THREE NEW MEMBERS TOTAL STRANGERS IN LEGISLATIVE HALLS

Fourth Arrival at Capitol Hill Returns After Long Absence

Lanky Candy Maker From Tennessee Among Notices

New Men Represent Wyoming, New Jersey, Ohio and Dixie State

By HERBERT PLUMMER
(Associated Press Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—Death and gubernatorial appointment brought four new senators to the Seventy-first congress before the regular session had gotten off to a good start.

Of the four newcomers, three are strangers to capitol hill. The fourth has a record of eight years service in the house of representatives.

William E. Brock, the lanky candy manufacturer from Tennessee, was the first of the freshmen quartet to appear. Governor Horton named him to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Lawrence D. Tyson. Nicknamed the "Candy Kid" before he had been seen, the Tennessee-bred man, known established on the hill and enjoys wide personal popularity. It is the first public office Brock has held.

Returns to Capitol
With the death of the "grand old man of congress"—Senator Theodore E. Burton—handsome, well-groomed Roscoe C. McCulloch of Ohio returned to Washington after an absence of several years from the house of representatives to a seat in the senate. He immediately joined hands with members of the "candy bloc" of Republicans, then in the process of formation in the special session.

From New Jersey came David Baird, Jr. to take the place of Walter E. Edge, President Hoover's choice as ambassador to France. Son was following in father's footsteps, for Baird, Sr., represented New Jersey in the senate before Edge.

Other similarities, too, were noted in the Baird appointments. It was Edge, the governor, who appointed Baird, Sr. to the senate. Baird, Sr. later stepped aside to permit Edge to come to the senate in 1924. Baird, Jr., who was selected to fill out the unexpired term, his first public office.

Sullivan Successor Warren
Wyoming's governor picked Patrick J. Sullivan to replace the veteran Francis Emory Warren, whose death claimed recently after a service in the senate longer than that of any man ever to be a members of that body.

No stranger to politics is Sullivan. Since he went to Wyoming six years ago he has served 18 years as a state senator, two years as a state representative, six years as chairman of the Republican state committee and as mayor of one of the state's larger cities.

Sullivan is to hold his seat in the senate until a special election is held.

EDEN, Dec. 14 (Special to The News)—An enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Eden Lee Flora Post was held here Monday evening at the Legion hall with a large delegation of members present. ## Soviet Army Drives Chinese Back Along Front in Manchuria

Informed by Chinese authorities at Buchatu that they could not guarantee the safety of those beyond the trail if they proceeded beyond Mientuho.

The Chinese representatives immediately moved on to Mientuho, where Russian consent was to be asked to go on to Mianhuai at the border of Manchuria and Siberia. Several Japanese were reported killed at Mianhuai in the Soviet bombing and destruction of a Japanese hotel November 20, but this could not be verified.

Kenneth Davis was also re-elected as adjutant.

While the local organization has not conducted meetings regularly the last few months, nevertheless the spirit of the order has been maintained. This can be vouched for by the report of the finance committee. The report conveys the information that the building purchased by the Legion about three years ago is now almost paid for, but two small installments are left to be paid off. A series of entertainments for the winter months was discussed at the meeting, which will be taken up again later, following the completion of a membership drive.

DRIVE BEGINS FOR NEXT YEAR'S BEETS AS MILLS SUSPEND

Amalgamated Sugar Company Closes Successful Season and Begins Circulating Contracts for 1930

With the closing of this year's sugar campaign in the Twin Falls district, the Amalgamated Sugar company is beginning the circulation of growers' contracts for the 1930 crop.

The contract is the same as last year, and provides for $7.50 per ton initial or guaranteed minimum payment, with the usual participating provision under which growers may receive additional sums dependent upon the sugar content of the beets and the net price received for sugar.

The Twin Falls plant will end beet slicing next Monday.

The Duffey plant was to close for the season last evening or this morning. During the current year, W. O. Swendsen, district manager for the Amalgamated Sugar company, said last evening, the company has paid out approximately $2,500,000 for beets, materials, labor and supplies, practically all of which went to meet local payrolls, including beets and labor.

Indirect Benefits
This year, Mr. Swendsen said, does not include any revenue derived by the company from the use of by-products of the sugar industry in feeding operations. Pulp and molasses from the two mills in the district are being fed to livestock, cattle and sheep, a large percentage of which has been imported for feeding purposes, thus stimulating the market for hay and forage, and providing a large quantity of fertilizer essential to increased crop production.

It is a decided advantage to farmers and the community generally to have at least one substantial and dependable cash crop, the minimum value of which is fixed in advance of planting. Mr. Swendsen said, "All highly speculative features incident to farming are thus removed to a very great extent and financial stability of the territory is assured.

The cash received from the sugar industry in this district this year," Mr. Swendsen continued, "was an opportunity to meet current obligations, and while all other crops were being placed in storage on account of unstable market and price conditions."

Beets Lead Crop
"With the exception of limited areas in the extreme West End, land planted to sugar beets during 1929 have yielded a net return equal to or greater than the return for any other staple crops produced in the territory," Mr. Swendsen asserted.

The outlook for next year is thus far favorable, and unless some unexpected condition arises, a large crop for 1930 is anticipated. Advocating adoption of the slogan, "Some beets on every farm," Mr. Swendsen said in the territory, "the beet element eliminated from this crop, and the need of certainty and stability in farming operations, it is highly desirable that each farm in the territory produce at least a limited area of beets."

A systematic crop rotation program in which beets are given a place is highly necessary if soil fertility, maximum production and maximum cash return are to be had," Mr. Swendsen declared.

$700,000 distributed among the 700 members for the 1929 crop. It was announced last evening by C. R. Detweiler, manager of the association.

"Making a payment at time is in line with the policy of the association," said Mr. Detweiler, "as it is customary to make a payment each year at tax-paying time. Market decline with the past six weeks had made it necessary to cut this payment below the usual 1 cent per pound. The association felt that its members would be satisfied with a smaller payment at this time rather than have 10 1/2 of beets forced on the market at present low prices."

"Market activity of the last two or three days seems to indicate that the association was justified in its policy of light sales during the slump. The situation has cleared up considerably during the last few days and should be reflected in prices in the very near future."

