NEW JERSEY SOLON FORESEES FAILURE OF RUM LAW FOES

Franklin W. Fort Declares Economic Pressure Destines Duration of Prohibition Under Present Act

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—Representative Franklin W. Fort, New Jersey, declared in the crowded chamber of the house today that economic pressure would never permit repeal of prohibition but that the law itself contained the American people by permitting the brewing of beer and making of light wines in the home.

Both the White House and the New Jersey representative said later that President Hoover had not the slightest information as to the contents of the speech made by his close friend. Fort said in a statement that he had spoken only his own convictions.

The New Jersey member, who only recently resigned as secretary of the Republican national committee, denounced the "sincere friends of temperance," who, he said, "had done the cause of prohibition its greatest injury by insisting that the use of alcohol since the Eighteenth amendment had become immoral."

Benefit Outweighs Harm

Immediately after he had asserted that the benefits of prohibition had outweighed the harms wrought by liquor trafficking by bringing more happiness in the homes, the "wet" prepared for a rebuttal. Representatives Lehlbach, another Republican from New Jersey, obtained permission to answer his colleague tomorrow.

In the meantime, the house expenditures committee was recalled to meet tomorrow to reconsider the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition enforcement unit from the treasury to the justice department, as recommended by President Hoover and his law enforcement commission.

The amendment adopted by the committee to authorize the attorney general to draft regulations under which the secretary of the treasury would issue industrial alcohol permits has met serious opposition among members of the house. A substitute provision has been drafted by Chairman Williamson of the committee. This would make the drafting of the regulations a joint responsibility of the cabinet officers, but would leave the administration of the prohibition bureau entirely under the justice department.

Borah Produces Record

Another development in the prohibition controversy on capitol hill occurred on the senate side. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, a "dry" leader, was advised by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran that he had ordered John F. J. Herbert, chief administrator for Montana and Idaho, to report here for investigation of charges reported against him.

Frank S. Flynn, who is connected with the legal department of the prohibition unit, has signified Senator Borah with a record alleging irregularities by Herbert.

GYPSIES LAY ROYAL PRINCESS IN GRAVE

Rosa Nichols, Victim of Typhoid, Goes to Last Rest Without Formal Funeral

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Nomadic life of a royal gypsy was ended here today and sorrowing kin and followers who yesterday carried their 15-year-old princess, Rose Nichols to the grave with mystic rites retired to secrecy and mourning.

Despite efforts of her tribe to give her a funeral such as gypsy tradition decrees the law imposed stern requisitions, and only her relatives and intimates saw the final rites.

The girl died at a San Pedro, California hospital from typhoid fever and health officials refused to permit the gypsies to hold a formal funeral with all the tribe in attendance because of the danger of contagion.

Wailing Chants

From the cemetery plot, however, some saw the burial. They heard strange, wailing chants and dirge conas passed down from the ancient Romany tribes. Pans with fire leaping out of them were passed over the grave as the girl's body was lowered to its resting place.

While the grave was covered, fire and water, the potent magic of olden times, were thrown on the new turned earth. Then crossing themselves devoutly, members of the girl's family and friends walked silently away.

The girl's mother, Queen Amelia, came to San Pedro this winter and sent her daughter to the public schools. The girl contracted the fever and was removed to the hospital where she died a few days later. She has been in Argentina,

CIGARETTE SMOKING IN UNITED STATES SHOWS INCREASE DURING YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—An increase in cigaret smoking and a decrease in cigar smoking and the use of manufactured tobacco and snuff were shown today in figures issued by the internal revenue bureau for the 1929 calendar year, in which tobacco taxes added $449,058,263 to government revenues.

Taxes on cigarets amounted to $357,205,753 an increase of $30,427,418 over the previous year, although the increase in all tobacco taxes for the 12 months was only $36,042,865 due to the decrease in the other collections. Cigars returned a total of $22,338,139 to the government last year as compared with $22,816,533 the previous year, and the manufactured tobacco and snuff tax in 1929 amounted to $68,602,471 as compared with $69,140,185 the previous year.

STUDENT STRIKE AT MADRID CONCLUDES

Latest Spanish Government Caps First Day's Work by Settling of Youth Uprising

MADRID, Jan. 31 (AP)—The new Spanish government under General Damaso Berenguer capped its first day's work today by settling the student university strike—the strike which gave the first inkling of the crisis which resulted in the downfall of Primo de Rivera.

The Duke of Alba, new minister of education, was given credit for the settlement. He adopted a conciliatory policy and ordered prison authorities to release all student leaders who had been detained by dictatorship. He also conferred with the university officials and announced that classes would be resumed early next week in the National university of Madrid.

The new government also decided to pardon Antonio Maria Sbert, a student leader who was long the storm center of the differences between Primo and the university men. Sbert led the Madrid student demonstration against the dictatorship in the spring of 1929. He was barred from all universities in Spain and banished to Mallorca by government decree in April last year.

The students ever since have been demanding withdrawal of this punishment—and the announcement that the new government would pardon Sbert was hailed with satisfaction in student circles.

Jose Lopez Rey, president of the student federation, and Miguel Mistral Martinez, one of the leaders of the strike who was imprisoned a week ago, were among those who were freed today. They said they and their classmates were anxious to get back to their studies. A similar return to classes is expected in other institutions throughout the country where strikes were called in sympathy with the Madrid walkout.

MOTOR KILLS TWO SUGAR CITY BOYS

St. Anthony Man Attempts To Pass Machine And Strikes Lads Going Home

SUGAR CITY, Idaho, Jan. 31 (AP)—Robert Peterson, 9, and Brent Peterson, 5, sons of J. R. Peterson, superintendent of the Sugar City plant of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, were killed tonight when struck by an automobile on the outskirts of this city.

The two boys were walking along the road toward their home on the north side of the city when an automobile driven by [illegible] Anthony, turned out to pass another car and struck them. Robert Peterson was killed instantly, his head being crushed, and his younger brother died a few minutes later of a broken back.

Stanford picked up the boys and rushed them to a doctor. He was released to appear at an inquest scheduled for tomorrow. He said ice on the windshield hampered his vision of the road ahead.

GAS TAX RECEIPTS FOR IDAHO MOUNT IN 1929

BOISE, Jan. 31 (AP)—An increase of $400,000 in gasoline tax receipts in 1929 over 1928 was shown today in a report of the bureau of motor fuels.

Collections for the year ending December 31, 1929, were $4,220,866, compared with $3,800,000 for 1928.

As an offset, however, it was shown that the refunds of taxes collected on gasoline used other than on the highways climbed from $122,042 in 1928 to $250,331 in 1929. The latter figure included some claims filed in 1928.

Of the total collected this year $3695 went in the aeronautics fund which was created by the last legislature to finance establishment of

TWO MINERS DIE IN NORTH IDAHO

Three Workmen Lose Lives In Coeur d'Alene Mining District in 24-Hour Period

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two miners were killed in a rock blast here today, making three casualties in the Coeur d'Alene mines within 24 hours.

John Skalin, 25, and Herman Herberg, 29, both of Libby, Montana, were preparing to set off powder charges on property of the Idaho Metals Mining company at Leonia, 25 miles from here, when the blast exploded prematurely and killed the men.

George Wilson, another miner, was waiting at the entrance to the 250-foot bore of the mine, down which the other two had gone to prepare the charges. With the roaring detonation, fragments of rock were thrown out of the entrance, one knocking Wilson down.

As it was early in the day, no one was near to drink aid. When Wilson recovered consciousness, he walked to Leonia and brought the day crew and the coroner.

Late yesterday, Joseph Krohn, 38, was crushed to death beneath 50 tons of muck when run down upon him at the Crescent mine near Wallace.

ROAD PLAN WINS FAVOR

BOISE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Governor H. C. Baldridge was today assured the support of a group of Weiser business and professional men, of all Lemhi county and of the Grand View Chamber of Commerce, in his proposed "speeded-up" highway program.

Expressions of approval of the plan were mailed and wired to the governor along with expressions of confidence.

Great Umpire, Calls Last Strike And Joe Cantillon Disappears From Diamond

"Grand Old Man" In Last Hours Displays Spirit and Courage Characteristic of More Than One-half Century of Service-to-Baseball

(By The Associated Press)

HICKMAN, Ky., Jan. 31—"Pongo Joe" Cantillon, grand old man of baseball," died at his home here today.

High on a bluff overlooking the Mississippi river that he loved, "Pongo Joe" for days had been waging a valiant fight against paralysis—a fight full of the spirit and the courage he had displayed on the diamond for 50 years.

When the Great Umpire called the final strike today, Joe's last thoughts in his last moments of consciousness were for his friends as they had been through much of his 69 years of life.

"Don't worry," he would say. "Don't call my brother. I will be all right."

Cantillon's passing removed one of the most picturesque figures in the baseball world. Since he started his career as a hobo boy on the streets of Ville, Wisconsin, club in 1876, "Pongo Joe" had served as manager, umpire, player and scout in a dozen leagues, had discovered some of the outstanding players of the game and was known from coast to coast as one of the "canniest heads" the game ever had produced.

Studies Game as Bat Boy

While serving as bat boy at Janesville, Joe studied the game. He studied the styles of the outstanding players. Then he practiced. When his chance came he was ready, and he started as a player with Green Bay of the old Wisconsin league.

Cantillon served as a player for several years, when his keen judgment and quick decisions attracted the attentions of club owners. Then he became a manager, first at Burlington, Iowa, and then in succession at Dubuque, Iowa; Martinette, Wisconsin; Rockford, Illinois; Oakland, California, and Dayton, Ohio.

Then he umpired in the American league and later managed the Washington Senators, was manager of the Minneapolis and the Little Rock clubs and in 1923, again scouted for the White Sox, relinquishing this position to serve as supervisor of umpires in the American association, a position which he held at his death.

BALL PLAYERS OF PAST AND PRESENT SHED TEARS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Diehard baseball players, past and present, all over the United States who will shed a tear for Joe Cantillon, in his years as a manager in the major and minor leagues, the veteran "Pongo Joe" came in contact with hundreds of players and they left him with a greater knowledge than they had before they knew him.

