President Hoover Declares Development of Waterways Great Objective of Regime

Chief Executive at Louisville Outlines Plans For Expenditure of $20,000,000 Yearly For Project

(By The Associated Press) LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 23.—The special train of nine cars bearing President Hoover and his retinue, which was pulled out of Union station here late tonight, bound for Washington.

BY HARMON Z. HENLE (Associated Press Staff Writer) LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23.—The development of the rivers and lakes of America into a gigantic arterial waterway, embracing a task three or four times the magnitude of the Panama canal undertaking, was pledged by President Hoover here tonight, one of the great objectives of his administration.

Millions of persons from coast to coast listened as the president spoke from the radio from the Louisville memorial auditorium and heard him declare one of the most ambitious instrumental improvements of his administration.

Explaining his purposes in considerable detail, Mr. Hoover said his program would cost the most for additional expenditures of $20,000,000 a year, and asserted this would be equal to the cost of one-half cent on the dollar.

"It is to be unfortunate," he added, "to save this annual outlay on navigational construction as the result of the forthcoming war emergency, but it is not a matter of saving or of spending; it is a matter of saving or of spending."

Climate of Ceremonies

The president's address was the climax of ceremonies attending the completion of the canal from Pittsburgh to Cairo, that project, Mr. Hoover asserted, was the greatest achievement of his administration.

"The completion of this canal," he said, "has attracted the attention of the world to navigation of the river by an interlocking system of locks and locks."

At Louisville, demonstrating the possibilities of passenger pleasure traffic as well as freight.

President Hoover detailed as still to come in the development of this country's waterways, the improvement of the entire system of the tributaries, the protection of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway as soon as an agreement is reached with the United States and Canada, the completion of 1000 miles of additional inter-coastal canals, and the development of means to accommodate the increasing size of ocean going vessels and the expanding volume of American commerce.

"The great task," Mr. Hoover said, "is not a dream of the visionaries; it is the realization of the nation's future."

At the formal dinner, the president appeared in excellent health in spite of the long travel and his vitality during the last few days was attested by members of his party that both the President and Mrs. Hoover had suffered from no effects of their long exposure to rain in Detroit and Cincinnati and the stormy trip down the Ohio.

Although Mr. Hoover from Louisville an hour ahead of schedule this afternoon, a crowd of several thousands greeted him at the wharf.

Shepherd Pays With Life After Resisting Arrest by Utah Officers

MONTPELIER, Idaho, Oct. 23 (AP)—Sheep Stealer Wilson and Deputy Sheriff Knealy, Rich County, Utah, arrived here last night with the body of George Pappas, a shepherd, who was shot by Sheriff Knealy when he resisted arrest near Garden City, Utah.

Wilson said Pappas pulled a rifle on him as he attempted to levy on sheep on which a claim mortgage had been foreclosed. He said Pappas refused to give up the sheep and drew a 300-caliber .44—Wilson fired. The bullet struck Pappas in the groin. He died before medical aid could be rendered.

STOCK PRICES DROP $3,000,000,000 IN PAPER VALUATIONS

Wall Street in Nearest Approximation of Market Panic Experience in Recent Financial History

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Wall Street was thrown into the nearest approximation of a stock market panic experienced in years during the last hour of trading on the New York stock exchange today.

A new and wholly unexpected avalanche of selling swept over the market, carrying scores of stocks down from $10 to $6 a share, and wiping out more than $3,000,000,000 in paper values in the brief interval of about an hour, an average of about $50,000,000 a minute.

Stock price averages and indices indicated that never before in modern financial history had quoted values dropped so suddenly. Quoters pointed out, however, that in view of the amazing unprecedented size in stock prices in the last year and a half, this break could by no means be regarded as reducing prices to disastrously low levels.

Swiftness Demoralizing

The thorough demoralizing aspect of the collapse was its swiftness. The market opened rather dull, and drifted that way with several important stocks recording temporary gains, until midday, when a sharp "bear" drive was launched against the automotive equipment and radio stocks, several of which were down 10 to 20 per cent.

MONTANA FLIER FAILS TO ARRIVE IN LONDON

Confident Assertions of 'He'll Make It' Slowly Turn to Anxious Queries

PORTLAND, Oct. 23.—Confident assertions of "he'll make it" turned slowly to anxious queries of "have you heard anything?" as news filtered on today and no word had been received of Urban P. Dittman, Jr., Billings, Montana, catfisherman-aviator, who without an advance word left Harbor Ormeau, Newfoundland, for London.