160 ACRES AT HAZELTON $12,000.00

This 160, located 1 1/2 miles east of Hazelton, was recently taken over by foreclosure and the price quoted is merely sufficient to protect the mortgage and has little relation to the value of the property. There is a good frame, plastered house, also granary, stable and outbuildings. There are 122 shares of stock for this land in Northdale Canal Co. and about 140 acres are fit for cultivation, of a quality fully average of the neighborhood. The Hazelton district has recently been proved as fine bean and potato-territory. The 122 water shares and the buildings alone would cost as much as is asked for this farm. With the aid of waste water available, about 160 acres can be farmed in the usual diversification of crops.

Elevated Highways Solve Jersey City Traffic Problem

NEW THOROUGHFARES RELIEVE METROPOLIS OF MUCH CONGESTION

Elevated Streets Will Take Care of Rushing
Motors

20,000,000 Automobiles
To Use System Each Year
Cost of Entire System Will
Approximate $36,-
000,000

(By The Associated Press)
JERSEY CITY, Dec. 14—
Cities that have a traffic crush
can learn from northern New Jersey.

This area, just across the Hudson from New York City and burdened with the enormous motor traffic of the metropolitan area, has designed a high-speed elevated highway that is expected to carry a burden of 20,000,000 vehicles annually.

Starting at the Holland tunnel plaza in Jersey City, the roadway ascends by means of a viaduct over the yards of the Erie railroad and then darts beneath the streets of Jersey City, which are connected by ramps, to the westerly side of Bergen hill, where the highway passes under the Hudson boulevard.

There it emerges and continues by viaduct across the meadows along the westerly edge of Newark to the Newark airport.

With exception of two and one-half miles between Tomsco avenue in Jersey City and a point where it crosses the Lincoln highway west of the Passaic river, the roadway is open to traffic. The two and one-half mile span will be closed with a high level viaduct bridging the Passaic and Hackensack rivers.

Steamers May Pass
The 135-foot clearance above the water will permit steamers to pass up the river without interruption to traffic by opened bridges.

Although the cost of the viaduct and underground passes from the Newark airport to the Holland tunnel connecting with New York City will be $36,000,000, an average of $4,000,000 will be the five and one-half miles completed have been built at a cost of $15,800,000.

The new highway will relieve the heavily burdened streets of the metropolitan area of the through traffic which causes delays and confusion, is costly to justify Newark, lying directly in the path of New Jersey traffic to New York City, will be especially benefited.

The elevated roadway is a part of the new high-speed route being constructed across the state from Jersey City to Trenton. Except for the high level viaduct between Newark and Jersey City it will be virtually completed by the end of the year.

The viaduct is to be completed in 1922. A feature of the new highway is a straightaway stretch of 20 feet wide and 20 miles long between New Brunswick and Trenton.

The elevated highway project was first planned by the late chief engineer of Maj. W. C. Sloan, then state highway engineer, and now is being completed by his successor, Jacob L. Bauer.

The Truth About Screen Grid Radios

There is no doubt but that the general radio buying public has been misled more than any other thing before, especially as regards the new so-called "Screen-Grid" Radios. The beneficiaries of a wonderful contribution to the Radio world. It is not so new and untried as many radio dealers have led their customers to believe. It has been developed by RCA about three years ago and has been used by our Government in its largest broadcast receiving stations for two years. While it was only recently adapted to Radio receiving sets it is beyond the experimental stage. After it was perfected the same engineer set about to develop a new radio circuit which would utilize this Screen-Grid Tube to its maximum efficiency, which is approximately fifty times that of the old type tube. As a result the new Screen-Grid sets are the most powerful used in Radios No. 44 and 46 and was developed and as yet it is the only Screen-Grid circuit available. This circuit is highly selective and sensitive and has the truest tone reproduction together with the greatest undistorted volume of any set designed with so few tubes. It utilizes only four tubes in all, three of them being the new Screen-Grid tubes and only one, number 245 power tube.

Early in the season it was evident that the trend was to toward the Screen-Grid sets. RCA had their circuit developed but would not leave it. What was to be done? It takes time to develop a radically new circuit and set up machinery for its manufacture. This could not be done in so short a time. There was only one thing left that could be done and that was to re-arrange the old Tuned Radio Frequency sets so that they could use at least one, and preferably four of the Screen-Grid tubes along with as many of the old type tubes that they might call them Screen-Grid sets. And that is exactly what has been done. In many cases the set has not been improved one iota other than in name. As said before the Screen-Grid tube has 50 times the amplifying power or gain of the old type tube. Therefore it is in the proper proportion as it is being used in the old type circuits the maximum gain is furnished only one-tenth to one-third of its maximum possibility. Three years ago, as you will recall, RCA came out with the first electric set in the Radios No. 17. It was the only successful electric set in the market at that time and their competitors everywhere profited immensely but failed for it. It was untried, it was in its experimental stage, the tubes could not last, and a thousand other things. But, the following year every radio manufacturer took to them, new developments, consequently RCA is always a year ahead in radio development. There has been no market today but what is licensed under RCA patents. Some using as high as twenty to twenty-five.

If you are going to buy a radio you don't want one that will be obsolete in a year. Your best assurance of getting the left that could be done and that was to re-arrange the old Tuned Radio Frequency sets so that they could use at least one, and preferably four of the Screen-Grid tubes along with as many of

TURKEY GROWERS OF NATION TO EXHIBIT PRODUCE AT CAPITAL

Expert Information to Be Available to Poultrymen Through Institute Planned Along With Showings

BOISE, Dec. 14 (Special to The News)—Some of the finest turkey stock in the country is expected to be on exhibit at the Idaho National Turkey show which will be held in Idaho, December 17 to 20 inclusive, it is announced by Frank J. Keenan, organizer. An institute will be held two days during the show and experts will give information on the care and raising of turkeys. The show is made possible through the co-operation of the Boise Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants' bureau. A large list of premiums have been provided.

Dr. A. W. Billings, University of Minnesota, an authority on turkey diseases, will conduct the institute assisted by Dean H. J. Johnson, University of Idaho, and P. M. Moore, poultry specialist at the University extension division. Director Billings has published several books on the subject.

