SIXTY-EIGHT MEET DEATH IN COLLISION OF SHIPS AT SEA

San Francisco-Los Angeles Liner, Southward Bound, Sinks After Crash with Tanker in Fog Off Coast

(By The Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Sixty-eight of the 110 passengers and crew of the San Francisco-Los Angeles liner San Juan probably met death early today in the fog-obscured waters off the coast of Santa Cruz county after a collision between the San Juan and the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd.

The number of missing was cut by two names tonight, with the finding of two men not included in the list of survivors prepared by the Standard Oil company when the tanker, her bow nearly detached and tipped over her side this afternoon under her own power. The wrecked credited the tanker with reaching one wayward point and 29, men, of whom 19 were on the San Juan's crew. Three of the latter and three San Juan passengers were taken to hospitals suffering from injuries or exposure.

Two additional names were those of Thomas Grandstedt and Robert Winston, who tonight gave newspaper interviews saying they were survivors who were aboard the Dodd. Apparently in confusion aboard the Dodd and at the dock their names were not obtained.

The names of the missing men were compiled by The Associated Press from a list of names in the local passenger office. This led to the inclusion in the list of R. O. Gorman of Los Angeles, who was aboard the Dodd. Gorman explained that he had not taken the ship, but had sold his ticket to Willis Barton of Los Angeles.

Explanation of the tragic accident awaited official investigation. The disaster occurred about 2 1/2 miles off the coast of Santa Cruz county. The liner was on a regular run to Los Angeles. The tanker was on a regular run to Los Angeles. The liner was on a regular run to Los Angeles. The tanker was on a regular run to Los Angeles.

Fog Checks Viability The San Juan took 63 passengers and carried 45 in her crew when she sailed last night for Los Angeles. Fog checked visibility outside of the Golden Gate, but the weather was clearing as she swung down the coast for her first stop, Santa Barbara.

Captain Adams, in command of the Dodd declared he was proceeding northward when he sighted the San Juan's lights. He reported the weather reasonably clear.

Some vessels were proceeding on passing courses when the San Juan apparently changed its direction to south. The Dodd's lights were seen by Captain Bleumchen. "I then ordered the vessel full speed ahead in the hope that the San Juan would maintain its speed and an accident be averted.

The regular signal was given by the Dodd as the two ships came closer. For some reason the San Juan adopted the same maneuver, and thereby defeated the effects of the Dodd's Captain Adams with ship.

Captain Adolf F. Asplund, master of the San Juan in the absence of her regular commander, now on vacation, went down with his ship. R. Papenfuss, third officer of the San Juan, was the only one of the crew who survived. He told how the 47-year-old passenger ship went down within five minutes.

NEW FOREST FIRES IN NORTHERN AREA

Situation in Montana and Idaho Gloomier With Hot Winds Fanning Flames

WEISER, Aug. 30 (AP)—Eleven forest fires were started by a series of lightning storms over the Weiser forest last night and today and another storm was expected, threatening to start even more fires.

Two of the fires were put out soon and the others were under control. The fires were mainly clustered in the Weiser forest, which local foresters said was the center of most of the lightning strikes in this section.

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 30 (AP)—With 60 new outbreaks reported in the Joe forest, and hot winds fanning the Half Moon and Sullivan fires in northwestern Montana, the forest fire situation in Montana and Idaho took on a gloomier aspect today. Crews on either front continued their dogged battle against spreading flames with fair success.

First Death Reported The first death of a Thomas forest fire fighter in the district was reported today. The body of Thomas Gorman of Butte was discovered yesterday in the Joe forest, and was taken to his home country. He had been fighting a forest fire there and it was believed he died of a heart ailment while attempting to escape from the flames.

Crews were holding one of the three fires in the district by a thunderstorm in the Joe Joe, and heavy rain falling over the forest tonight brought relief. The rain would come to the aid of the men.

WAR CLOUDS LIFT AS RUSSIA ACCEPTS CHINA'S PROPOSALS

Soviet Government Approves Scheme for Settlement of All Questions Arising Out of Railroad Dispute

(By The Associated Press) MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Aug. 30.—The Soviet government tonight accepted proposals of China for conclusion of a joint declaration for settlement of all questions arising out of the bitter dispute over control of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria.

The foreign commissariat expressed willingness to abandon the Russian demand for reinstatement of the same Russian general manager of the railroad as a preliminary to discussions. It offered to seek approval of the government for appointment of a new chairman of the railroad directorate, whom the Soviet holds directly responsible for the present trouble.

The acceptance came just when reports of executive meetings by Chinese and four Soviet citizens seemed to indicate that drastic measures of retaliation would be taken by Russia.