What was a positive conviction earlier that their son would succeed in the transatlantic flight, now has become a half realization that he possibly met with some mishap.

The miniature world map which the flier had traced with pencil's route his son probably would follow still remained on the table in the Warren A. Erwin home, but Erwin, Portland plane and motorist, said that there was a trunk strewn over the outcome of the daring adventure.

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—At least two persons were dead, 20 others were believed drowned, and the safety of dozens of others on ships some where in the lakes was in doubt as the Great Lakes region's worst storm of the year cut a chill path eastward tonight, leaving millions of dollars in property loss.

WITNESS TELLS OF SUGAR LOBBY WORK

Cuban Company President Frankly Details $95,000 Campaign in Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Detailing a $95,000 campaign against an increase in the sugar tariff, H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuban company, New York City, told the senate lobby investigating committee today that he considered lobbying a necessity for the business world.

Quick with his answers and opinions, Lakin's frankness appeared to take the senate inquisitors by surprise. He said his work for Cuban sugar producers against the sugar tariff increase had been "detested" but he was "afraid" his business interests and those of his associates would not have been protected if he had not been here.

"So the business world has come to the conclusion," inquired Chairman Cawley, "that it must have lobbyists going to work?"

"I am sorry to say it but 10 months' experience down here has convinced me that it must," replied Lakin.

Groups Contribute

Lakin said 11 groups had contributed the $95,000 fund, including about 90 per cent of the Cuban sugar producers and 100 American or American interests.

He said the Cuban government offered to contribute but he told them it would be improper. President Machado, he said, induced Enoch Crowder, former American Ambassador to Cuba, to assist in the Washington campaign against the sugar tariff increase. He did not know whether Crowder was paid but expressed an opinion that it was "for old time's sake" by Crowder for Machado.

Of the $95,000 fund, $75,000 had been spent so far, $24,000 going to "propaganda" disseminated through a publicity bureau in charge of Mrs. Chiquita Moon Jones. Lakin named about 14 members of the house and 12 senators upon whom the campaign "was being conducted" and said that many of them had been negligible. He offered to supply them information on the sugar controversy.

Violence Grows in Kansas City Strike

Armed Officers Guarding Milk Trucks While Arbitration Plans Proceed

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23 (AP)—Breaking out in new violence today, Kansas City's 17-day-old milk strike resulted in armed deputy sheriffs being called to guard milk trucks while chamber of commerce officials prepared to attempt arbitration.

A band of approximately 20 men was prevented by three deputy sheriffs from destroying a load of 500-gallon milk on its way near Lone Jack, Missouri, a suburb. The milk truck was halted by a barricade across the road; the driver was ordered to get out of the truck and drive the deputy sheriff to a motor car arrived and offered the barricade removed.

The men then opened the blockade and the truck continued the journey into Kansas City.

A short time previously a band of farmers had dumped 30 gallons of milk from a truck onto a highway near Kansas City.

Conrad H. Mann, president of the chamber of commerce, today was gathering information relative to the milk strike to present to the city council in a conference of producers and distributors.

POWER FIRM FIGHTS WEST END CITY PLAN

New Litigants Seek to Prevent Sale of $65,000 in Bonds for Lighting Plant

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Idaho Power company today sought to prevent the sale of $65,000 bonds for construction of a power-distributing system and supported the earlier demand that the city officials be prevented from entering a contract for $400,000 with the Fairbanks Morse company for installation of a Diesel engine generating system.

Orank Miller, a taxpayer, brought suit, contending that the officials had no power to enter a contract which would have the effect of raising the city's debt to $1,000,000. Further, he contended, such a contract would be unconstitutional raising money in behalf of a private corporation which has no right to receive the city's credit to the corporation.

The power company contended it was already supplying sufficient power to the city and when further extensions are needed it would acquire them. It claimed its rules and rates were reasonable.

The power company said that if a writ of prohibition was not issued by the district court, it would sue for an injunction.

DALDRIDGE DEMANDS FREIGHT RATE PROBE

Public Utilities Commission Will Investigate Charges of Favoritism

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Governor H. C. Haldridge today announced he had demanded that the public utilities commission on an investigation of freight rates on all markets where Idaho products are sent.

The investigation will determine whether the rates on Idaho products are fair in comparison with rates on products from competing points and whether these rates permit development of all branches of industry of which the state is capable.

Mr. Haldridge has made several trips to Salt Lake City to get data for the report and an assistant has been appointed to push the investigation through.