Baseball was to a degree that was almost uncanny, Cantillon kept a "guess ahead" in his active baseball days and later as supervisor of umpires of the American association he was reported "hard to fool."

Last summer, Cantillon went to Tampa, Florida, to rest for a few weeks and talk baseball with his old cronies. As soon as he reached his hotel his former players began to gather about him, Walter Johnson, Clyde Milan, Joe Engel, Clabby Street and others.

"Remember the time you pitched three games in a row and shut out New York in every one?" Cantillon asked Johnson. The Washington manager of today of the Washington manager of 20 years ago had he recalled the incident perfectly.

"Tell the young fellows about it," suggested Milan.

"Walter pitched out of turn the first game of the series in New York because I had let his room-mate go home on condition that he be back in time to pitch the opener. Walter said he'd pitch in his place and he shut 'em out. The next day was his regular turn and he shut 'em

ILLINOIS' GOVERNOR MOVES TO PROTECT STATE FROM CRISIS

Louis L. Emmerson Cracks Whip of Authority Over Cook County's Taxation Officials to Guard Credit

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 — Governor Louis L. Emmerson cracked the whip of authority over Cook county's taxing officials today to protect the credit of Illinois.

As a result, it was announced that tax books will leave the hands of the assessors and board of review of Cook county by May 1 which will assure the mailing of tax bills about June 1.

"Chicago is my friend and I want to do everything to help her in her present crisis," Governor Emmerson said, "but the state is threatened with a most embarrassing situation.

"And before I allow the state to repudiate its bonds, I'll call a special session of the legislature which will have as its sole and only purpose the protection of the state from such a catastrophe."

Cook county pays the major part of the state's taxes. As a result of its delay in payment, the state is beginning to feel the pinch of poverty, the governor said. Because it has not received its share of Cook's 1928 tax levy, he said, it has been unable to redeem $300,000 worth of waterway bonds which became due January 1, and now the soldiers' bonus bonds and the University of Illinois finances are seriously threatened.

Calls Conference

To seek a way out of the distressing situation, he said, he had called a conference of himself, State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett, State Auditor Oscar Nelson, the state tax board, the Cook county board of review and

14 SAILORS PERISH IN GULF DISASTER

Radiogram Announces Fate Of Mariners on Oil Tanker in Southern Waters

BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 31 (AP)—A radiogram from the Standard Oil tanker Liebre, bound for Beaumont, received today by M. T. Ball, president of the Gabine Towing company at Port Arthur, stated the tanker's captain, Edgar A. Coney had sunk in the gulf of Mexico with a loss of the crew of 14.

The tugboat sailed from Port Arthur with a barge in tow for Mobile Tuesday morning. She was overdue at Mobile 24 hours when the message was received that the barge was found afloat. The steamer reported that the master of the barge had hoisted a distress signal and gave the information that the tugboat and its crew had gone down.

The entire personnel of the crew was not known at the towing company headquarters. Four of the men were reported to be William Brennan, master; C. C. Pyle, chief engineer; O. R. Kennet, first mate, and R. Durio, steward, all having families in Port Arthur.

The Liebre rescued the crew of the barge and was expected to dock here Saturday.

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 31 (AP)—The six pilots and planes at the fur-trading vessel Nanuk, icebound at North Cape, Siberia, will stay until Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland are found either dead or alive, Joe Crosson, one of the fliers at the Nanuk, who had been reported ready to quit the north, radioed to Nome today.

"All of us engaged in the search here are agreed today, that we would stay and see this job through despite discouraging results the biggers have had since they started hunting the bodies Sunday," Crosson's message said.

Crosson told of finding chairs, handkerchiefs and more mittens which were in the Eielson plane when it left Teller, Alaska, November 4 on a search for the Russian

INCREASED PRODUCTION CAUSES AGRICULTURE'S ILLS, DECLARES HYDE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP)—Overproduction, increase of farm production since the close of the World war and not the tariff is the root cause for the plight of farmers by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde today before 5000 Illinois farmers.

"Since the war, farm production has increased not only in the United States but quite generally throughout the world," Secretary Hyde said. "The reason is plain. During the war production increased outside of Europe to compensate for reduction production in Europe. When Europe restored its agriculture, the other countries did not correspondingly decrease theirs."

As a result of this general increase in agricultural production the world's output ran ahead of market requirements and prices inevitably fell, the cabinet officer explained.

FLYING DIRIGIBLE LANDS PASSENGER

Airship Proves Feasibility Of Dropping Travelers Without Delaying Flight

LAKEHURST, N. J., Jan. 31 (AP)—An object that looked no larger than a dragon fly, attached to the shiny belly of the dirigible Los Angeles, was released from the airship at a height of 3000 feet today and glided to earth 12 minutes later, demonstrating the feasibility of landing passengers from airships in motorless as well as powered planes.

The experiment was witnessed by a group of naval officers without any particular excitement. The 204-pound glider, was attached to the bottom of the huge craft several days ago to wait for good weather.

This morning the Los Angeles rose into the air with the glider's 125-pound pilot, Lieutenant Ralph S. Barnaby at the single control of his small plane. In picturesque array, the blimps J-3 and J-4 and the "tin ship," ZMC-2 followed the larger ship into the air. They hovered about the Los Angeles in the clear sky like a fearful brood staying close to mother.

From the ground the glider was seen to nose down gracefully, seemingly without having been disattached from the Los Angeles. Clear of the airship Barnaby, the first licensed glider pilot of the United States levelled off and began circling the field. He could have stayed aloft for an hour or more if he had wished, he said on landing.

CORONER PROBES DEATH OF IDAHOAN IN UTAH

GARFIELD, Utah, Jan. 31 (AP)—Inquiry into the death of Frank D. Homan, 42, Pocatello, Idaho, miner, was started here today and a verdict of the coroner's jury was expected tomorrow.

LARGE BLACK TIMBER WOLF COMES TO IDAHO

POCATELLO, Idaho, Jan. 27 (AP)—The United States biological survey office here received a report that a black timber wolf, measuring nearly seven feet from tip to tip, had been caught 20 miles west of Aberdeen.

Officials expressed the opinion that the animal strayed from the north-er west timbered regions as it is rare in the United States.

FRIEND OF DIVER WINS RECOGNITION

Jury Decides Peter Trans Met Death by Accident And Urges Reward For Hero

POINTE AUX OUTADRES, Quebec, Jan. 31 (AP)—A verdict of "accidental death" with a rider that suitable recognition should be made of the bravery of Aryo Silvala, Ottawa, was brought in today by a coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Peter Trans, diver who died under water here between Monday and Thursday morning. Trans was submerged for three days with air being continuously pumped through his helmet. No blame could be attached to any one in connection with the tragedy, the jury decided. All possible was done to extricate the man from his plight but the isolation of the settlement and poor weather conditions held up relief operations until it was too late to help him.

The Ottawa man whose bravery was mentioned by the jury is a laborer and a fellow countryman of Trans, a Dane. Although totally unacquainted with diving conditions, Silvala made several descents in an effort to relieve Trans.

OBSTACLES DEFEAT FRANCE'S PLAN FOR SETTLING PROBLEM

Difficulty Arises When English Fail to Fill Places On Special Committee Selected to Study Scheme

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 31 — The French plan for smoothing the sand of the five-power naval conference by means of a compromise between the global and category systems of tonnage limitation, was seemingly halted at an executive session of the conference today.

The difficulty arose when the British were unable to fill their two places on a special committee for which yesterday's session voted with the idea that the committee would study the French suggestion. Until the membership of this committee is completed, it is probable the subject will be considered by the full conference, sitting as a committee of the whole.

Reports were current that the British difficulty arose from inability to name the dominion delegates. Besides the empire government delegations, there are representatives here from half a dozen dominions and the problem was to make two seats on the special committee representative of all British elements.

Only general principles were discussed at the executive session today. It is probable, however, that definite proposals will be forthcoming next Tuesday to which date the committee of the whole adjourned.

French Issue Draft

The French issued a draft text of their proposal tonight. By it each nation would be given a total tonnage for its navy, divided into its classes of warships. A certain percentage, the figure being undetermined, could be transferred from one category to another upon notice, being given one year in advance.

Besides the blank left for transfer percentages, the draft also left open the figures for total tonnages. The work of the conference for the next few weeks is likely to be devoted to efforts to fill these gaps.

So long as the question is debated in committee of the whole, the desires of the British dominions regarding their representation are likely to be fully met, Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain and chairman of the conference held a two-and-one-half hour session with the Dominion delegates at St. James palace this morning. It was admitted after this meeting that a real problem existed. Whether the, subterfuge of having the conference meet as a committee of the whole will prove a permanent solution of the difficulty was considered likely to be determined until after next Tuesday's meeting. The delegates scattered for their week-end rests after today's session.

It is generally recognized that the procedure adopted today does not make for speed in conference affairs. The committee of the whole sat only one hour and it heard what amounted to a restatement of views given at the Thursday plenary session.

Addresses were made by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, for Great Britain; Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese group; Senor Alonzo Quisepe Strannd for Italy; Secretary Charles Francis Adams for the United States, and Rene Massigli for France.

Slow Progress Necessary

The very nature of the French proposal, however, seems to be wrecking on the whole disarmament problem itself, necessitates a slow progress. Consequently, the delegates anticipate long negotiations before full agreement is attained. The main thing is that the proposal has been placed before the conference in concrete form.

The exact percentage of transfer allowed from one category to another varies according to the defense ideas of each nation. The establishment of total tonnages involves the whole question of fleet ratios. This, of course, ultimately reaches to the problem of French-Italian parity, to the desire of the Japanese for a 70 per cent ratio on cruisers, to the determination of Great constitutes a dual parity between Great Britain and the United States and to all similar problems.

The question whether Tonnage can be transferred from any category to another, or whether a "one-way" transfer is permitted, is also involved. The French draft contains no reference to particular categories, but the British have repeatedly frowned upon any proposal permitting transfers from the most powerful classes, such as battleships.

