NAVAL CONFERENCE NEARS IMPORTANT AGENDA OF SESSION

Secretary of State Stimson Hopes Soon to Call Into Action America's Shock Troops Made up of Experts

By FRANK HAVILAND KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Jan. 28—Moving slowly but surely, the five-power naval conference tonight appeared to be nearing the real business of naval disarmament.

After the next plenary session at St. James' palace on Thursday, Secretary of State Stimson hopes to be able to call into action against the definite problems of the conference the American delegation's shock troops of experts and advisers, who have been mustering since the sessions began last Tuesday.

Seventy-eight newspapermen of all nations, including 12 Americans, will file into Queen Anne's drawing room for the meeting, where the Franco-Italian differences will be thoroughly aired in the open. General summaries and interpretations of the work the conference has done will be furnished as an indication of progress to leaders all over the world.

Three items will feature the program, brought forward by France, Great Britain and Italy.

France Leads List

By the adoption of the alphabetical order of presentation, which gives precedence to the country proposing a subject according to the first letter of its name, France will lead the list and will have an opportunity of formally laying before the conference her plan for limiting fleets by the global, or total tonnage system.

Great Britain, who favors another means, will then outline her theory of limitations by categories of ships, and lastly Italy will present her argument for the establishment of fleet ratios among the nations as a necessary preliminary to disarmament.

With Premier Tardieu and Foreign Minister Grandi At Helm

Idaho Falls has not had the convention since the period, six years ago, when William E. Borah was nominated for re-election to the senate.

Some insisted it would be an appropriate gesture to again nominate him from the upper Snake river city. Boise's position, however, was that a state convention has not been held in the capital city for upwards of a score of years and the principle of rotating toward holding it at the seat of government, the delegates insisted it was time to bring it here.

No North Idaho invitations were expected in view of the fact that the convention has been held in that section three times recently. The last convention was in Kellogg.

This is the part of the work that particularly interests the Americans and the Japanese, who have stood a little to one side during the discussion of Franco-Italian parity because it is an European problem. Secretary Stimson desires to hide audience for the cruiser discussion, when it comes up, by carrying a proposal for opening the conference to as many newspapermen as possible through a meeting of the chief delegates this morning. There was no opposition, and it was agreed 78 correspondents should be accommodated.

The realities of disarmament seemed to be nearer tonight as Secretary Stimson in a speech broadcast to America sketched the hopes of the conference. Mr. Stimson defined these as elimination of competition in the building of cruisers and destroyers, the abolition or rigid limitation of submarines, and drastic saving on battleship expenditures.

Unless the battleship program is reduced, he said, the United States will be faced with the expenditure of $300,000,000 on these war vessels alone during the next six years. Another such sum would be necessary for the following six years.

YOUTHFUL FLIER DIES IN NEW JERSEY CRASH

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 28 (AP)—Christopher Adams, 18, Haledon, was burned to death late today when a Curtiss plane crashed in landing on Mudchie field, four miles west of Paterson. His companion, George Pruden, 20, North Haledon, the pilot, was thrown clear of the wreckage and was not injured seriously.

The plane was making a landing on poor ground. One wing struck a hollow, the plane pitched over and the gasoline tank exploded.

SPAIN'S DICTATOR SINCE 1923 QUITS GOVERNMENT HELM

Premier Primo de Rivera Resigns and King Alfonso Charges Arch Enemy of Retiring Ruler With Task

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Jan. 28—Premier Primo de Rivera, dictator since 1923, resigned tonight and General Damaso Berenguer, long his arch enemy, was charged by King Alfonso to form new ministry.

The downfall of the brilliant officer and political, who had controlled Spain with an iron hand for more than six years, had appeared imminent all day but it was not until after a cabinet session in the evening that the premier drove to the royal palace and presented the resignations of himself and cabinet.

General Berenguer, in an interview after his appointment by the king, said he intended to appoint civilian ministers to all portfolios excepting those of war and marine.

He announced his intention of re-establishing the constitution of 1876, under which the country was governed before the dictatorship. He will convoke a general election for deputies and senators and reestablish the cortes or parliament.

Averted Collapse

Lieutenant General Don Miguel Primo de Rivera Orbaneja, Marquis de Estella, to give him his full name and title, distinguished himself in the campaigns against Moroccan natives which for some years had been draining the national treasury exhausting the man power and threatening to bring about a collapse of the nation. His success followed the defeat and disgrace of the man who now succeeds him as head of the government. General Berenguer was high commissioner in Morocco in 1921 and 1922. He resigned in July, 1922, and the following June the state, of which he was a member, voted to impeach him on the ground that he was responsible for a severe defeat in Morocco. He was convicted, removed from the active army and sentenced to six months imprisonment. The sentence was commuted, however.

In 1926, King Alfonso showed his confidence in General Berenguer by appointing him chief of his household. The appointment was commented on at the time as indicating a breach between the sovereign and Primo de Rivera, for the military title between the two generals had never been concealed.

Although the actual resignation of the cabinet came suddenly it had been expected by the events of the past few months. Primo de Rivera himself had indicated on several occasions that he expected to relinquish control of the government in person. He recently, he stated, was to provide first for a worthy successor and to pave the way for a gradual restoration of constitutional privileges to the citizenry.

BERLIN, Jan. 28 (AP)—Dr. Gustav Boess, mayor of Berlin, who visited the United States in October, resigned his office today.

Tax Anticipation Notes Go To 4000 Chicago Employes

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Tonight was a sort of Christmas eve to 4000 Cook county public servants who together with city employes have been paid off for many months of empty warrants, while the local banks declined to accept the warrants at a 7 per cent discount.

But William J. Graham, county comptroller, now means business.

There can be no question of their acceptability," he said. "If the banks won't take these warrants, gilt-edged securities, what will they take?" He said the downtown department stores had indicated the warrants, equivalent to first liens on the taxes collected in 1931, will be redeemed at par.

Still further delay in the realization of taxes already two years awaited was foreseen today as the board of review plunged into a second appraisal of downtown "loop" properties. The second reassessment was ordered by the board yesterday because of widespread rumors and protests that $300,000,000 had been cheated from business property valuations, mainly related to outlying residential properties.

TWIN FALLS LINES UP FOR CONVENTION

Magic City, Idaho Falls And Boise Vie For Republican Annual Statewide Session

BOISE, Jan. 28 (AP)—Invitations from Boise, Twin Falls and Idaho Falls for the state Republican convention will probably be placed before a meeting of the state central committee here on February 12, with a fair prospect that Boise will be awarded the convention, it appeared here today.

It is the general practice to hold a meeting of the committee at that time, the date of the Lincoln day banquet at which all members are usually present, as well as large delegations from all sections.

No call has been sent out for the meeting, nor so far as could be learned have any of the cities proffered the invitation. It was believed unlikely that it would go to Twin Falls in view of the fact that W. D. Gillis, Filer, attorney general, is a candidate for the governorship.

Recalls Borth's Nomination

Idaho Falls has not had the convention since the period, six years ago, when William E. Borah was nominated for re-election to the senate.

Some insisted it would be an appropriate gesture to again nominate him from the upper Snake river city. Boise's position, however, was that a state convention has not been held in the capital city for upwards of a score of years and the principle of rotating toward holding it at the seat of government, the delegates insisted it was time to bring it here.

No North Idaho invitations were expected in view of the fact that the convention has been held in that section three times recently. The last convention was in Kellogg.

BABY BURNS TO DEATH IN FIRE AT CALDWELL

CALDWELL, Idaho, Jan. 28 (AP)—The one-month-old baby of Mrs. W. W. Wilson was burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the family home.

A few minutes after Mrs. Wilson stepped over to a neighbor's house, her five-year-old son, with whom she had left the baby came screaming that the house was on fire. The mother was seriously burned trying to enter the blazing house, and was prevented by friends from making a second attempt.

BOVINE TUBERCOLOSIS DISAPPEARS IN IDAHO

LEWISTON, Idaho, Jan. 28 (AP)—A possibility that Idaho may be free of cattle tuberculosis by July 1, that being the first Northwest state attain such a distinction, is seen today by Dr. W. A. Sullivan, federal government inspector.

Thirty of 44 counties in the state, he asserted, now disease free. Idaho and Latah counties will be accredited within two weeks and Bear Lake, Boise, Oneida and Washington counties soon thereafter, he added.

MOTHER AND FIVE CHILDREN PERISH

Heroic Miner Leaps From Bed in Attempt to Save Lives But Increases Toll

FREDERICK, Colo., Jan. 28 (AP)—A mother, her five children and a heroic miner who sought to save them perished in a blazing frame dwelling on the Slope mining property near here early today.

