Glider Makes Future Aviatrix Fell at Home Above Earth

BUFFALO CLUB FIRST OF KIND FOR WOMEN FLIERS OF COUNTRY

Craft Furnishes Opportunity to Overcome Difficulties of Initial Flights

Seven Young Enthusiasts in Unique Organization

Instructor Hopes Class Will Qualify for Flying in Eight Lessons

By The Associated Press
BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 9 — Glider-makers making some of Buffalo's future feminine aviators feel at home in the wide open spaces above the earth.

"They are the 'wings' with which members of the Women's Glider club are acquainting themselves to altitudes where someday they hope to soar at the controls of motored aircraft.

The club is the first of its kind for women in the country and was organized by Major John Goetz, its instructor, who believes gliding is the most practical and safe way for an embryo flier to get the "feel" of the air.

"The glider gives one a chance to overcome at least one of the difficulties of learning to fly—getting accustomed to the air—with a minimum of risk," said Mrs. Charles Dallas, wife of a pilot who hopes to earn her "wings."

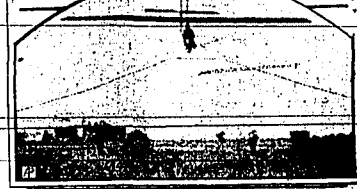

One Member Ascends
Mrs. Dallas is one of the two members of the club who thus far have been permitted to ascend in a glider.

"Glidering is a new thrill. I am crazy about it. It is as different from flying in a plane as sailing is different from motorboating. You just float through the air like a feather. There is little danger. If you do the right thing, you land with no trouble."

The club numbers seven young women at present, and all except Mrs. Dallas and Miss Rose Frank of New York City still are in the "ground" school.

Eight Lessons
Major Goetz hopes to qualify them for their first lessons in flying airplanes.

The gliders are simply constructed with two wings and a seat in front of a control stick for the pilot. For the first flight they are towed along by men until they reach the proper altitude. For the more experienced, they are

Preparatory to becoming pilots, members of the newly organized Buffalo Women's Glider club are becoming acclimated to the air in gliders. Above are members of the club—Major John Goetz, the instructor. Below, a glider in flight.

The Real Test of your Heating Plant

During those months when the thermometer falls below 60°, each descending degree brings a more complete realization of how important to comfort, health and happiness, is the selection of a proper home heating plant. Zero weather is the real test of furnace efficiency.

The steel construction and the unusually large radiating surface of the Torrid Zone provide a heating capacity capable of filling the rooms of your home with the glorious warmth of summer regardless of outside temperatures. This installation draws cold air off the floor and out of the corners replacing it with clean, sterilized, warm air to which all lost moisture has been restored.

No heating the same air in a room over and over again—no waiting for radiators to warm—no pounding of pipes—just a steady silent flow of clean, pure, moist, warm air from the Torrid Zone to every room in the house.

The new Torrid Zone furnaces are here. Come in and see them.

New Lighting Sign at Rogerson Hotel Corner

"The sign of 123 lights," which for years was the glory of the Rogerson hotel corner, marking the location of that hostelry, has come down, and has given place to a new sign with the neon system of illumination, which went into operation last night.

The age of the old sign has been a subject of abatement and speculation, for the last two days, since work on its removal began, some asserting that it dated back to the dawn of electrical use for such purposes in Twin Falls. The matter was settled last night by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rogerson, by whom the sign was hung, who said it was put up about 12 years ago. About three feet high, it was made of business some years ago and now stands on a ranch at Eden.

HAILEY, Nov. 9.—After several wandering meetings, the Hailey Civic club returned to its old quarters in the Commercial club rooms for regular business meeting Thursday. The session was well attended. For a serving committee for the social meeting of the month the following ladies were appointed: Mrs. Peter Christensen, Mrs. Robert Hojre, Mrs. John Povey and Mrs. S. J. Benson.

Mrs. S. A. Rutherford is here from the Missouri state to spend the week-end. Mrs. Charles Shepherd left Saturday for a visit with her brother and other relatives in Nebraska. She is accompanied by her little niece, Betty Jean Jacobs.

The commissioners order adopted yesterday provided for an audit of the three county offices, "in so far as they are concerned with the moneys of the various common school districts of Twin Falls county from January 1, 1929."

HEALTH UNIT HEAD RESIGNS POSITION

Dr. D. M. Cowgill Quits when Commissioner Issues Order Against Agreement

Maintaining that the work of the county health unit is wholly educational and preventive, Dr. David M. Cowgill, who has been director of the Twin Falls health unit since it was instituted last May 15, resigned that position yesterday when he understood one of the members of the board of county commissioners directed him to attend a charity patient.

Dr. Cowgill's resignation indicated other causes of friction between the unit and the board.

The resignation was accepted by the board effective November 20.

Dr. Cowgill, a graduate of Washington University, St. Louis, came here from Pocatello, Oklahoma, last May to become director of the health unit instituted here through cooperation of the county and state with the federal government and Rockefeller Foundation.

He has been engaged in this work for five years.