An American spokesman tonight said he understood that transfers were not to be made from cruisers to battleships. These look to battleships and aircraft carriers.

TWO MINERS DIE IN NORTH IDAHO

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two miner were killed in a rock blast near here today, making three casualties in the Coeur d'Alene mines within 24 hours.

John Grann, 25, and Herman Herberg, 29, both of Libby, Montana, were preparing to set off a powder charge on property of the Metals Mining company at Leonia, 25 miles from here, when the blast exploded prematurely and killed the men.

George Wilson, another miner, was waiting at the entrance to the 250-foot bore of the mine, down which the other two had gone to prepare the charges. With the roaring detonation, fragments of rock were thrown out of the entrance, one knocking Wilson down.

As it was early in the day, no one was near to bring aid. When Wilson recovered consciousness, he walked to Leonia and brought the day crew and the coroner.

Late yesterday, Joseph Krohn, 39, was crushed to death beneath 50 tons of mud which slid down upon him at the Crescent mine near Wallace.

ROAD PLAN WINS FAVOR

BOISE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Governor H. C. Baldridge was today assured the support of a group of Weiser business and professional men, of "all Lemhi county" and of the Grand View Chamber of Commerce, in his proposed "speeded - up" highway program.

Expressions of approval of the plan were mailed and wired to the governor along with expressions of confidence.

GAS TAX RECEIPTS FOR IDAHO MOUNT IN 1929

BOISE, Jan. 31 (AP)—An increase of $200,000 in gasoline tax receipts in 1929 over 1928 was shown today in a report of the bureau of motor fuels.

Collections for the year ending December 31, 1929, were $3,202,350, compared with $3,000,005 for 1928.

As an offset, however, it was shown that the refunds of taxes collected on gasoline used other than on the highways climbed from $122,642 in 1928 to $250,331 in 1929. The latter figure included some claims filed in 1928.

Of the total collected this year $3695 went in the aeronautics fund which was created by the last legislature to finance establishment of state airways.

Great Umpire Calls Last Strike And Joe Cantillon Disappears From Diamond

"Grand Old Man" In Last Hours Displays Spirit and Courage Characteristic of More Than One-half Century of Service to Baseball

(By The Associated Press)

HICKMAN, Ky., Jan. 31—"Pongo Joe" Cantillon, grand old man of baseball, died at his home here today.

High on a bluff overlooking the Mississippi river that he loved, "Pongo Joe" for days had been waging a valiant fight against paralysis—a fight full of the spirit and the courage he had displayed on the diamond for 52 years.

When the Great Umpire called the final strike today, Joe's last thoughts in his last moments of consciousness were for his friends as they had been through much of his 69 years of life.

"Don't worry," he would say. "Don't call my brother. I will be all right."

Cantillon's passing removed one of the most picturesque figures in the baseball world. Since he started his career as hot boy for the Vanderville, Wisconsin, club in 1878, "Pongo Joe" had served as manager, umpire, player and scout in a dozen leagues, had discovered some of the outstanding players of the game and was known from coast to coast as one of the "cagiest heads" the game ever had produced.

Studies Game as Bat Boy

While serving as bat boy at Janesville, Joe studied the game. He studied the styles of the outstanding players. Then he practiced. When his chance came he was ready, and he started as a player with Green Bay of the old Wisconsin league.

Cantillon served as a player for several years, when his keen judgmen and quick decisions attracted the attentions of club owners. Then he became a manager, first at Burlington, Iowa, and then in succession at Dubuque, Iowa; Martinette, Wisconsin; Rockford, Illinois; Oakland, California, and Dayton, Ohio.

Then he umpired in the American league and later managed the Washington Senators, was manager of the Minneapolis and the Little Rock clubs and in 1928, again scouted for the White Sox, relinquishing this position to serve as supervisor of umpires in the American association, a position which he held at his death.

BALL PLAYER OF PAST AND PRESENT SHED TEARS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—There are baseball players, past and present, all over the United States who will shed a tear for Joe Cantillon, in his years as a manager in the major and minor leagues, the veteran "Pongo Joe" came in contact with hundreds of players and they left him with a greater knowledge than they had before they knew him.

Baseball wise to a degree that was almost uncanny, Cantillon kept a "guess sheet" in his active baseball days and later as supervisor of umpires of the American association he was reported "hard to fool."

Last summer, Cantillon went to Tampa, Florida, to rest for a few weeks and talk baseball with his old cronies. As soon as he reached his hotel his former players began to gather about him. Walter Johnson, Clyde Millan, Joe Engel, Gabby Street and others.

"Remember the time you pitched three games in a row and shut out New York in every one?" Johnson asked Cantillon.

Walter pitched out of turn the first game of the series in New York because I had let his room-mate go home on condition that he be back in time to pitch the opener. Walter said he'd pitch in his place and he shut 'em out. The next day was his regular turn and he shut 'em out. Three days later as supervisor of umpires I sent him to the same city to umpire a game and he shut 'em out. Walter was a great pitcher."

Washington manager of today told the Washington manager of 20 years ago that he recalled the incident perfectly.

"Tell the young fellows about it," suggested Millan.

"Aw, nuts," Cantillon said with a grin.

Last summer, Cantillon went to Hickman, Ky., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Lee Owens, and her family. Cantillon had been ill for some time and his daughter persuaded him to remain with her.

ILLINOIS' GOVERNOR MOVES TO PROTECT STATE FROM CRISIS

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 — Governor Louis L. Emmerson cracked the whip of authority over Cook county's taxing officials today to protect the credit of Illinois.

As a result, it was announced that tax books will be in the hands of the assessors and board of review of Cook county by May 1 which will assure the mailing of tax bills about June 1.

"Chicago is my friend and I want to do everything to help her in her present crisis," Governor Emmerson said, "but state is threatened with a most embarrassing situation.

"And before I allow the state to repudiate its bonds, I'll call a special session of the legislature which will have as its sole and only purpose the protection of the state from such a catastrophe."

Cook county pays the major part of the state's taxes. As a result of its delay in payments, the state is beginning to feel the pinch of poverty, the governor said. Because it has not received its share of the 1928 tax levy, the state has been unable to redeem $300,000 worth of waterway bonds which became due January 1, and now the soldiers bonus bonds and the University of Illinois finances are seriously threatened.

Calls Conference

To seek a way out of the distressing situation, he said, he had called a conference of himself, State Treasurer Russel Sprague, Auditor Oscar Nelson, the state tax board, the Cook county board of review and

INCREASED PRODUCTION CAUSES AGRICULTURE'S ILLS, DECLARES HYDE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 31 (AP)—World-wide increase of farm production since the close of the World war was given as the reason for the plight of farmers by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde today before 5000 Illinois farmers.

"Since the war, farm production has increased not only in the United States but quite generally throughout the world," Secretary Hyde said. "The reason is plain. During the war production increased outside of Europe to compensate for reduction production in Europe. When Europe restored its agriculture, the other countries did not correspondingly decrease theirs."

As a result of this general increase in agricultural production the world's output ran ahead of market requirements and prices inevitably fell, the cabinet officer explained.

FLYING DIRIGIBLE LANDS PASSENGER

Airship Proves Feasibility Of Dropping Travelers Without Delaying Flight

LAKEHURST, N. J., Jan. 31 (AP)—Ah object that looked no larger than a dragon fly climbed into the whale-like belly of the dirigible Los Angeles, was released from the airship at a heighth of 3000 feet today and glided to earth 12 minutes later, demonstrating the feasibility of landing passengers from airships in motorless as well as powered planes.

The experiment was witnessed by a group of naval officers without any particular excitement. The 204-pound glider was attached to the bottom of the huge craft several days ago to wait for good weather.

This morning the Los Angeles rose into the air with the glider's 125-pound pilot, Lieutenant Ralph S. Barnaby at the single control of his small plane. In picturesque array, the blimps J-3 and J-4 and the "tin ship," ZMC-2 followed the larger ship into the air. They hovered about the Los Angeles in the clear sky like a fearful brood staying close to mother.

From the ground the glider was seen to nose down gracefully, seemingly without having been disattached from the Los Angeles. Clear of the craft, Barnaby, the first licensed glider pilot of the United States levelled off and began circling the field. He could have stayed aloft for an hour or more if he had wished, he said on landing.

CORONER PROBES DEATH OF IDAHOAN IN UTAH

GARFIELD, Utah, Jan. 31 (AP)—Inquiry into the death of Frank B. Hansen, Rexburg, Idaho, taxi driver, who died suddenly here today, will be conducted by the coroner's jury was expected tomorrow.

LARGE BLACK TIMBER WOLF COMES TO IDAHO

POCATELLO, Jan. 27 (AP)—The United States biological survey office here received a report that a black timber wolf, measuring nearly seven feet from tip to tip, had been caught 20 miles west of Arbedeen.

Officials expressed the opinion that the animal strayed from the north or west timbered regions as it is rare in the United States.

14 SAILORS PERISH IN GULF DISASTER

Radiogram Announces Fate Of Mariners on Oil Tanker In Southern Waters

BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 31 (AP)—A radiogram from the Standard Oil tanker Liebre, bound for Beaumont, received today by M. T. Ball, president of the Sabine Towing company, stated that the Liebre had sunk in the gulf of Mexico with a loss of the crew of 14.

The tugboat sailed from Port Arthur with a barge in tow for Mobile Tuesday morning. She was overdue at Mobile 24 hours when the message was received that the barge was found afloat. The steamer reported that the master of the barge had hoisted a distress signal and gave the information that the tugboat and its crew had gone down.

The entire personnel of the crew was not known at the towing company headquarters. Four of the men were reported to be William Brennan, master; C. G. Pyle, chief engineer; O. R. Kennet, first mate, and R. Durio, steward, all having families in Port Arthur.

SIX AVIATORS CONTINUE HUNT FOR LOST PILOTS

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 31 (AP)—The six pilots and planes at the far-trading vessel Nanuk, icebound at North Cape, Siberia, will stay until Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland are found, Lieut. Comdr. Calvin Crosson, one of the fliers at the Nanuk, who had been reported ready to "quit the north," radioed to Nome today.