The small frame building was burned to the ground and the bodies of the two adults and five children were charred beyond recognition.

The dead are:

MRS. DELLA MARTINEZ, 32.
PAULINE MARTINEZ, 12.
EMMA MARTINEZ, 10.
RONIE MARTINEZ, 8.
ERNEST MARTINEZ, 6.
[illegible] MARTINEZ, 14 months.
ERNEST NEWLON, 25; a caretaker of the Slope mine.

Weld county authorities determined the fire was caused by an overheated stove.

Newlon and his wife, Lilly, were asleep in their home about 100 feet away from the Martinez house when the fire broke out about 1 A. M. The miner rushed to the blazing dwelling quickly after telling his wife to summon aid. He made his way into the house by crashing through a window, she said.

"That was the last I saw of my husband," Mrs. Newlon said, of head him pounding on the walls inside but I was helpless to do anything. By the time any one arrived it was too late."

Paul Martinez, husband of the woman and father of the children who lost their lives, was working at the Slope mine.

It was apparent to investigators that Newlon died before he reached those he sought to rescue.

SEARCHERS FAIL TO FIND FLIERS' BODIES

Movement Under Way to Accord Eielson And Companion Fitting Final Tribute

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 28 (AP)—Although word of the finding of the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic aviator, and Earl Borland, his mechanic, in their supposed tomb of ice and snow on the Siberian tundra was still lacking here today, a movement was afoot to accord the fliers a final tribute if the searchers sent out by air and land from North Cape, Siberia, and Teller, Alaska, are successful in their quest.

The demolished plane of the Americans was found by Lee Crissman, 20 miles southeast of North Cape Saturday. The bodies of the aviators are expected to be found in snowdrifts around the plane.

Alfred J. Lomen, director of the aviation corporation's rescue expedition, who launched two cabin planes from Teller yesterday to bring the bodies back to Alaska today urged that a coast guard cutter be sent to Alaska to carry the fliers back to the states.

Urges Highest Honors

Lomen also suggested that Eielson, who has a world war record and won international fame by a daring flight with Sir George H. Wilkins over the Arctic "blind spot" and who was the idol of Alaska, be buried in Arlington cemetery with full military honors.

Lomen declared there remains no possibility that Eielson and Borland are still alive. Relatives of the men also have given up hope. Ole Eielson, father of the aviator, planned to leave Grand Forks, North Dakota, tonight on his way north to receive the body.

ATTORNEY GENERAL AND BORAH CLASH OVER LIQUOR LAWS

Suggested Congressional Investigation Stirs Solons to Free-For-All Battle of Extensive Proportions

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—Congressional investigation of prohibition enforcement was being discussed as a possibility at the capital tonight at the height of one of the liveliest free-for-alls in the present "wet" and "dry" controversy.

The day saw Attorney General Mitchell, and Chairman Wickersham, of the law enforcement commission, engaged with both proponents and opponents of the Volstead act in congress—with all heeding their own at nightfall.

The attorney general denied a statement by Senator Borah, Idaho, an outstanding "dry" critic of enforcement conditions, that the justice department had investigated the record of Prohibition Administrator Herbert of the Montana-Idaho district. He also denied that any justice agents had been spying on Borah's office.

The Idaho Republican replied that some employe of the government had investigated Herbert and had submitted the report on the Montana administrator to Prohibition Commissioner Doran. He reiterated that his informant had been removed from the city after calling upon the senator at his office.

Urges Investigation

"We ought to find out all the facts," Borah declared. "We will do well to go into the whole question, when the prohibition bills come before the judiciary committee."

His statement was regarded by some as forecasting an inquiry into the prohibition unit. He is a member of the senate judiciary committee, which considers prohibition legislation.

Chairman Wickersham notified Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri, a "wet," that the question of allowing 2.75 per cent beer was a legislative problem. His word was in answer to a request from Dyer for a statement on the feasibility of the beer proposition.

The Missourian rejoined that he would ask the house judiciary committee to invite members of the law enforcement commission to "come and state whether 'in their opinion, such a change in the prohibition enforcement act would aid the president in better enforce the prohibition law."

While these two major encounters

were in progress, house "wets" and "drys" indulged in a round of words on the floor over the pronouncement by the attorney general that he would insist upon government officers who believed in and practiced prohibition.

Representative Kellar, Democrat, New York, described this position as a "silly ban and restriction," saying it would have barred such men as Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding, Alfred E. Smith and Newton D. Baker from government service.

GRANGERS OF IDAHO TREK TO CALDWELL

Delegates Ready to Listen to Tax Reform Ideas And Highway Building Program

CALDWELL, Idaho, Jan. 28 (AP)—Though much of the Idaho State Grange meeting in its opening session today was as succeeding days will be, taken up with degree work and other ritual requirements, the delegates from 150 subordinate Granges were plainly on edge for the "fireworks" to start.

These fireworks will be discussions on proposals for tax reforms offered today by State Master W. W. Deal, and the plan for a "speeded up" state highway program, which Governor H. C. Baldridge will present tomorrow.

Sessions are bing held in the Odd Fellows temple. A banquet at the temple this evening was the high point in the social activities of the convention.

Disapproves Sales Tax

Though pleading for new tax legislation which might relieve agriculture of its disproportionate burden, State Master Deal did not specifically urge a revision of present taxes on mines. He asked for abolition of general sales taxes and substitution of direct taxes on tobacco and luxuries. He also urged strengthening of the oleomargarine license law.

Anticipating the highway proposals, Deal urged against specializing market roads for scenic highways, and warned against too chaotic efforts toward increasing the gasoline tax.

Roscoe C. Rich, Burley, president of the Idaho Wool Growers association, talked on cooperation, outlining the need for more understanding and closer relations between farmers and stockmen.

In addition to the presention of the highway program, tomorrow, election of officers, appointment of standing committees and adoption of all resolutions are on the schedule.

TWIN FALLS STORE ROBBERY SUSPECTS TRIUMPH IN COURT

Judge Nephi Jensen Dismisses Fugitive Complaints Against Two Prisoners in Court at Salt Lake City

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 28—Fugitive complaints against R. D. Moore and William Wilson charged with holding up and robbing F. M. Elrod, manager of a suburban grocery store at Twin Falls, Idaho, on January 13, were dismissed today by City Judge Nephi Jensen after extradition papers for their return to Idaho had been denied by Governor George H. Dern.

Wilson's proved an alibi when railroad employes at Cedar City testified that they had seen him the night of the crime. Extradition of Moore was refused because of the confession of William Frank Allen, arrested here several days ago, that he and his partner, Roy Kent, were responsible for the holdup at Twin Falls.

Five persons, according to W. S. Dotson, Twin Falls county sheriff, asserted at a hearing before Governor Dern that they were present in Salt Lake City Monday that B. D. Moore, wanted here on a robbery charge, had been in Salt Lake City at the time of the robbery in Twin Falls, December 29, following this hearing, denied Idaho's request for extradition of Moore to stand trial here on the robbery charge.

The persons whose statements supported Moore's alibi, besides Moore himself, were a janitor and two maids at the Semloh hotel where Moore had been a guest for some days, and the manager of the Salt Lake City-Bingham stage lines with offices in that hotel.

In addition, Mr. Dotson said, Moore benefitted by confession of William Frank Allen, arrested in Salt Lake City several days ago, that he and his partner, Roy Kent, were responsible for the hold up at Twin Falls.

Allen Describes Grocery

Allen, at the hearing, described quite accurately the Marketeria grocery here which Moore was alleged to have held up last January 13, and also furnished a recognizable description of the manager, F. M. Elrod.

Allen, however, Mr. Dotson said, was unable to describe any of the three suburban groceries that he has confessed to robbing after the Twin Falls holdup.

Allen denied that he had ever met Moore.

Allen's account of his arrival in Twin Falls on the way from Corvallis, Oregon, to Salt Lake City, did not check with information in the hands of officers here regarding the movements of Allen, Wells or Roberts, who held up the grocery manager here, Mr. Dotson said.

Request for extradition of William Wilson, alleged accomplice of Moore in the Twin Falls robbery, was withdrawn voluntarily in the face of evidence he presented showing that he was driver of a motor stage and that he had been in Cedar City, Utah, at the time of the robbery here.

Moore had made application for work as a stage driver, it was shown at the hearing, but had not been employed for some time.

