The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Partly cloudy Wednesday, Thursday fair; no change in temperature.

BOURBON SCORE—Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5 (AP)—Returns from Kentucky's legislative election tonight indicated that the Democrats will have their usual two-thirds majority in the state house of representatives next January and will control the senate. The strenuous campaign waged by the Republicans to elect a legislature failed to upset normal Democratic majorities in either county where that party usually rules and Republican defeat of election in a number of precincts.

The Republicans sought to gain a majority in the legislature to strengthen their control of the state government. Governor Fred D. Cameron, Republican, was elected in 1927 for a four-year term. All appointive state officials are Republicans, but all elective officials are Democrats.

AMENDMENT PASSES—Cleveland, Nov. 5 (AP)—Returns from half of the precincts in Ohio's election today indicated tonight a 100,000 majority for a proposed amendment to the state constitution to permit the state to issue bonds for public purposes of taxation.

In 454 precincts out of 6002 the vote was in favor of the amendment and 261,500 against.

Majority elections were held in nearly every city and town in the state. In Cleveland, early returns indicated the Democratic ticket, headed by Mayor Frank E. Campbell, Republican, defeated the Republican ticket, headed by Mayor Frank E. Campbell, Republican, Independent. The vote was 111,712 to 107,970.

INDIANAPOLIS—Nov. 5 (AP)—Reginald Sullivan, an attorney, was elected by the Democrats at mayor of Indianapolis today, defeating Alfred M. Glassburner, Republican. Glassburner carried his district when returns from slightly less than half the precincts in the city showed that his Democratic opponent was leading by only a few hundred votes.

BUFFALO ELECTS REPUBLICAN—BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Charles E. Horvath, Republican, was elected mayor of Buffalo today by a plurality of 7482 over the present mayor, Frank E. Schuchman, Republican, and Frank C. Perkin, Independent. The vote was 111,712 to 107,970.

SENATE PROCEEDING WITH LITTLE ABOUT REVISION OF TARIFF

Upper House Reaches Agreement to Accelerate Action On Bill by Limiting Time of Address

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—After reaching an agreement to accelerate action on the tariff bill by limiting the time individual senators may talk on amendments, the senate today proceeded with a vote to eliminate proposed increases in duties on pottery and China wares, although which a stiff dispute had been pending.

Earlier a move to hasten debate by restricting discussion beginning tomorrow had failed, when Senator Dill, Democrat of Washington, objected to such a request by Chairman Clegg of the finance committee. He contended that the tariff at the very root of the tariff-making process is a question that is open discussion in the senate.

Later, however, Clegg proposed that each senator be limited to talk 10 minutes on each committee amendment at the pending rate schedule, but embracing tariffs, earthenware and glassware. Senator Dill was not present when this motion was put and it carried without discussion.

Vare Case Comes Up
Senator Dill, Democrat, South Carolina, offered a resolution to amend the tariff schedule, but there were little indications it would be brought up.

After failing to limit their time on two previous votes on committee amendments proposing reductions in duties on china, glass and earthenware, the Democrats today agreed to accept the joint action in order to eliminate the committee recommendations for higher duties on cheap china of pottery, and China wares and glassware. The committee proposals wiping out those increases.

After accepting, 33 to 21, the committee's proposal to strike out the house schedule of 10 cents a dozen on the existing duties of 45 and 50 per cent ad valorem, respectively, on unceramic earthenware and crockery wares, the senate today agreed to accept stored existing rates on china and china related products.

This rejected committee amendments proposing to cut 10 cents a dozen on the existing rates on earthenware and china wares in effect, soucers and plates valued at not more than 50 cents a dozen.

Senators Ross, Republican Independent, Nebraska, and Harrison, Democrat—Mississippi, opposed the higher duties proposed for the cheaper grades of earthenware and china.

WORD THAT KING GEORGE once more is able to ride and to shoot has caused gratification in all parts of England. At this time of year the English aristocrats' mind turns to guns and birds. PETERSEN HELD FOR FATAL AUTO CRASH
Accused Driver to Answer to Manslaughter Charge
Court Magistrate Rules

Henry F. Petersen, 32, Twin Falls produce buyer, was held in answer in district court to a manslaughter charge in the conclusion of a preliminary hearing in district court here yesterday.