Rumors that the Chinese and Soviet governments were attempting to come to an agreement in their dispute over the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria had been current for a week. It was reported they were begun by the representatives of the two governments in Berlin. The fact that the German diplomatic corps has been looking out for Russian interests in China since the break-out support to this phase of the rumor that both Russian and Chinese sources made repeated denials.

The Chinese legation in Berlin announced today receipt of a message from Nanking authorizing it to deny it had been notified that Russia was ready to discuss settlement on condition that a Soviet citizen be appointed general manager of the railroad. The treaty of 1924 provided for joint operation of the road but the Chinese recently expelled all Soviet employees on the ground that they had used their railroad offices to further propaganda.

NEW YORK RECORDS GRAF'S COMMANDER CORDIAL WELCOME

German Flag and Music Figure in Rapturous Reception for Grizzled Air Wizard Who Circled Globe

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—New York today paid homage to that Magellan of the skies—Commander Hugo Eckener and the officers of the globe-circling Graf Zeppelin.

Through a storm of torp paper and swirling ticker tape on lower Broadway to the city hall and an outdoor reception—another ride through admiring thousands to the Hotel Astor and a luncheon—the silent Zeppelin air wizard smiled and waved as he waded in the manner of all visiting heroes.

Flags of both the United States and Germany waved in the air, soldiers, sailors and marines stood at attention, and the United States navy dirigible was overhead, ready to give an official flavor to the occasion.

Tons of Paper in Air Two kind half tons of paper floated down upon the German airship as it— a compliment such as has been afforded to few and second only to that which was given another adventurer of the clouds—Commander Charles Lindbergh, upon his return from Paris.

Graven Whalen stepped out of his role of police commissioner for a day and again took over the duties of the city's official welcome.

Wholesale Lady Grace Drummond Hay, one of the Graf's passengers on around-the-world flight, and a delegation of German-American citizens met the commander and his crew at the Jersey City pier in the municipal tug Macom.

Mayor Walker was waiting at the city hall to receive the commander. A band played "Deutschland Über Alles."

Gilly Present Medals Commander Eckener was presented with a scroll and the official memento of the City of New York. Medals also were presented to the other members of the crew and the passengers who made the epochal around-the-world flight.

The reception over the party went to the Hotel Astor for the luncheon.

Mayor Walker, Dr. O. C. Kiep, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, Admiral L. R. De Steiguer of the United States navy, and Lady Grace Drummond Hay, who was the only woman passenger on the flight, were present.

In addition to Mrs. Parker, officials of the Hamburg-American line also assisting that Dr. William M. Scholl, Chicago manufacturer of orthopedic foot appliances, will make the trip from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen.

They had already added to the passenger list earlier in the day the name of John W. Schmittler of Froid, Montana, president of the First National bank of Froid, a member of the Reorganization committee, and himself the owner of an airplane; and R. A. L. Bogal, Syracuse, New York.

Seven compelling trips Seven passengers and who will travel for not have completed their trip around the world until they land there again, and two who made the trip from Lakehurst to Lakehurst will be aboard the Graf tomorrow night.

The two who have already circled the globe are Joachim Rickard, Boston and Madrid, correspondent for a Spanish news magazine, and Heinz von Schwesig-Liebert, a German newspaperman.

Shipwreck Survivor Tells Gripping Story Of Blood-Chilling Disaster

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (AP)—In the blood-chilling, gripping story of an airplane crash, George H. Houghton, Los Angeles business man, kept calm enough to write an 18-page report on the wreck of his life preserver only on his eyes.

Houghton, survivor of a blood-chilling disaster but as cool as a cucumber, returning from a pleasure trip, told his story today to the Associated Press.

"I went to bed at 9 o'clock last night, but did not sleep," he said. "The ship's whistle shrieked steadily, but I did not wake up until 11:30."

"The screams and noise were terrible. I had the door of my stateroom open while I was fastening on the life preserver and saw dim shapes below me in the dining room, just below me. I think they were passengers from the rooms or the lower deck."

"The stern of the San Juan was shipwrecked through the fog, but I saw the deck and saw we had been in a collision. I went back to my stateroom and felt around for my other shoe. I couldn't find it but picked up my glasses. I could see a group of persons huddled down by the main dining room."

Delegates Sign Agreements On Evacuation of Rhineland and Indemnity Split

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Aug. 30 (AP)—The final preliminaries to the formal ending of the Hague reparations conference were concluded today with a gold pact somewhat less formidable than that with which the Kellogg pact was signed in Paris.

The Young plan itself will be formally approved by the delegates in a plenary session to-morrow which will close the end of the work so often endangered since the conference began on August 6.