"All of us engaged in the search here were agreed today that we would stay and see this job through despite discouraging results the diggers have had since they started hunting the bodies Sunday," Crosson's message said.

Crosson told of finding chairs, handkerchiefs and more mittens which were in the Eielson plane when it left Teller, Alaska, November 9 on a second trip to the Nanuk, effort to release Trans.

OBSTACLES DEFEAT FRANCE'S PLAN FOR SETTLING PROBLEM

Difficulty Arises When English Fail to Fill Places On Special Committee Selected to Study Scheme

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 31 — The French plan for smoothing the road of the five-power naval conference by means of a compromise between the global and category systems of tonnage limitation, was seemingly halted at an executive session of the conference today.

The difficulty arose when the British were unable to fill their two places on a special committee for which yesterday's session voted with the idea that the committee would study the French suggestion. Until the membership of this committee is completed, it is probable the subject will be considered by the full conference, sitting as a committee of the whole.

Reports were current that the British difficulty arose from inability to satisfy the Dominion delegates. Besides the empire government delegations, there are representatives here from half a dozen dominions and the problem was to find two suitable on the special committee representative of all British elements.

Only general principles were discussed at the executive session today, it is probable, however, that definite proposals will be forthcoming next Tuesday to which date the committee of the whole adjourned.

French Issue Draft

The French issued a draft text of their proposal tonight. By it each nation would be given a total tonnage for its navy, divided into six classes of warships. A certain percentage, the figure being undetermined, could be transferred from one category to another upon notice being given one year in advance.

Besides the blank left for transfer percentages, the draft also left open the figures for total tonnages. The work of the conference for the next few days is likely to be devoted to efforts to fill these gaps.

So long as the question is debated in committee of the whole, the desires of the British dominions regarding their representation are likely to be fully met. Premier MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain and chairman of the conference held a two-and-one-half hour session with the Dominion delegates at the James palace this morning. It was admitted after this meeting that a real problem existed. Whether the substitute of having the conference meet as a committee of the whole "permanently, as a committee of only a temporary measure, is not likely to be determined until after next Tuesday's meeting. The delegates scattered for their week-end visits after today's session.

It is generally recognized that the procedure adopted today does not make for speed in conference affairs. The committee of the whole sat only one hour and it heard what amounted to a restatement of views given at the Thursday plenary session.

Addresses were made by A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, for Great Britain; Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese group; Rear Admiral Giuseppe Rotundi for Italy, Secretary Charles Francis Adams for the United States, and Rene Massigli for France.

Slow Progress Necessary

The very nature of the French proposal, which would be made in the scope as the whole disarmament problem itself, necessitates a slow progress. Consequently, the delegates anticipate long negotiations before full agreement is attained. The main thing is that the proposal has been placed before the conference in concrete form.

The exact percentage of transfer allowed from one category to another varies according to the defense ideas of each nation. The establishment of total tonnages involves the whole question of fleet ratios. This, of course, ultimately reaches to the problem of French-Italian parity, to the desire of the Japanese for a 70 per cent ratio on cruisers, to the determination of what constitutes security for powers between Great Britain and the United States and to all similar problems.

The question whether tonnage can be transferred from any category is likewise comprehensive. The French draft contains no reference to particular categories, but the British have repeatedly frowned upon any proposal permitting transfers from the most powerful classes, such as battleships.

An American spokesman today reiterated that transfers from categories were not to be made from classes of warships limited by the Washington treaties. These took in battleships and aircraft carriers.

FRIEND OF DIVER WINS RECOGNITION

Jury Decides Peter Trans Met Death by Accident And Urges Reward For Hero

POINTE AUX OUTADRES, Quebec, Jan. 31 (AP)—A verdict of "accidental death" with a rider that suitable recognition should be made of the bravery of Arvo Siljala, Ottawa, was brought in today by a coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Peter Trans, diver who died under water here between Monday and Thursday morning. Trans was submerged for the purpose of keeping continuously pumped through his helmet. No blame could be attached to any one in connection with the tragedy, the jury decided. All possible was done to extricate the man from his plight but the isolation of the settlement and poor weather conditions held up relief operations until it was too late to help him.

The Ottawa man, whose bravery was mentioned by the jury is a laborer and a fellow countryman of Trans, a Dane. Although totally unacquainted with diving conditions, Siljala made several descents in the hope of saving Trans.

EASTERN EDUCATOR DIES

Finsher of Ashton Sets Race's Pace

Roy Stover, Representing Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, Leads Entrants

TAHOE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Driving a consistent race through the heavy snows between here and Truckee, Roy Stover, Ashton, representing the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, tonight was declared the winner at the end of the first day of the 30-mile Tahoe Sierra dog derby. He was being hard pressed, however, by a Truckee boy and a woman, in second and third place, respectively.

Stover's time for the 30-mile round trip between Tahoe and Truckee was officially recorded as 2 hours 31 minutes, 4 seconds.

Delbert Croom, plucky Ricby, Idaho, lad, mushed his way into second place on the return lap from Truckee, his time being 2 hours 36 minutes flat.

Mrs. Thula Geelan, stalwart young McCall, Idaho, matron, piloted her dogs at a sufficiently fast clip to take third place for the first day, with elapsed time of 2:41:18.

Driving for the Reno Chamber of Commerce, Carl Jonelson, Carson City, Idaho, was fourth with elapsed time of 2:42:17; Ted Herrig, Ashton, driving for Ogden, fifth with elapsed time of 2:43:16; Fay DeLeone, Nome, Alaska, driving for the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, sixth with elapsed time of 2:45:06, and Ray Peterson, driving for Salt Lake City, seventh with time of 2:56:16.

Peterson was delayed at the outset when two of his dogs fought violently just after the start.

George Kennedy, driving for Ashton, and Wendell Roble, driving for Auburn, California, were badly outdistanced.

Young Croom furnished the thrill of the first day when he put his dogs to a gruelling test on the return from Truckee to pass half a dozen of the veteran drivers.

Mayor James Rolph, jr., San Francisco, started the teams on their way while special trains loaded with observers followed the race. The course parallels the railroad track.

The 30-mile round trip will be repeated tomorrow and Sunday with the best elapsed time winning $2000 of the $4000 in cash prizes.

JEROME ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN FARMERS

More Than 100 Guests And Members Assemble For Discussion—of—Business

JEROME, Jan. 31—More than 100 men were present Tuesday night at Jerome Rotary club's annual "farmers' night" meeting at the North Side Inn dining room, where they listened to three addresses. The first speaker was Dr. Charles E. Scott, Twin Falls, who gave an account of a recent European trip. E. H. Darlington, Burley, manager of the Minidoka Irrigation project, spoke on the history of the effort to bring additional water to the Big Wood river project its present progress, and the relation of this undertaking to the South Side project. He read figures showing the size of the undertaking, its cost, and the progress already made, stating that it is expected water will be delivered to the Wood river project for the irrigation season of 1931. R. F. Shepherd referred briefly to farm relief and the administration's policy of speeding up highway construction. Music was furnished by a local orchestra, and community singing was led by Rev. O. L. Kendall.

Members of the home economics club of Jerome high school gave a farewell party on Wednesday evening at the home of Marguerite McCutcheon in honor of Mrs. Gladys Oller, who leaves Sunday for Wyoming, where she has accepted the position of home demonstrator. The club presented Miss Oller with a traveling case. Mrs. Eugene Sims will fill the vacancy left by Miss Oller.

Members of the J. F. E. club held election of officers at the home of senator on Wednesday afternoon during the eighth period at the high school. Maxine Tooley will unanimously elected president. Other officers are: Frances Hulbert, vice president; Margaret Hancock, secretary; and Lucille Burton, treasurer.

The affirmative debate team of Jerome high school, consisting of Ursus Dalton, Leonard Frye, Ruth Robinson, and Gilbert Brewer, went to Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of gathering debate material at the public library. Their coach, Mrs. E. J. MacDowell, accompanied them.

The losing side of the Excelsior class of the Baptist Sunday school, in a recent membership contest, entertained the winning side on Tuesday night at a buffet supper at the home of Rev. O. E. Johnson.

The Monday Bridge club met with Mrs. H. B. Smith this week. High score was awarded Mrs. A. E. Gould and second high to Mrs. L. B. Johnson. Mrs. D. A. L'Herrison was a guest.

Mrs. Ralph Hunsaker entertained the Monday afternoon bridge club at her home on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Ida Defendorf was a guest. The afternoon was spent socially, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Harry Kill was a guest.

The Christian Endeavor group of the Christian church is preparing for an evening's entertainment to be given at the church Tuesday evening. The program will consist of two one-act plays, "Help Yourself" and "Courtship Under Difficulties," which will also be special musical numbers.

got again. There was a Sunday in between so he was all rested up Monday and said he would like to pitch again. I said O K, and he sent him out for the third time.

"When we went out for the fourth game, Chief Bender said, 'Don't go for the Highlanders, come over to our bench. When you going to pitch today, Joe?' asked the kid.

"I don't know," I said, I haven't talked to Walter, he hasn't come out yet.'

"'Listen,' said Bender, 'if that Idaho hurricane pitches again, none of us will have a job.'

And there was the time Gabby Street was catching Tom Hughes in a game in Detroit and with the count even in hand, stepped for a fast ball against a batsman who said Joe, 'couldn't hit a curve with a paddle.' A fatal base-hit resulted.

Joe Engel, now president of the Chattanooga club, was once the object of Cantillon's sarcasm. Engel was pitching for Minneapolis and was very wild. He walked seven or eight batsmen and Cantillon took him out. "I'll get control yet, Joe," said Engel. "you will," Cantillon agreed, "but you'll get it in the Virginia league."

has been invited to appear before the house judiciary committee February 6 with suggestions to repeal and modify the Eighteenth amendment. Members of the "wet" bloc said they had heard of no such move. Chairman Graham of the committee said any persons who desired could appear at the hearings.