Petersen is accused in connection with an automobile collision here last October 29 in which William F. Moore, 50, Twin Falls farmer, was fatally injured.

He was admitted to $1000 bond, which was furnished.

Attorneys for Petersen at the preliminary hearing sought to have the charge dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence. Defense attorneys called the stand for questioning E. E. Leitch, police chief, and William Taylor, police officer, but Petersen was not called to tell his own story.

The prosecution alleged that Petersen was driving at excessive rate of speed and that Moss had the right of way at the street intersection when the collision occurred. Witnesses called by the prosecution included two eye-witnesses of the crash, Arthur Barker, janitor, and Owen Morrow, 12, newsboy. Other witnesses for the prosecution were William H. Bush, police officer, and Dr. H. E. Lamb.

Salt Lake City Team and Bruins to Vie on Lincoln Field

Latter Day Saints Will Battle Blue And White Eleven

Coach R. V. Jones Receives Definite Word of Game From Mentor of Leading Utah Title Contenders

Football fans in and near Twin Falls, bent on witnessing an Armistice day gridiron thriller, will undoubtedly find the very thing they are looking for next Monday afternoon at Lincoln field when the little-seeking Utah eleven from Latter Day Saints high school, Salt Lake City, clash with Coach Renato V. Jones' Twin Falls Bruins.

That the game for which negotiations were practically completed last summer will be played became a certainty yesterday. "John" West, mentor of the powerful Utah aggregation, sent word to Coach Jones advising that he will arrive in Twin Falls with his team either Sunday evening or Monday morning, depending on whether or not a night's rest would be taken at Burley.

A game between the Bruins and a Salt Lake City team has been an annual affair for six years, but the coming chance for the first time brings the Latter Day Saints athletes into competition with the locals.

Salt Lake Title
The Bruins, an outstanding contending in the Pacific state, earned a 12-0 victory over the mighty West Side team last Saturday to strengthen their position in the race. Determined to add another victory to an already impressive string of plain conquests, Coach West will bring all of two complete teams of the school's best players to the scene of the fracas with Twin Falls high school.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SAME AS LAST YEAR

Only Eight Difference in Registration; Attendance Better for 1928

Enrollment in the Twin Falls public schools during the first period of the present year amounted to 3,100 against 3,108 during the same period last year, according to statistics compiled yesterday at the office of W. B. Smith, superintendent of Twin Falls schools. At the same time it is stated, the total number of students in the system at present is probably greater than at this time last year owing to the fact that many children of itinerant workers entered school early in the fall of 1928 and left with their parents before the close of the period. Mrs. Vera C. O'Leary, junior high school principal, said yesterday that this was especially noticeable in classes in the department over which she has charge.

There has been an increase of 30 in the high school enrollment, and a falling off in all others. The enrollment by schools for 1928 first period by schools: high school, 847; junior high, 817; junior, 520; Washington, 429; Buckle, 10.

For 1928 for the same period the enrollment stood: high school, 817; junior high, 815; Lincoln, 500; Washington, 448; Buckle, 436.

The school census recently completed showed 3,972 persons of school age, between 6 and 21 years, in the Twin Falls independent school district, of whom 1,172 were boys and 1,192 girls. The school census last year showed a total of 3,983 names.

The body of Raymond L. Moreland, 24, Twin Falls electrician, recovered at 12:45 P. M., yesterday from waters of Mountain Home.

where he was drowned Sunday afternoon while hunting ducks, rested last evening in funeral parlors here, while arrangements for funeral services were being completed.

The widow of the tragedy lay last evening over two homes. One was the home of his young wife and two little daughters. The other was the home of his widowed mother, Mrs. Ella Moreland, Fourth avenue east, who for a recent time has called upon to face tragic death of a son. Five years ago last June, Jesse Moreland, an older brother of Raymond, was killed in a boating accident at Boise. Sharing the mother's sorrow were three sisters, one the mother of a 15-year-old girl, who recently by a late-bredling the fate of the unfortunate young man on Mountain lake last summer.

