Pacific Coast Conference Athletic Officials Finish Work

Election of Year's Officers Feature of Closing Conference

Stanford Wins "Break" in Dispute With Oregon Aggies Over Color of Jerseys on Football Players

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Staff Editor) SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—Smoke of the annual battle of wits, football schedules and rules cleared up today as graduate managers and faculty athletic representatives of the Pacific coast conference finished their three-day conference and departed for home campuses.

Election of officers by both bodies, election of places for the 1930 spring and fall meetings and settlement of two questions of some importance were worked out in today's brief sessions.

Clavin Wilson, Southern California, elected president of the Graduate Managers' association, while Earl Campbell, Washington, was named secretary. They succeeded Carl Lottell, Oregon State, and George C. Brown, University of California at Los Angeles, respectively.

The faculty representatives made no change in their administrative committee, returning W. H. Owens, Stanford, as president, and H. C. Willitt, Southern California, as secretary.

Turn Down Proposal Graduate managers turned down a proposal to open the football practice season September 10, instead of September 15. The latter opening date has been in effect for many years.

Another problem, pertaining to jerseys, was decided in Stanford's favor. Both Stanford and Oregon State have elected players to wear football jerseys. It was brought out that when this team met, confusion necessarily would result with 22 players all numbered in the same color. In such cases it was decided the home team should have the preference, but also that each college would have priority rights to its own colors. The color of the "break" as the former college colors are cardinal and white, while Oregon State's are orange and black.

Oregon Guard Ineligible From the faculty meeting came the information that Marshall Shields, University of Oregon guard, was ineligible for further football competition.

Shields had had no football practice play but came to Oregon as a transfer from Ashland normal, where he played one season. Action on a proposition to bar all kinds of "blow-up" picture scouting" was not forthcoming. The rule which prohibits use of such pictures before a game with the team involved was held satisfactory.

Dates for the meetings of both bodies next year were agreed upon as follows: June 2 and 4 in Seattle and December 6, 8 and 10 in Los Angeles.

Negro Featherweight Overcomes Dominic Petrone in Hard 10-Round Bout

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Kid Chocolate, brilliant Cuban negro featherweight, gained the victory decision over Dominic Petrone, New York, in a stiff 10-round bout at the Coliseum. Chocolate, who overcame the strongest opposition of his career, the champion of New York, then, he won by a wide margin.

Chocolate was outwitted by three points, counting in at 126-3 points to 129-1 for Petrone.

The Cuban had his troubles in the early rounds as Petrone came out from the start to make a job of it. During the first two rounds they fought toe-to-toe in a series of furious mis-punches, but the Cuban weathered the storm better and piled up a margin in the later rounds.

Jack "Kid" Berg, English waterweight, won on a foul over Tony Carabini, New York, in the second round of their 10-round semi-final. The bout was stopped early in the second round after Berg had been struck several times by Joe Breen, referee.

In another 10-rounder, Ben De Vos, Belgium, outpointed Babe McGivern, Oklahoma. They both secured cuts during the fight, but the bout was about the weights, De Vos 105, McGivern 103.

Gasoline Price War in Twin Falls Looms

The first guns in what seemed likely to develop into a "gasoline price war" in Twin Falls were fired yesterday when two local retailers began selling gas for 20 cents a gallon, a reduction of seven and one-half cents under the price prevailing here for several months past.

Other retailers here said last evening that distributors had not yet reached an agreement in the manner of meeting the price cut, and the price, except at the two service stations, held here yesterday at 27½ cents a gallon.

There were rumors that the two dealers who had made the cut would return to the former price, and other rumors that the other dealers would meet the lower price.

Prevailing price of gasoline throughout central Idaho for some months past has been from 26 to 28 cents a gallon.

Guiding Your Child
COLOR IN BABYHOOD
It is the fashion to give babies rattles and other toys of bright colors with the idea that the child is especially attracted by a matter of fact, such evidence as very little discrimination of colors in color. Although it is probably true that they are more attracted to light colors than to dark colors, it has been observed that babies usually are attracted to playthings by characteristics other than those of color. The baby prefers the rattle which is easy to hold, interesting in texture and capable of making a loud, distinctive noise. During the first months of the baby's life he is far more interested in the size, shape and the feel of a thing than in its color.