To Find Favorable

Certain crops in Idaho have made considerable profits in past years and this year are making excellent returns to the growers, he said, "but we do not want to find that other sections are being held out of markets through more favorable rates."

"Idaho lands ordinarily produce more per acre than the national average and it is necessary that this should be reflected in our advantage and at least should put us in fair competition with less productive areas which happen to be closer to markets."

Aging Controversy Over Losing Teams Reaches Climax

Enoch Bagshaw Offers to Remain at Post Until End of Present Football Season, if Manager Insists

(By The Associated Press) SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—Enoch Bagshaw, football coach at the University of Washington, today submitted his resignation to Earl Campbell, graduate manager. The resignation was turned in following a long conference by Bagshaw, Campbell and Ward Kamm, legal attorney and personal representative in the matter. The text of the resignation, addressed to Campbell and signed by Bagshaw, read as follows: "I respectfully accept resignation as football coach of the University of Washington, effective immediately. "Campbell announced that Bagshaw's offer would be accepted and that he will remain in his present position until the end of the season. "The resignation ended a coaching controversy at Washington which has flared up three times during the past several seasons. Bagshaw who is serving his ninth year as head football mentor, Bagshaw's contract had two more years to run at $8500 per season. "The student board of control at Washington attempted to dismiss the coach and pay him off last winter but the faculty athletic committee ruled that this would be illegal. The student body then elected Bagshaw to resign and he refused. "The Washington football team was failed to win a Pacific coast conference game in the first game this season. Montana defeated the Huskies 10-0 in the first contest and Southern California smothered Washington 34-0. "It was after the Trojan-Husky affair that the coaching question again flared up. "Following Washington's defeat at the hands of Washington State last Saturday several conferences were held by Bagshaw, Kamm and officials which resulted in the coach submitting his resignation today. "The office of President M. Lyle Sperry of the university, announced that Bagshaw would receive $16,000 for the balance of his contract, which has two years to run. "Campbell said he would not have accepted Bagshaw's resignation under any other conditions. "Assistant football coaches at the university would be affected by Bagshaw's resignation, and the university will install the new coach, when his name is named, honor their services until their contracts terminate. "Five games remain to be played this season, University of Oregon and Stan-

Shoshone Triumphs Over Cubs Late In Contest By 6 To 0

Twin Falls, Eleven Loses to Opponents by Touchdown in Final Quarter After Pass and Penalty

(Special to The News) SHOSHONE, Oct. 21.—Twin Falls Cites held Shoshone with Barber's line to our football here this afternoon. Shoshone's score came late in the last quarter. A pass, followed by a second penalty indicated on the Cubs on the play, gave Shoshone the ball on the Baby Drains 10-yard line. An end run, one of the two that Shoshone made for good yardage during the game, kept the ball over for the only score of the game. Until about the middle of the last quarter the ball moved slowly. The Cubs could not really through middle field, and approach scoring distance. Then Shoshone went tighter her dangerous except by two instances. First, to overcome it, and a fumble would spill all of the hard work. After Shoshone scored the Cubs cut loose with all they had, and they drove the ball within their scoring distance three times in the last part of the final quarter, and fumbled each time. Jerome and Filer to Meet in Twin Falls

North Side Team Will Win With Wildcat Eleven in Game On Lincoln Field

By arrangements completed yesterday the Filer-Jerome game will be played on Lincoln field here Friday afternoon. With the Bruins leading on their friends at Nampa this afternoon, and the teachers' seasons coming to a close, a good football game for the home fans and visiting teachers is well thought of. And it should be a good game. They gave the Bruins a hard row last week, and Coach Fowler's boys have a very interesting style of game most enjoyable to watch. A game, held at Nampa this afternoon, against the powerful Bull outfit, but gave the boys from the West End a royal battle. Coach White has his team traveling at high speed, and the Twin Falls people want to see Dellinger, Card and company in action. Both of these teams are fast, and their game will be filled with action. Negotiations now being made may bring Duhl and Bueby together at Twin Falls on Saturday. If that game comes here, the fans will have a double treat. The season is getting short now, so all of these extra opportunities to see football fights are precious of the local football followers.

