Twin Falls Pigskin Chasers Prepare for Stiff Campaign

Jones Building Grid Machine Around Six Experienced Bruins

First Week of Twin Falls Practice Finds Team in Midst of Settling Down Process at Lincoln Field

COACHES BRUINS
REINALDO V. JONES, who again directs the destiny of Twin Falls high school grid iron team.

SEVEN FOOTBALL CONTESTS ON SCHEDULE FOR BRUINS

Seven games are on the 1920 grid schedule of Twin Falls high school. Dates, the Bruins opponents and the places for contests are as follows:

September 21—Abilene Normal at Twin Falls
October 4—Buhl at Twin Falls
October 11—Tulsa at Idaho Falls
October 18—Idaho Falls at Twin Falls
October 25—Nampa at Idaho Falls
November 2—Boise at Idaho Falls
November 9—Boise at State of Salt Lake City at Twin Falls.

By E. M. SWEETLEY
The News Staff Sports Writer

The first week of work on the football fields finds the Bruins in the midst of the settling process. Around a nucleus of six returned letter men, Coach Bralford and Davis, tackles, and Frazel, Cowan and Vance, backs, with Long, a new and young source. Coach Bralford is cramming and re-cramming the material to fill the pieces left by graduation. Fifty-seven skulls will be shaved in the first week of practice. All teams at work will either meet ready to fill any place. Not all are at first string caliber, but at struggle with the cloud over Lincoln field and try earnestly to learn and to remember all of the things, big and little, that go to make up the training days of football season.

Line Material Lighter

The material appears considerably lighter than last season's forward wall. For the pilot job Baker, Reed, Handford and Grey are working. None has the weight and punch made so solid a year ago, but all are big enough to be steady under stress, and show signs of the "kick" that makes up for about poundage. To flank them, and to fill the guard places, Coach Jones is looking over Larsen, Murphy, Kuykendall, Galt, and Keel. There will be a tall scramble among this group for the coveted position of the line. It will be late in the season before choices can be made. The men lack experience, but the one thing that counts is long legs and a sure experience. Will be a struggle for the line. The line will be a struggle for the line. The line will be a struggle for the line.

will come with a strong and well-seasoned team to open things on September 21 and Buhl, the friendly-but-fighting rival from the West—comes a week later. The intended Abilene game has been called off to give more time for preparation; the time being so short, and there being so much to be done to condition the squad for the heavy later work. The days are not long enough for all that needs doing, but to the players, not yet accustomed to the work, the hours seem plenty long.

Game Warden Gives Argument For Open Season For Hunting

Deer More Numerous in Forest Reserve in Twin Falls County Than Any Other Part, Says Hawkins

There are more deer than for miles in 16,000 acres of the Minidoka national forest in Twin Falls county, which is open season October 25 to 20, has been declared in any other Idaho territory. W. Hawkins, game warden, said here last evening. He also declared that in any other Idaho territory, he was sure there were not as many deer as in this area that has been closed for 19 years.

Deer are so numerous in this area, Hawkins said, that they are threatened by starvation every winter, and many of them are three or four years old. On the east fork of Rock creek, within 25 miles of Twin Falls, the game warden asserted, deer die in from a wide territory to winter. The supply of feed is nearly always inadequate, and the deer are in grave danger of starvation every season, while those animals are fed that die have shed all their teeth.

"I do not see how much deer country in Idaho just the matter of the state," Mr. Hawkins asserted, "to make it profitable to hunt. It is to keep deer here alive."

It is his contention that Idaho citizens should be permitted to hunt those animals, and that the true purpose of conservation will be served by the open season.

He pointed out that the area to be opened is less than one-fourth of the territory in Twin Falls and Cassia counties, and that this range extends deep into northern Nevada. With hunting prohibited in Idaho, he asserted, a situation is brought about that is id to the advantage of Nevada hunters, and Idaho citizens cannot participate without going into Nevada and buying a non-resident's hunting license.

There will be no open season for deer hunting this year in Cassia county, and deputy game wardens will patrol the border line between Twin Falls and Cassia counties, that extends almost due south from Hansen through the Muldoon forest, to see that hunters do not cross the line into closed territory, Mr. Hawkins stated.

The forest reserve in Cassia county includes the Monument mountain region where all of the elk that have been distributed are now—realism—have been killed during the open season next month, he added. They are protected by state law and regulations that will be observed.

Reveries in Vicinity
Even if it were true that all of the deer in the Twin Falls county area were to be killed during the open season next month, Mr. Hawkins added, there would

JURORS BACK AFTER ONE-DAY VACATION

Trial of Buhl Farmer, Accused of Firing On Boys in Melon Patch, First

Jurors will return to district court here at 9:30 A. M. today, following a one-day vacation, to enter upon trial in the case of B. J. Sanford, Buhl farmer, accused of shooting at three young men who, he claims, were in his watermelon patch last August 29, and poisoning one of them with a charge of shot-in-the-leg.