His resignation stated: "Owing to the fact that it was understood when I accepted the position as director of the county health unit that there would be no charity work in connection with work of the county health unit, and that today one of the county commissioners ordered me to go and attend to a charity patient, and owing to other unsatisfactory conditions which have arisen in the work, I hereby submit my resignation to take effect as soon as the commissioners see fit to accept said resignation."

Much of the work of the health unit here has been in connection with checking and prevention of spinal meningitis. The unit, cooperating with the state, recently completed cultures of all pupils of Twin Falls county schools, as a means of forestalling outbreak of the disease.

The office of county physician was not abolished when the county health unit work was begun, but Dr. C. D. Wenner, Twin Falls, was retained in that position.

Surviving Mr. Gonzales, besides the widow, Mrs. Francisca Gonzales, are four sons, Joe, Robert, Raymond and Salvador Gonzales, and two daughters, Beatrice and Trinidad Gonzales.

Learns New Word

Dear Friends:

The lines sprung a new word on me yesterday. That's a scheme he has to improve my education—learn a new word every day.

This one was "depreciation". He says it means that when you use a thing a long time it wears out and is not worth so much. It's a pretty big word but I hope to learn it.

I asked him how about a diamond and he said a diamond doesn't have any depreciation, and then he explained that if you have a diamond today the chances are that it will be worth even more in fifteen or twenty years. I never thought of that before. I always thought of a diamond as something pretty to look at and Mr. Umbaugh has some fine ones here in the store. Just think of having the use of one of these beautiful stones for years and years without a particle of depreciation! There, I used the word.

The swift and stunning turn of the wheels of football fortune saw Bob Zuppke's alert, hard-charging eleven stage a great comeback, get the jump on the holders and run up a first half lead that clinched the game.

These 14,000 "hacking" "hacks," each resulting in a touchdown, came in the second quarter and left the Army forces dazed, bewildered and shell-shocked.

Booth's Climb to Stardom

No Surprise to New Haven

Albie Booth's spectacular rise to a place among the football greats of all time was no shock to his home town admirers who have watched him perform since his grammar school days.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9.—Albie Booth, Yale's sensational sophomore, didn't stir less the national spotlight when he shined three touchdowns in a game against Yale on Saturday.

New Haven, seat of Yale, in the past has supplied relatively few athletes to the grid, but his contribution now to the grid is of the highest order for as a football player he is mentioned in the same breath with Hinkley and Heffelfinger and Coy and other Yale luminaries.

Albie's first lay was a football and he has been playing since his first was able to toddle. He had the 177 New school on his own locally in the first school league. Later, he played on the best club teams before he had his first triumph at Hill House high school.

University of Utah Championship-Bound Machine Finds Strong Opposition in Battle With Tigers

BY ERAND H. FRAWLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer) COLORADO SPRINGS, Nov. 9.—Utah university's championship-bound Indians met unexpectedly strong opposition from "Dutch" Clark's Colorado college Tigers here today and had to plug hard for their 12-to-3 victory.

Utah came back fighting and its fast-moving attack moved down the Tiger line, "Power-House" Pomeroy finally plowing through center for a touchdown after a steady march game. Sumner's kick for the extra point was wide.

The score stood at 6 to 3 for almost three minutes. The Tigers' line rising to emergency time after Utah to halt the advance on their goal which Utah always threatened. In the shadow of their goal posts, however, the Tigers massed their defense and halted Pomeroy, the Utah 100-pound balling during the times during the spirited conflict the Utah attack was snipped at the height of its march.

Price Goes Over Four minutes before the game ended Utah staged an uninterrupted parade that ended with Price smashing over for the extra point. Sumner missed his kick for the extra point.

Everything considered it was one of the most interesting football games of the year in the Rocky mountains. A 21-point favorite, Utah was expected to make short work of a much battered Colorado. Sumner's team found the going very rough. The Tigers gained 99 yards through the line. The surprising feature of the battle was Utah's failure to complete any of its forward passes. Utah's line interference moved with speed and the attack looked unstoppable, but somewhere along the line there arose a Tiger tackle, usually one of the best, who blocked the ball, or to call the ball carrier. Colorado could talk little or nothing to offer on the offense. The Tiger gains for the most part, were made through the left side of the Utah line and Coach Armstrong finally broke through to the left side. Today's was the lowest score to which Armstrong's team has held this season.

The line up and summary:

Washington State Vanquishes Idaho's Vandals by 41 to 7

Cougars Rip Team From Moscow Into Ribbons With Ease

Visitors at Tuffman Open Game With Power Plays Sufficient to Bend Foes Line Into Semi-Circles

(By The Associated Press)
PULLMAN, Nov. 9—Washington State's Cougars ripped the University of Idaho raiders to ribbons here today, 41 to 7.

The Coussacks from Moscow tore into the fray with the whistle, loosing power plays in the first half that bent the Cougar line into a semi-circle. The Cougars returned attack made the score 7 to 0 at the half. In the fourth quarter the Vandals went down the stocks on a bear market.

Schwartz made two touchdowns in the first fourth. Buckley opened the game. The Cougars poured across the field, sometimes smashing the line, often taking to the air, and occasionally just kicking up their heels and loping.