Two Days' Search Ends

The body was recovered after intermittent search for nearly two days in which the coroner and deputy sheriffs and three constables were active in the vicinity and by Moreland's fellow workmen. In order to permit lowering of the water, cut in Milliner at the intake to the Twin Falls Canal system, of which Murray Lake is a part, were closed early Sunday evening. Water receded so that when the body was finally located, it was on dry land about four and a half feet of water, although when the impounded boat capsized on Monday it was plunged to its death, water had been 12 to 13 feet deep at that point.

The search came to an end when Deputy Sheriff A. C. Parker, continuing the effort alone for a few minutes longer when his associates left the water to obtain warmth and food, pushed out almost to the top of his wading boots and touched the body with his toe. With the burden of anticipated heavy lifting it was raised and placed on board one of the boats taking part in the search.

Widow on Scene

The young widow and two little girls, who had been assisting in serving coffee and sandwiches to the searchers, were on the shore when the boat and its pitiable burden came to land.

During the long quest, the searchers received assistance from Vernon Williams, 17, nephew of Raymond, who was with him when the craft capsized. He clung to the boat and pushed it to shore, arriving in an exhausted condition.

The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Moreland, Raymond Moreland, was born in Weld county, Colorado, 24 years ago. The family came to Idaho in 1910 and lived at Kimberly and Twin Falls. The father, died five years ago and resides in the cemetery. Raymond Moreland lived for some time in Boise where he was a member of a national guard unit. Since last December he has been employed here by the Idaho Power company.

In September four years ago, he was married to Doris M. Pike, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Pike, 1500 E. Main street, west of Twin Falls on Addison avenue. He was the father of two little girls, Jean Rose, 3, and Dorothy Marie, 1 year old, who survive.

He is survived also by his mother and three sisters, Mrs. Florence Wilson, Twin Falls; Mrs. Maudie Williams, Targh, and Mrs. Clara Schiffman, Twin Falls, and one brother, Roy Moreland, St. Joseph, Missouri.

The body rested last evening at the Crossman funeral parlors here.

It was erroneously announced yesterday that Raymond L. Moreland was a son of B. E. Moreland of Twin Falls.

Appreciation of assistance given by a number of Twin Falls citizens who loaned wading boots to the searchers was expressed by Sheriff E. P. Prater last evening. The list included E. Hollingsworth, Dr. Oliver Harstad, T. M. Roberts, C. E. Thomas, B. D. Fowler, G. W. Shwout, Ivan O. Lincoln, Charles P. Larsen, B. A. Sweet, Mr. Gordon and D. K. Frost.

MacDonald's Report to Parliament Gets Warm Approval

PRIME MINISTER OF GREAT BRITAIN LAUDS PEOPLE OF AMERICA

With Warmth of Feeling, Ex-Premier of England Congratulates Successor On Success of Mission

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Nov. 5 (Special to The News)—Carefully reading word for word from a prepared statement—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald today told the house of commons of the success of his mission to the United States and Canada. He received the warmest congratulations from Liberals, Conservatives and Laborists for his efforts in behalf of Anglo-American unity and naval disarmament.

Mr. MacDonald put the results of his conversations with President Hoover before the house in a brief speech. He lauded the open-minded and open-hearted way that had been met by the president and his cabinet in the new relationship between the two nations, based on mutual respect and goodwill for reaching and beneficial effects.

He said that such contentions as questions as to whether the mutual agreement had been made to examine them but no commitments had been entered into.

Warth of Feeling

With a warmth of feeling that moved the house deeply, former Premier MacDonald congratulated his successor on his success in a mission that he said it had always been his ambition to undertake.

In adding the tribute of the Liberal party, former Premier Lloyd George raised a storm of protest on the Labor benches by pressing the prime minister to say whether he had discussed war debts with President Hoover or entered into commitments.

Commander J. M. Kenworthy, Labor member, said that Lloyd George's demands were mischievous, but Mr. MacDonald insisted on replying. He declared that the question of war debts was not discussed and assured the house that there had been no commitments.

Lady Astor asked the members by assuring the prime minister that all the "sober" elements of America would ardently support his mission. Mr. MacDonald himself joined in the laughter.