Two Sluggers of Old School Meet in Walker-Hudkins Bout

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Two slugging butlers, proud of the time they had sacrificed to become able to fight the old fashioned punch-and-throw middleweight title, here October 20, in a 10-round bout. Mickey Walker, New Jersey "balloon" fighter, his title against the "Babe" of Los Angeles, was the result of the recently defended middleweight title. Walker will be forced to fight several pounds to make the 160-pound limit. If the financial anticipations of the promoters are correct, the bout will be a sell-out. Walker will be well repaid, regardless of the outcome. He will draw down 47 per cent of the gate while Hudkins will work for the regular challenger's rate of 32 per cent. The fight will bring together two warrior molders from similar pastures. Each conducts his own strategy on the theory that a slugging offense is the best defense. It will be the second title clash of the pair. Last year in Chicago, Walker

University's Tigers To Play Utah Team

Eleven at Pocatello Gains Confidence as Result of Victory Over Montanans

POCATELLO, Oct. 21.—(Special to The News)—Gaining confidence in their attack through its success against the Montana Miners Saturday, the university "Tigers" will represent the state in the week playing and lining their offense for the Utah reserves next Saturday. A shift will be made in the line replacing Captain Stephens at tackle who was seriously injured in the Mine game, with either Bennett, Rosenblum, or Sullivan. Jensen whose shoulder was also injured will be replaced by either Smith or Kelly, both of whom display considerable punch in the Montana game. With Kelly, Lucas, Ward and Robertson, Twin Falls in the backfield, the Tigers have an exceptionally fast and hard-hitting backfield, although they lack in weight. They are all slifty and all can hit the line for yards. In another turnover requires, Hines, Evans and Ballard compose a versatile reserve backfield, while plenty of reserve material for the line makes the Tiger lineup dangerous from start to finish. "The Utes, apparently slated for another Rocky Mountain tilt, will send 26 outstanding men here next Saturday to meet the Tigers on Hatchinson field, and should be able to force the Tigers to their limit. "The ticker did not print the final question until an hour and three-quarters after the close. "More than 100 shares were cleared to new lows for the year, including such leaders as General Motors, Radio, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Sinclair Oil, Chrysler, Canadian Pacific, Kennecott, and Lambert. DEER GROWING WARY AS NUMBERS SLUMP

Shoshone Basin Ranger Estimates Nearly 700 Killed First Three Days

During the first three days of deer shooting season in Twin Falls county, opened last Sunday for 10 days after intervals of 15 years, 670 deer were killed in the Shoshone basin, according to reports at the forest ranger's station in Shoshone basin yesterday.

Count made by game wardens and the ranger indicated that 600 deer were killed on the first day, 100 on the second and 70 on the third day of the season.

Chances of 14 deer that had not been found by hunters, or that were wounded and died later, have been found.

With diminishing numbers, deer in this region are becoming wary, and a larger proportion of hunters are returning without deer than during the first day or two.

The Jarbridge state driver was quoted yesterday as reporting having seen at least 100 deer moving from Idaho ranges into Nevada where the season is closed.

THEORY OF EINSTEIN OBJECT OF ATTACK

Dr. Dayton C. Miller Will Attempt to Refute Contention of Noted German

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23 (AP)—Results of experiments conducted in a "lull" given on the campus of Case School of Applied Science here by the physicist Dayton C. Miller, will be the subject of a lecture by Einstein and show the presence of ether and its drift through the earth will be presented at Ithaca, New York, Friday.

Dr. Miller will read his paper before the Optical Society of America meeting at Cornell university. The experiments, conducted by Dr. Miller, are of far-reaching importance in the realm of science and are in conflict with some aspects of Einstein's theories.

Dr. Miller has been revealed, will say that his experiments here bear out the results obtained in his famous work at the laboratory at Mount Wilson observatory in 1926.

First experiments gave only the "expected drift" and it was assumed that this might have been due to some imperfection. Einstein capitalized on this contention however.

The existence of an ether, which is supposed to be a medium for the propagation of light, has been the subject of a bone of contention among scientists for many years. Its presence and the measurement of its motion has a very important aspect, for it is thought by some that if its drift can be measured, we can determine the absolute motion of the earth through space.

Idaho To Engage In Battle For Two Rail Connections

BUILDING OF CANYON ROAD MEANS END OF SERIES OF EFFORTS

Report On Central Oregon Line Construction Favorable

Long Content Looms Over Transportation Projects

Route From Homestead to Lewiston Falls to Win Approval

(By The Associated Press)

BOISE, Oct. 24.—Idaho will engage again in the long and bitter battle for two long desired railroad connections on October 20 and 21 when arguments will be presented by the state before the interstate commerce commission in Washington in support of applications for construction of the Snake river canyon road from Homestead to Lewiston and construction of the Central Oregon route from Crane to Crescent.