Much opposition also is developing in the house to the law enforcement appropriation measure which provides that the powers of the United States commissioners be broadened to permit them to try misdemeanor prohibition cases. A house judiciary sub-committee will reopen hearings February 8 with Chairman Wickersham and Roscoe Pound of the commission, as principal witnesses.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Great enthusiasm was manifested yesterday at the high school gymnasium in the high school auditorium at 10:45 Mr. Peters of the art class of Mrs. Eva Martin, depicting arguments for the new hall as seen drawn and quickly by the students were shown and the prizes for first and second posters were awarded Alma Parsons and Donald Sinnick, respectively. C. E. McClain, member of the school board; W. B. Smith, superintendent of schools, and Captain E. M. Sweeley spoke. There were numbers by the "pep" girls and "pep" band, and the whole meeting closed with a general "pep" rally. Following the rally, there was a conference between a number of the boys and C. D. Thomas, regarding work for the gymnasium.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The junior high school broke a precedent yesterday when for the first time in its history it held a "pep" assembly in anticipation of the game between the junior high boys' basketball team with the Buhl junior high boys' team. The Twin Falls team later defeated the Buhl visitors in the gymnasium by a score of 33 to 10.

PRESIDENT GRAY FINDS BUSINESS ON UP GRADE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31 (Special to The News)—Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific system in an interview here yesterday stated that for the first time in many years existing depression is being handled throughout the country allowed a material increase during the first month of the year. He declared that business is on the up grade and "the worst decidedly behind us." He complimented the spirit of the country on the manner in which current depression was handled. Relative to resumption of building program, President Gray said new roads were being built by the state and federal governments, and that these improvements featured a healthy condition. He declared that he said that the stock market debacle was largely psychological because "There were three classes in the market; the man who lost margins which constituted the only real money loss; the man who lost possible profits but still had his stock and the same income as before, and the man who used the stock market as an aid and probably never was in the market." President Gray said farmers are in better condition than at any time since the war, though still with problems to meet. He stated that the Union Pacific "will aid industry and locate new industries in 1930."

the Cook county assessors.

"What's the matter with Cook county?" the governor then asked.

It was then that the contention of Dr. J. Lutgert, of the state board of review, blamed William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax board, for placing an "auditor detective" in his office to check up their books.

Malone jumped up and denied this, asserting that the auditor had been placed there by Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizen's "rescue committee." This was later denied by Mr. Strawn.

Tom Charles V. Darrell of the board of review, said the delay was due to the assessors' tardiness in returning the books from the suburban area of the county. He said that by S. Ouimore, director of the reassessment staff, replied that the delay is being caused by the board of review, through its revaluation of Cook county property.

Here the governor intervened: "Supposing all that to be true, when are we going to get our taxes from Cook county? That's what we want to know."

Charles Ringer of the board of assessors replied that the last of the re-assessment books will be completed and sent to the board of review by February 20. Members of the board of review added to this that they would require probably 70 days to hear complaints, especially the charge that the loop is under-assessed. That would bring the delay to May 1. Then it will be another month before the county clerk extends the items and forwards the bills to be mailed by the county treasurer.

Governor Emmerson announced on "Why not go ahead and speed the job as much as possible. Forget your petty differences, party factions and politics. Get the job done and done quickly.

"I want to help Chicago as much as possible, but, before I lend any aid through a special session, Chicago will have to help herself by getting its tax muddle cleared up."

HEALTH UNIT SEES QUIESCENT PERIOD

Diphtheria Situation In School Under Control And Danger Apparently Passes

A threatened epidemic of diphtheria originating in the occurrence of a single case in the Washington school, Twin Falls, apparently was under complete control last evening, and the personnel of the county health unit had promise of some relief from strenuous labors of the past few days.

Dr. George C. Halley, director of the unit, last evening expressed belief that it would not be necessary to make any more cultures in the case of teachers and pupils in this school.

Persons found to be carriers of the disease are being released from quarantine as fast as negative reactions are obtained, Dr. Halley said, and additional tests, he stated, show only 3 to 4 per cent carriers, which is a normal proportion. Sufficient time has elapsed for persons who have been in contact with the carriers in this instance, and who are susceptible, to the disease, to have developed it, if they were going to do so, and there seems to be no reason now for continuing the tests in so far as the school is concerned, the unit director said.

Sounds Warning Note

"We cautioned teachers and pupils of the school to see whether any of the virulent organisms had been transmitted to contacts," Dr. Halley said. "This has been accomplished. Further cultures would show only a normal proportion of carriers."

During the indicated period of quarantine, Dr. Halley advised, it will be well for parents to take advantage of the fact that diphtheria is a preventable disease, and to have their children tested and immunized against contracting it in the event of another outbreak.

During the last month, Dr. Halley stated, there have been four cases of diphtheria in Twin Falls county, six in Kimberly and two in Twin Falls. There were no new cases of spinal meningitis in the county yesterday, and two patients suffering from that disease remained under treatment in isolation wards at the county general hospital.

ENTOMOLOGIST TALKS UPON WHITE FLY PEST

Dr. P. N. Annand gave a talk on "Eriochitin tenellus (Baker), the White Fly, in California North of the Tehachapus," at the weekly meeting of the Morphine club held Friday at 7:30 P. M. at the United States department of agriculture laboratory on Blue Lakes boulevard. Dr. Annand arrived this week from the federal entomological sub-station at Davis, California, and will succeed Dr. Walter Carter as head of the station here when the latter goes to California next spring.

He gave a short description of the pests involved in white fly outbreaks and followed this with a discussion of important host plants of the insect for each season of the year. Dr. Annand continued with a discussion of spring migration and fall dispersal of the white fly and the possibility of the application of these data to prediction.

After a general discussion of this paper Dr. J. M. Wallace reviewed two short, new articles on curly top of sugar beets from phypathology.

Dr. Walter Carter reviewed the Australian bulletin on "The Biological Control of Prickly-pear in Australia."

SIMPLICITY FEATURES MRS. GUIBERT'S RITES

Simple ceremonies will mark the funeral of Mrs. A. Guibert at St. Edward's Catholic church at 10 A. M. today. Requiem mass will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Henry S. Keyser, with singing by the children of St. Edward's school. Pall bearers will be Harry Benoit, Thomas McElwin, F. W. Meech, A. Wilton Peck, James D. Whelan and Owen Buchanan. Arrangements were made for the funeral yesterday on receipt of a telegram from Brussels, Belgium, that Mrs. Guibert's sister, Mrs. Rosa Van Caster, who planned to sail for this country February 7 to visit Mrs. Guibert, would not come and that interment should take place here. Burial will take place in a grave in Twin Falls cemetery beside that of Mr. Guibert, who died a month ago. Members of the Catholic Women's league and of the Twentieth Century club will attend the services at St. Edward's church, each organization in a body.

J. H. Glandon, Twin Falls, was elected to succeed himself as president of the Southern Idaho Bean Growers' association at the organization meeting of the board of directors Thursday afternoon. C. I. Irwin, Kimberly, was again elected as vice president and F. W. Brown, Twin Falls, as secretary-treasurer.

C. R. Detwiler, Twin Falls, was retained as manager. Other members of the directorate besides the officers are A. H. Jacels and H. C. Reink, Buhl, Jeff T. Anderson and H. I. Holloway, Twin Falls; T. C. Wentworth, Hansen, and E. E. Poor, Rogerson. No other business was transacted.

LUTHERAN YOUNG FOLKS ORGANIZE BIBLE CLASS

Forty young people of the Immanuel Lutheran church met last evening in the church parlors at Fourth avenue and Second street east, for the organization of a Bible class. The pastor, Rev. M. H. Zagel, delivered a talk and a number of preliminary matters were attended to. It was determined to postpone the election of officers until the next meeting which will be Friday evening. Lunch was served after the meeting. Much interest and enthusiasm was shown throughout. It is stated, and prediction was made that the class will prove to be a success.

FUNERALS

FIELD—Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Field will be held at the graveside in Twin Falls cemetery at 2 P. M. next Sunday, and will be conducted by Rev. James Athar, Buhl, who was lately called to the pastorate of the Twin Falls Presbyterian church. On account of quarantine regulations, persons attending the services will be required to remain in their cars at the cemetery.

Carnera's Victory Over Rioux Arouses Officials' Suspicion

Fight Commission Orders Purses of Boxers Retained

Big-Muscle Man From Italy Knocks French Canadian Woodsman to Floor Six Times During First Round

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 — In a fight that aroused the suspicions of the Illinois state athletic commission, Primo Carnera, the big-muscle man from Italy, knocked out Elzear Rioux, French Canadian woodsman from Montreal, in exactly 47 seconds of their scheduled 10-round bout in the Chicago stadium tonight.

Carnera, landing seven punches, floored Rioux six times. Rioux never landed a blow. As a result of the sudden ending of the bout, Frederick Gardner, a member of the commission, announced that the purses of both Carnera and the Canadian giant would be held up pending an investigation of the match.

Gardner said the judges, and the referee, Dave Barry, would be consulted as to the genuineness of the knockdowns and that Carnera and his Canadian opponent also would be requested to appear at the commissioner's meeting next Tuesday.

Knockdowns Look Suspicious

Commissioner Gardner did not definitely say that he suspected Rioux of "taking a dive" but said the knockdowns looked suspicious. The crowd of 17,349, which paid $59,525 to witness the fight, tossed missiles into the ring and cut loose with a chorus of boos after Rioux buried his chin in the canvas; flat on his face, while Referee Barry tolled off the usual 10 count.

Rioux, spotting the Venetian giant 63½ pounds, was so badly frightened, or at any rate appeared to be that way, that he adopted the unique defensive method of hitting the canvas every time Primo laid a heavy glove on him.

The first punch Carnera threw at the Canadian was a left hook to the head that appeared to shake him up. Then he began the serious business of throwing right punches.

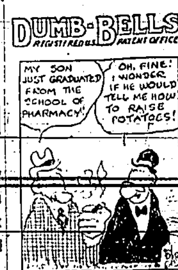
The first right hand wallop Primo landed, knocked Rioux to his knees, but he jumped up at the count of one with a pained expression spreading over his face. The next bombshell was a left hook that hit the big Canadian on the back of the head and sent him diving between Primo's legs. Three other right hand wallops each scored a knockdown before Primo lashed out with the right hand punch that landed on the peak of Rioux's chin.