He announced that all preparations were being made for the five-power naval conference in January.

12-Hour-Day Schedule Will Increase Egg Production During Winter Season

BOISE, Nov. 5 (Special to The News)—Idaho chickens will now have to begin burning a little midnight oil to keep up their laying accomplishments, the university extension division intimated yesterday in the state in its latest bulletin.

Because self-respecting hens refuse to stay out after dark—nor get up much before dawn—artificial lighting must be supplied to keep them operating on a 12-hour-day schedule. The big laying period of most hens is in April and May, the bulletin said. But by providing them with a little extra light they will get to their early morning routine a better, the bulletin kept at the hen's elbow to a somewhat later hour at night. This will secure an increased egg production during the winter when egg production means nothing.

Of course considerable extra feed must be provided, for the birds cannot work those long hours without their calories.

There are all kinds of tricks in the lighting business. For instance the light to put heavy shades. A certain number of birds like to lay school boys will slide off into the shadows and continue sleeping rather than set down to the business of eating and laying.

Again, the light must be turned off gradually at night for the chicks must have light to find their way to bed on the roosts. Being used to carry good-night candles, they may be provided a slight bit of glimmer for a few minutes. Dimmers will accomplish this.

Extending the Limits of Man's Opportunity

Power has lightened the farmer's burdens and shortened the miles to town

ONLY A FEW generations ago the life of man was circumscribed by his own physical limitations—the dexterity of his fingers, the strength of his back, the speed of his limbs, and the labor of domestic animals.

The interchange of commodities was slow, difficult. There were no good roads, as we know them today, nor any way to travel swiftly, surely, over these roads. The deeply rutted wagon trail was a long, hard trail.

Though boundless acres were all about, it was only the adventurous few who traveled far. Many a man lived and died without ever having been more than fifty miles from home.

Then was born an idea that was destined to reshape the frontiers and the future of the entire country—the idea of making a small, strong, simple automobile so low in price that it might be placed within the means of all the people.

The coming of this new means of transportation not only changed the industrial life of the nation, but helped to change the private lives of every one for all the generations to come.

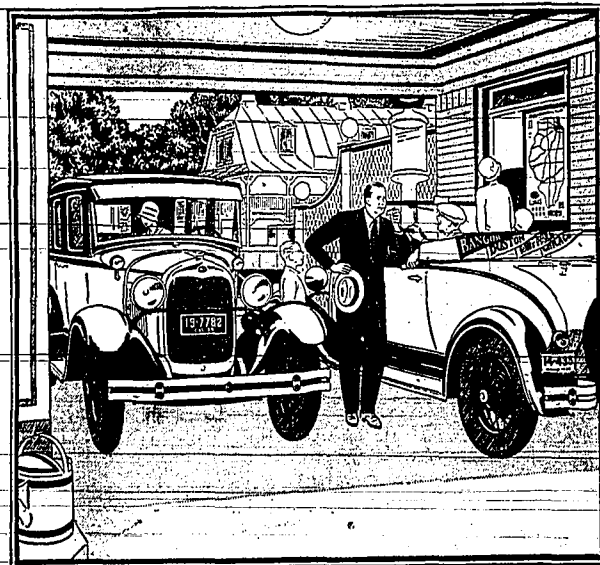

It leveled hills, extended horizons, created new opportunities, furnished the means to earn more money and to enjoy the leisure which that increased income should bring.

In creating and building a small, strong, simple automobile at a low price, and in using it, man became accustomed to thinking of machinery as a servant. He made power work for him.

More and more as time went on, in industrial plants and on the farm, heavy labor was taken off the back of man and placed upon the broader shoulders of the machine.

The Ford moved everywhere, blazing the way over mired roads and rocky mountain trails, through gumbo and sand, creating a rising demand for swifter, smoother travel that resulted in the construction of hundreds of thousands of miles of cement and macadam highways reaching to all parts of the country.

The benefits resulting from the introduction of the low-priced automobile have done more than perhaps any other single thing to increase the standards of living and to make this a truly united country.