Many States to Compete Birds from many states will be exhibited at Idaho. Inquiries are invited from exhibitors in North and South Dakota, Montana, Texas, Minnesota, Oregon, Washington, California and Idaho who will have entries at the show. Turkeys from Idaho and the Northwest, according to Mr. Keenan, are recognized everywhere as being superior stock. Freedom from disease is given as the principal reason for this preference. Idaho turkeys captured several first prizes at the all-American Turkey show held last year in Grand Forks, North Dakota. Mrs. J. O. Beck's turkey took second on aged tons and first on yearling tons. This latter bird was grand champion of the show. Mrs. F. E. Hyde took first on young tons and third on yearling hen. These exhibitors also took other prizes.

Memphis Man to Judge Judging at the show will be done by A. D. Walker, Memphis, Tennessee, recognized as one of the outstanding judges of turkeys in America. All turkeys displayed will be for sale. Mr. Keenan says, and it will be an opportunity to get fine breeding stock. He also points out that while the market on dressed turkeys is depressed some what at the present time there is no indication that it will remain so and declares that anyone acting out of business now will regret it later.

KNEE-DEEP IN A SEA OF IDAHO TURKEYS

BOISE, Dec. 14—Nationally, Idaho is considered one of the turkey-producing states. Each year several hundred carloads of choice birds are shipped to eastern markets. Because of Idaho's increasing prominence in this field, attention of the National Turkey show has chosen the Gen State for the 1929 exhibition. It will be held in Boise, December 16-20 inclusive. In connection with the show a turkey institute will be held for three days during which national experts will give instruction on the care and raising of turkeys.

CANAL BOARD URGES STRICT ECONOMY IN DELIVERY OF WATER

Irrigators Guard Against Possibility of Shortage; Inflow at American Falls Reservoir Shows Gain

On guard against exigencies of a season of water shortage, Twin Falls Canal company has declared for adherence to a policy of strict economy in administration this winter of American Falls reservoir in which the Twin Falls company hold 150,000 acre feet storage rights and from which it drew approximately 100,000 feet of water supply for the 1929 irrigation season.

Views of the company's directors in this regard were set forth in a letter which John E. Hayes, general manager, was authorized yesterday to address to George N. Carter, state engineer, of reclamation, and G. Clyde Baldwin, Idaho Falls, Snake River district watermaster. In this letter the Twin Falls company suggests that water deliveries be based upon an apportionment consistent with the season's anticipation, based upon the records of the minimum water supply.

Boards Discuss Contracts

The canal company directors' execution in this regard came after they had conferred with directors of the American Falls Reservoir district in session here yesterday. During this conference, terms of the contract under which the Twin Falls company through the American Falls Reservoir district, obtained storage water rights in American Falls reservoir were discussed, and also the provisions of a lease under which the reclamation service has granted the Idaho Power company the right to use a part of the reservoir for water power development.

The canal company's communication to the reclamation commission and the Snake River district watermaster, was as follows:

"The report which has to do with river operation for the month of November, 1929, shows that American Falls reservoir has been depleted 6000 acre feet during that month. Approximately 6500 acre feet has been discharged daily from this reservoir during the month.

"In view of this aforementioned report, we are brought to realize that the water supply for the entire northwest is greatly depleted. An extraordinarily dry summer together with an autumn entirely without precipitation has reduced materially the run-off of rivers throughout the West and the Northwest.

"Southern Idaho is altogether dependent upon the water supply of the Snake river drainage area and the Twin Falls project is confronted with the prospect of a short water year for 1930 unless the utmost economy of administration is practiced in river matters.

Guard Against Depletion

"The division of water in Snake river is based upon priorities, domestic and irrigation rights being first place. Since we are moved to urge that all concerns participating in American Falls storage be given their due consideration and that the possible water shortage be reduced beyond a point which is reasonable to expect shall be compensated by a less than normal winter precipitation.

"It is imperative that the Twin Falls Canal company protect its stockholders against the possibilities of a shortage during the irrigation season of 1930.

"Inasmuch as we shall not be willing to accept a proportionate share during an irrigation season of a supply depleted through disproportionate winter use, we respectfully urge that a policy of strict economy be adhered to and that all winter deliveries be based upon an apportionment consistent with the records of the minimum water years."

CONDITIONS IMPROVE AT AMERICAN FALLS RESERVOIR

BURLEY, Dec. 14 (Special to The News)—Storable run-off of approximately 6000 second feet of water now entering Snake river above American Falls reservoir, with it is maintained, will fill the reservoir before the beginning of the next irrigation season. E. B. Darlington, project manager in charge of administration of the American Falls reservoir, said this morning. Snowfall on the Snake river watershed is extremely light thus far this season, according to reports received at the project manager's office, and gain in the run-off into the river during the past few days is attributed largely to rainfall on the upper reaches of the river.

Mr. Darlington expressed the opinion that it is yet too early to estimate the probable run-off of the season. He will go to Idaho Falls and the upper reach of the river early next week to make a personal survey of conditions.

Reservoir Now Half Full

There is at the present time, Mr. Darlington stated, approximately 100,000 acre feet of water in American Falls reservoir, filling the reservoir to about one-half its capacity. Low stage of water in the reservoir for the season was recorded with 750,000 acre feet on October 1. A gradual gain was recorded thereafter and on December 1, there were 850,000 acre feet of water in the reservoir. Draft of 6500 second feet made by the Idaho Power company under previous contracts brought the reservoir content to 831,000 acre feet a few days ago, but also then there has been a steady gain.

Water now is being released from the reservoir except for operation of the Idaho Power company's plant at American Falls. This water is being delivered to the power company under terms of a lease whereby the government is to deliver to the power company 500,000 acre feet of water at a rate of 800,000 acre feet of water content in the reservoir last season and not covered by any storage water contract.