The first quarter opened with strong Idaho power plays, so effective that the "Blazers" failed to score. Buckley's strategy in the second sent Schwartz over, then Peterson and Wilkin of the Vandals pounded one across.

Robert Owens, Twin Falls, who has played stellar ball at quarter, did not show up in the lineup. Kennedy and Hult, Burley, seemingly failed to get under way and their game was below their average.

In the third, a Cougar advance was smashed down by the lads from Moscow, but Ellingsen and Hult made the ball on a lateral pass from a fake reverse play. Fifty-eight yards stretched before him, and the Cougar fans were delighted. He was on the sidelines and Washington State took the lead for good.

The Cougars, their prey brought down, marched into the field in the fourth period began. Buckley, Ellingsen and Schwartz held a tea party, and invited all the Cougars to join.

In the closing minutes the play makes opening up large holes.

"Eight Passes Good"
"Idaho" tried to "make" and made four of them—while the Cougars attempted 19 and also counted with four. On first downs they were even, with 10 passes. Washington lost 80 yards in penalties.

Burley Alone Standing In Way Of Rupert's Drive To Championship On South Central Idaho Gridiron

Bruins Will Vie With Salt Lake City Eleven in Armistice Day Classic While Strong Machines in East End Meet to Test Strength

By E. M. SWEENEY
With only the game tomorrow with Burley standing between Rupert and the Clinch a championship of the South Central Idaho district that part of the season is so nearly over that the fans can take the remaining games for the fun each game offers.

The Bruins take on the Latter Day Saints high school of Salt Lake City. After two games away from home, one a scoreless tie that was a right good battle, and one lost by the margin of an unconverted try after touchdown, the boys will get a lot of satisfaction out of playing before a home crowd again. The home crowd is with them. It appreciates the sturdy coneluck the players have made, following the Oakley drive.

It knows they can play better football than any they have shown on Lincoln field this fall, and with an opponent quite capable of testing the Bruins' best metal the name will be well heard.

Concerning the Oakley game it should be made clear that too much importance has been attributed to it. Had it not been for the fact that the district championship went beyond the Twin Falls boys' grasp because of it, no one would have given it much attention. Championships have their place, and may be as important as they seem to be regarded, but football is bigger and better than any championship and the Bruins have been bigger than come back to their task and to play their games as a team to win. That may be the best advice they can get. What the Bruins now need more than anything else is for a short season of earnest thought on what they have done and on what they can do as a team. They'll be surprised to find how much of them there really is. It is no time for criticism, or pointing faults or weaknesses. The need is to marshal the strength, and to use it all. And that strength rests almost wholly in the team as a whole machine, not in any one player. The Bruins have been able to win the ball, but it is merely the tool, which, for the moment, the team uses. Alone, he is powerless. And when he isn't carrying the ball one of the other 10 who are trying to make use of another tool. The spectators know that the run wasn't made by the man with the ball, but by the hard, unselfish work of his mates. And, if a player is carrying the ball one of the other 11 is again his line to carry the ball, the crowd sees that, too.

Kansas Aggies Win From Iowa State's Team In Downpour

MANHATTAN, Nov. 9—Billings in a rain before less than 4000 fans, the Kansas Aggies defeated Iowa State in football today, 3 to 2. Orley Tackwell's field goal late in the second period set the intentional safety the Kansas gave the Iowans just before the game ended.

The point after touchdown which gave the Aggies a 7-to-0 victory over Missouri last week, stood 25-yards from the goal line as he prepared to try for a field goal with the slippery aloof. A place-kick Aggie faked, with Waller crunched to receive the ball, but it came straight back from center to Tackwell who drop-kicked it squarely over the bars.

These three points loomed larger and larger as the tempo fought back and forth over the sodden gridiron.

California-Eleven Gets Scare During Session At Seattle

Diminutive Skipper, Coach Enoch Bagshaw, Makes Last Stand and Rises to Glory in Hour of Defeat

By FRANK G. GORRIE
Associated Press Sports Writer
SEATTLE, Nov. 9.—Enoch Bagshaw, the fiery little football coach of the University of Washington, made his last stand in this horsehoe stadium today and it was a glorious one even in defeat.

His much battered Husky eleven held the highly touted Stanford Cardinals—in a 6-to-0 game—and gave the men from the South the scare of their lives on a mud-covered field.

Although a heavy rain fell throughout the morning to soak the sandy field the sun broke through the clouds with the star's gun and the Cardinals made hay with it.

Taking advantage of Captain Paul Joseph's feeble kickoff early in the first quarter, the Cardinals pulled out of bounds from the Washington 10-yard line, and the Cardinals landed over the winning zone.

Make Determined Stand
Taking the pickoff on the Washington 10-yard line, Bagshaw, Rother's brilliant halfback, started left for 10 yards. The Huskies made a determined stand but their effort was in vain. Rother's gutter kick or the needed distance around right end and Chuck Smelling, powerful fullback, added two feet at center.

With a foot to go Smelling smashed through center for the touchdown which turned out to be the victory. Rother's place kick for the try for point was blocked.