The Oregon report received a favorable report from Commissioner McMannany who held a hearing in Portland, but the Snake river canyon road was declared untenable following a hearing in Lewiston. In this case it was declared insufficient traffic could be developed along the narrow confines of the canyon to support a railroad.

Development of the canyon route would be the continuation of long-continued efforts of Idahoans from Pioneer days to improve traffic between North and South Idaho. The present north and south highway follows a course up the Weiser and down the little Salmon rivers. First established as an Indian route, it later was used by a section of the Hunt-Astor expedition in their race against the approach of winter, a race which other sections of the party lost.

Becomes Stage Route

Nett followed use of the road as a pack trail and stage route and this was quickly followed by a request of the Pioneers that it be developed as a military road.

Centennial surveys of the Snake river canyon for location of a railroad have been made several times and several attempts have been made to negotiate the river by boat.

The most recent development is promise of use of the route for airplane travel. This would probably follow the present north-south highway which is slightly east of the canyon route.

The examiner's report to the commission pointed out that the country adjacent to the canyon is very mountainous and the only considerable traffic that could be developed was from mining property in the Seven Devils country. This he pointed out, could be tapped by a comparatively inexpensive extension of the railroad from Homestead.

Various reports of the cost of the Snake river road were made, ranging all the way from $25,000,000 to upwards of $100,000,000.

Extension Required

The Central Oregon situation brought out different reports. The extension from Crane, Oregon, and a connection with the Southern Pacific at, or near Crescent, Oregon, by the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company is reasonably required in the interest of public convenience and necessity," reported Commissioner McMannany, "and the expense involved therein will not impair the ability of the carrier to perform its duty to the public. Construction of extension required.

Several railroads were named in the complaint filed by various state utilities "consolidated" and "the organizations in Idaho and Oregon but the examiner named the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company, a subsidiary of the Union Pacific system, as the most suitable to build the connection of 185 miles, as it had already built the Ontario-Crane extension which is the best of the present railroads.

The territory to be served is as large as several eastern states, and would be added to the territory already vast undeveloped resource. The area probably constitutes the largest area within the United States which is without rail facilities. The line would cross approximately 21 miles east of Crescent lake, the recently constructed line of the Great Northern system from Brata to a connection with the Southern Pacific at Clifton.

Ontario to Crane, 127 miles, is already built. A side line from Crane to Burns, 30 miles, was built later to tap the timber lands there.

It is claimed that an annual savings of $1,500,000 would result from use of the road.

Cost of the line was estimated by complainants at about $5,500,000, or about $29,000 a mile. The railroads estimated the cost at $11,717,000, or $63,340 per mile. In either event, McMannany pointed out, the cost would not affect the operating efficiency of the Union Pacific system.

The Oregon public service commission attacked the development of Central and Western Oregon as being seriously hampered due to the absence of an east and west railroad across the state. Traffic now originating in western Oregon and destined to eastern points must move either south to Bendville, California, or north to Portland before the movement is really begun. Similar movement is experienced on traffic originating in eastern Oregon and southwestern Idaho destined to California points and to points in southwestern Oregon.

Prevents shipments

According to McMannany, "the recently imposed fuel and excise tax consumed renders it impossible to ship certain commodities of a perishable nature to what would be available markets if the shorter routes to be proposed on the proposed extension were available."

A story of once happy homesteaders, who were forced to abandon their lands when the line planned originally by Hill and later by Harriman was left unconstructed—was told at the hearings. At present the section is sparse, settled, but the section is the poorest and the poorest testimony to show that the country was suitable for stock raising, dairying and general farming. Several irrigation projects now existing along would be put on their feet, McMannany pointed out, while dry farming could give a considerable boost.

As an investment, he estimated it would be entirely profitable to the Union Pacific.

HIGHWAY CREW WILL MOVE FROM BURLEY

Survey Complete For New Route to Include Only One Railroad Crossing

HOURLY, Oct. 23.—Special to The News.—Preparations are being made to move the highway location crew from here to the district state highway office at Burley this week. Location surveys have been completed, and much of the office work has been done, the remainder to be finished by the district office.

According to C. H. Hubbard, in charge of work here, the completed data shows a short-cut of the highway a distance of 10 miles, beginning at a point 10 D. Clements Monday evening, mid-west of Burley and continuing easterly through Main street in Burley, across the north side of the railroad to the junction of the highway with the Idaho five valley cutoff some three miles east of Idaho.