Society and Clubs

A variety of entertainment will be available the first part of this week for members of some of the various organizations of this community. The members of the American Legion and the Auxiliary are invited to attend the dedication of the new Memorial building in the Fourth and Fifth districts buildings at an outdoor and women of the Auxiliary of the Fourth district are invited to attend the same. The event will be a parade and dedication of the building. A banquet will be given in the evening, followed by a social. The club will give their annual charity ball on Monday evening. This is always an outstanding social event and is attended by a large number of the local elite as well as many from other towns. The music department of the Twentieth Century Club will give a concert in the evening, followed by a social. ## Side-Splitting Comedy Coming to Idaho Theatre

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are together on the screen for the first time in "Taming of the Shrew"; the uproarious talking picture version of Shakespeare's comedy generation which comes to the Idaho theatre Tuesday for a run of three days only. Every line of dialogue used in the picture stands as written by the hand himself.

As directed by Esau Taylor, maker of Harold Lloyd's greatest comedies including "Girl Shy" and "Safety Last", this tale of a lovely young spitfire tamed by a good-looking but cross-grained fellow is a deluge of laughs from start to finish. Doug storming through high society in a tramp outfit on his wedding day and with the bride holding from the marriage feast in a driving rain are but two of a host of side-splitting situations. A cast of stage nobles appear in support of the stars.

Southern Athletic Association Votes Against Resolution

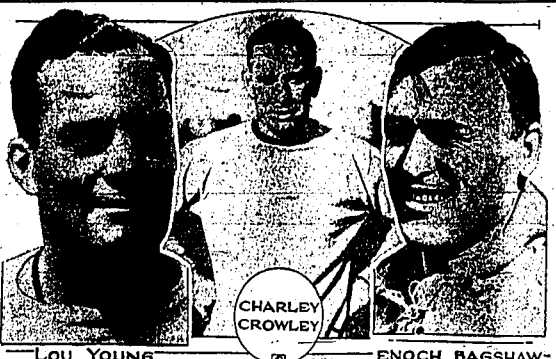

Organization Goes On Record As Not Opposed to Universities Aiding Students in Various Sports

BY THE Associated Press
BATHON ROUTE, Dec. 14—A resolution of Major W. W. McKellar, faculty chairman of athletics at Sewanee, urging Southern conference schools to come right out in the open and defray the expenses of football players and other athletes through college, met a quick and violent death in the conference today.
Including even to consider the proposal, the conference speedily adopted a counter resolution presented by H. C. Byrd of the University of Maryland, directed athletes and advising.
Major McKellar tossed a bomb shell into the convention early today when he appeared in open session with a proposal that the conference advise schools to football or halt the secret subsidizing of athletes by subsidizing them openly.

Reads Resolution
Then he read a resolution which provided in part that each member of the conference be granted the privilege of awarding to each member of its athletic teams "such scholarships or other emoluments as shall be sufficient to defray all of his college bills, including tuition and other fees paid to the college, board, lodging, textbooks, fraternity dues and such uniforms as may be required by the college."
When the resolution came up for discussion later in the day it was quickly consigned to oblivion.

Council Resolution Wins
Mc. Byrd, who is faculty chairman and head coach at Maryland, was on his feet with a counter resolution, which when adopted a minute later, put the conference on record as having no objection to athletes receiving aid from

Coaches of Three Great Schools Quit

LOU YOUNG CHARLEY CROWLEY ENOCH BAGSHAW

At least three big schools will have new coaches next year. Charles Crowley and Enoch Bagshaw quit Columbia and Washington, respectively, under pressure. Lou Young resigned at Pennsylvania to become assistant to the chairman of the council on athletics.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—The usual result of teams that couldn't win is beginning to be seen around the major football circuits.
Charles Crowley is out as head coach at Columbia following several poor seasons. Crowley, who succeeds the late Perry Taughton, tried hard to make a difference out of a young team this year, but failed to win a major game.
Enoch Bagshaw resigned his coaching position at the University of Washington, where he had been asked to leave the athletics for 13 years, first as a slot back, then as a half-back. Bagshaw was expected to be a coach for several years during a season that brought no convincing victories to the Huskies.
It was a different story with Lou Young at Penn. Young voluntarily stepped down because, he said, business and other things forced him to leave the athletics for 13 years, first as a slot back, then as a half-back. Young was Penn's head ball player. Bagshaw was expected to be a coach for several years.

Irish Chief Winners On English Courses

Green of Ireland Triumphs in More Turf Struggles Than in Previous Years

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The British racing season has ended but the turf fans of the Isle are still talking about Irish successes on the English courses.
The oldest turf followers have failed to recall a year when the green of Ireland scored so many triumphs. They included the Lincolnshire handicap, the grand national as Ascot, the city and suburban at Epsom, the 1000 guineas, the 2000 guineas, the Newbury spring cup, the Eclipse stakes at Sandown park, the Liverpool summer cup, the Stewards' cup at Liverpool, the Doncaster at St. Leger, the Doncaster cup, the Duke of York handicap at Kempton park, the Chesham stake at Newmarket, the Cambridgehire stake at the same track, the Jubilee handicap at Kempton park, the Ascot stakes and the Derby.
Topping the general money winning list, however, was his highness, the Aga Khan. With more than $20,000 won during 1929, he posted his total earnings for eight years' racing to $1,110,000.
Among the trainers H. Dixon had the best year, his horses winning $370,000.
H. Gordon Richards topped the jockeys for the third successive year.

"Let 'Em Fight!" Snaps Out Commissioner of Baseball When Asked About View of Brewing Battle

By CHARLES DUNKLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—The pugilistic world's series involving a first fight in the ring, for important money—between the self-confessed Great Man, Charles Arthur Shires, and Hack Wilson, the Dempsey of the dugout, was reeling tonight in a state of collapse, with the prospect that it might not come off.

Officials of the Chicago Cubs tossed a bombshell into the proposed battle by announcing they were opposed to it and that if Wilson did go through with the fight, he would do so by his own volition and not by the permission of the club management.

Veck Issues Decree

William J. Veck, president of the Cubs, said he would make permission for Wilson to trade punches with the conqueror of mysterious Dan Daly, but added he could not stop the Cubs' center-fielder from going through with the match if he chose to do so.

"Wilson is a great ball player," Veck said, "but I do not think it is within the province of any ball player to become a boxer. Wilson has not, and will not receive our permission to fight Shires. If he sees ahead with it, the thing will be entirely on his own responsibility."