Coach Bagshaw was making his last effort on his home grounds as he will leave his coaching job at the end of the season. The diminutive mentor resigned, recently but offered to remain with the team until the last scheduled game with Chicago two weeks from today. The Huskies will meet California in Berkeley next Saturday.

Trojans Sweep Unhindered Through Wolves and Hurl Defy to Notre Dame Team

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9 (AP)—University of California gridsters buried a defiant threat at their next foe, Notre Dame by sweeping almost unhindered to a 66-to-0 victory over the Wolves from the University of Nevada today.

All but a few members of the first team saw service in the paragon of touchdowns which kept the invading pack from Reno continually in its own territory, never were the invaders closer than 40 yards from the Trojan goal line.

Figures alone can tell the story of the yardage reeled off by fourth stringers on up to the first team backs. The men of Troy swept 607 yards to score their 10 touchdowns, against 84 yards for Coach George Philbrook's eleven. Of these 212 yards were made on 10 of 22 passes slipped by the Trojan backs.

However, sweet the victory, after the 15 to 7 defeat at the hands of the Golden Bears, it was not without its price.

Caldwell College Triumphs in Game Marked by Loose Playing by Both Elevens

FOREST GROVE, Ore., Nov. 9 (AP)—In a game featured by loose playing by both teams the College of Idaho defeated Pacific University here today, 13 to 12. Both elevens were evenly matched, however, and the game was interesting if not well played.

Idaho opened the scoring in the first quarter by driving its way down the field to Pacific's five yard line, from where Badger punter crossed the try for points by his play failed. Pacific rallied after an exchange of punts and at the end of the quarter was well in Idaho territory. On the first play of the second period Frost, Badger half, went across. Pacific failed to convert. The Badgers scored again near the end of the game period and Idaho ended the count in the third. Badger's successful try for point proved to be the winning play.

Noisy White Sox Manager Bashful Fellow Off Field

Loss of Donie Bush, new White Sox manager, is the mother who keeps house for him.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Donie Bush, the new Chicago White Sox manager, is anything but a shrinking violet on the baseball field, but elsewhere he is a retiring, bashful fellow.

On the field he will fight for every advantage, and his constant chatter has tried the patience of umpires of majors and minors. Off the diamond he has little to say, especially to strangers who attempt back-slapping tactics.

Bush was born in Indianapolis and has always lived here. He is a bachelor, whose love for his aging mother is not merely something to write about. His mother knows much about baseball, he would be unimpaired by the bustle and—probably more than anybody else in his managerial world. She keeps house for him in season and out. Whenever Bush leaves home he tells his mother what time he'll be back, and he's always punctual.

Donie's boyhood chums are his cronies. In Indianapolis he always has been "Owzie", but when he left, at 21, to join Detroit as a shortstop he became "Donie" to the majors. The new name stuck through the 15 years he was at Detroit, and afterwards as manager of Washington and Pitts-

Bush took the Sox job when assured he would be unimpaired by the bustle and—probably more than anybody else in his managerial office.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Its finger for 50 years on the pulse of national legislation, the Grange will go into its sixtythird annual convention at Seattle November 13 to 22 for one of its most important sessions.

Transcending all is the probability of a resolution concerning present tariff legislation.

The Grange is not disposed to accept higher duties on farm-imports if they are accompanied by increased rates for manufactured articles.

New Policy Statement

A new statement of policy is expected concerning proposed taxation of the packer's consent decree. The Grange has been playing a lone hand against nullification of the law prevailing in the "big four" packers from entering the retail meat and grocery trade.

Packers consented to the decree several years ago in the face of disturbing evidence against a possible "trust" which Grange proposes to base its stand on a ruling from the federal trade commission as to whether the conditions feared when the decree was instituted would constitute unfair practices now.

Especially is the Grange interested in the progress of freight rate investigation under the Hoch-Smith resolution and the development of inland waterways.

WORK PROGRESSING ON BURLEY AIRPORT FIELD

BUHLBY, Nov. 9 (Special to The News)—Work is now in progress clearing the airport field adjoining Burley and preparing the runways for grading. A splendid family car because of its graceful lines, beautiful colors and unusual riding comfort. Generous space is provided for all five passengers. Richly appointed and upholstered, with deeply cushioned seat in the fashionable lounge style. Floor in rear is recessed to give additional leg room. Driver's seat is adjustable.

VALUE far above the PRICE

IN REVIEWING the many advantages of the new Ford, it is particularly interesting to note the relation between value and price.

The low first cost of the new Ford is a point to keep in mind at all times because it means a considerable saving to you in the purchase of the car.

Equally important, however, is the reason for this low price and the manner in which it has been achieved without sacrifice of quality or performance. On the basis of actual, comparative worth, the new Ford represents a value far above the price you pay.

This is made possible only through manufacturing methods and production economies that are as unusual as the car itself.

Every purchaser shares the benefits of the Ford policy of owning the source of most raw materials—of making thousands of cars a day—and of selling at a small margin of profit. Were the new Ford made in any other way, under any other policy, it would unquestionably cost you much more than the present price.