Identification of Moore as the hold-up here was made at the hearing in Salt Lake City by F. M. Elrod, manager of the Marketeria grocery; F. E. Leighton, Twin Falls police chief, and J. A. Empey, Twin Falls police officer.

M. F. Coleman, employe of a grocery on Addison avenue west, attended the hearing, and would have testified that Moore had stopped at that store shortly before the robbery here; it was stated.

Claims for granting Idaho's request for extradition of Moore were presented at the hearing by E. V. Larson, Twin Falls county attorney.

Mr. Dotson carried the extradition papers to Salt Lake City last week, and with the other authorities and witnesses from here, returned to Twin Falls yesterday.

McCALL BUTCHER DIES UNDER LOAD OF LUMBER

WEISER, Idaho, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ira Elmer Tackler, 43, McCall butcher, was crushed to death under a truck load of lumber last night on the road between here and McCall. 10,000 COMMUNISTS HONOR SLAIN HERO

Throng Marches Over Wet, Sloppy Pavements to Pay Tribute to Obscure Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ten thousand persons marched over three miles of wet, sloppy pavements today to honor the memory of an obscure dead man.

Steve Katovis' only claim to fame was that he was shot down in a clash between police and striking market workers in the Bronx. Today his body, in a red-draped casket, and flanked by an escort of motorcycle police, led a procession 20 blocks long.

The followers of that cortege were Communists and Communist Sympathizers, poor people, some of them a bit ragged, who idealized Katvois as a martyr to their cause.

They were orderly enough, though some 400 policemen had been placed in readiness in the event of trouble. Occasionally there would be a banner decrying Katovis' "murder" or condemning imperialism, and now and then the marchers would sing.

"The union makes us strong!" they would shout and raise their clenched right fists triumphantly. The police who rode alongside and the throngs that watched from the sidewalks and the windows of office buildings looked on placidly. Many of the latter did not even know what it was all about; they thought it was a parade.

POCATELLO ENTERTAINS IDAHO'S HARDWARE MEN

POCATELLO, Idaho, Jan. 28 (AP)—Retail hardware and implement dealers of Idaho opened their annual three-day convention here today. J. Charles Roas, president of the National Retail Hardware association, Kalamazoo, Michigan, was the principal speaker at the initial session. He said that hardware merchants face good prospects in 1930 if they use modern methods.

Mayor C. Ben Ross, Pocatello, gave the welcome and made a plea to give Idaho products preference. M. O. Baldridge, Parma, head of the Idaho organization, gave his annual address, reciting work of the association during the year.

MOSCOW PLANS TRIBUTE TO GEM STATE PIONEER

MOSCOW, Idaho, Jan. 28 (AP)—The family of Mrs. William J. McConnell, widow of Idaho's second governor who died yesterday announced tonight that funeral services would be held Wednesday in the Methodist church here at 2 P. M.

The time was set when Mrs. William Borah, a daughter, telegraphed from Washington that she could not attend.

The Rev. H. O. Perry, Tacoma, Washington, a friend of Mrs. McConnell who formerly resided here, will conduct the services. All business houses will be closed.

TOWNS IN NORTHERN IDAHO WANT WATER

Wallace And Mullan Take Corporation Manager to Task For Serious Shortage

WALLACE, Idaho, Jan. 28. (AP)—The manager of the Public Utilities Consolidated corporation, attacked by the city council for failure to remedy a serious water shortage here, said today that there would be no recurrance of the present situation.

Last night the councilmen demanded that the organization supplying Wallace and Mullan with water do something or lose its franchise. J. F. Bailey, manager, said he believed it impossible to "do anything in a matter of days."

He said that sinking wells to tap the vast subterranean water sources beneath the city to alleviate the present critical conditions at a cost of $75,000 would undoubtedly be started this spring.

City reservoirs have been almost empty for more than two weeks, with barely enough water running into them to supply the city's needs. As a result, fire conditions were reported extremely hazardous, with the health of the people possibly endangered through contamination of the water.

AUTHORITIES PROBE KANSAS CITY CRASH

Aviation Company Officers Deny Charges of Attempting to Destroy Evidence

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Jan. 28 (AP)—While aviation officials today sought the cause of the crash of a Central Air Lines passenger plane which cost five lives here late yesterday, County Coroner Ben F. Coffin, late today ordered an inquest. He declared that evidence which might have supplied the answer had been wiped out in hasty dismantling and moving of the wreckage.

Officials of the air line denied there had been any attempt to destroy evidence and defended the action of employes in having the wreckage pulled apart and taken to a hangar for study after the removal of the burned and crushed bodies of the victims.

E. A. Watkins, president of the Central Air Lines, who arrived from Wichita, Kansas, to take charge of the company's investigation, said "it is going to be difficult to determine the cause of the crash," but promised a full report "as soon as the President Hoover Discerns Encouraging Signs in Report of Federal Office

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Encouraging signs of an increase in employment over the country were seen today by President Hoover in reports to the department of labor of a 3.3 per cent gain on January 15 over January 6, it was stated.

On the basis of reports from 8000 establishments employing 2,456,245 persons, a general increase in employment among all but a few industries was tabulated.

In grouping the industries, an increase in each was shown for the week as follows: Textiles, 5.4 per cent; foods 2.6 per cent; iron and steel 2.3 per cent; lumber 2.1 per cent; leather 4.2 per cent; paper printing 0.1 per cent; chemicals 0.9 per cent; stone, clay and glass 1.4 per cent; other products 2.8 per cent; tobacco 3.4; public utilities 2.7 per cent; and miscellaneous 1.2 per cent.

Taking the key industries the department reported that cotton textiles had gained 3.9 per cent, carpets 5.8 per cent; hosiery 4 per cent, silk 3.7 per cent, woolens 3.5 per cent and men's clothing 17.1 per cent.

The large increase in employment for tobacco was caused by a jump of 93.5 per cent in the cigar industry, which the department said was probably due to the cessation of war between the candy manufacturers and cigaret producers.

Incidentally, the department said, confectionery employment moved up 11.2 per cent.

COURT'S DECISION INVOLVING INDIAN REFLECTS ON FALL

Federal Tribunal Holds Department of Interior Not Authorized to Transfer $1,100,000 in Securities

(By The Associated Press)

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 28 — The United States tenth circuit court of appeals, in a decision announced today by Judge George T. McDermott, held the department of the interior, while Albert B. Fall was secretary, had no authority to transfer to others approximately $1100.000 in bonds held in trust by the department for Jackson Barnett, wealthy Oklahoma Indian.

Among the sums involved in the transfer were $550.000 in bonds given to the Baptist Home Mission society, $400,000 given to Mrs. Barnett, the Indian's white wife, and $150,000 in attorney fees paid to Harold McGugin, Coffeyville, Kansas.

The circuit court opinion was handed down in a suit entitled United States vs. Mott, and was a reversal of a decision by the eastern Oklahoma federal district court.

Marshall W. Mott, an attorney of Washington, was employed by McGugin to assist in the case. Mott received $15,000 and McGugin $150,000 as attorneys for Mrs. Barnett in the litigation growing out of her marriage to the aged Creek Indian.

Secretary Without Power

The opinion ruled that the secretary of the interior was without power to transfer the bonds to any person at any time. It remands the case for further proceedings to collect the money and return it to the government.

The United States court for New York ruled about a year ago that the transfer of the bonds to the American Baptist Home Mission society was illegal and directed that the bonds be returned to the United States as guardian for Barnett.

Barnett's affairs have been involved in state and federal courts for several years. Barnett was an illiterate Creek Indian whose allotment proved to be valuable oil lands.

In 1920, he was unmarried and living alone in a little cabin in Oklahoma. More than a million dollars in cash had accumulated and was invested in liberty bonds left with the secretary of the interior as guardian for Barnett.

Married at Coffeyville

Anna Lowe, a white woman, became acquainted with Barnett in Oklahoma and they were married later in Coffeyville, Kansas. McGugin, city attorney at Coffeyville now, was employed by Mrs. Barnett as her attorney.

McGugin in 1923 presented to the secretary of the interior a request bearing the thumb-print signature of Barnett, that $550.000 of his money be given to the American Baptist Home Mission society in trust for religious purposes, with him to have the major part of the income in his lifetime; and that $550,000 be paid to his wife, $200,000 of which she should put in trust and pay him part of the income.

After many months of effort, McGugin and Mott obtained approval of Secretary Fall to this transfer. The government in its case against Mott charged only that while the secretary of the interior was by statute the guardian of illiterate Indians, he had no power to give away his money.