Completion of Schedules for High School Basketball Games in South Central District Launches Season

Teams in Two Classes Will Vie with Members of Own Division Twice, Once at Home and Again on Foreign Court

By E. M. SWEILEY

WITH the making of the schedules at Shoshone last night for the games of the formal season the basketball activities may be considered fairly organized in the South Central Idaho district. During the season proper the several teams will play each with most of the others in its class, two games, one at each home town. At the conclusion of the schedule the district tournament will be held.

The Twin Falls teams are in the making. Last season the boys had a supply of seasoned material which went through to the district championships. Most of those players have graduated, and this season the team will be made from new men, with both individual technique and team work to be developed. There is one advantage in such a situation. The coaches do not have to work with material fixed in a style of play inherited from their mentors—but are free to develop their own chosen style.

The school policy, for the boys, is to keep the field open for every student who wants to try for the team, and through the medium of varsity and sub-varsity squads, to make the services of the coaches open to 40 or 50, or more. If the facilities will permit, instead of the 15 or 20 who were in line for this privilege in former years. Back of the two first groups, but leading directly to them, are the several De-Nut leagues, also under the supervision of faculty members, and in which the boys get their preliminary training. Some idea of what it is all about, and an analysis of the play shows some taste of competition. The work of the boys' squads has not been disclosed by every tip off, and other chances came from interceptions, out of bounds throws and missed baskets. From the 127 team chances they worked up 64 throws at the basket, and made 20 ringers. All but one of these being made by one player, Qualls. Castleford had 52 team chances, worked up 22 throws at the basket, and caged just one of them. For a team that did not get a single top off, and had to fight for every team chance on the floor, the showing speaks well for the fighting spirit of the Castleford girls. It also suggests that the play of the Twin Falls team is not so tight as it might be. Many of those lost team chances came as a penalty imposed for clumping with the ball, and a clean up-piling of the rules in this respect would have increased this number.

Ware Shows Improvement

In the center court Ware shows a considerable improvement over her last year's play, especially on defense. When working with Rice, during the brief time the latter was in the game, these two plugged the center court so tightly that Castleford adopted the tactics of throwing the ball clear over the center court. Rice does not make much fuss in her playing, but has the faculty of being in the right place at the right time, does not waste her team's chances by running with the ball, and seems to enjoy hard play.

Girls' Team at Work

The girls' team, in charge of Miss Dorothy Call, coach, has been at regular work since shortly after the opening of the school year. A little different system has been followed with the girls' team. Some time ago the players of the first string were selected by the coach, and caused for their suits and worn in the game with Castleford Friday night. Miss Call is very fortunate to be able this early to select from a school of the size of the Twin Falls high school, and a month or more before the season opens the 12 girls who will comprise her first string.

The practice game with Castleford brought a victory to Twin Falls by the top-sided score of 41 to 2. The score does not tell all of the story, however, and an analysis of the play shows some interesting points. Twin Falls had the ball in possession 127 times. They took as was the boys' team last year. There are six letter girls back and available to the coach, Ware and Rice, centers; Streifus and Jenkins, guards, and Tattling and Martin, forwards. Other experienced players who saw action against Castleford were Wyland, a substitute and guard and center last season. Qualls, who has been moving from center to forward to advantage, and Erickson, who is just new bolstered by an surely stable, but who knows both the center and guard work. Other experienced players who saw action against Castleford were Mays and Parker. What further resources Coach Call has in her expected first string was not disclosed against Castleford, except Cuttery, who had a little turn at forward.

Notre Dame, Army, Pitt And Michigan Grid Stars Excel

Aggregations Tie In Representation On National Team

Four Institutions Hoisting Record of Placing Quarter of Candidates Each Year For Five Seasons

By TED VOSHROH
 (A member of the "Sports" writer)
NEW YORK, Dec. 14—Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Army and Michigan are tied for all-time representation on the All-American football eleven selected annually by The Associated Press since 1925. Each has won four of the coveted first team berths.

Four other institutions—California, Purdue, Harvard and Ohio State—were represented this season for the first time thanks to the stellar play of Bert Schwarz, "Red" Steinhilber, Nick Vukich and Vic Fesler, Michigan Falls.

No Michigan player quite made the grade this season, otherwise the Ann Arbor institution would have led the rest in total All-American output as all of the four previous years have found a Wolverine name among the eleven chosen.

Each winning two berths this season, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh went up with the all-time leaders as a result of the brilliant show-up of 1929 players. The Army has had one a season each year since 1926, including 1929 when "Red" Cagle became an All-American again in the halfback post he held the year before.

Behind the four leaders in five-year representation come Minnesota which scored in 1925 and 1927 as well as 1929, and Dartmouth whose great 1925 array produced three All-American contributions to the All-American hall of fame. Nine institutions—St. Mary's, Princeton, Stanford, Washington, Yale, Southern California, Navy, Illinois and Alabama—have placed two men on the team but Alabama is the only one of these to register in 1929.

Others Contribute
 Besides California, Purdue, Harvard and Ohio State, the colleges that have known the thrill of sending one or more All-American players to the grid are Colorado College, New York University, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Vanderbilt, Syracuse, Georgetown, Northwestern and Nebraska.

Sectionally, the honors have been well distributed as the following table shows:

Americans Manufacture 20,000,000 Dolls for Santa Claus

Latest Parisian Styles in Clothing Appear on Life-Like Little Figures

Dresses, Considerably Longer Than in Past, Cover Dimpled Pink Knees and Princess Lines Prove Popularity.

The new Christmas doll types include chorus girls (above), a nice young couple from the High Paris models (below).

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (Special to The News)—Dolls are keeping up with Paris. American doll makers, as the most loyal assistants of Santa Claus, are rolling out 20,000,000 of their plump little figures for the old fellow's warehouses this year. And most of them are dressed in the latest mode.

Doll dresses this year are considerably longer than in the past, covering the dimpled pink knees, and the princess lines are in evidence.

Brunets predominate. Once the flaxen-haired midwest was the only type found under the tree, but this year only one out of five in Santa's sack will have light tresses, the manufacturers say.

The preference is toward brunets with bobbed hair—just what the doll makers don't know. The "type" dolls are more numerous than ever. Some of the tiny folk represent characters of all nationalities, such as Scottish lads and lassies in kilts; characters from the old fairy tales; and the wild kids from the comic strips.