Lands on Face

That punch ended the fight. It did not travel more than six inches. It crashed against Rioux's chin and his legs flew out from under him as if he had touched an electric wire. He landed flat on his face, apparently dead to the world. After he had been counted out his seconds dragged him to his corner for a sponging of cold water while the crowd expressed its disapproval by booing and throwing newspapers and other missiles into the ring.

The Italian giant making his second American appearance, scaled 269 pounds to 205½ for Rioux.

In the 10-round semi-windup, King Tut, the rough and tough lightweight challenger from Minneapolis, defeated Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, New York, negro. He knocked Flowers down twice for counts of nine in the seventh round, but the negro came back gamely in the last two frames to outbox the Minnesota fighter.



Oakley and Buhl Hoopsters Divide Honors on Court

West End City Girls' Team Defeats Foes in Strange Gymnasium, 19 to 14, But Indian Boys Lose, 31-26

(Special to The News)

OAKLEY, Jan. 31 — The double-header between Oakley and Buhl was evenly divided when the Buhl girls took a hard fought game from Oakley, 19 to 14, and the Oakley boys won their contest 31 to 26 here tonight.

The girls game was featured by tight defensive work in all courts, with scores scarce and hard to get. The Oakley guards held the Buhl forwards to 19 points, the lowest score a Buhl team has made for a long time, but the Buhl guards were capable of keeping the Oakley points down to 14.

In the boys' game Buhl went out to lead the first quarter and looked on the way to a win. Oakley caught up before the half, took the Indian lead away, and refused to be headed again.

Both games were fast, with the ball swinging from one end of the court to the other, and the ball flirting with the hoop on many shots. Chances were not lacking for scores, but the defense play made the shots hurried.

Girls' lineups:

BUHL (19)		OAKLEY (14)
M. Lacy (15)	forward	Dorothy Smith (6)
Knypstra	forward	Dorcas Smith (8)
Weaver	J. center	Holtman
McChesky	S. center	Hale
Tillman	guard	Martindale
Southwick	guard	Larsen

Substitutes—Buhl: R. Lacy (6) for Knypstra, F. Seeds for Weaver, Seeds for McChesky; Oakley: Clark for Dorcas Smith, Whitely for Hale, Miller for Martindale.

Boys' lineups:

OAKLEY (31)		BUHL (26)
Martindale (8)	forward	Mullins (8)
Elliott (9)	forward	Joyce (4)
Gorringe (5)	center	Winegar (0)

Twin Falls Hoop Squads Win Two Games With Filer

Magic City Co-Eds Use New Attacking Style And Prove Benefits of Point-And-Wing Tactics on Court

By E. M. SWEELEY

TWIN Falls teams took two games from Filer on the home floor before a crowd that taxed the gymnasium to its utmost here last night. The girls' game went, 30 to 10, to Twin Falls and the Bruins took their game, 35 to 29.

In the opening contest the play was slow. The Twin Falls center elected to match Ware for the tip-off, and lost out, so Twin Falls got the first chance. Nothing came of it, the ball going to Filer in the forward court, and Filer's first opportunity came on a free throw by Buesing, which scored. Both teams were working a sharp defense through the first quarter and it was only near the end that Tatting caught the hoop from the field, three other points from free throws, making Twin Falls 5, and Newberry contributed a point from the foul line to make Filer 2.

In the second quarter the Twin Falls forwards began to make use of their new attacking style, and found it to be useful. Using a point-and-wing style, entirely different and far more effective than any they have shown in previous games they gathered 10 points, to lead at the half, 13 to 5. The Twin Falls defense was sound, Filer's play of trying to send high passes through the center court proving unprofitable, and in the third quarter the Twin Falls score mounted to 24 with the Filer count remaining at 5. In the final quarter Twin Falls had the ball most of the time, by virtue of strong center play, but the Filer forwards got some counters enough to raise their total to 10, while Twin Falls was making their winning total 30.

Scoring Power Changes

Tatting and Qualls at forward have found a change of attack in the last week, and as a result the team's scoring power looks very little as it did in the previous Filer game, or against Buhl. The same rate of progress, and the same development for the rest of the season, is to be hoped for. Ware and Rice, and later Erickson in center played their usual good game, and the guard work was steady in the hands of Parker, Jenkins and Streifus.

The boys' game broke into top speed from the first whistle. Whatever Filer may do in the way of delaying its attack against other teams, it has no hesitation when on the floor with Twin Falls. Filer broke through first when Barten slipped a lazy pass and caged the ball with the same motion. That woke the Bruins up to the fact that they had some real work to do. Lincoln, Weaver and Givens each got one and the quarter ended with the Bruins leading at 6 to 3. During the recess the Indians went into council and decided that more speed would be useful. It was. They ran the Bruins up and down the floor, broke passes, cut under the Bruin defense and had the lead at the half, 15 to 12.

The rest period at half time did the Bruins much good. They came back to make a change in the run of the game. Weaver found it easier to park himself under the basket than to chase fast flying Indians around, and by so doing was able to take missed shots off the backboard and put them where they would do the most good. He got three in this way, his reach enabling him to get the ball when the Filer players went up to grab it, instead of batting it out on the floor. The play was largely confined to the Twin Falls end of the floor this quarter, and the Bruin count mounted to 24 to Filer's 19.

But Filer wasn't done. The Indians hit the last quarter at their full speed, and gained ten points, but the Bruins met them with Given's last quarter stunt of shooting all the field counters, and his team mates, finding he was very much on the basket, fed the ball to him steadily. Lincoln broke up the sequence by heaving one himself when Filer took to watching Givens, and between them Givens and Lincoln were the scoring tools the Bruins used for their final quarter attack. Filer got ten points that last quarter, and the play was just as fast and hard as the score suggests, to bring the final count Twin Falls 35, Filer 29.

Filer Team Speedy

Lincoln with 11, and Givens and Weaver with 10 each, lead the scoring of the home team. Filer put a team on the floor that had speed, and yet more speed; and so long as they kept the ball close to the floor, as they did in the second quarter, they had the Bruins strung out. [illegible] and [illegible] chalked up [illegible] each for Filer.

The play was hard and sharp, but hints of unnecessary roughness were promptly frowned upon by the officials, so that the game was played and won, on basket ball merits. If Filer had thought to entice Weaver out from in under the basket so he couldn't get the short tosses, the Bruin count would have been shrunk considerably. It was a good game, well played, and the Indian plan of sending speed on the small Twin Falls court had the Bruins guessing for a while.

Al Singer Defeats Loayza in Gotham

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP) — Clever Young Al Singer, the Bronx beauty, punched a few more holes in Stanislaus Loayza, tough old war horse of the lightweight division in a sensational fight before 18,000 of the faithful to the battle pit tonight.

The sparkling Jewish lad, hailed as another Benny Leonard and a coming champion, won the 10-round decision with ease. He belted the rugged Loayza freely, knocked him down for a count of nine in the third round, and was himself in danger only once.

The big crowd cheered the milling continually and give Loayza a wild ovation as he left the ring. Singer weighed 134½, Loayza 136½.

Dom Colante, Liverpool windmill, punched out a decision over Louis Quadrini, Italian featherweight, in the first 10-round bout. Valante weighed 130½, Quadrini 128.

Doc Conrad, husky young middleweight from Newark, New Jersey, gave Harry Ebbets, New York, a trouncing in a 10-round semi-final staged after the main event. Conrad, who recently gained a decision over Rene Devos, one of the leading middleweight title challengers, knocked Ebbets down for the count of nine in both the fourth and fifth rounds with straight rights to the chin. Ebbets fought cautiously at close quarters thereafter, but several times was badly hurt by Conrad's husky right hand. Conrad weighed 166, Ebbets 162½.

Kimberly Teams Defeat Hansen's

Winning Girls' Team Scores 46 Points to Foes' 9 And Boys Finish, 37 to 14

KIMBERLY, Jan. 31 (Special to The News) — Kimberly won both games from Hansen by large scores here tonight. The Kimberly girls ran up 46 points to Hansen's 9, and the boys repeated the triumph with a score of 37 to Hansen's 14.

This is Hansen's first year at competitive basketball and the competition offered by the fast traveling Kimberly teams was more than Hansen could match. Play was good, fast and clean.

Girls' lineups:

KIMBERLY (46)		HANSEN (9)
Adkins (11)	forward	Marlin
Newman (4)	forward	Geisler (9)
Dopson	J. center	Wiseman

Committee Moves To Reinstate Iowa

Termination of Suspension Of Hawkeye School From West's Conference Looms

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP) — The University of Iowa, suspended from the Western conference on charges of subsidizing and proselyting its athletes, will be voted back into the Big Ten at a meeting of the faculty committee on athletics here tomorrow. Reinstatement is expected to become effective March 1.

This action, it was authoritatively learned today, will be taken to save the Hawkeye institution from further humiliation, as it had been reported that the north central association of colleges intended to investigate conditions at Iowa at its meeting March 7.

The general sentiment of the other nine institutions in the Western conference, apparently, is that Iowa has been sufficiently punished for its infraction of rules governing athletics. Furthermore, the action of the Hawkeye athletic authorities in the recent house cleaning, in which 29 athletes were declared ineligible for further competition, has reacted favorably with members of the faculty committee.

Twin Falls Bruins Clash With Rupert

The Bruins will go to Rupert tonight to play the game postponed when the weather turned cold and made travelling difficult. This will be the first meeting of the teams. Both played hard games last night. Twin Falls against Filer and Rupert against Burley, and those contests may have taken a bit of the playing edge from the players. With the long drive to make, the Bruins have a hard assignment.

Gooding Girls and Jerome Boys Win

Visiting Sextet Triumphs, 37-25, And Home Quint Beats Invaders, 32 to 9

JEROME, Jan. 31 (Special to The News) — Gooding girls won from the Jerome sextet, 37 to 25, and Jerome boys defeated the Gooding quint, 32 to 9, in a double-header between high school teams of the two towns at the Jerome gymnasium here tonight.