The use of the Triplex safety-proof glass for the windshield is a definite indication of this quality. So are the four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers. The silent, fully enclosed six-brake system. The aluminum pistons. The chrome silicon alloy valves. The simplicity of the lubrication, cooling, ignition and fuel systems. The large number of ball and roller bearings. The extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings. The many other mechanical features that count so much in reliability, economy and long life.

All of these are important considerations to every man or woman who is contemplating the purchase of a motor car. All are important reasons why the new Ford delivers a value far above the price.

Devotion of Two Peoples Flowing Toward Italy's Future Monarchs

Destiny and Romance Join to Make Army Officer and Charming Princess Rulers
Sovereigns of Future to Have Respect of Subjects

40,000,000 Citizens of Two Nations to Unite to Welcome New Leaders

ROME, Nov. 9 (7)—Destiny and romance have combined to make a handsome soldier and a charming princess the future rulers of Italy.
Destiny made Crown Prince Humbert the heir to the throne of his father, King Victor Emmanuel. Humbert directed the selection of Princess Marie Jose, only daughter of the king of the Belgians, some day to share the throne with him.
Together the future sovereigns of 40,000,000 subjects of the Southern European country possess the qualities that have gained for other monarchs the respect and devotion of their people.
Among his countrymen, the tall and slender prince has enjoyed great popularity, rivalling that of the prince of Wales in England. On his public appearances and annually on his birthday, when the nation celebrated his future subjects have shown with a sincere spontaneity the large place he occupies in their hearts.

A winning smile that radiates friendliness coupled with modesty, a democratic bearing, staidness and religious devotion form the equipment with which he has won the respect and devotion of Italians.
His is a military career. At 26 years of age, he has risen to a colonelship in the army. He is known to his command, which is the ninety-second regiment, as Colonel de Savoia. By his subordinates he is idolized. Their comfort and welfare have been his first consideration, and in the field he has shared their discomforts.
The prince is a connoisseur of the work of Italian masters, and a collector of rare books. By virtue of his royal rank he is a senator in the Italian parliament. He has shown aptitude for business and has qualified as a certified public accountant.

Lives in Old Castle
Since 1925, the prince has lived in the ancient Racconigi castle near Turin, the old capital of Piedmont. It was in this old royal castle where the prince and his future bride met during the years ago spent in Italy completing an education begun in England.
Princess Marie-José, Duchess of Savoy and princess of Saxe-Coburg, is a talented musician, linguist and sports enthusiast. She speaks French, Flemish, English and Italian fluently. Four years ago she received recognition for exceptional talent as a violinist and also as a pianist.

PARIS FORECASTING BROADER SHOULDERS

Narrowness Once Pride of Well-Dressed Woman, Riding Into Oblivion

By BARBARA BEAUFORT Editor (Associated Press Feature Service)

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Those narrow laced shoulders which are the pride of the well-dressed woman today are riding to the oblivion of things out of fashion, in the opinion of some people.
Fashionists of the clothes world say that wider shoulder capes and wide-collars which extend beyond the point of the shoulder, are gradually accounting our eyes to another line "thinner than the thinnest," another fitting sleeve.
Already one or two of the most influential dress houses already are showing, with conservative gathering at the shoulder and modest puffs above the elbow. Many people believe that they are the only fore-runners and more of the same type are coming.
The puff sleeve is considered a logical development after raised waistlines, since it helps create the illusion of a small waist.
Once wider shoulders met ample sleeves are established, the crystal garters of the Rue de la Paix assure us we will develop hips less rudimentary than those of today.
Hair styles and hats are going to be included in the evolution for the silhouette of the head will change to the forward looking designers. From long wavy and red, straight styles will develop fluffy contour and a substantial basis for big hats.

Girl Keys Trains in Tunnels At Board of 266 Telephones

Twenty-one year old Ruth Hester keeps trains moving in the 62 miles of tunnels under Chicago's "loop" district. Much of the downtown freight is moved through the tunnels.
"Chicago, Nov. 9 (7)—The slim hands and alert brain of 21-year-old Ruth Hester keep traffic moving smoothly through the 62 miles of freight tunnels under Chicago's "loop" district.
Two hundred and sixty-six telephones in the underground passageway connect with Ruth's switchboard. They tell her where each of the trains in the tunnel is located—Keeping them from being at the same place at the same time is Ruth's job.
"It is up to Ruth to know whether cars go east or west, north or south, for each tunnel is a one-passageway," said Oswald C. Tracey, general agent of the tunnel company.
The tunnel line, a narrow gauge system, connects with 50 office, building and stores of the downtown district. Much of the freight brought into the "loop" and taken out, moves under ground. Cinders and other refuse from the loop stores move out through the tunnels.
Without the tunnel line there would be more than 10,000 additional trucks in the "loop" each day.

Britons' Changed Attitude Toward Navy Looms As Aid To Five-Power Conference

Students of World Affairs Point to Number of Reasons Likely to Result in Success of London Meeting Called To Limit Strength

By PHILIP DEWITT-SAVING Associated Press Staff Writer LONDON, Nov. 9.—British students of world affairs who are estimating the chance of success or failure of the London five-power conference are rating as of high importance the great change that has come over the Englishman's psychological attitude toward his navy.