HOOGIN SUGGESTS STUDY OF MEN AND CONDITIONS
Observations of men and things will lead to a better understanding and cause greater appreciation for our fellow human beings, Shad L. Hoogin told the Twin Falls Rotary club at luncheon at Tom's cafe in discussion the query of Jamie Herron, past. "Are we living in this world or only passing through it?" he asked. "I am sure that we are living in several incidents of actual life. Going through a forest he noted a magnificent tree towering straight above him, which reminded him of great, self-reliant men. This tree, if cut down, could not be put to various uses for the benefit of the community. It is a self-reliant man, depending on others. A third was visited and joy and gladness if cut down would still serve as useful purposes. It is a man who has the ability to do things for others. He has ambitions, suffering and love? Do you try by understanding them to make their lives better and happier?"

Snow Mantle Gives Twin Falls Air of Christmas
Old Man Winter spread his snowy mantle over Twin Falls and all the southern section of Idaho last night, and gave the final touch needed to bring the picture of Christmas to its historic setting. The weather continued mild and the snowfall, which was not heavy, settled evenly and somewhat heavily on the ground. The promise of a white Christmas with the further promise of a better water supply for sections where the supply is none too plentiful added an extra touch of optimism to the people here generally.

CALIFORNIA PRISON WARDEN WANTS MAN HELD IN TWIN FALLS

Fingerprint Identification Brings Disclosure of Record Including Long Series of Burglaries in Idaho

Lloyd Tressler, 37, who gave the name of Roy Harris when arrested here last night, escaped last May from a San Quentin, California, prison road gang and California authorities will come here to claim him, officers here learned yesterday. Tressler was serving a term in San Quentin-prison under sentence for burglarizing at San Francisco about four years ago.

Tressler was identified by means of fingerprints on file at Twin Falls police headquarters.

Positive evidence of his California prison record, police said, Tressler admitted his identity and confessed having committed 15 burglaries in South Idaho during the last two months. He had disclosed nothing prior to that time, officers said.

Diamonds and watches taken at Gooding, a rifle taken from a doctor's office at Shoshone, a rifle and a kodak taken from a Kimberly lodging house were recovered during the day by officers. They also took a rifle and two dirks from a Tressler's apartment in Gooding.

Tressler told officers, he said, he was a "dope addict" who could take it or leave it alone, but he became distraught in his cell yesterday morning and called for a narcotic drug. He told officers when they called, Dr. C. E. Ames that they had made a mistake because he himself had called Dr. Ames' office the previous night and taken his entire supply.

Then he directed them to his room in a local lodging house where they found a hypodermic needle and a quantity of the drug.

Tressler readily admitted, officers said, that he had committed numerous burglaries in this region, but he denied having taken the bags from pairs at Filer and Jerome.

He said that he had been employed since escaping from the California prison camp at construction work in Union, Oregon, and Elko, Nevada.

Works in Many Towns

Burglarizes for which Tressler assumes responsibility in his confession, according to the police, included forcing entry made on the night of December 1 into offices of Dr. G. W. Burgess, dentist; Dr. C. Russell Weaver, Dr. George C. Halley, Dr. J. F. Coughlin and Dr. C. A. Ames. Nothing was taken on that occasion from any of the offices entered except that of Dr. Ames who reported the next day. It was at the office of Dr. Ames that Tressler told officers he had taken the drug shortly before he was arrested.

Tressler, according to his assisted confession, went through a physician's office to break into Don Humphrey's jewelry store at Gooding, where he took diamonds and watches valued at about $500.

In a doctor's office in Shoshone Tressler took a rifle which was recovered at a second hand dealer's store here yesterday.

Two burglaries at Jerome, one at the office of Dr. L. T. Miller, dentist, and another at the office of Dr. H. E. Maxwell, chiropractor, both in the same building, yielded Tressler nothing, according to his statement as quoted by the officers.

He took a rifle and a kodak from a lodging house in Kimberly, both of which were recovered here yesterday, but a forcible entry into a doctor's office at Rupert was unproductive.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Local & D. Williams