IDEAS CHANGE GREATLY AFTER FALL IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—When the public turned against common stocks after the October-November break, it was no half-way shift in sentiment.

Statistics on the collapse of stock values tell an interesting story of how the public shied away from new stock offerings.

During November, when business was marking time, new issues of all kinds fell to the lowest point of the year. In December, when bankers began to feel their way cautiously once more, there was a total of $307,000,000 in new issues.

Common stocks accounted for only $12,000,000 of this amount, while the volume of bond financing more than doubled.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL AND BORAH CLASH OVER LIQUOR LAWS

Alabama, fenited that "in writing that letter, Mr. Mitchell has rendered a distinct service to the American people." He added, that the attorney general "seeks only to provide decent sobriety on the part of those who hold commissions in that department."

Mr. Wickersham informed Dyer that his letter concerning the 2.75 per cent beer proposal would be referred to the law enforcement commission at its next meeting on February 5. He recalled that the supreme court had held the questions involved were for legislative rather than judicial determination.

The differences between Mr. Mitchell and Senator Borah developed from Borah's demand for investigation of a report which he said a department of justice agent had given to him regarding Herbert.

"Someone has been misleading Senator Borah," the attorney general said in a statement denying any inquiry regarding Herbert by an agent of his department. He displaced J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, to see the senator. The senator declined to give the name of the man who represented himself to him as an agent of the department of justice, pending further inquiry. Senator Borah then issued this statement:

"These facts, I think, may be accepted as untrue. A gentleman came to my office. He came of his own initiative. He was in the employ of the government. He made a statement in regard to Quinn and Herbert. Within a day or two he was transferred. He still is in the employment of the government. I do not know of my own knowledge, of course, with what department, he was identified but I feel quite certain that he was, and still is, in the employ of the government in connection with some one of its departments. I hope to get in touch with him and find out just what department he was identified with."

The attorney general also had denied that any department of justice agents had investigated J. J. Quinn, former prohibition administrator at Baltimore. Quinn recently was dismissed from the service.

Pilot Long in Service

Watkins said in a statement that Dyke Lauderman, pilot of the craft who was killed with his four passengers, one a woman, had been flying since 1923 and that he was found to be in splendid physical condition when he received his last regular monthly examination.

W. H. Ellis, an aviation mechanic and friend of the dead pilot, declared, however, that Lauderman had complained recently that he was tired and had been flying too much.

Everything seems to go all right when my ship isn't heavily loaded and the air is smooth but when I've got a load, it's hell," he quoted Lauderman as saying.

Richard H. Leese, jr., supervising aeronautical inspector of the department of commerce, who was conducting an investigation today preparatory to making a report to Washington officials, authorized the removal of the wreck from the scene of the crash.

SCIENTIST SEES NEED FOR LARGE AIRPLANES

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Commercial passenger airplanes must be built to carry at least 30-40-50 persons in comfort, a scientist believes.

Charles A. Porter, Bristol, Pennsylvania, in a report to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, believes that until then they cannot offer much competition to railroads.

The 30-40-50 million mile point at which Mr. Porter thinks the horse-power per passenger will be economical enough to permit of the comforts and superior speed required to attract travelers.

A good many of the present large planes now take 100 horse-power a passenger, he says, but the 30-40 passenger ships would require but 50 to 60 horsepower for each person.

OIL INDUSTRY BOOSTS RESOURCES OF KANSAS

WICHITA, Kas., Jan. 28 (AP)—With $70,000,000 worth of oil produced from Kansas wells in 1929, oil men believe the state's greatest strike is yet to come.

Last year saw the greatest oil development in Kansas history since the El Dorado boom days of 15 years ago. More than 10,000,000 acres of Kansas land now are under oil and gas leases.

Major companies have paid about $20,000,000 in cash bonuses for the right to explore this potential petroleum empire and rentals will average half that much annually.

BRANDING OF CATTLE DROPS OFF IN IDAHO

BOISE, Jan. 28 (AP)—The galloping days of the Wild West, when a cattle brand meant either a clear title or a right to have gone by, testimony in Idaho more or less cold, reports to Fred James, state brand inspector, revealed today.

During 10 years of registering brands in the state, 22,206 brands have been checked in and filed, but the owners are so careless of them that only 5735 are now in good standing.

Cattle brands have a very distinct value in re-locating strayed or stolen livestock, James' records reveal. Of 284 reports of strayed stolen livestock reported last year to the registrar by sheriffs, the owners were notified in 210 cases. Horses seemed to be the most rambling of the stock, for of the 475 animals involved in the report, 406 were horses and 69 were cattle.

The brands are renewable every five years at a charge of 50 cents.

ATTORNEY'S TRIAL FOR MURDER OPENS

Attorneys Defending Texas Lawyer Draw Out Testimony For Insanity Plea

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 28 (AP)—Through the testimony of John W. Brady's wife and three other witnesses, the lawyers defending him for the murder of Judge Brady sought today to show that there had been a slow disintegration of Brady's moral fibre and death of his intellect before Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28, whom he is accused of slaying, was stabbed to death, November 9.

They drew out this testimony to prepare for an insanity plea and revealed that Dr. Joe Wooten and Dr. Goodall Wooten, both alienists, the latter the Brady's family physician, would testify for their cause.

Brady wept when his wife broke down and cried as she described him as a man once remarkably brilliant, who through excessive drinking had become enfeebled physically and mentally, had turned away a lucrative practice and had changed everything from their yesterday "when we were very happy."

The others who went on the stand for the ex-civil appeals court judge were the Rev. Valentine Lee, an Episcopal rector of Dallas, who formerly lived next door to the Bradys here; Mrs. D. T. White, El Paso, Brady's sister, and Mrs. Sam Pondron, his ward until the time of her marriage.

Mrs. Brady said they had been married 30 years and that years ago he was not addicted to liquor and was "very bright." She said his defense for a judgeship 10 years ago, first started him drinking immoderately and that in the last two or three years he had been using liquor "almost continually."

A quality you would insist upon if you knew all of the FACTS

FACT 16 Only a few years ago, Western America introduced vacuum packed coffee to the world—and more recently vacuum packed tea. For fine coffee, the vacuum tin is now the universal practice.

For tea, a special process still remains the secret of the originators—Schilling. The flavor of tea evaporates just like coffee, only more slowly, and it is months (frequently a year) before tea reaches you from the Oriental gardens. Much as you may have enjoyed your tea, you have missed much of its original rare flavor. But now it is preserved for you.

FACTS 17 and 18 Both a tea leaf and a coffee bean must be toasted to drive off the moisture, which helps to rob it of flavor. Good coffee is packed in vacuum immediately after roasting. Tea is toasted at the tea gardens, then sealed in large chests, lined with lead. When it arrives in America it is repacked in ordinary tins or even cardboard boxes. And that's where the damage is done! But this is how Schilling does it. As the tea is poured from the lead-lined chests, it is tested again, and while still hot (just like your coffee) it is sealed in vacuum. Schilling Tea comes to you as fresh and fragrant as it left the Orient—the only tea completely protected from the tea garden to you.

Johnny Risko Unfit To Meet Campolo, Commissioners Decree

Edict Dumfounds Faithful and Tiny Promoter of Bout

Surprising Mandate Wipes Out Feature Battle of Heavyweight Card Schedule For Gotham Garden

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—New York state athletic commissioners dumbfounded the faithful today with a ruling that Johnny Risko, who at one time or another has whipped almost every giant among the cauliflowers, was not a fit opponent for Victorio Campolo, South American mauler.

This surprising mandate wiped out the feature battle of a heavyweight card scheduled for February 7 at Madison Square Garden, left plump little Tom McArdle, the matchmaker puffing in astonishment, and puzzled everyone but the commission as to the reason. The solemn fathers merely declared that Risko was no match for the Argentine, who lost a decision to Phil Scott in his last bout here.

William Muldoon, 82-year-old member of the commission, said the match was "too one-sided and would result only in a repetition of the Campolo-Heeney fight." Campolo scored a technical knockout last summer over "Ould Tom," who has since retired.

Muldoon said Campolo, who fights at about 225 pounds compared to Risko's 195, was altogether too big for the rugged Bohemian baker boy from Cleveland. He said there were many battlers of Campolo's own size available without tackling the "little fellows."

The decision was received with added amazement, four days after the commission approved the match in Madison Square Garden, in which Primo Carnera, 270-pound Italian mammoth, wiped out "Little Boy" Peterson, in 70 seconds. Peterson weighed only 209 pounds.