How the doll manufacturers extracted themselves from a dilemma makes an interesting story.

Once upon a time dolls were fragile creatures. When little Emily picked up her Christmas prize she juggled it tightly and sooner or later, as little girls will—and it wasn't very long—dropped it. The little head of baked clay shattered, and the doll was ready for the graveyard long before its normal time.

The doll makers stopped that, and thereby started trouble for themselves. They developed unbreakable heads that let a doll live on and on, and of course not so many dolls were sold. Something had to be done to appease demand. They did it, and that's why today you find the mannish doll, the one that cries, the modishly dressed little figure, the comic strip characters and all the others that cause enlargement of children's eyes the morning of December 25.

FEATURE FLASHES FROM FAR-FLUNG FOREIGN FIELDS

Protestant Following Seeks Equality With Catholics Of Prussia

Dissatisfaction Reigns in Many of Churches of Prussia Over Delay in Granting of Privileges

By J. A. BOUSMAN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—Deep dissatisfaction reigns in the protestant churches of Prussia over the government's delay in according them their privileges and facilities equivalent to those granted to the Roman Catholic Church by the concordat concluded with the emperor last July.

Seeing that nearly 20,000,000 Prussians or about two-thirds of the population are Protestants, the strenuous influence of the Church of Rome in the land where Luther preached is viewed with apprehension, and the Vatican diplomatic success in the concordat is especially resented.

Demand Equality
Cortina promises have been held out by the Prussian Diet, but the oral demand of the united protestant churches, which was that full equality be granted to them, black or white, at the same time the Roman concordat was signed, has not been fulfilled.

Changes have been openly made that the social democratic premier of Prussia, Otto Braun, yielded to pressure from the Catholic political party in order to retain its support in the present coalition government.

There are eight protestant bodies in Prussia. The Evangelical Church of the Old Prussian Union embraces the older Prussian dioceses and is the largest organization. Then there are the Lutheran churches of Pomerania, Schleswig-Holstein, the Reformed Church of Hanover and the Evangelical Churches of Hesse-Cassel, Hesse-Nassau, Frankfurt and Waldeck.

Charge Indifference
On the governmental side, charges of indifference to the legitimate claims of these churches is being made in dealing with them is said to be due merely to technical legal causes.

The same indifference is being shown by the Evangelical Church itself flouted and its vital interests neglected on its very own ground. It asks more subsidies in equal ratio with the enhanced endowments granted to the Roman Church.

Asks Freedom
It also asks guarantees insuring absolute freedom of confessional exercise and of the free choice of property, as well as more independence from state control in the filling of chairs in the theological faculties.

These demands have been placed before the government by the General Evangelical Synod.

French Army Finishes Map of Sahara Desert
DAKAR, French West Africa, Dec. 14.—No more maps are on the map of Sahara, thanks to the camera and the airplane.

The last one was filed by Major Lemaitre, chief of the topographical bureau of the 16th French army corps, who surveyed the region between the north-eastern Hoggar and Tripoli.

Now anyone able to read a map who loses himself in the great desert is only himself to blame.

Jews Boycott Arabs and Disrupt Palestine Trade
JERUSALEM, Dec. 14.—Fundamental economic changes have developed in Palestine in the wake of the Jewish-Arab boycott of Arab goods.

The Jews have boycotted the Arabs and the Arabs have boycotted the Jews. An official boycott commission has been set up to investigate the situation and see if trade can be reestablished.

Two important results of the situation—the increased prosperity of Jewish dealers and lowering of the unemployment figure. The Zionist executive announced that there are only 250 unemployed Jews in the whole country, as compared to 1,300 last March.

The patronage of only Jewish industries by Jews has given a great boom to Jewish agriculture. Great supplies of fresh dairy and truck products are coming into Jerusalem daily.

The sole wheat flour factory has had a tremendous increase in orders.

Australia Produces Wine
SYDNEY, Dec. 14.—The Australian Viticultural Council reports that 10,000 acres are devoted to grapes and wine in this country. Approximately 80,000 acres are devoted to grapes and wine in the whole country, 17,000,000 vines annually.

MARIONETTE SHOWS CHARM ITALIANS IN CHRISTMAS SEASON

Puppet Plays developed to High Degree of Realism Portray History of Country Before Present Rule

By HUDSON HAWLEY (Associated Press Staff Writer)
PALERMO, Italy, Dec. 14.—With the approach of the Christmas season, interest on the part of Italian children, of both tender and stout years, centers on the marionette shows, developed to a high degree of realism here in Sicily.

They are seen at this season on the boards of juvenile theatres and in private homes.

Called us the forerunners of all the Punch and Judy shows which delight English and American youngsters, of the "Gulligan" species, seen in France, and of the puppet plays in other lands, the Italian variety of the marionette art has lost nothing of its appeal.

Through each of the little playlets by wooden Theatras there runs the same vein of slapstick humor.

Shows History
But whereas Mr. Punch in England beats his wife and gets rough with the constable, the Gulligan in France is always whacking the geardrums, his Italian and Irish associates carry by towns of Sicily—is fighting none but his country's enemies. In fact the latter-day marionettes are being used to teach the history of the cobweb island, dominated by Greeks, Romans, Saracens, Normans and Spaniards before it was united to Italy.

Fights between Saracens and Christian puppets are enacted here every school holiday, accompanied by shrill squeals from the juvenile audiences. The Christian knight-crusader in miniature comes down to the footlights and by the voice of his ventriloquist manipulator explains:

A Bit of Drama
"Children: This day I have killed five thousand infidels! The heaviest youthful critics respond in chorus. The puppet tries again: "And in another place I killed TEN thousand Saracens!" "Pooh!" is the reply of the blood-thirsty youngsters.

The puppet manipulator steals himself for a final try for the listeners' favor. "And in still another place I killed FIFTY thousand!" "Basta! (You've done enough), is the children's reply, proving that after all there is a sense of proportion.

The parody on accepted history that these wooden doll performances afford has led many a Sicilian grandfather to forsake business and social obligation on the pretext that he simply had to accompany his grandchildren to the marionette theatre. It amounts to the same old excuse that American grand parents give for going to the circus.