Mr. Snowden again was the principal actor today, finding what he said were discrepancies in the text of certain documents. For a time the British chancellor stubbornly refused to affix his signature and threatened to keep the conference going until Monday.

Among the documents which went into the record of the conference were letters exchanged with the German government by the powers occupying the Rhineland, which must be signed for the second zone during September and be completed within three months.

For the third zone at the Mainz bridgehead, which under the Treaty of Versailles was to have been evacuated in 1925, the departure of the foreign troops must begin immediately after ratification of the Young plan and is to be finished before the end of June, 1930.

Since the French parliament does not meet until the end of October or beginning of November, ratification of the Young plan will be delayed at least that long. Thus the date for evacuation of the third zone can be determined only later.

The man who flew 29,000 miles over the Arctic Sea from Alaska to Norway, and his 'Kotress' bride, appeared unimpaired today in a letter to the editor of the peace who did not know of Captain Wilkins' fame until newspapermen told him afterward.

They looked the same as any other 'two to me', he said. Wilkins gave his age as 40 and Miss Bennett's as 28. They became engaged in Australia on September 20, 1928, just before the air explorer set out on an expedition over Graham Land in the Antarctic. He met his bride with Australian forces in the World war and was a passenger on the Graf Zeppelin during its round trip flight between Lakehurst, New Jersey, and Friedrichshafen early this month.

DISTRICT MOVES TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF FARM AND MEASURE

Master of Pomona Grange to Attend Organization Meeting of Wheat Growers of Northwest Region

F. L. Atkins, bush, master of Twin Falls county Pomona Grange, will represent southern Idaho at a conference to be held shortly with view to formation of a regional commodity organization of wheat growers under provisions of the farm relief law.

Mr. Atkins was selected for this duty at the close of a district meeting of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, attended by a number of farmers and business men of this region in Tom's cafe here last night.

The selection of the grange master was made by committee appointed by Asher B. Wilson, president of Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce who presided at last evening's meeting. The committee was composed of H. C. Wiley, Aberdeen; Roy Patner, Burley; C. C. Whitburn, Jerome; J. H. Barker, and E. L. Buhh, Elgin; E. J. Rupert, and S. M. Norris, Rockford.

The conference at which Mr. Atkins is to represent this region will be held in Walla Walla, it was announced.

Three Principal Talks The principal address at last evening's meeting were delivered by Congressman Addison T. Smith, R. E. Hays, and J. H. Barker, all of the State Chamber of Commerce, and O. P. Mix, Moscow, at whose request the meeting was held.

Mr. Mix said that the farm board possesses such power, while Mr. Smith holds that it is not only through cooperative organizations, such as that which it is proposed that the wheat growers shall organize, but also through organizations like that through organization alone but Mr. Barker held that the law is made ordinarily effective, but that through organization to depress prices the national farm board could buy and take delivery of the commodity.

Mr. Hays addressed the group on a history of the eight years of discussion which preceded the passage of the present law. He said that the present law was successful in its operation. He said that as a representative of the farming community he voted for the law because it was a relief to the farmer.

Mr. Mix was a member of the committee in northern Idaho which drafted the resolution on which the Idaho legislature acted more than eight years ago, asking that congress fix a minimum price of $1.50 a bushel at primary points. Senator Gooding introduced such a bill, he said, but gave way to the McNary-Haugen bill which met the approval of the northern Idaho wheat farmers. Two votes of the bill resulted in the movement for denature plan. However, while not all that was needed, Mr. Mix said, he believed that the present law could be made effective, provided the farmers would organize to secure its benefits.

North Idaho Takes Lead Mr. Mix said that the farmers of northern Idaho held a meeting here last evening and representatives of northern Idaho had met with others from the wheat district of Washington and Oregon. It was agreed that the northwest-ern states should act together to get a regional commodity district for handling of wheat under the new law. Mr. Mix said the situation now is such that farmers sell nearly all the product immediately, and it passes largely into the hands of speculators, who buy at a low price and sell at a high price. He said that it was said last year that there was to be a surplus and prices were depressed, when as a matter of fact there was a world shortage. Mr. Mix said that the present situation is that Dakota farmers can ship their wheat into Canada where the crop is short, pay 12 cents a bushel tariff and make 8 cents more than they can by selling in America.

Relative to the proposed meeting on the formation of a regional commodity organization, Mr. Hays, who was questioned by John W. Graham, who remarked that the pessimistic observations of speakers led him to believe he was in a Democratic convention. He wanted to know if a representative sent from here, who was not interested with county organization, would really represent anybody. Mr. Mix explained that the purpose of the proposed meeting was to get together with the national farm board and work out a plan for organization. When it was done it would be up to the farmers to organize under the law. If they saw fit, the proposed meeting was not a final step in organization. It had to do only with wheat, but producers of other commodities could organize among themselves and be believed should do so. Mr. Mix said that farmers were not making more than their expenses.