Commission Gives Lomski Decision

Athletic Board of Illinois Decrees Reversal After Seeing Referee's Card

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—After checking over Referee Davey Miller's score card, the Illinois state athletic commission today ruled that Leo Lomski, the "Aberdeen Assassin," be credited with a decision instead of a draw in his 10-round match with James J. Braddock, Jersey City, at the Chicago Coliseum January 17.

This is how the commission explained the reversal of the draw verdict, which was booed by thousands of fight fans, most of whom believed Lomski was entitled to the decision:

"After the fight, one judge voted for Lomski, another voted for Braddock and Referee Miller voted for a draw. Hence, the match was called a draw. Later, Secretary Walter George of the commission, inspected the score cards of all three officials and noticed that Referee Miller had added up his points wrong. While he voted for a draw, his score card gave four rounds to Lomski, two to Braddock, and four were called even.

"Miller was out of the city and could not attend the commission's meeting January 21. However, he inspected it later on his return and immediately saw his error and was anxious to correct it. Thus, the corrected card gives two decision votes to Lomski and one for Braddock. Hence Lomski is hereby ruled the winner by a decision."

Fred Printz, winner of 1929 derby, is definitely out of this year's classic. His place as driver for Salt Lake City will be taken by Roy Peterson.

Snow conditions for the running are excellent, according to the drivers. Special trains of observation cars will follow the drivers along the course of the race, which parallels Southern Pacific lines.

EXTRADITION

Danger to society that lurks in extradition proceedings required for removal of a criminal suspect from one state to another, again is suggested in the denial by Utah's governor of Idaho's request for extradition of R. D. Moore, arrested in Salt Lake City and wanted here to answer to a charge of robbery at a suburban grocery in Twin Falls.

Officers here who have made thorough investigation of the case, are bitterly disappointed over the Utah governor's edict, and, if the results of their investigations coincide with the facts in the case, they have every right to feel agrieved.

It is evident that the Utah governor, in ruling upon the request for extradition of Moore, has regarded his function as one going beyond simple determination of whether the person named in the request is actually the person that the state of Idaho sought to bring to trial here. Utah's governor has gone farther and put himself in the position of a magistrate whose function it is to determine whether a crime has been committed and whether there is reason to believe that the person accused has committed that crime.

There is no apparent reason why the governor of Utah should have gone so far. The way into the courts of Utah was open to the accused through habeas corpus proceedings, if, as had been indicated all the way through, Moore has had serious aversion to facing the charge against him in an Idaho court.

Rightly or wrongly, there is prevalent here a belief that two guilty men have escaped justice as a direct result of the Utah governor's action in this case; and, what is more important, there is added vigor to attack on the law's requirement for extradition proceedings. That requirement, sooner or later, will be called upon to prove and establish its reason for existence if it can.

TWO BIG WATERWAYS

There seems to be a good deal of antagonism between advocates of the St. Lawrence deep waterway and advocates of the Mississippi waterway, as if these were rival projects, and any help to one would hurt the other. This is an unnecessary and foolish attitude for either group of boosters.

The whole country is pretty well agreed as to the merits of internal waterways and the advantages of giving the rich and populous interior of the continent water outlets to te sea.

It happens that the Great Lakes possess the greatest fresh water traffic-found anywhere in the world. The St. Lawrence River, in the view of most Americans and Canadians, offers the most feasible outlet from the Lakes eastward to the Atlantic.

It happens that the Mississippi, which once floated a large commerce, and has lost most of it through railroad competition, still offers with its tributary streams a far-reaching waterway system of great value.

It is mere common sense to develop both systems, because each has its special field and merits, and the country eventually can make good use of both.

It is also mere common sense to combine the two, making one vast system. This is evidently the policy of President Hoover, who necessarily has to consider both Great Lakes and Mississippi projects, rather than sectional standpoint. The two sectional groups might profitably take the same view, pooling their influence instead of hindering each other.

Unfortunately bitterness has been created by Chicago's water diversion from the Great Lakes, and the quarrel has crept into waterway discussion. This obstacle to co-operation is unreal. Chicago's sanitary problems and the country's transportation problems are two different things. Chicago is now building a sanitary system to take care of her sewage as other lake cities do, and according to army engineers the amount of water required for navigation from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi need not lower lake levels at all.

FACIAL FINISH

The American Association of Cosmeticians has decided that "sun tan" is unsightly. It is, usually, looking they say, and makes sure have less tenacious olden. They don't want to interfere with the gradiant, transparent complexions of the young skin. So they are going in for "natural flesh tones," including strawberry tints.

That's all right, if they will only trust a little to nature to put on those natural tones, instead of using new atrocities of powder, paint and plaster. A natural strawberries-and-cream effect is admirable. Strawberries-and-cream smeared on is not so good: That is, to the casual onlooker. Maybe the girls themselves feel differently about it.

But about that "sun tan" again. It was "muddy," apparently, because the cosmetics used to manufacture it were muddy. We hope there isn't any ban placed on the sun itself by the cosmeticians. Nature, we timidly suggest, is something of a cosmetician, and knows how to produce on youthful faces a tan that hasn't any suggestion of mud in it.

CORRESPONDENCE FRENCH

There was a young girl from Parcer
Who when asked if she spoke French said, "Oui;"
But I doubt if she could
For she never understood
The French that was spoken by me.

Strange, but I've noticed that same peculiarity about the French people. They don't seem to understand their own language. I've taken it through correspondence school course in French and speak it so that realizes that I have mastered the language.' And as for the French people, they talk too fast and don't pronounce the words right. I should think they would take a correspondence course too like justin utt, which means me in plain English.

William Haines in his first all-talking picture and Clarence Brown, director of his first comedy, join their talents in "Navy Blues," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hilarious romance of the navy which is now playing at the Idaho theatre. It is a love story with the comedy and adventure of the navy as a background, and much of it is actually filmed on a destroyer; Karl Dane, Wade Boteler, J. C. Nugent, Edythe Chapman, Gertrude Sutton and others of note are in the cast.

Three Vitaphone vaudeville acts and the latest Paramount News are the added features to this program which runs today and tomorrow only.

"Charming Sinners," the W. Somerset Maugham drama, which, as an all-talking picture featuring Ruth Chatterton, Clive Brooks, Mary Nolan, Wm. Powell, Laura Hope Crews and Montague Love, will show at the Idaho theatre, starting Friday for two days, presents the problem of a woman who knows her husband is flirting with her best friend and who chooses to ignore the situation until she is forced to recognize it in a startling climax. The solution is the highspot of this scintillating comedy-drama.

"CITY STUFF"

It's heaps of fun, this city stuff, I ain't denyin an; and it aint a always men like me as has the chanst to go.
For to be a doin' fancy things like we 'uns read in books; and a meetin' up with females that's plumb heavy on the looks. With a bein' hailed as "Mister." Why he's right delightful quaint;" though his ways is quite at-ro-clous, and he's allus doin' aint. What with bein' woke each mornin' with "Your bawth is ready Sir," stead of Chinook in Charlie's "Hey, 'tan them quilts an' stir." What with dressin' up for dinner and a wearin' store bought duds; and a bein' downright in-timate with all them high-toned bloods. And a gettin' for an invite like one just come to me. "We are wishin' for your presence at a bang up social tea." It's lots of fun, this city stuff. I ain denyin' that;
but there's other things I'm wishin' for, this stuff's sone kinda flat. For I'm scein plumb familiar like a cabin, and the mine, and I'm smellin' mighty strongly of the odor, and it's pine. There's a meadow near the cabin, and on the edge a spring is sot; and it's finer tastin' liquid than them fancy drinks I got. There's rock flat off the clearin' where the chipmunks play about, and a little creek a runnin' that's just chock ablock with trout. There's a right smart spankin' fire that's a roarin' heaven high; there's a soothin' sort of whisper in the wind that pases
by. So I reckn I'll be packin' up the trail 'fore very long. This city stuff is alright for them that's to it born. And I'll be to where I'm sheddin' of these fancy city clothes;
where there aint no table manners and any talkin goes. It's shore been fine, this city stuff, and mighty nice to see; but them as wants kin have it, it aint the stuff for me.

Canadian Scottish War Vet Badly Wounded, Builds Happy Home After All

PRIVATE LOUGHNAN'S story is a simple one, after all. He was one of those Canadian Scottish heroes who, at that fateful dawn of the first day of the war, counter-attacked in the beginning of the second battle of Ypres after being thoroughly gassed. Severely wounded in the abdomen, he lived two days on morphine and water, and ended up in Canada after the war with a bride who believed in him and a digestive apparatus that just naturally would not work—he literally was shot to pieces." What could he do?