Before the war, say these experts, the British navy was the most cherished of the country. For centuries, in fact, "the right light, tight little ship" had rested secure behind the floating fortresses that had succeeded its traditional "walls of oak."

The people, entirely ignorant of the horrors of war on the grand scale, were determined that England's sea power should be greater than that of any other powers combined—and confident that in their navy they had a fighting instrument that could take up any such a combination and lick it hollow.

Navy Requires Many Men Moreover, the great number of men needed to man the huge fleet meant that there was scarcely a family in the land that had not some personal connection with the navy, and it was for doing a much-quoted saying that the average country lad who had three sons sent one into the navy.

Then came the war, and the English people learned two things: first, that warship and the grim actualities of warfare do not go together; secondly, that the British navy, super-gigantic instruments that were, could not fight in places where the average citizen would expect it of.

The keeping open of the sea for the passage of foodstuffs and troops, the defeating of the submarine menace, the guarding of the country's shores against invasion—these were superb achievements; but from their very essence they were not spectacular, and they had to be performed with the minimum of publicity.

Like Draw Battle Nor did the one great feat of action of the war, the battle of Jutland, although it fills the bill. Expert commentators have this great engagement's proper place in history; but at the time all that the English people in general could realize was that instead of the British navy's blowing the German fleet out of the water at the first few weeks, something very like a drawn battle had been fought.

Today, declare the expert observers, the Englishman still regards his navy with respect and admiration, but he has discovered one or two new facts. He knows that the great thing that matters is the avoidance of war, and also that no navy, however efficient, can sweep or even hold in check an enemy without severe damage to itself.

It is in this light, it is declared, that the Englishman will regard the five-power conference. He will tolerate no reduction of his fleet that appears to him to impair the peace of the world.

GERMANS FACE BEER AND TOBACCO TRUST

Government Considers Plan To Replenish Depleted Finances of Treasury

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—The spectre of monopoly is haunting the German economic horizon. With a monopoly on the sale of matches granted to the Spanish match 1028, and nearly $1,000,000,000 for tobacco, show how important a revenue the Reich would derive from these items.

Whether beer and tobacco monopolies will be established is undecided, but well-informed circles, both political and economic, believe they are inevitable. The consumer lives in constant dread of their becoming a reality.

The fact that the German people spent $1,200,000,000 for drinks in the fiscal year 1927-1928, and nearly $1,000,000,000 for tobacco, show how important a revenue the Reich would derive from these items.

PHILIPPINES TURN TO TOURIST FOR INCOME

MANILA, Nov. 9.—The Philippines, looking around for means of increasing their meagre national income, have turned to the tourist trade as a method of accomplishing that purpose.

The move to attract more tourists to the islands was started at the suggestion of Governor General Davis. He argued that the tourist industry required little outlay of capital and yet could be developed into a major enterprise, as evidenced by California, Florida, France, Switzerland and other places.

One of the biggest factors in helping to swing the stock market back toward normal is the investment of corporations in the stock of other corporations. Graf's Polar Expedition To Open Unknown Arctic Wastes

SCIENTIFIC STUDIES TO FEATURE FLIGHT IN NORTHERN REGION

Captain Ernst Lehmann and Crew of 34 Men Will Handle Ship

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen to Lead Staff of Experts

Zeppelin's Journey Makes Possible Systematic Observations

By OSCAR LEIDING (Associated Press Feature Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Over the top of the world it once encircled, the Graf Zeppelin, leading scientists and explorers who envision an unbroken control of the Arctic, will cruise in April and May.

Memorable expeditions have opened up narrow tracks into the Arctic, but great gaps exist in man's scientific knowledge of polar countries that scatter their influence to the inhabited world.

Through systematic and widespread observations, for which the basis will be laid in the Graf Zeppelin's permanent control will be established by scientific studies hindered so far by the inaccessibility of the region.

Never before seen by man, a ghostly region of ice and snow where the sun mingles at midnight or a night may be six months long, lighted alone by the fluttering banners of the northern lights.

Nansen Scientific Leader Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous Norwegian explorer, will be the scientific leader.

Included in his scientific staff of 15 will be Sir Hubert Wilkes of Australia, H. U. Sverdrup, noted Norwegian explorer, and three American scientists.

The expedition is sponsored by the International Society for the Exploration of the Arctic Region by Means of the Airship, more frequently known as the Arctic Society, for a preliminary reconnaissance paving the way to more intensive studies in later years.

Polar phenomena will be studied for their effect on weather, and climatological observations so important in the development of air navigation will be taken.

Arrangements in the United States are being made by John A. Fleming of the Carnegie Institution of Washington and acting vice-president of the American branch of Aeronautics.

Project Envisons Control The project envisons a control of the Arctic regions by which knowledge may be secured where and when it is needed, a control impossible in the age of sledges and sea-ships but forecast in the success of expeditions with planes by Byrd, Wilkins and Ebelson, and with airship by Amundsen, Ellsworth and Nobile.

From northern Norway, at Tromsø, the dirigible will start April 1. Its destination will be Fairbanks, Alaska, definitely selected as the base because of the government railroad which connects it with the west coast, permitting the transportation of gas and supplies.