There are 3,000 sweet stands to a square inch in the palm of a hand. All foot troubles. Ph. Dr. Foster, adv.

Nunnery, Once Ducal Castle In Ireland, Again On Market

KYLEMORE CASTLE, IRELAND
GALWAY, Ireland, Dec. 14.—Any millionaire who wants a fine castle in the Connemara district will find it in the hands of the Benedictine nuns who wish to sell Kylesmore Castle, overlooking beautiful Kylemore Lough.

It is the former Irish west coast residence of the Duke of Manchester, who married Helen Zimmerman of Cincinnati. The Duke bought the castle for his daughter and son-in-law from the heirs of Mitchell Henry, a Manchester cotton millionaire, who built the gorgeous structure. The ducal Manchester in turn sold the place to Benedictine nuns, who used it as a school.

Mitchell Henry spent a fortune in the building and ornamentation of the castle and the laying out of its grounds.

FRENCH ENTER CONTEST FOR VISIT TO AMERICA

PARIS, Dec. 14.—The 12 Frenchmen or Frenchwomen visiting the best explanations in 200 words each as to why they desire to visit the United States will have the dream realized at the expense of the "Entandigant" and the "Paris Comet," a French afternoon daily and an American magazine.

The rules are simple: "Reply in three lines to the following: 'Why I should like to visit the United States.'"

DANES EXHIBIT JEWELS
COPENHAGEN, Dec. 14.—Danish jewelers are celebrating the 500th anniversary of their guild, sponsored by King Erik of Pomerania in 1420. An exhibition of jewelers' art is valued at millions of dollars.

HAS HEADACHE AT AGE OF 120
RIO JANEIRO, Dec. 14.—Paschoa Rosa, who claims to be 120 years old, suffered a headache the other day. His first sickness. He did not marry until he was ninety but he is the father of 13 children.

Rich Spaniard Boosts Exposition Too Highly

MADRID, Dec. 14.—The Conde de Romanones, one of Spain's richest men, upon visiting the International Exposition at Barcelona recently wrote newspapers that "every man, woman and child should see this beautiful sight. If you do not have the money, it is worth while to walk the distance."

Two days later the count received 4,000 letters saying: "We agree with your advice on seeing the exposition. Send us some money to make the trip."

PORTUGUESE MUST DRINK MORE WINE

Authorities Encourage Policy of Greater Consumption to Protect Consumption

LISBON, Dec. 14.—Jugo-Slavia, Mexico, Norway, Russia and Switzerland have started crusades against liquor, but Portuguese authorities encourage an opposite policy.

Although the Portuguese people are proverbially sober and the price of wine ridiculously low, the dwindling foreign markets for wines have created a difficult situation.

The Portuguese are urged, therefore, to drink more wine and less beer in the interests of the national industry.

Beer Versus Wine
A sharp fight is being waged between wine merchants and brewers. The latter lowered the price of beer in order to raise the consumption of the foamy beverage. Wine growers at Oporto have retaliated by lowering their prices.

The government is inclined to throw the weight of its influence on the side of the wine merchants. So a new tax on beer will be levied and its sale restricted to certain hours of the day.

Russian Consul Finds Haven in World Trip

SYDNEY, Dec. 14.—Appointed consul for Russia at Buenos Aires in 1913, Theodore Paschuk now in Australia claims that he still holds that office, though in the Argentine the Soviet is not recognized and he cannot afford to stay there.

A payless consulate is a costly luxury, he explains. "One's stranded countryman always feel that they have a claim upon the consular and to maintain a consulate one's own slender means is impossible."

So, although he still thinks of Buenos Aires as "home," M. Paschuk for the past year or two has traveled.

AGED SWISS PALACE TO HOUSE BANK FOR DEBT SETTLEMENTS

Spacious Structure, Built in 1782, to Hold Finances of Seven Nations in Accordance With Young Plan

(By The Associated Press)
BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 14.—A spacious old palace, built in 1782 and popularly known as "the house to the cherry garden," will in all likelihood house the first national bank for International Settlements, devised in accordance with the Young Plan by bankers and experts from seven nationalities who met recently in Basel-Baden.

The building takes its name from the fact that immediately behind it there is a garden in which cherry trees are the most conspicuous feature.

Now Postal Station
At present the building houses a postal sub-station in its left wing, and a district commandery of the Swiss Federal army in the right wing.

The structure was built by Ulrich Buechelin in the style of Louis XIV for Colonel Johann Rudolf Buechelin. The Buechelins are one of the oldest families in Switzerland. The cost was regarded as most extravagant for those days.

The colonel's son, Johann Ludovic, who was born in this palace, is known to historians as the famous Oriental traveler Sir John P. Buechelin, who was the first European to visit Mecca, and an untimely death at Cairo in 1817.

Family Fortune Falls
When the fortunes of the Buechelin family dwindled, the palace changed hands several times. Finally it became the property of the state, which assigned it to the Swiss People's bank. Thus this institution took up more commodious quarters and the post office and army post were located in the building.

BOBBED LOCKS WIN FEMININE JUDGE OF COLUMBUS AT LAST

After Eight Years of Opposition Jurist Florence Allen Succumbs to Temptation to Shear Tresses

By H. H. DAUGHERTY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 14.—Although her chief duty as a member of the supreme court of Ohio is to construe statutory law, Judge Florence E. Allen has done something else lately.
That's why she now wears bobbed hair.
For eight years, Judge Allen defied the loudest but persistent clamor for summer's variation the temptation to cut aside the long chestnut tresses became too great and when she took her seat on the bench this fall they were no more.
Here seven male colleagues were just a little bit surprised when they got the first glimpse of the bobbed hair peering above the long black robe as she ascended the bench, but they refrained from comment.

"They might argue with her on points of law, but when it came to a matter of personal adornment, they were estopped," they realized there was no statutory law on the subject of how a woman should wear her hair.
Miss Allen does not like to discuss the matter and for several weeks declined to have photographs made revealing the change in hair dress.
"I guess bobbed hair is not much of an issue now," she said.
Judge Allen bears the distinction of being the first woman in the world to sit in a court of last resort and to preside in a first degree murder case.
She was a common pleas judge in Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) before taking her place on the supreme court bench in January, 1922. She began her second six-year term last January.