Three Immediate Action Taking up the matter of striking relative decline of agriculture on which both Congressman Smith and Mr. Mix had spoken, Mr. Hays urged immediate action. He said the people of this region should pay fair prices for farm commodities. The farmer should sell, he said, only to either the miller or the exporter, but under present conditions, he said, he is forced to sell to speculators who were not at all to blame for dealing in the commodity raised by the farmer. Mr. Hays recommended cooperation with Canadian farmers. He reiterated the statement of Mr. Mix that if organized wheat farmers could borrow the price of the market value of their wheat to hold it over and sell as demand warranted. Mr. Hays made the proposition for the appointment of the committee to select a representative, which was carried unanimously.

Others Introduced Others at the meeting introduced by Chairman Wilson included H. K. Wiley, who said he believed growers of Oregon alfalfa and other seeds could get in under the law which he favored. Mrs. M. E. Shubert made the proposition for the appointment of the committee to select a representative, which was carried unanimously.

Stage Set for Opening Twin Falls Ward Store With C. M. Fender, manager, and H. K. Schwartz, assistant manager, in charge, and a crew of 50 salespeople, Montgomery Ward and Company's Twin Falls store will be opened in temporary quarters in the Elks building, corner of Shoshone street and Second street, next morning.

In preparation for the opening, installation of fixtures and unpacking of merchandise has been under way for six weeks past. Extensive furniture, the Twin Falls store will carry a stock similar to that of any of the company's department stores. It was stated last evening.

Within the next few weeks the store is to be moved into its permanent home here in a building on Main avenue east for which the site has been purchased and the construction contract awarded. Mr. Fender, manager of the Twin Falls store, has been transferred here from the Lewiston, Idaho, store, where he has been manager. Mr. Schwartz has heretofore been associated with the company's store at Idaho Falls.

Congress Fifty Years Ago Battled Over Idaho's North and South Highway

ARCHIVES DISCLOSE HISTORIC CONFLICT OVER SCENIC ROAD

President Harrison in 1890 Signed Federal Appropriation Following Seven Session Stormy Fight

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 30 (AP)—The north and south highway, that artery of traffic which is expected to bind the two halves of Idaho together with another commercial bond, first became the subject of congressional controversy in 1870, and only recently neared the final completion.

Data obtained by The Tribune from the national library of congress tells of the argument for a federal appropriation for construction of a "wagon road" between Mount Idaho and Little Salmon Meadows, in the Idaho territory. Seven sessions of the United States congress the fight raged, impeded at one time because it was to be a military route and at another by a senate committee on military affairs. Chairman Grover of Oregon, reported adversely.

Dubois Puts Bill Through Representative Dubois finally carried the bill through the United States House in 1890. So the highway has a history unusual even in a country full of such famous arteries of travel as the Old Oregon Trail, Lewis and Clark highway, the Lincoln highway, and the Santa Fe trail, for its adherents fought for it in congress and in the legislature. In the forty-fifth congress Congressman Fern introduced a bill for its construction. It was passed in the senate but not in the house. Senator Slater of Oregon took up the fight next time, without effect, and Dubois returned to the job with another bill, which was finally passed. Further work in the legislature after Idaho became a state, was necessary before the highway reached its present status.

Scenic, Historic Road Now this road runs from Boise on the south to Bonanza Ferry on the north, circling lovely lakes and coiling between timbered mountains. Close to it are spots favored for fishing, hunting and boating, and places known for historical association, such as the home of Chief Joseph, famous Nez Perce warrior, and of the Spaldings, missionaries to the Indians, and of David Thompson, the explorer.

"Twin Beds" Promised Offering at Orpheum

Jack Mulhall's first starring vehicle for First National-Whitcomb Pictures, "Twin Beds" which comes to the Orpheum theatre Sunday is also a 100 per cent dialogue picture.

Jack sings and talks in this hilarious comedy, adapted from Avery Hopwood's celebrated stage farce of the same name. The story concerns a bride and bridegroom, separated on their wedding night and the startling events that happen before they are reunited.

Patry Ruth Miller plays opposite Mulhall in this epic of fun, and makes an ideal bride for the breezy story. Eddie Gribbon, Zasu Pitts, Armand Kalis, Gertrude Astor, Alice Lake, Knute Erickson, and Ben Hendricks, Jr., contribute to the fun-making.

Al Bantrell directed "Twin Beds," adding many of the clever comedy touches that have become associated with his pictures.