From Fairbanks the Graf will head again over uncharted regions, areas in which only narrow strips have been covered by explorers. Looking close to the pole, it will return to the base. Its home flight to Norway will carry it over more unknown territory.

Captain Ernst Lehmann and a crew of 34 will operate the air ship.

What the camel is to animal-desert life, the cactus is to plant desert life, most highly specialized of desert haunting organisms.

The cruise of the Graf Zeppelin over the arctic region next April is expected to reveal much hitherto unseen territory. Captain Ernst Lehmann (left) and a crew of 34 will handle the dirigible. Dr. Fridtjof Nansen (right) will be scientific leader of the expedition.

'DUTCHMAN' MEANS FIGHT IN COLUMBUS' BIRTHPLACE

GENOVA, Nov. 9 (AP)—"Dutchman" is the traditional name for the Dutchman in the birthplace of Christopher Columbus. Just why has never been explained.

"Dutchman" is the name of the natives dub a person who is chary of giving tips or treats. Once it is suggested he may be expected to square off or invite each other out-side.

In England and in the United States it is the Scotsman who is the proverbial Dutchman. In France, on the other hand, "Scottish hospitality" means everything in the house for the guest and more beside.

When the Frenchman wants to designate a "fellow" who drinks alone to save money, he dubs him a "Dutchman." Or, after home, an "Avergnan," an inhabitant of that rocky central plateau of France where tradition has it that the sheep must sharpen their noses in order to get at the grass.

Old Clothes Going From France Into African Colonies

PARIS, Nov. 9 (AP)—France is doing a flourishing business in supplying old clothes to her African colonies, a business which centers in a block of rambling stores in St. Ouen, the district peopled by the capital's colored citizens.

From all parts of the country and England come yearly some 5,000,000 discarded suits and blouses. They are dumped into vast store rooms to be repaired by thousands of working girls and shipped to the nomads of Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco.

Secondhand clothes sell by weight and prices vary according to supply and demand. The market for old clothes is at Lille, but trainloads of them reach the capital.

The most expensive suit after it has been cleaned and repurified sells for $5 and the cheapest for about 25 cents. Tuxedos have no market.

There was a boom in the old clothes market last year when King Ammanullah, fresh from his European tour, ordered his subjects to adopt European dress. Hundreds of carloads of clothes were shipped to Kabul and other Af-

Twin Falls Graduate On Washington Racing Crew

SEATTLE, Nov. 9 (Special to The News)—A Twin Falls high school graduate, E. J. Colbert, was one of the first men to be selected to row on the freshman crew in its first workout in racing of shells. Colbert's selection came as the result of his excellent work in the practice large, where he has been showing a knowledge of the principles of ornamental rowing.

Although the present lineup of the crew is not final, the fact that Colbert was selected as one of 16 men out of a turnout of over 100 for his rowing in the first two shells to be taken out, shows that he has a good chance to row against the California freshmen next April.

The California crew will be the biggest one of the season; will be held on Lake Washington, near the campus of the University of Washington.

Five Successive Weeks of Beautiful Sunshine Ripen Grapes for Champagne

EPERNAY, France, Nov. 9 (AP)—Five successive weeks of beautiful sunshine in August and September ripened the grapes of Champagne to the bursting point and this is one of the banner years for sparkling wine.

But one cannot say that champagne flows like water because as one notes the motor runs dry and the automobile wants more water. It is late and the water carriers will not go into the valley again that afternoon.

"Here, pour this into the motor," a youth says, extending a crystal like fluid from a large vat with a spout-like tield.

"Thank you," replies the motorist, extending five francs to the boy—about 20 cents—and he goes on his way with the motor cooled by what could be sold in night clubs for $100.

Although the present lineup of the crew is not final, the fact that Colbert was selected as one of 16 men out of a turnout of over 100 for his rowing in the first two shells to be taken out, shows that he has a good chance to row against the California freshmen next April.

80-Year-Old Man Weds Woman of 60 Under New Church-and-State Pact

CATANZARO, Italy, Nov. 9 (AP)—An 80-year-old bridegroom and a 60-year-old bride were first to be married under the Italian church-and-state agreement at the village of San Floro near here.

The octogenarian, thus benefiting by the conciliation of the pope and the king to the extent of having only one marriage ceremony to go through, instead of both civil and religious, is a veteran of the 1870 campaign that resulted in the loss of the pope's temporal power.

There was not a Protestant Christian in Catina 100 years ago; now there are over 100,000, most of them having enrolled during the last 50 years.

SECURITIES PRICES DROP LOW IN WEEK

Reactionary Tendencies Develops in Final Session Before Two Holidays

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Stocks: Holiday. Bonds: Holiday. Grain: Holiday. Cotton: Lower; disappointed cables. Sugar: Easy liquidation. Coffee: Higher; heavy Brazilian market. Hops: Steady.

By STANLEY W. PHILSON. Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Securities prices dropped to new lows this week as other distress conditions made it unprofitable to buy.

Reactionary tendencies developed in Friday market after a brisk opening, due to profit-taking and the sale of support stock.