Place Box 5

The Women's Progressive Club members held their annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. E. N. Whitney Wednesday, December eighteenth. The room was beautifully decorated with the colors and emblems of the season. One long table was spread for twenty-four members and two guests. Mrs. D. Tucker and Mrs. R. H. Schuster. The centerpiece was a small Christmas tree gay with tinsel and colored lights surrounded by miniature figures of Santa Claus. Place cards were also in Santa Claus design. Dinner was served at one o'clock and included all the goodie goodies in the kitchen. A huge turkey browned to a turn, brought by one of the members had a prominent place on the table. Mrs. Oates, president of the club, offered the invocation. At the conclusion of the first course Mrs. Frank Krueger gave a tribute to the club, its officers and members and Mrs. Wm. J. Blaser responded. To order for a brief business session during which plans were completed for a party for the husbands to be given at the Dixey Party House December twenty-first, to include a banquet to be followed by a social evening for the members. The party will be at the home of Mrs. Walker, Second Avenue North, on Friday afternoon, December twentieth. The program committee with Mrs. E. O. Havens as chairman then presented the following entertainment: Song by the chorus, Madeline Gates, Persephone, Haven, Livingston, Wilson and Powell. "Joy to the World," story by Mrs. R. H. Schuster, entitled "The World's First Christmas Tree" chorus, "I Came Upon a Midnight Clear" a playlet, "Auntie's Cheerful Visit," by Madeline Gates, Nuttal, Livingston and Davis in the cast, two readings by Mrs. D. Tucker, "The Christmas Playlet," and "Popping Corn," and a beautiful tableau of the Mother and Child and the Shepherds with the chorus singing "Silent Night" in the distance. A vote of thanks was then given Mrs. Whitney and the committee in charge. Santa then arrived with his sleigh bells and distributed the gifts from a handsome tree in one corner of the room. Ten little folks were in attendance who received their gifts first.

members are requested to be present as there will be election of officers.

A delightful Christmas party was given by Beta Sigma, an honorary high school society, at seven-thirty o'clock Tuesday evening in the teachers' room of the high school. Red bells and lighted Christmas trees ornamented the room. Gerald Wallace, president of the club, presented the national Christmas. Winners in the guessing games and stunts, directed by Don Haach and Margaret Meigs and U. N. Terry. Sam Haach, master of ceremonies, distributed the stunts after. Candy was served during the evening by Gerald Wallace and Francis George and later Mrs. D. Tucker and Mrs. R. H. Schuster. Minnie was in charge with the following committees assisting: Entertainment, Don Haach, chairman, Jesse Jenkinson and John Calder; refreshments, chairman, Rowena House, Frances White, Audrey Waddell and Louise Erickson; decorations, Bob Gamble, William Evans, Rebo Colwell and Luther Evans. Principal U. N. Terry, Miss Helen Miller and Miss Eunice Pike, Beta Sigma sponsor, were guests and forty members were present.

Tuesday night was given by William Olinas, janitor, at the Smith-Rice building on Main Avenue north, where police officers arrived Tuesday night in response to telephone summons to find the hunted fugitive engaged in conversation with Olinas. Olinas told the officers he observed Tressler in the hall on the second floor, apparently having just left a beauty parlor where the doctor was open. Olinas said he called the police from his apartment across the hall from the beauty parlor and then went back to detain Tressler. He said that Tressler complained of toothache and said he was looking for a dentist's office.

"Senor Americano" at Orpheum Brings Thrills

"Senor Americano," Ken Maynard's latest talking picture, is a production of most unusual interest and appeal. It is now at the Orpheum theatre. Its action is laid in the colorful days just preceding the admission of California to the Union. It deals largely with events in beautiful Southern California in the most romantic period of its history when the traditions of old Spain still flourished.

Ken Maynard gives an ideal performance in the role of a young American cavalry officer who falls in love with a beautiful Spanish-California girl. There is all the riding and fighting for which his pictures are noted, and an appealing romance in addition. Of especial interest are the reproductions of scenes of old California life, including a rancho festival and an old-time riding contest.

Beautiful Kathryn Crawford makes a most appealing heroine. A graduate of the musical comedy stage, she is especially effective in the rendition of old Spanish love songs. The strong supporting cast includes Otto Corrado, J. P. McDowen, Frank Yaconelli, Frank Beale and Maynard's famous trick horse, "Tarzan."

To be a sap, according to Mr. Horton (who ought to know, since he plays the title role), one may be lovable, smart and respectable, but one must have, at some time, done some foolish thing, such as dreaming day dreams or buying worthless oil stock.

Each member of the great Sap Order must be willing to recognize himself as a sap, he must agree to be laughed at, and above all he must heartily register sympathy for all other saps.

"The Sap" is one of the funniest, fastest small town stories ever screened and recorded and represents the last word in family entertainment. There is an all-star cast, including Alan Hae, Franklyn Pangborn, Patsy Ruth Miller, Edna Murphy, Russell Simpson, Lonnie Carver and Jerry Mandy. "The Sap" is based on the play by William Greig. The scenario is by Roberts Lord. Arnie L. Mayo directed.

money rates than at present for some time to come, the current facts are enough to stimulate a substantial advance in bond prices. It is significant that government bonds are now selling at a point lower than they were in the previous low money period reached in 1927. Many high-grade industrial, public utility and railroad bonds are selling out of the line with the new money conditions. The other excellent yields and a chance for moderate appreciation. Furthermore, I believe that any indication of the stock market running will would bring a reaction from the banking community. It is more likely to obtain for the public, however. On the other hand, every effort will be made to keep the situation favorable to business enterprise. Money Plentiful at Reasonable Rates Declares Babson in Weekly Review Dealing With World's Credit Status

