang from his seat. "Oh, you, Summers!" His voice was low and gruff. "What are you waiting for?" Summers came closer, fixing Dale with alert, wary eyes. "You sure served me a queer course tonight, Dale. I tried to get the hang of it, but I couldn't. Too deep for me!" "What do you want?" asked Dale again.

"You're under arrest—for murder," said Summers. (Continued in next issue)