Governors of the New York exchange and New York stock market are trading again next week from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M. daily, and to close all day Saturday.

Wall Street brokers generally expressed the opinion that the worst was over and stated that a series of quiet, orderly markets was usually needed to restore confidence.

The DEVIL'S SMILE By Frank L. Packard

"I refuse!" And if he refused? Humphrey Garth's voice was scarcely audible.

"If you refuse to stand, of course, lose $200,000 and in that case the best said about it would be the better, so I fancy the general impression would be that the tale was lost in that bad weather we have experienced lately—and as for your refusal, you would probably prefer to believe that the case was dead."

"The little red-haired skipper's voice came in a snarl. 'You mean you scute us with the crew beat down under the hatch?'

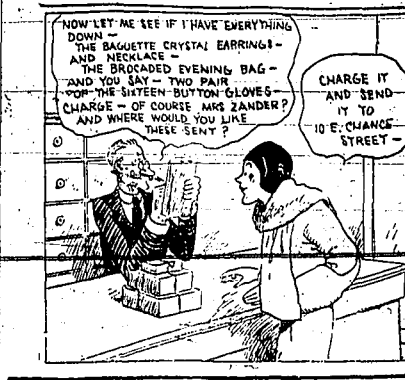

"I'll not stand on my shoulders," Humphrey Garth snarled as he snarled. "Asin' Tajal Ah shrugged his shoulders.

"I agree," he said hoarsely. "I will not stand on my shoulders, but you would since you had no choice in the matter," said Tajal Ah with a grim smile.

"The door closed behind Tajal Ah and Lahat Khan. 'Oh, Master!'" Humphrey Garth cried out in a hoarse voice.

"From without came the sound of suddenly augmented commotion—scuffling feet, muffled voices raised in angry commands, and then suddenly, an utter stillness along the deck.

"You're better land a hand, Master," he suggested. "I'll not stand on my shoulders, but you would since you had no choice in the matter," said Tajal Ah with a grim smile.

FACTS AND FANCIES

By D. R. CHURCHILL

Wide from shore to shore. And chased the "soft" team door to door.
 Till disappointments lit the blow. Beyond the tracks a faint glow.
 When every thread of faith was spun. We fasted toward the "starry sun."
 And in as much as we are laid out. We find contentment in the Wood.
 Where men are measured by their deeds. And not by the amount of their bread.
 While men the church and State over stood. A noble type of manhood.

Where mountains hold their heads so high. Their summits seem to pierce the sky.
 While on the mountain slopes below. Their fairest flowers proudly grow.
 Where fearlessly the grizzly bear. In forests roam and make his lair.
 In Junior High, in Junior High. And unimpaired rest is yours.
 Here grew the stately pine and spruce. The lifting place for hunted moose.
 A canopy to shield the snow. And snare the river's even flow.

Across the onetime barren plain. It leaves a wealth of fruit and grain.
 Then hastens on toward the sea. Past rapids, wild, then placid.
 To turn its waters tawny brown. Doth fill like ambrosia in our hand.
 While at its quiet, sheltered brink. The buck may pause from flight to drink.
 Or sketch the cunning town and derry. Like shadows gliding to and fro.
 In autumn's charming afterglow. In Idaho—yes, Idaho.

No other spot in any clime. Since annals mark the birth of Time.
 Can feature grander more sublime. Than Nature finds in Idaho.
 We neither sigh, and fret, and wait. Nor pray for rain, we irrigate.
 And thus our crops are never late. In sunny Southern Idaho.
 Like manna in the long ago. From Heaven's Kingdom snow. To make the desert bloom anew.
 The brilliant skies of Idaho.

We know that everything we taste. Can with a groan, or heart pang.
 If Doubting Thomas could but gaze. Across the fields of Idaho.
 'Tis here the great Shoshone Falls. Diverted from its magic walls.

"RIGHTS OF THE CHILD"

THEME OF EVANGELIST

"The meekest man in Twin Falls is that man who tells empty stories to children," said Evangelist W. A. Moore in his sermon on the subject, "The Rights of the Child," last Thursday night in the new Christian church.
 Every child has a right to know of the "avowed subjects" from those who brought him into the world. They more often hear about them from those whose lives are black with sin. These avowed subjects, in themselves, are as pure as the reproduction of the grass, the flowers and the tree. It is not man, woman, child, or any other creature that they would not get over the influence of things, either good or bad, they might have heard when they were children.
 Children have a right to a Christian example on the part of those who brought them into the world. No man has a right to be a father and not be a Christian. No woman has a right to be a mother and not be a Christian. No woman has a right to be a mother and not be a Christian. No woman has a right to be a mother and not be a Christian.

Our Biggest Birthday Party...

The 61st Anniversary Sale which ended Saturday, November 9th, was the biggest Birthday Party we have ever helped celebrate. Bigger stocks of merchandise were purchased especially for the event... bigger values were thrown out to the shopper's advantage... bigger crowds came and purchased. All of which made Falk's 61st Anniversary Sale the BIGGEST yet!

Surely this must mean a greater number of people have come to realize and appreciate the true meaning of "Dependable-Merchandise-Only" and "Full-Value for Every Dollar".