His great problem was to discover a safe, natural, gentle way to keep his system clean. He knew that no ordinary laxative could be used. He was enduring intense cramps, fainting spells, all manner pain. "Dizzy one of these attacks," he writes, "a friend advised me to try Nujol because of its gentle, harmless, yet certain action. His explanation of Nujol's absorbing and cleansing process sounded like good common sense, so my wife got a bottle for me at once. That was thirteen years ago, and I don't know how many bottles of Nujol I have used since then, but I do know I probably owe my life to it." Here's one man's story!

Remember, Nujol is not a medicine. It is not a drug. It does not upset the delicate chemistry of digestion. It simply lubricates the intestinal tract, helping your body the lubrication it needs, like any other machine. Tasteless and colorless as pure sparkling water, Nujol softens your body clean of the waste poisons so you will feel bright, energetic, happy, full of vigor and pep.

So many millions of people have put happiness into their lives this easy way—why don't you? It costs but a few cents and it makes you feel like a million dollars. Get a bottle today at any drug store. You too can be well and happy. Prove it yourself!

FAIRY FEATHERS

"It's Mother Goose plucking her geese in the sky;
Those are soft fairy feathers fluttering by."

I thought they were snowflakes, but it must be true,
For that's what I read in my fairy-book new.

MOTHER GOOSE PLUCK-ED HER GEESE

Isobel had been reading this story in her book of fairy stories she had received at Christmas time while the snowflakes were falling outside.

"Once upon a time Mother Goose penned up her geese on a great dark cloud in the sky in order to pluck their feathers to make soft beds and pillows for all the Mother Goose children.

"Boy Blue and Little Bo-Peep need a nice feather coverlid,' said Mother Goose, 'and Little Miss Muffet left her feather cushion on a tuffet, and can't find it anywhere. The Old-Woman-Who-Lives-in-a-Shoe is all out of pillows for her big family while Jack Horner has been asking me all year for a warm feather bed.'

"Just as Mother Goose had finished packing her feathers and was beginning to fill the pillows with soft feathers, mischievous North Wind swept in and with his breath blew all the feathers off the dark cloud. Away they floated through the air and down, down towards the earth.

"What shall I do?' cried Mother Goose. 'Now I won't be able to make my little people warm and comfortable.'

"'Oh, yes you will,' came the voice of the Fairy Snow-White. 'I will help you. If you will let me have the feathers to give joy to the earth children for a little while, I will see that you get them all safely back again.'

"'All right,' replied Mother Goose, 'that will be fine.'

"So Fairy Snow-White floated the feathers into starry snowflakes to enchant the children on earth, and then with her magic wand made the flakes melt away to reappear on Mother Goose's dark cloud.

"'Good!' shouted Mother Goose as she began making pillows and feather beds. 'Now Mistress Quite Contrary can have the cushion I promised her.'

"Well," said Isobel, "I don't mind having the snow melt now after reading that story, but I think it was nice we had the feathers for a while anyway."

IDAHO CARS SHOW REGISTRATION DATA

Secretary of State Sends Holder For Information With 1930 License Plates

BOISE, Jan. 28 (Special to The News)—For the first time in the history of automobile registration in Idaho automobilists are being furnished next year with paraphanalia for carrying the registration information in the car. Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state, is sending to each owner whose car is registered in 1930 a light, aluminum frame which has a non-breakable, transparent glass. The registration information is inserted behind the glass for preservation. This frame and the information it contains, Mr. Lukens points out, is required by law to be kept in the car at all times; preferably affixed to the interior at some point where it can be readily seen.

The secretary has also prepared for distribution a digest of the motor vehicle laws. A copy of this publication is included with each registration sent out by the office. Each law affecting motorists is reduced to a short form readily understandable and quickly read.

Motorists' Protection

Both of these new features are for the protection of the motorist. With the digest of laws he is able quickly to acquaint himself with the major provisions governing the operation and regulation of motor vehicles. The visible posting of the registration information is also a protection to the motorist, particularly should his car be stolen, because the operator of a stolen vehicle who is unable to show these registration notices when they are asked for might have difficulty explaining how he came into possession of the car.

Mr. Lukens calls attention of the motorist to the fact that the use of 1929 license plates after February 1 is unlawful and urges that new plates be obtained before that date. Reports indicate, he said, that less than one-third of Idaho's cars are registered.

The area of the British Empire is 13,250,000 square miles.

Jerusalem is 2500 feet above sea level.

Still More Millions Treat Colds Direct

Round-About Method of "Dosing" Gives Way to Modern Vaporizing Salve

More and more people each year are giving up the slow, indirect way of treating colds by "dosing" with internal medicines, and are adopting the modern direct treatment—Vicks VapoRub.

Vicks goes direct to the affected parts and checks the cold in two ways—its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages; at the same time it acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster, "drawing out" tightness and soreness.

Vicks is especially appreciated by mothers because it is just rubbed on, and therefore, cannot upset children's delicate stomachs as "dosing" is so apt to do. Today the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

To keep pace with the ever-growing demand, the famous slogan, "17 Million Jars Used Yearly," was raised to "21 Million" a short time ago. This figure too, has been outgrown, as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.—Adv.

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Strong selling resistance developed in the stock market today when efforts were made to extend the recent recovery, and prices generally closed lower. The decline was not associated with any development in the day's news and was in the nature of a technical correction of a temporarily overbought position. Operators for the advance succeeded in pushing up a number of issues, some of the gains in which ran from 2 to 6 points. Trading showed a moderate decline in volume, the day's sales falling just short of 3,000,000 shares.

Wall street was treated to a number of conflicting market developments during the day. Overnight came the weekly federal reserve condition report showing a further shrinkage of $120,000,000 in security loans by reporting member banks, the total of which is still over $7,000,000,000. Around mid-day came President Hoover's statement of a further gain in employment figures.

After the close of the market, the United States Steel corporation issued its report showing earnings of $21.18 a share for 1929, including a year-end credit adjustment of $9,972,351, without which the earnings would have been $19 a share. Wall street estimates had ranged from $18 to $19 a share.

Action Not Surprising

The reaction in today's market caused little surprise in view of the sharp run-up in prices during the last 10 days. In fact, several of the large commission houses, while maintaining a bullish attitude on the future outlook, urged their customers to take trading profits in speculative stocks, and the market was forced to absorb a large volume of these realizing sales. In addition, there were frequent outbursts of "bear" selling but they failed to make much headway.

Auburn Auto Drops

Auburn Auto fell 7 points and rallied 1½, American Tobacco, B, A. M. Byers, Lackawanna, General Electric, Republic Iron and Steel, United Cigars Stores preferred, United States Industrial Alcohol closed 1 to 5 points lower. Losses of 2 points or more were quite common, the list including American Telephone, International Telephone, Radio Corporation and Foreign Power, Standard Gas and Electric, and Union Pacific. United States Steel common closed with a net decline of 1, at 177 after having touched 177-¾.

A sharp break in Spanish pesetas, based on reports that Premier Rivera had resigned, was the only development of consequence in the foreign exchange market.

Revolutionary tendencies predominated in the commodity markets. Wheat and corn closed unchanged to ¾c lower. Raw sugar futures closed unchanged to 2 points lower.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)— Raw sugar was quiet locally today with no sales reported. It was announced in cables from Cuba that the single selling agency is willing to sell sugar for the next 30 days at 2c cost and freight to U. S. ports, equal to $3.77 delivered. The only sale reported was 17,500 bags of Philippines for February arrival on an outport refiner at $3.61 delivered.

Early dealings in raw futures were nearly all recovered in the late afternoon and final prices were net unchanged to 2 points lower. The early weakness which carried prices 4 to 5 points below Saturday's finals was due to liquidation and some scattered local selling, influenced by the easier ruling of the London market.

Trading was not very active and operations were confined to limit fresh commitments and await the effects of the announcement by the single selling agency in Cuba. Approximate sales were 32,350 tons; March closed $1.80, May $1.89, July $1.98, September $2.07, December $2.14, January $2.14.

There was no change in refined, and what little new business was in evidence was supplied through second hands at around $5.15 for fine granulated.

EARNINGS

UNITED STATES STEEL

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United States Steel corporation, the country's largest industrial organization, today reported record peacetime profits of $107,531,349 for 1929.

This figure, which includes a special year-end credit adjustment of $9,972,351, is equal to $21.18 a share on the common stock against $12.50 a share on a smaller capitalization in 1928. Without the special credit, the 1929 earnings are $19.96.