Sanford is formally charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Alvey Hancock, father of Ralph Hancock, victim of Sanford's shooting, who filed the complaint. Young Hancock was not seriously injured.

J. H. Shertley, Buhl, will be part in the trial as Sanford's attorney.

Trial in the case of Barney Ellis, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, has been set to follow the Sanford case.

ARMY TO INVESTIGATE GREAT NORTHERN BEANS

Prompt and favorable response to the request of Congressman Adolph T. Smith, that the government investigate the Great Northern bean, with a view of placing it on a par with army ration with Michigan, California and New York beans, was received yesterday in a telegram from B. P. Creighton, quartermaster general, Washington.

General Creighton said that the inquiry suggested would be made at once. Congressman Smith says he is confident that the investigation will result in the army buying beans raised here as the navy has been doing for several years.

SMOKE CAUSES COLLISION FOR TWIN FALLS PERSONS

Dense smoke on the Columbia highway, resulting from forest fires, caused an auto-collision near Arlington, Oregon, between a car owned by a driver in Oregon, and Mrs. J. W. Laid, Twin Falls, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Laid, and Delma Anderson, Twin Falls, and Lloyd Sommerville, Burley, left here Tuesday morning. Owing to darkness produced by smoke they were compelled to stop over night at Umatilla. Next morning they pushed on toward Portland until they met with the accident.

Nobody was hurt. The Oregon man, named Williams, pushed the car into Arlington and paid for cost of repairs. Arlington is 140 miles east of Portland.

Motorists Loafing On Road 204 Feet Wide Get Tickets

Drivers Meeting With Unique Regulations—When Operating On Michigan Super-Highways

On Sundays and Holidays Solid Lines of Cars Move in Both Directions Over Broad Thoroughfares

Normally Traffic on Lanes Out from Detroit Proceeds at Pace of Close to 50 Miles Per Hour

The Associated Press Detroit, Sept. 19.—To be given a "ticket" for "stepping on the gas" while driving through a small town or village on a state highway is a quite common occurrence in the life of the motorist in a hurry.

To be threatened with a ticket if he does not step on it is a new experience in store for him on the Woodward avenue super-highway that leads from Detroit to Pontiac, some 20 miles distant.

Lanes for Traffic—The highway, one of several the state is building from Detroit to various points, is 204 feet wide. It is marked off for slow moving traffic and for cars moving 35 miles an hour. Two lanes in each direction are designated as "35-mile lanes". Normally traffic in these lanes moves at close to 30 miles an hour.

On Sunday and holidays solid lines of cars move in both directions. It is to relieve the congestion caused by the motorist who drives 15 to 20 miles an hour in the 35-mile lane that the several municipalities have decided to issue tickets for slow driving.

"In all the world no highway like this," is the boast of development interests along Woodward super-highway. The 204-foot highway consists of two 35-foot parking areas, two 10-foot sidewalks, two 44-foot paved roadways, each for one-way traffic accommodation, a total of eight car lanes, and a central 40-foot right of way for electric rail lines.

Four Super-Highways—Aside from Woodward avenue, which is US-10 in Michigan, the other principal super-highways are Michigan avenue, which is US-112, Grand River avenue, US-16, and Gratiot avenue, US-25.

Each of these super-highways begins at a point approximately six miles from downtown Detroit. When the present program has been completed they will extend out into the state from 20 to

MOUNTAIN VIEW FARMER GETS LARGE BEAN YIELD

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Sept. 19.—J. F. Cordes threshed 42 acres beans which yielded 30 bushels per acre this year. His farm is three miles south and one-half east of Twin Falls. The crop was raised by his tenant K. H. Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tolbert from Quilley Center, Ida., and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Tolbert from Breckenridge, Minnesota are here visiting their sister, Mrs. J. F. Cordes and family this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Smith arrived from Los Angeles to live at the Conrad Smith ranch which they will assist in operating in company with Clarence Smith.

Mrs. Norman Albery and Mrs. Leonard Smith are here from Los Angeles to visit their father, Conrad Smith, and their sisters, Mrs. Robert Booth and Mrs. May Beatty and their husbands, Verne and Clarence Smith.

L. M. Boehm has sold his ranch south of Twin Falls and will leave with his family for Oregon as soon as the crops are gathered to spend the winter. They plan to return in the spring and look for a smaller place.

DENSE SMOKE HALTS RIPENING OF APPLES

Time for Picking Will Be Set Back 10 Days—Orchard Owners Believe

Smoke from forest fires is materially retarding the ripening of apples here and will probably delay the time of picking a week or 10 days in the opinion of E. V. Gilson, district horticultural inspector, who says that several orchard owners with whom he talked about the matter, agreed with him. Ripening progress seems to have stopped definitely.