The new highway location, besides materially shortening the distance, also reduces the number of railroad crossings from four to one. The only place east of Burley where the railroad will be crossed is at a point a short distance east of town over the Idaho branch according to Hubbard. The highway will also branch near this point, one route proceeding across the "Haystack bridge" to Rupert. No information is available as to when construction work on the new routing is to begin. It is said that the recent survey is in conformity to specifications advised by Federal Highway engineers, following plans which reduce curves to as great an extent as possible and including the elimination of all possible railroad crossings.

"My! you look lovely to-night"

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last time, had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women smile and secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities state it is an indication that the body's power of resistance to disease is low.

Meaning, that there is a deficiency of red blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich red blood, there could be no strong sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red blood-cells back to normal, that slight, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again, and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to disease.

Rancher Buys Kenyon Schoolhouse, Once Part Of Busy Irrigation Project Town

BURLEY, Oct. 23 (Special to The News)—The Kenyon schoolhouse, a tried, without avail. One by one, and landmark of overexpansion in irrigation, finally in a body, the settlers gave up hope for many years, to be turned and departed for more profitable fields to the use of many states. The old building has been sold to James Oakes, an old homesteader in Oakes valley. And these lands, so unprofitable to Oakes valley's place in that district dedicated to irrigated agriculture, have been turned over to the use of backwash bits, coyotes and the great golden eagle.

Kenyon was slated to be a lively place of the plains. A little town was moved, a few odd strings of fencing here and there, and the area cleared for farms. There was a level, fertile plain between Burley and his office, store, railroad depot and this well appointed schoolhouse. Goose is concerned, awaiting the time when creek water turned out to be shorter than expected, and farms suffered for lack of water.

"Three Months' Time Lost Daily" in Mountain States

It happens to all of us. Perhaps just once during the day or on some days, several times, you dash to the telephone to find that the calling person had become impatient and left to give you time to answer. On the other hand you, too, may have been in a hurry and the person you were calling looked at his telephone too late.

About 12 per cent of the daily average of 2,267,548 calls in the entire territory served by this company are not completed largely because the calling party abandons the call without allowing sufficient time for an answer, or the called person delays answering. The total time lost daily approximates three months.

You can help make your own voice more satisfactory by waiting two minutes and answering your telephone as promptly as possible. A recent survey has proved that when the ringing of the called telephone was discontinued for an additional minute, answers were obtained in 23 per cent of the cases.

Incomplete calls are a hindrance to good service—some are unavoidable, but others can be completed with your help—may we have your cooperation?

"Drug," Real Life Story, To Reappear at Orpheum

When William Dudley Felley wrote the novel "Drug," from which Richard Barthelmess latest First National-Vienna starring picture has been adapted, he based it upon the life of people when they were in childhood and says then why does he do it? I believe the central theme of the story—the cover, too, for it says, "Holy Bible, dragging down of an ambitious youth; What this old world needs just now is man who has to take care of too many for men to stand for what they believe." The DEVIL'S MANTLE

By Frank L. Packard

There was relief in Peter's mind that someone noticed his presence as he came out of his room. "I am sure there is nothing else to do," said Mr. Garth heavily. "You must be satisfied with what is added. Come along."

"But aren't you coming?" Marion asked in surprise. "No, I can't. I'm sure there is nothing else to do," said Mr. Garth heavily. "You must be satisfied with what is added. Come along."

"Well, for instance, she said—and suddenly her face lighted, and a gleam of laughter dawned in the blue eyes. "I shall be wondering—little perhaps—because I could never see her in a high stool in a London counting house."

"Here out of all the world they had met again. And he was Alex Dunn. "It was mockery to think of sleep."

"The ship's bell struck one. Was that halfpast five or halfpast four? Peter could not be sure. "There was no light in the little alleyway. He fumbled for the knob of his stateroom door."

"Who's there?" Demanded Captain Mumm as though suddenly aroused from sleep. "Alex Dunn."

"It's Mr. Garth," a voice answered quietly. "Open the door, please. I have something to say to you."

"The yacht's commander and Mr. Garth brushed by the little skipper unceremoniously and came into the cabin. Captain Stone held a revolver in his hand; his face, eyes and voice were hard. "Get up, you!" he rapped at Peter. "And get your clothes off!"

"Get your clothes off!" repeated the little skipper indignantly. "The little red-haired kid projected himself forward. "Damn!" he exploded. "I can't think of you! What's all the blushing about?"