Profit in 1928 was $114,173,775.

Two other steel companies also made public their 1929 figures. Inland Steel's net profit was $11,713,274, or $9.76 a share, against $9,334,297, or $7.61 a share in 1928. Directors of the company placed the stock on a $4 annual dividend basis, declaring a quarterly payment of $1 a share. The yearly rate has been $3.50.

Jones and Laughlin Steel company reported net income of $20,848,749 for 1929, equal to $29.04 a share, compared with $15,568,687 or $19.09 a share in the previous year.

United States Steel's net earnings for the fourth quarter of 1929—the period of the stock market break—were $59,365,334. This compared with $70,141,113 for the September 30 period and $33,186,879 in the last three months of 1928. Net profit for the last quarter was $39,972,358 against $51,757,350 in the previous three months and $30,730,899 for the corresponding interval of 1928.

WOOLWORTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Net profits of the F. W. Woolworth company for 1929 amounted to $35,604,525, equal to $2.68 a share on the 9,750,000 $10 par shares, compared with $25,385,600, or $9.07 a share on 3,000,000 $25 par shares.

The number of stores in operation at the end of 1929 totaled 1,835, as against 1,725 at the end of 1928.

The company's balance sheet showed current assets of $51,502,638 and current liabilities of $3,135,117, leaving a working capital of $48,367,521 at the end of 1929, against $42,645,743.

Break in Rye Market Tends to Unsettle Other Values But Rallies Offset Losses

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
(Associated Press Market Editor)

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Jolts that resulted largely from a 4-cents-a-bushel break in the rye market unsettled all grain values today, but late rallies counterbalanced most of the losses. Heavy selling was witnessed especially in the rye market, after circulation of reports that not within memory has there been such a distracted state of affairs in the rye market of Germany as prevails at present owing to huge surplus stocks of rye both in Germany and Poland. Narrowing of wheat price spread between Winnipeg and Chicago was also a special disturbing influence, as tending to give Canada preference in wheat export dealings, compared with the United States.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were irregular, at ¾c a bushel below yesterday's finish to ¼c over. Rye closed ¼c to 1c down, corn ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and oats showing ⅛c to ¾c decline, with provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 15c.

Dramatic Incident

A dramatic incident of the break in rye values was the fact that a leading speculator in rye went personally into the rye pit here, and conducted selling operations on a broad scale. Commission houses were also heavy sellers and before the flurry was ended the rye market had dropped to a new low price record for the season. Meanwhile the twin bread grain, wheat, tumbled to below any recent bottom level, and oats as well as rye outdid the season's bottom price record.

Corn owed part of its weakness to larger receipts of corn here and to auspicious weather for promoting the crop movement. Oats were influenced by reports of good sized country marketings.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

"LOVE SHY"

by

Barbara Webb

They had decided to be married very quietly Thursday morning, Jimmy having proposed to take the rest of the week from his work for a honeymoon. They planned to go at once to their apartment in accordance with Janet's wishes and to leave for Idaho Friday night to spend the week-end with Mildred and John Westlake.

"I only wish sometimes that mother and father were going with us when we go to the church," Janet said.

"Have them if you wish, sweet," said Jimmy, "only I just thought it might be nice if you and I got this wedding business all over by ourselves."

"I suppose so," Janet sighed, "especially since your father can't come. But you know, Jimmy, while I'm perfectly happy and all that, I do sort of wish sometimes that we were going to have a real wedding, veils and all. I guess every girl does."

"Well, the next time we get married," said Jimmy, "we'll have a big wedding with all the trimmings, but this time I just want you all to yourself, unless you object too much—do you?"

"I wouldn't object to anything you wanted," answered Janet, her mouth full of pins, "but it did surprise me that mother took it so quietly. I'm sure if I ever have a daughter I'll want to be there when she's married."

"Of course you will, and I'll want to look the man over very carefully that your daughter marries, she can't throw herself away on a spoon garden hand—take those pins out of your mouth, I want to kiss you."

Janet obeyed and was properly rewarded for her obedience.

"Are you always going to do what I tell you to?" Jimmy demanded.

"Whenever it's as easy as that," she retorted.

Monday Jimmy came and painted the furniture, painting also a large portion of himself and requiring much effort with a bottle of turpentine before Janet could get him clean again.

"You're a sight, Jimmy," she said. "I'll bet you'll be wearing green paint on your face when we go to be married Thursday."

"Married in green, ashamed to be seen," chanted Jimmy, waiving a paint brush."

They were like two happy children and Jimmy felt sometimes that he could not bear such happiness as they knew together in these last days before their marriage.

Wednesday they went to get their marriage license, giggling as all happy young couples do over the questions they had to answer.

"Tell me, Janet," Jimmy said very solemnly as they came down the steps from the Courthouse, "don't you ever have fits?"

"Fits of stubbornness, but not fits of foolishness like a certain young man I know," said Janet saucily.

She sent Jimmy home early that night and called her mother into her room to see her wedding outfit. It lay neatly spread out on her bed, a trim grey-green suit, a tailored blouse, smart brown shoes, and a violet-colored hat with a wreath of pansies around the brim.

"Jimmy says the hat is only suitable for a widow," Janet said dreamily, "but I don't care, it looks nice on me, and it really goes awfully well with my suit, don't you think?"

"It's a very nice outfit," Mrs. Lane agreed, "and Janet, your father sent word from a visit at the home of his father in Greenwich, New York.

A party of high school students from Filer, out for a sleigh ride Sunday evening, January 19, were unable to get back home on account of drifted snow, and spent the night at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hoon.

lifted out a lovely silver fox fur and placed it around her shoulders. "Oh Mother, or Daddy, it's just wonderful. I wanted a fur and I knew I couldn't have one. Oh, you darlings, you shouldn't have done this—but I love it just the same."

"I guess we can give our only daughter a nice present if we want to when she's going to be married," Mrs. Lane said, smiling a little.

Mr. Lane cleared his throat, "It's really very becoming, don't you think, Marie?"

Janet ran to the mirror. The beautifully silvered fur made a soft frame for her face and Janet knew it would set her suit off to perfection.

"Jimmy said he was going to send me orchids and sweet peas for my wedding bouquet, won't they look lovely mashed into fur? Oh, you're just too good to me," and she hugged them both until they were breathless.

Thursday morning dawned clear and fine and sunny. There was a tang of autumn in the air when Janet ran to close her window.

"In two hours Jimmy will be here," she sang under her breath. "In three hours I'll be Mrs. James Warren, Jr. Oh, how funny it all is."

She was ready when Jimmy came at half-past 9 and Jimmy's eyes told her how lovely she was. From the crown of her hat to the tips of her trim little shoes she was what Jimmy wanted his bride to be. She kissed her father and mother goodby, trying to choke back the lumps in her throat as she did so. It would never do to have a red nose at the church where they were to be married.

"Hired a cab for the day," Jimmy said nonchalantly, pointing to a very shiny new roadster parked at the curb.

"That's nice," said Janet absently. But when they had driven through the city streets for half an hour she looked up at him wonderingly. "Wherever are you going, Jimmy? This isn't the way to the church."

FERTILIZERS WILL NOT TAKE PLACE OF CAPABLE FARMING

University Soil Technologist Answers Queries of Filer Farmer; Sounds Warning Against "Gold Bricking"

"The Twin Falls region has no use for lime in any of its soils," O. R. McDole, Idaho college of agriculture soil technologist, declared in a letter replying to questions by George R. Johnson, Filer, farmer, regarding the lime and fertilizer situation.

"We have put out publicity to this effect," Mr. McDole added, "and are adding more from time to time to prevent the farmers from being 'gold bricked.'"

Trading Dollars

"In regard to the sizlet fertilizers," the letter continues, "we have obtained positive results from the use of phosphorus, potash and gypsum in the Twin Falls tract when applied to alfalfa. The response of different pieces of land to these materials varies, and we are unable as a result of our experiments, to make a recommendation that will fit every farmer. The phosphates are the first to give a profitable response. Sulphur in the form of gypsum does aid and the addition of potash to an application of phosphate increases the yield in some cases and in others it has no effect. You can see from this variation in results obtained on different farms that any one making a recommendation for the county must necessitate that these materials be tried out by the farmers themselves. Furthermore, the difference in production by the addition of any of these materials to alfalfa, will not be sufficient to be observed in the field. It will require that treated and untreated areas of the same size be weighed and the resulting differences compiled. From our experience we have found that at the price that alfalfa hay is selling that in most cases the farmers were simply trading dollars for fertilizers. In some cases it was profitable.