All the people are blended together by the flexibility and swiftness of automotive transportation. The prairie farmer, the industrial worker and the city business man are governed by similar impulses, similar tastes, similar demands upon highly specialized machinery to serve them.

This civilization can show no greater example of disciplined machinery than in the operation of the Ford Industries.

The great miracle is not the car, but the machines that make the machine—the methods that make it possible to build such a fine car, in large numbers, at a low price.

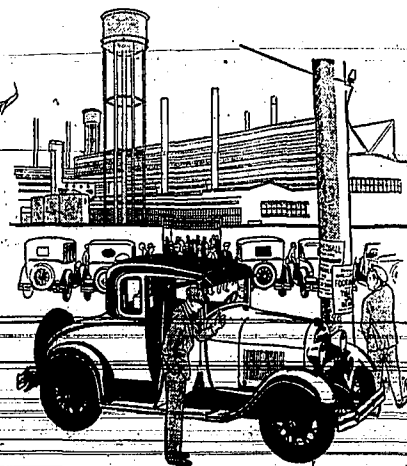

Craftsmanship has been put into mass production. Millions and millions of parts are made—each one so accurate and so exactly like the other that they fit perfectly to the thousandth of an inch when brought together for assembly into complete units.

Men by the thousands and the hundred thousand are employed at the Rouge plant alone and there are hundreds of acres of plant equipment. Yet the purpose today is wholly the same as when the equipment of the Ford organization was housed in a single small building.

Everything that has been done has been done to give further scope and expression to the Ford Idea.

That idea is not merely to make automobiles—not merely to create so much additional machinery and so many millions of additional horse-power—but to make this a better world in which to live through providing economical transportation for all the people.

For that purpose the first Model T was made twenty-one years ago. For that purpose the new Ford is made today. In 1929, as in 1908, it is again helping to reshape the frontiers and the future of the country, and to further extend the limits of man's opportunity.

To all men—everywhere—the advantages of economical transportation

PROGRESS OF BANKS IN IDAHO INDICATES STATE'S PROSPERITY

E. W. Porter, Commissioner of Finance, Reviews Condition and Development of Many Institutions

(Special to The News)
 Boise, Nov. 5.—Since 1923, Idaho also has made financial progress that augurs well for the prosperity of the state. E. W. Porter, state commissioner of finance, said today in a review of banking conditions.

"In looking back over the past eight years to the end of the year 1921," he said, "to the state banking situation, it will be seen that there were 124 state banks having deposits of $26,724,274; that they had loans at that time amounting to $25,484,132; with borrowed money amounting to $2,822,752. In 1922 10 banks had disappeared, the number remaining being 114 with deposits of $28,507,125, loans $25,792,382, and borrowed money $2,425,729. From that time on up to October 1, 1929, the deposits amounted to $40,936,414; loans amounting to $39,162,701, and borrowed money had dropped to the comparatively negligible figure of $193,822, progress has been steadily maintained.

Effect of Change Overhaul
 "While it is true that eight national banks have closed since 1923, the state banks, yet it should not be forgotten that 29 state banks were closed and their assets and liabilities immediately subjected to a complete and thorough audit of the state banking structure. The bulk of the banking just what effects have been experienced by the elimination of the national banks would be rather complex and probably difficult to present with complete accuracy, since the closing of state banks in the vicinity of national banks and the closing of national banks in the vicinity of state banks has resulted in more or less of a shift of the business from one to the other.

The picture, as I see it, is that while there were 124 banks there are now 94 and that whereas the loans and deposited money in 1921 were practically equal, the state banks at that time being under the burden of borrowed money amounting to more than $8,000,000, the aggregate of the deposits now in the state banks amounts to $40,936,414 as against loans of $25,472,021, while the burden of borrowed money has almost entirely disappeared.

Bank Adopt Safe Theory
 With a policy toward permanence of service and safety of the bank and the depositors, the theory has almost universally been adopted among banks that local loans in excess of amounts should a bad year occur either by depositors or otherwise, be accompanied by unobtrusiveness, since depositors at such times have an unusual need for their money and borrowers at such times have extreme difficulty in the repayment of loans. The adoption, therefore, of a program which involves the local banking of only a safe proportion of deposited money, investing the balance in securities of such character that in emergency the same can be sold at the safety of the bank and thereby converted into cash, would not only insure against the interests of the depositor, but would also result in safeguarding the borrower against a demand for repayment of his loan at a time of stringency and consequent difficulty to do so.