The Gooding girls had a good lead at the end, but at the first quarter Jerome held the lead, 6 to 5. Gooding forged ahead at the half, 19 to 11, but Jerome came back to make the third quarter count, 26 to 25. In the last quarter everything seemed to go Gooding's way. They checked Jerome's tries, and made baskets from all angles to win, 37 to 25.

In the second game Jerome ran away with the first half in a 20-to-3 [illegible]. [illegible] substitutes in the second half the score kept going up, until at the end it was Jerome 32, Gooding 9.

Jerome's team is beginning to shake into a close-knit and well-balanced outfit. Meek is back on the floor, adding in steadiness, and his work against Gooding was sound and useful.

BACKING PUBLIC OFFICIALS

When the County Health Unit goes into action to prevent or halt spread of disease it must be as uncompromising as a fire department engaged in combat with flames.

Any other policy is a betrayal of those who rely on the unit for defense of the public health and to lead the attack in beating off its enemies.

It is well to give some thought to this now when the unit is at grips with a threatened epidemic, and when it is quite likely that the unit's regulations may occasion temporary inconvenience to some persons.

We, in Twin Falls county, have gone on record for maintenance of the County Health Unit. It involves considerable financial outlay and it brings to light conditions that do not operate to our advantage in comparison with other localities where no effort is made to discover similar conditions.

We have a right to expect competent, militant leadership in any campaign for safeguarding of the health of the community.

We have a right to expect results in so far as humanly possible in the present phase of enlightenment.

Such leadership and such results, however, can be secured only through active support and cooperation with the unit.

Unless we are prepared to give this support and cooperation, as well as our money, we would much better do away entirely with the unit, which, if it must bow and cater to every individual whim, can be nothing more than an expensive toy.

It is due to the unit that we have set up here, as well as to ourselves, that every opportunity should be given for it to prove its worth.

A FREE PRESS

A good deal of a controversy has arisen in the ranks of newspaper publishers throughout the Middle West and elsewhere over the fact that a Minneapolis newspaper was recently enjoined from continuing publication under a Minnesota statute which apparently confers an extraordinary degree of authority upon judges and prosecuting attorneys in cases of the kind.

The newspaper in question is described as habitually scurrilous and consistently defamatory. Apparently its publication answered no other useful purpose than to create a source of income for its owners. But it had an established list of readers and was, in fact, a distinct entity in the newspaper publishing business. It was literally put out of business on the broad ground that it constituted a sort of menace to the public good, by the action of the two officials referred to, without trial by jury or any particular opportunity for defense.

In a good many quarters the action is held up as a blow at the freedom of the press. No claim is made of any illegality attaching to the process but the law under which the ruling was made is attacked as a most outrageous example of high handed injustice of the kind which strikes at the very roots of human rights and threatens the entire fabric of society.

It is noteworthy that those loudest in condemnation of the action offer no defense of either the publishers or the publication. They merely inveigh against the propriety of what was done.

The matter of a free press undoubtedly constitutes one of the [illegible] proposition of freedom under and by virtue of the American government.

But when freedom becomes license and the press of America, or any part of it seeks to break down the rights of the individual by holding up to public contempt those individuals with whose personal views it fails to agree, there should be some legal means of redress.

And the publishers of America as a whole would do well to exercise their influence in the direction of a cleansing of their own ranks in addition to the filing of more or less hysterical protests against a line of action which by every rule of human decency may have been pointedly called for.

It is all a matter of the method employed. The Minnesota law may strike a blow at the rights of the newspaper fraternity but it is not very likely that it was invoked without pretty good reason for the action.

CLASSICS AND BEST SELLERS

The National Association of Book Publishers is worried about the fate of the literary masterpieces of the past. They find that current best sellers are crowding out the classics. They fear that the day is not far away when such books as "Pilgrim's Progress" and Shakespeare's works will be found only in the libraries of colleges and will be read only by college students at the stern command of professors. Says one publisher:

"We are speeding up literary masters all right. It is on the 'spot.' But I am afraid it may be carried too far.

"I am not sure the cry for something new is not becoming a menace. The flood of latest offerings, beautifully advertised, pampered by book clubs and boomed by literary critics, may swamp everything else."

That reference to the book clubs may explain much of the publishers' anxiety. The latter are rarely enthusiastic about the book clubs. But there are other persons than publishers worried about the reading trend. Is their alarm justified? It is hard to say.

There has been a lot of trashy and ephemeral stuff published all through the years. The classics so tenderly regarded by the publishers had contemporaries that have long since vanished. If they outlived the trifles of their own periods, they may perhaps be trusted to outlive the trifles that seem to be overwhelming them now.

One may question also whether fewer people read the classics now than in the past. Formerly a lot of people didn't read anything at all. Nowadays so many more people are reading that it seems to make the classics take a back seat, whereas they may be as much read and appreciated by the elect as ever before.

Screen Life in Hollywood

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31 (P)—A vacant lot, a barn, a camera and a few actors, in the old days, were sufficient to make a moving picture. In those days a group of barn-like buildings called studios, for lack of any other name, constituted Poverty Row.

Ken Maynard

Poverty Row was one of Hollywood's most picturesque spots. Here, in a dozen years, hundreds of "quickies" were ground out by persons intent upon quick profits.

These pictures were put together as cheaply as possible and made for quick sale. Few of them were great successes; quickies seldom are. But they were often sold for many times their cost!

Poverty Row is no more. Talkies require elaborate and costly equipment and sound stages. Actors cost more now because there must be several days' rehearsals to familiarize them with the lines. Poverty Row never bothered with rehearsals.

Big Names Now

Many of today's big names once were small names on Poverty Row. Joseph von Sternberg is one. He and George K. Arthur made a quickie and their reputations as directors and comedian, respectively, on the row.

Ken Maynard got his start there. Gary Cooper played in a Poverty Row Western long before Hollywood knew Gary Cooper was in its midst. Evelyn Brent and Fay Wray and Georgia Hale rushed through pictures on the famous row, once.

One can't mention Poverty Row without mentioning Betty Compson. Her contract with Paramount had expired and Betty was said to be "washed up"—through as far as pictures were concerned. She didn't go near any of the other major studios and it was assumed that Betty had decided to retire.

Cleaned Up

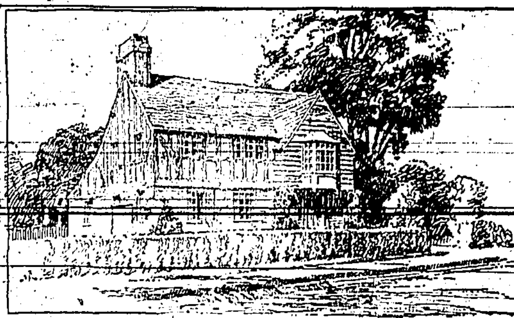
Hollywood, of course, had heard that she had played in a quickie or two, evidence, it concluded, that she was fading into obscurity.

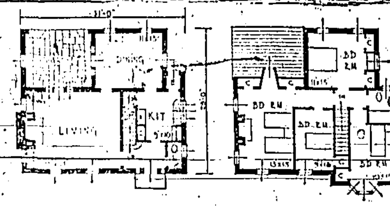
A year went by and the government released some figures on Hollywood income taxes. Betty Compson's name was near the top of the list. Why, someone figured, Betty made more than $120,000 that year!

Betty said that she had worked in dozens of quickies, and that she had been paid something like $120,000 doing it.

An actor, concerned about his next picture, asked an executive: "What is my next release?" "Yours," was the answer.

Old England's Charm Is In This Cottage





FIREPLACES are provided in the living room and master bedroom of this English Elizabethan cottage, which is intended for a lot 63 feet or more in width.

The rear entry in the kitchen is especially convenient for use from the automobile driveway and garage. The front entrance gives immediate access to the living room, kitchen and stairs.

The dining room is placed in a secluded and desirably detached location, with a delightful garden view, which is also afforded from the porch and two of the bedrooms.

The graceful lines of this design are accentuated by the charming window bays.

Brick is recommended for the first floor exterior with the upper portions of stucco, half-timber and clapboards. A natural slate or tile roof is preferable, but wood shingles may be used.

The location of the fireplace at the end of the living room, with the room along the largest dimension of the ground plot, presents a distinct advantage, especially when the edge of the house is near the lot line.

Estimates of building costs average about $10,000, including plumbing and heating, in communities of moderate size, and less in the smaller cities. Concentration of the plumbing in the kitchen area accomplishes a building economy and insures satisfactory operation.

Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Jones entertained the H and H Bridge Club at their home Wednesday evening. Mrs. E. A. Oliver won the prize for high score. A chop suey lunch was served after the games. Aside from the host and hostess those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Leedom, Mr. and Mrs. H. Speer, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Oliver.

The Shamrock Club met with Mrs. Dean Miller Thursday afternoon. During the business session plans were made for an oyster supper in the Business and Professional Women's club rooms on February twenty-eighth. A clever guessing contest was enjoyed and the remainder of the afternoon was spent socially. Mrs. Carl Jones, Mrs. Herbert Wirth and Miss Edith Skillman were guests and eleven members were present. The hostess served refreshments and the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. James Swanson February thirteenth.

"The Nature and Scope of Social Work," was the lesson topic given by Lennie Ward, the social class leader, in the relief society rooms of the Latter Day Saints Chapel Thursday, January thirtieth, to an appreciative audience. The lesson gave the keynote of the year's work and introduced the five lessons to follow, their purpose being to acquaint all with the nature and scope of social work as an endeavor to promote human happiness. These educational lessons are given one a month and help each individual in the great field of social work. Next Thursday, February sixth, at one-thirty o'clock the teacher's lesson for the coming month will be given. All teachers are required to be in attendance. Beginning at two o'clock will be the theology and testimony meeting.

IRENE RICH AND ROGERS PLAY AT IDAHO THEATRE

Irene Rich, who in 1918 started her motion picture career as an extra and became leading woman for the late Dustin Farnum and other screen luminaries, portrays the role of Mrs.