Mr. Gilson said that in discussing the effect of smoke on crops with L. C. Schultz, federal fruit inspector for Idaho, Montana, and eastern Oregon, who was in Twin Falls yesterday on a tour of inspection, Mr. Schultz said that on one occasion in Washington some years ago, wheat ripening was delayed 10 days by reason of the canopy of smoke from forest fires which obscured the sun just at the time that sunlight was needed. Sunlight is required now for ripening (and coloring) apples and it is cut off by the heavy smoke. It is stated here that the smoke cloud from the forest fires which rolled over Twin Falls Wednesday was increased by a large acre brush fire beyond Glenta Ferry.

Mirror Accomplishes Separation Of Gases In New Ingenious Process

LABORATORY DEVICE PROVES SUCCESSFUL IN RESEARCH WORK

News of Results Obtained With "Looking Glass" Interests Oil Industry

Use of Apparatus Illustrates Hard Problems Confronting Chemists

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Science Editor. (Associated Press Feature Service) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 14—One of the most unusual uses for a mirror has been found at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The "looking glass" is employed in a new ingenious process for separating gases in the research laboratory of organic chemistry.

The mirror is made by silvering the inside of a large vacuum tube. Its function is to keep at a more even temperature the contents of a warm coil within this tube. Lack of air in the tube helps to insulate the coil, but the reflection of heat waves by the mirror is the critical factor.

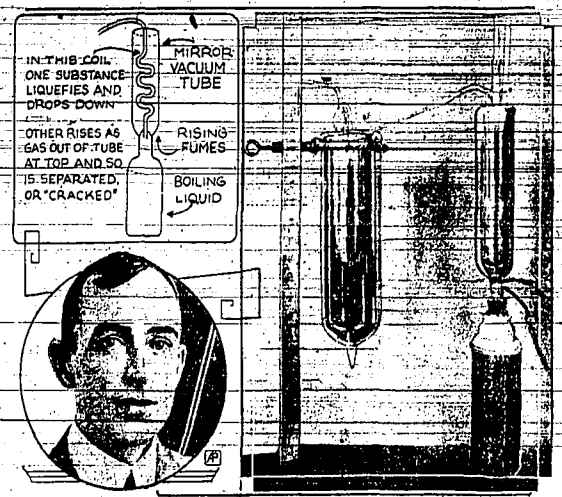

Illustrate Problems The use of this mirror illustrates the seemingly unworkable problems that chemists tackle and the simple methods found to solve them. The problem in this case is to extract separately some of the numerous substances in the gases at petroleum refineries. Enormous quantities of these gases are unavoidably produced in the so-called "cracking process" for making gasoline.

The method for doing this, adopted by Dr. H. S. Davis, director of Project 19 of the American Petroleum Institute, is to take advantage of the slight differences in boiling temperatures of the hydrocarbon substances.

The top of the warm coil is kept very cold. The mixed gases pass in at the bottom due to "fractional condensation and distillation" only one reaches the top. The others condense as liquids which continuously run down and out from the coil.

Stream of Gases Thus a slow steady stream of pure gases, one after another can be separated from the mixture. But success depends on almost perfect temperature control—and the mirror is the latest.

Dr. H. S. Davis (inset) is in charge of a mirror device used for experiments at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Operation of the mirror is depicted in the diagram.

throughout the Intermountain region, will receive even greater emphasis at this year's fair September 26, 27 and 28. Officials of the annual event stated here today.

All preparations for the fair are nearing completion. Improvements include an additional barn for race horses. It is announced, because of larger purposes offered.

The new building for women's exhibits is undergoing final preparations. According to Earl Kennedy, secretary-merchandise of the community, are reserving space for attractive displays and promise to arrange booths that will draw much interest.

The fair products building will have more room this year on account of the new building taking care of the women's department, and space has been reserved in the farm products building for exhibits from Jerome county and communities. In addition to the community exhibits there will be unusual good exhibits of the products of the field, orchard and garden, the secretary declares, and an increase of the late date of the fair there will undoubtedly be the best exhibit of mature corn in this part of the state. Products of the orchard should be at their very best, he said.

There is considerable interest being taken in the prices offered by the Associated Sugar company for the best exhibit of sugar beets and the best exhibit of milk-made from sweet corn. The fair board expects that the space reserved for these departments will be taxed to the utmost capacity.

More preparations are being made for exhibits of horses, cattle, swine, sheep and poultry than have ever been made here, and preparations have been completed to accommodate every one.

Those desiring to make entries at the Jerome county fair but who are in doubt about what exhibits to enter or what exhibits are eligible for entry, should get in touch with the superintendent of the department they are interested in or with Sam Spivey, county agent, according to Secretary Kennedy. Either will advise as to how to prepare exhibits for entry and tell what is eligible for entry.

Those not having premium lists, which give a complete list of entries, the amount of the prize and other valuable information relative to the fair, will have a premium list mailed them by notifying the secretary.

The fair board has spent much time in planning and preparing for the best fair that Jerome county has ever staged and will have had uppermost in their minds the thought that they want to make the fair pleasing, entertaining and instructive to all their old patrons, as well as the many new patrons who will attend, the secretary reports. Every provision has been made for the care and comfort of the record breaking throngs expected at this year's entertainment feature.