"This program insures a permanence of service and avoidance of hazardous predicament such as has been suffered within the recent memory of all of us in this state."

Clara Bow Scores Hit In Idaho Theatre Film

"The Saturday Night Kid"—and what a hit! comes to the Idaho theaters for a run of three days only, accompanied by much jangling of coins at the box office till it is far and away the best picture ever presented for the same time and with the same result as the full company of stars. Clara Bow, the girl who in this excellent play written by John W. Weaver and George Abbott, Miss Bow is an ambitious, peppy young sales girl in the clothing department of a store. She falls for the handsome, young floor-walker, James Hall, and their romance seems to be moonily sailing toward the serene haven of wedlock when Clara's younger sister, Jean Arthur, decides to make a play for the much-desired Jimmie.

But Jean's affections are unshakably freighted with deflection, for she has squandered some of the money of the Employees' Welfare Fund on the idea of starting a new store in the city. She tells her superiors that Clara also has a strenuous effort to get the money back from the dishonest track bettor who had taken her. Jimmie also learns of the predicament of the actress and heretically turns to the aid of Clara. The finale is a sweet one—Clara gets her man. But there is one claimant and heretically turns to the aid of Clara. The finale is a sweet one—Clara gets her man. But there is one claimant and heretically turns to the aid of Clara. Orpheum to Show "The Man and the Moment"

"The Man and the Moment," which comes to the Orpheum theatre tomorrow, is a picture of Elmer Gantry, the greatest story of the times, and the sound effects rendered and produced via Vitaphone.

George Fitzmaurice directed this first opus of the cocktail trails, and Red LaTour plays his first role in First National opposite Miss Dove.

"The story opens with some aviation scenes, and then goes into the state with a hectic, bustling story of the trimmings. It is a fast-moving story of hectic love affairs, and is the first of Miss Gantry's heart throbers to be dialogue for the screen.

Miss Dove's guile, denuded by Max Baer, are to be more beautiful than ever and the star is surrounded by a cast of exceptional merit, including some of the best known young players in Hollywood.

Before she joined the silent drama she was a famous Broadway star, appearing for many seasons in George White's Scandals. Her legitimate stage experience is reflected in the Vitaphone.

LINCOLN COUNTY CLUB WINS JUDGING HONORS

District Extension Agent Reports Work of South Central Idaho Groups

BURLEY, Nov. 5 (Special to The News)—Dan E. Warren, district extension agent, who has just returned from the Portland International Livestock show, says that 4-H clubs were well represented at the show and that they not only gave a good account of themselves, but were awarded by observing and studying some of the highest scoring and best dressed stock in America.

Of the clubs in the South Central district, the Marley Duro-Jersey State club, of Lincoln county, placed fifth in judging among 40 clubs. Judging demonstrations were made on eight classes of livestock. Frank Stevens, Arthur Bolton and Percy Briggs were the team members.

The "Grow 'Em Well" club, Caldwell, secured fifth place, also in judging livestock. Members were L. A. Gillette, Jr., Wallace Johnson and William Darrington. Fish Bait for Denizen Of Water in West Indies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (Special to The News)—A West Indian angler, according to J. W. Kirger, national museum ethnologist, may never have heard the old adage but went it one better by setting a fish to catch a fish.

His bait was the sucker fish, a creature with a powerful sucker developed on the upper side of the head which it naturally used to attach itself to other fish.

A sucker fish was captured alive and tied to it, and allowed to escape until it became attached to a large fish. Both fish were drawn in by the tether. The captured fish disengaged and the live bait set free again for another victim.

Smith-Flagges boys from the district also did well in judging contests. And Owen brothers, special specialists living near Burley, got a number of awards for Hampshire and Poland China swine, mainly, extremely stiff competition.

His chief job, he says, has been to disseminate the commonly-held theory that an Steam baths, Dr. Foster, Pk. 846. Adv orphange need be prison-like.