Diplomats Lend Colorful Touches To Washington Sporting Events

By SUE McNAMARA
(Associated Press Feature Service Writer)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Older the cry which urges on bull fighters in Spain—it means "fine"—echoed at Washington football games the last season. The "hip hip hooray" with which Latin American roots for the home teams is frequently heard.
Washington's foreign population, the diplomats, their families and aides, enter keenly into American pastimes. At the same time, however, they bring to the capital sports from all parts of the world.
Telen Willis has her devotees in Lorraine Prochnik, young daughter of the Austrian minister, and in Mrs. Juan Ramirez, wife of the former chargé d'affaires of the Paraguayan legation. Bull games, regarded as typical American sport, are nothing new to these women of other civilizations. Soccer, a widely liked sport in Europe—and South America, is particularly popular with them.
Wives and daughters of ambassadors and ministers from foreign capitals take the lead in cheering on the crimson, blue or yellow of their favorite teams.
They influence the mode of entertainment in all lines. With their love of music they have devoted the concert to a high social plane. All officialdom, including the diplomatic set and the army and navy, will be at the concert to be given December 18 at the Pan American building with Marquerite D'Alvarez, Peruvian contralto, as star soloist.
D'Alvarez is a particular pet of the South American embassies and legations. Her brother, J. Alvarez de Arenal, is first secretary of the Peruvian embassy. Her father was ambassador from Peru to the court of St. James. She once sang for Mrs. Coolidge at the White House.
Members of the diplomatic set are fond of dancing and bridge. Mirza Davoud Khat Mirza, Persian minister, is an exceptionally good dancer. He entertains a great deal and his supper parties are noted for their originality. The dessert at a recent one was an ice cream fish stuffed with strawberries.
The four daughters of the minister of Venezuela—Don Carlos Griestants—are also fond of dancing. They have become quite Americanized in their six years' residence here, yet still cling to the champagne. Their mother accompanies them to all parties.

Black Takes Prizes For Modes of Paris

PARIS, Dec. 14 (AP)—The fashion book here is very black, particularly for stout women.
The black is literal, for two-thirds of the new forms fitting, ankle-and-heel length dresses, which fit the only admirable style for evening, are solid black.
Black, the dressmakers explain, has a magic effect upon the silhouette. A good corsetier, a black dress, and low skirts hung from a jernail waiting can make an old wife look like a new one. That accounts for black's popularity.
Even the Venuses, with no flaws to camouflage, prefer the new form fitting evening gowns in black.
Street costumes other than tweed are black, too, and black hats continue.

LISBON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Mixed barber shops, which were set up during the "bob" and "shingle" boom, are disappearing fast.

Barber shops which were equipped with apparatus for automatic curling and straightening are returning to the old standard.

MILITANT COLORS COME TO AMERICA

Flag Emmeline Pankhurst Once Waved Defiantly in London Fleets in Capital

By SUE McNAMARA
(Associated Press Feature Service Writer)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The flag which Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst once waved defiantly at London fleets has been brought across the ocean.
It played a part in several rallies staged in her honor in the national capital.
As a matter of fact, the national women's party resulted in the restoration of the one-time battle flag in London. The women's party actively paid the "cost" date in order to have the flag, a part of the program to honor the pioneer suffrage leader, in connection with the 10th anniversary of the 19th Amendment.
It will be a general movement gathering, symbolic of the United States' status of the party since it was not what it wanted—votes for women.
Marked Contrast
Pouring tea by candlelight in the dim home, which has just been taken as headquarters for the party here, presents a marked contrast to the beleaguered, desperately striving state of members a decade ago.
"There was a grim determination, and ringing voices. Now the party leaders spread out their letters and clifton shirts and settle back contentedly on the colonial furniture in the Alva Belmont-house near the capital."
The new headquarters home was named for the "good angel" of the party, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and will be dedicated when Mrs. Belmont arrives from Paris, where she now lives.
No more for party leaders the picketing line in the snow storm, filed at by small boys and men. "They have the fruits of their labors now and leisurely and serenely plan for the things they still want. They have discarded their old weapon—militancy."

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP)—Alaska of gold rush days has been lost in the wash of airplane propellers, and the territory leads the world in number of airports in comparison to its population. For each 100 inhabitants there is an airport. From 30 to 50 per cent of the funds allotted to road building, the American Air Transport association reports, are going into the building of landing fields. The reason, according to Gov. George A. Parks, is that the travel agencies are to the territory "that any one time journeys that take four to six weeks by motor or boat are completed in less than seven hours."

CASSIA COUNTY WEED CONTROL SUCCESSFUL

W. W. Palmer Declares Spraying Results in Almost Total Destruction

BURLEY, Dec. 14 (Special to The News)—Weed control in Cassia county during the last season's campaign has proven effective and satisfactory, according to the annual report of County Agent W. W. Palmer. One of the most important weeds sprayed was Canada thistle, where clean cultivation was used. Results of the present season, coupled with demonstrations carried on during a four-year campaign of eradication indicate that the use of calcium chlorate as a spray is the most satisfactory and economical method of destroying weeds. Calcium chlorate has the added advantage of not being dangerously inflammable as sodium chlorate. Use Chlorates. There was used during the season 2523 pounds of chlorates, costing $7375. Together with 17 tons of salt and some carbon bisulfide. The cost of the campaign was $10,294, of which amount all but $200 is to be returned to the county by those immediately benefited. The effectiveness of spraying, says the county agent, has been shown in the local reports, that salt will be made use of to a very great extent in the future. No spraying is more economical and effective. Weeds treated this season were approximately as follows: morning glory, 10 acres; morning glory treated with carbon bisulfide, 3 acres; Canada thistle sprayed, 51 acres; cultivated, 0 acres; salted, 13 acres; white-top sprayed, 3 acres; knapweed sprayed, 8 acres; cow thistle sprayed, 3 acres; quack grass sprayed, 2 acres.

State Saves 18 Pennies And Low Bidder Scores

PIOTNIFF, Dec. 14 (AP)—Nine-tenths of one thousandth of a cent is obviously a small sum of money.