Tough for Alfalfa

"I am familiar with the alfalfa situation and know of the reports the farmers are making regarding decrease in yields of hay. When I observe the manner in which alfalfa is handled in this state, I am inclined to say that I do not blame the alfalfa crop for not holding up. At a meeting I held last week in Burley, I found that about 25 per cent of the farmers are pasturing their alfalfa in the spring and that practically 100 per cent of them pasture heavier in the fall. The fall pasturage is especially to be condemned as it prevents the storage of plant food in the roots of the plant, for after taking off the last crop it causes the plant to go into the winter in a somewhat weakened condition. This also retards the start in the spring and results in a gradual thinning of the stand. In many cases it is a wonder that they are able to obtain the yield they still get while handling alfalfa in this manner.

Deeper Tillage Needed

"There are also some physical conditions connected with the handling of their soils that need attention. I am convinced that deeper tillage is needed over much of the Twin Falls tract; that the compact layers which are accumulated retard the absorption of irrigation water and that many are not getting their fields soaked as they think. In other words I believe that it is possible to increase our yields of alfalfa by using good farming methods. While fertilizers may be of benefit and should be used if they increase profit, we must not neglect the fundamentals of tillage and the handling of the crop."

LEGION AND AUXILIARY EMPHASIZ HOSPITALITY

Twin Falls American Legion post and Auxiliary, arranging for entertainment of members and all persons eligible for membership in either organization at a card party and dance in Elks hall this evening, have put stress on a number of novel methods for promoting acquaintanceship among guests and making the affair thoroughly enjoyable for everyone. Responsibility for this phase of the entertainment has been delegated especially to a big committee composed of members of both organizations, and the committee plans have been worked out in a number of meetings.

Arrangements for the event neared completion last evening when an appropriate scheme of decoration of the hall was worked out by Wilton Peck and a number of assistants.

Invitations have been sent out to known members and eligibles, but both organizations have joined in an urgent invitation to all others who may have been overlooked. They also are invited and urged to attend.

FATHER WANTS DIVORCE AND CUSTODY OF CHILD

On grounds of alleged desertion, James P. Medley has instituted suit in district court here for divorce from Silvia Medley to whom he was married in Burley on January 30, 1928. On the following November 15, Medley asserts in his complaint his wife took their month-old baby boy and went to Canada to visit her parents, and has consistently refused to return. Medley asks for divorce from his wife and for a court order awarding custody of the baby to him. He is represented in the divorce action by J. P. Kosharek, Twin Falls, attorney.

WIDOW OF ACCIDENT VICTIM FILES CLAIM

Mrs. George W. Perrine Sues Drivers of Two Motor Cars For Sum of $35,000

Mrs. Evelyn Perrine, widow and administratrix of the estate of George W. Perrine, 28, killed in an automobile collision here last September 17, yesterday instituted suit in district court here for $35,000 damages from Roy E. Wells, Declo, and Casey-Parker company, Twin Falls.

Mr. Perrine, the complaint asserts, was riding at the special instance and request of the Casey-Parker company in a truck that was struck and overturned at the intersection of Second avenue and Second street south by a car that Wells is alleged to have been driving negligently. Mr. Perrine was crushed under the truck and died within a few hours.

According to the complaint he was engaged in farming and was the sole support of his family consisting of, his widow and two daughters, Barbara Nelle, 16 months, and Wilma Margaret, born after his death, on December 15 last.

Mrs. Perrine is represented in this action by Frank L. Stephan and E. L. Ashton, Twin Falls, attorneys.

POLICE CHIEF TELLS OF STREETS' DANGERS

An automobile travelling 20 miles an hour moves 29.34 feet per second, and, if equipped with four-wheel brakes, can be brought to a halt in 21 feet, while if equipped with two-wheel brakes it will travel an average of 39 feet after the brakes are applied, Ralph E. Leighton, Twin Falls police chief, asserted in a talk on safety at a meeting of the Bickel Parent-Teacher association in the Bickel school auditorium yesterday afternoon. The police chief was emphasizing dangers surrounding children at play in the streets.

During the session, W. B. Smith, superintendent of Twin Falls schools, discussed briefly the plan for building an addition to the high school building for which approval for a $20,000 bond issue is sought at an election of February 7, and extended the high school student body's invitation to visit the high school and become better acquainted with the proposed improvement program.

RESCUED TOT HAS EVEN CHANCE FOR RECOVERY

Two-year-old Lloyd Wilson, rescued from fire at the cost of the life of his half-sister, Clara Rankin, 14, last Saturday, had an even chance for recovery, it was stated at the county hospital here last evening.

The baby was severally burned about the face, hands and side in flames that destroyed the E. H. Wilson farm home, six miles southwest of Hazelton. It was believed also that his lungs had been frozen when his sister rolled him in the snow to extinguish his burning clothing.

Clara Rankin died in the hospital here early Sunday morning. Arrangements for funeral services for her have been held in abeyance until it could be determined whether the baby would recover.

CHERRY ORCHARDS PAY LARGE PROFITS

Four Trees Net $8.75 Each an Equivalent of $875 For Acre Stand of 100

Enormous profits were realized on cherries in the Twin Falls section last year, according to reports of growers. One of the heaviest yields reported was from four trees owned by E. L. Ashton, which yielded a total of 1000 pounds of cherries which sold for 5 cents a pound. It cost 1¢ cent a pound for picking, so that the net value of the crop was $35, or $8.75 a tree. By reason of a delay in delivery a small part of the crop did not get to market, but the figures given represent actual values if all had been delivered, Mr. Ashton states.

The Ashton trees were old and well developed and the results were above the average. Mr. Ashton says that 100 trees to the orchard are not unusual and if fully developed as his were the profits would have been $875 per acre.

Trees on the W. O. Smith farm averaged $7 apiece gross, and on the Charles E. Brueggemann place, $8 each, gross. The price last year was 1 cent a pound greater than in 1928, due, it is believed, to the fact that two cherry packing plants with modern machinery, the Intermountain Produce company and the H. W. Jacobs company, started and operated here during the season.

TWIN FALLS MAN PATENTS MACHINE

H. T. Blake Invents Cleaner to Take Rough Elements And Dirt Out of Beans

H. T. Blake, Twin Falls, formerly manager of the Southern Idaho Bean Growers' association and former Idaho state inspector of potatoes in Twin Falls and Cassia counties, has invented and received a patent on a new machine for the cleaning of beans and peas, which works in connection with machines for similar purpose now in operation, removing all dirt, small stones, split beans, shriveled beans and other rough elements which pass through the regular cleaning machines. Mr. Blake has worked two years in perfecting the invention.

It can be attached to anyone of the three machines now in use and operated in connection with them, Mr. Blake states that experiments show that it will reduce handpicking more than 50 per cent as it removes practically everything except discolored beans which are not shriveled.

The machine is 5 by 12 feet in dimensions and stands about four feet high though it can be raised to greater elevation if necessary. The removal of foreign substances is secured through the operation of a series of rubber belts, running in duplicates which collapse on coming in contact with matter having a rough surface, holding it and depositing it in one receptacle while the smooth peas or beans all go into another.

In addition to holding rough substances most of the green nightshade found in some fields is removed, although this is not done as completely as the removal of rough matter. The machine is especially effective in cleaning Great Northern beans which are more elongated than the average navy bean. A device to remove rough substances from beans has been previously in operation and has worked somewhat effectively with round beans Mr. Blake said, but failed to operate successfully with the Great Northern variety.

TWIN FALLS STUDENTS PROMINENT IN DRAMA

A number of Twin Falls students at the University of Idaho, southern branch, Pocatello, had prominent parts in the presentation of Frank Molnar's "Lillion," by the University Theatre Players at Pocatello last Friday evening.

"Starting with a rollicking prologue which reminds one of the circus and then 'traveling rapidly through seven swift scenes,' said a reviewer in a Pocatello newspaper, 'the Hungarian play comes to an unique climax with the closing scene in which the victims are taken to the next world and urged to repent of their transgressions committed while on earth.'

Lloyd Sullivan, son of Mrs. L. B. Sullivan, Twin Falls, was the leading character, and, according to the reviewer, he played the part of the merry-go-round barker in a very unusual style and did his stuff splendidly to the finish.

Miss Nancy Kelly, Twin Falls, took the part of Mrs. Muskat and "was a perfect tartar and a real scold when it came to handling this part."

Elvin Kelly as Fiscur, was "a very clever crook and his make-up was fitting such a character."

Thomas Robertson was business manager for the production.