Redistribution Should Prevent Early Repetition of Inflation in Security Markets Declares Noted Bay State Expert

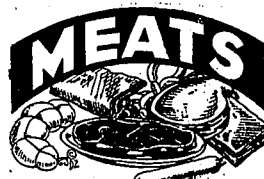

By ROBERT W. BABSON
HABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 18—Too much credit is just as bad for business as too little. Hence, we should welcome the redistribution of world credit that is now going on. The fundamental cause of past excessive speculation and the ensuing drastic smash in stocks was an over-supply of credit. In this country, paradoxical as it may seem, the high money rates experienced last summer were really caused by too much credit two years ago. Credit, like an individual, goes into mischief when it hasn't enough real work to do. We have gathered since the war, about one-half of the total world's gold supply, thus affording an enormous basis for the expansion of bank credit. Legitimate business did not need it all. Consequently it was utilized, in the form of call loans, to boost stock market prices to ridiculously high levels through margin operations. Despite the efforts of the Federal Reserve Board to prevent this situation, they soon found that they had very little control over it. Human nature triumphed. The surplus credit was utilized in speculation to such an extent that severe money stringency resulted. Stock market liquidation was the only way this situation could be corrected. The violence of the decline was proportionate to the recklessness of the advance. Money rates fell precipitately with the liquidation of brokers' money. Money rates are no longer attractive to foreign capital and hence it is now returning back home in large volume. Maintenance of a steady rate. I expect this withdrawal of foreign balances and a coming period of gold exports will check the decline in interest rates. I expect to see plenty of money for legitimate business purposes in 1930. Those who are looking for much lower rates than at present, however, are likely to be disappointed. Gold exports are anticipated in increasing quantities. The sharp upward movement of sterling and other foreign exchange indicators was due to increasing the gold export point. In fact, sterling is for loans in gold reserves. Also the money coming to this country from abroad on foreign investments and our own buying power is one of the most increasing merchandise export balance. It will tend to offset gold withdrawals. Hence, it seems likely that money rates may be stabilized for a time around present figures. On the other hand, extreme case in rates is not anticipated, while the redistribution of credit is underway. Moreover, banks are going to hand out credit more conservatively and are going to inquire more carefully into the uses to which the money is put. Nevertheless, the situation is far better for business than it was during the past summer when time money was obtainable only at 9 per cent or over, and short-term loans were being 6 per cent or more. Now, time rates are quoted at 4 1/2 per cent and prime commercial paper at 5 to 5 1/2 per cent, recycling the money banks in the United States in order to obtain money to develop their industries and to buy our goods. They can ahead and do that with the money which is now returning from Wall street.

Money Will Move
While Wall street will probably always be the financial center of the United States, it will no longer enjoy a monopoly of credit. There must be a redistribution of money from New York to the interior of the country. The money banks in the Middle West still have heavier discounts at the Reserve banks than those of the New York area. These heavier discounts reveal the need for movement of credit to the West, and during the coming months. So long as 10 per cent call money in Wall street was attracting funds from all over the country there was no possibility of relieving the stringency of interior credit conditions, but with call money rates at 4 1/2 per cent little difficulty should be encountered in moving funds from New York to other sections. The agricultural areas of the South and West should benefit from easier money as the result of this redistribution. Bond Prices Should Improve
Bond prices should improve. While I do not anticipate much lower

Nampa Man Speaks On Principles and Workings of Organizations in Idaho

FILER, Dec. 18—Filer Kiwanis club was honored at its Tuesday luncheon by the presence of Lewis Yeager, Nampa, lieutenant governor of the western states in the division of Kiwanis, who spoke on Kiwanis principles and the workings of the club. "One of the things emphasized about the work of Kiwanis is the elevation of new men, or men with new and higher ideals, men ready to serve the community in which they live," said Mr. Yeager. In the early part of his talk he spoke of an incident which occurred in 1922 when he was employed on the construction of the Oregon Short Line railroad bridge across Rock creek. At that time a real estate man in Twin Falls offered to lease him on a $1,000 job to build a dam for the sum of $225,000. Mr. Yeager replied that he would not do this for the whole country. "I did not dream of the progress that has been made in this country," said Mr. Yeager. Here J. A. Bradley, pastor of the Methodist church, addressed the club on the subject, "American Liberty."