Pike Peters in "They Had To See Paris," starring Will Rogers in his first all-talking picture for Fox Movietone. Rogers personally recommended Miss Rich for the part of his wife in the picture.

In the role of Pike Peters, a contented garage owner at Claymore, Oklahoma, until his oil well comes in and makes him suddenly rich, Will Rogers' troubles begin when his wife insists on taking the family to Paris.

Members of the cast also embrace Marguerite Churchill, who appears as the daughter, and Owen Davis, Jr., who plays the son. Fifi Dorsay, formerly of the Folies Bergere of Paris, has an important part.

The production was directed by Frank Borzage, with Bernard Steele as stage director. Homer Croy wrote the story and Owen Davis, Sr., wrote the dialog of "They Had To See Paris," which will be shown at the Idaho Theatre. Two days starting tomorrow.

VALLEE CROONS LATEST SONG HITS AT ORPHEUM

Music . . . music . . . music!

Five lilting love songs from the golden throat of America's newest idol—Rudy Vallee!

Saxaphone and clarinet solos by the same master of these two instruments!

A complete colorful orchestral background by the Connecticut Yankees, who, under Vallee's leadership, have charmed the world!

Such is the extravagant musical [illegible] at the Orpheum theatre, where Radio Pictures' all-talking film, "The Vagabond Lover" is now packing the house.

The songs which will be crooned from the screen by Vallee are "I Love You, Believe Me, I Love You," "I'll Be Reminded of You," "If You Were the Only Girl and I Were the Only Boy," "A Little Kiss Each Morning, a Little Kiss Each Night," and "I'm Just a Vagabond Lover."

The selections were made by Rudy himself, who inspected more than 200 songs for his screen debut.

Marshall Neilan, the director, with a colorful story based on incidents in Rudy Vallee's life, has produced one of the most lavish musical shows. Sally Blane, Radio Pictures' baby starlet is the foil for the hero's love-making. Others in the cast include Marie Dressler, Nella Walker, Eddie Nugent, Danny O'Shea, Alan Roscoe, Charles Sellon and Norman Peck.

SHAW GETS MORE TIME IN MOVE FOR LENIENCY

Norman B. Shaw, convicted on a grand larceny charge of theft of $38 from Samuel E. Caves here last December 24, was granted yesterday additional time until next February 7 to obtain affidavits in support of his petition for leniency when judgment is pronounced.

The request for additional time was granted by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here yesterday when Shaw was to have received sentence. Shaw's attorney, W. L. Dunn, stated that affidavits are to be secured in Shaw's former home at Yakima, Washington.

HIGHWAY DISTRICT REPORT SHOWS GAIN IN ROAD BUILDING

Construction of 20.55 Miles of Gravelled And Grading 30.55 Miles Earth Road, Included in Year's Work

During the last year Twin Falls highway district has constructed 20.55 miles of gravel road, graded 30.55 miles of earth road, and built 57 culverts and one 60-foot steel truss bridge, besides carrying on maintenance and repair operations on 650 miles of traveled roads and 850 highway structures within the district's boundaries, according to an annual report filed yesterday in the office of Twin Falls county commissioners.

Total expense involved in these operations is shown by the report to be $64,877.67.

In construction of gravel roads during the year, the highway district commissioners have endeavored wherever possible to improve mail and school bus routes, the report states.

Uses Own Equipment

Most of this work has been done on force account by employes of the district using the district's road building equipment. Most of the gravel used has been taken from Rock creek canyon, loaded on trucks at a cost of 75 to 85 cents a yard. Gravel has been obtained from Burley for work in the vicinity of Hansen, and some gravel was taken from the district's pits nine miles south and three miles west of Twin Falls.

At an average cost of $1604 a mile, 20.55 miles of gravel road built by the district during the past year was completed at a total cost of $32,974.16.

Grading of 35.55 miles of earth road cost $4,341.71, an average of $122 a mile.

Construction of 57 culverts involved expenditure of $3,336.87 while the steel bridge completed during the year cost $2700.

Winter Weather Factor

On account of repairs to penetration macadam roads, following a severe winter season, the district spent $1,690.94 for labor and materials, using a light type of asphalt oil such as is employed by the state in road oiling operations, and obtaining satisfactory results when the proper mixture of sand and gravel was used.

Resurfacing of gravel roads totaled eight miles, 52 different miles being represented. In this work 3098 yards of gravel was used and the total expense was $4,691.34, or $51 for each mile.

Other expenditures on account of road maintenance are listed in the report as follows: Grading maintenance, $3,298.72; dragging surfaced roads, $2,146.51; dragging earth roads, $298.59; killing noxious weeds, $561.90; snow removal, $632.64; patrolling, $771.21; miscellaneous, $235.88.

Bridge maintenance during the year cost $6,166.62, of which $2,543.24 was for labor.

Maintenance operations are carried on in four subdivisions of the district, each in charge of a foreman.

The district's annual report is signed by the commissioners, Robert Rayl, J. E. Winans and J. T. Windle; and by J. D. Sinema, director of highways, and Stuart H. Taylor, secretary.

WATERSHED CONDITIONS SIMILAR TO LAST YEAR

"Conditions at this time compare very favorably with the same dates last year," it is stated by Joseph Markham, Moran, Wyoming, reservoir superintendent at Jackson Lake, in a copy of report of the snow survey of the Jackson Lake watershed, dated January 22, just received by the Twin Falls Canal company office here. The mean snow depth is given as 36 inches and water content at 8.3 per cent.

The following tables show depth of snow in inches and per cent of water content obtained at different stations on a trip over the watershed covering a period of a week prior to issuance of the report:

Station	snow depth	water content
Moran	14	4.0
Moran Canyon	38	8.0
Arizona Station	34	7.0
Huckleberry Divide	34	6.50
Snake River Station	34	7.0
Lewis Lake Divide	54	15.0
Aster Creek	48	13.0

JURY'S AWARD FAVORS GROWER OF POTATOES

A jury in district court here yesterday awarded $85.53 to C. M. Parish from the Pacific Fruit and Produce company on Parish's claim for full payment for 2500 bags of potatoes delivered to the company last fall. The jury's award was made in a sealed verdict opened in court yesterday morning.

The award is the same as had been given Parish in the lower court, from which the company appealed.

The company denied liability for payment in addition to that already made under its contract for purchase of the potatoes.

It was Parish's contention that the company had waived the contract requirement for certificate of inspection and that the company accepted delivery when its crew sorted and packed the potatoes in Parish's warehouse.

VIEWS ON VALUE OF VACANT LOTS VARY

J. S. Fargo Presses Claim For Rent From Canal Company in Court Litigation

Varying views as to the sale and rental value of unimproved Twin Falls property were asserted by witnesses at trial in district court here yesterday in the suit brought by J. S. Fargo, South Dakota, for $1200 from the Twin Falls Canal company as rental for four lots near the canal company's warehouse at the east rim of Rock creek canyon.

In charge of the bailiff, R. A. Graham, members of the jury visited the property in question last evening, and will return to court for conclusion of the trial today.

C. O. Fargo, Twin Falls, brother of the South Dakota man, appeared as his agent and testified in support of his claim for $25 a month rent for the property from July, 1925.

Two real estate dealers were called as witnesses in support of the Fargo claim. R. C. Letsch stated that similar property would have a rental value of about $10 a month, and J. A. Vandenbark testified concerning recent sale of property in that vicinity.

Shows Space Occupied

Eight witnesses testified for the canal company. John E. Hayes, manager, introduced in evidence a map showing that the company had never piled concrete tile on more than a small fraction of the property, indicating the space occupied as being 2-100 of an acre. Considerable tile had been piled on Walnut, California and Washington streets adjoining the property, the manager testified.

This testimony was verified by Harry Farrar and Alfred Peterson, canal company employes.

N. V. Sharp and W. R. Hatfield, canal company directors, and Miss Emma L. Wick, assistant secretary, told of Fargo's offers to sell the property to the company and declared that he had not claimed rent until last August.

George F. Sprague and A. L. Swim, real estate dealers, testified as to value of the property, Mr. Sprague figuring the rental value at $10 a year, and Mr. Swim stating that he had rented more desirable property for pasture and agriculture purposes for $1 and $1.50 a year for each lot.

TWO YOUNG MEN ADMIT MISDEMEANOR CHARGES

Two young men in probate court yesterday were permitted to withdraw previously entered pleas of not guilty and to plead guilty to misdemeanor charges.

A. B. Bachelor pleaded guilty to issuing a $30 check without funds in the bank to W. H. Hill last October 30. He was sentenced by Judge C. A. Bailey to serve 90 days jail term, the sentence being suspended on condition that Bachelor pay this check together with others in the hands of the prosecuting attorney, totaling approximately $50.

Virgil Corbley, 18, pleaded guilty to theft of a shot gun owned by H. S. Frame and taken from the residence of E. H. Maher on Elm street last January 22. He was sentenced to serve 15 days, and sentence was suspended on payment of costs totaling $5.60.

PARENT-TEACHER GROUP FAVORS BOND ISSUE

Mrs. T. C. Bacon, Mrs. George Ward and Mrs. L. M. Nelson have been appointed by the council of the general Twin Falls Parent-Teacher association as a committee to cooperate in the campaign for the gymnasium, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. F. Boughton, president. The association is on record in favor of the construction of the gymnasium.

Reports received at a meeting of the council Tuesday, Mrs. Boughton stated showed that the Twin Falls association had qualified in all of the 14 points required for a standard association except in membership. She expressed the hope that enough citizens would join the organization during the next two months to meet that requirement.

Hot lunches are being served to 75 children in the Bickel school and to 125 in the Lincoln school, at 20 cents a week each. Soup is served three times a week and cocoa twice.

Medals for peace declamatory contests in the grade school have been received, by Miss Pearl Crossland, general chairman of the contest for the National Council for Prevention of War. The silver medal contest will close March 15 and the gold medal contest among the winners of silver medals on April 15.

CHRISTIAN PASTOR GOES TO PORTLAND

Rev. C. C. Curtis Leaves to Become Representative Of Board of Pensions

Rev. C. C. Curtis, for nearly four years pastor of the First Christian church here, has been granted a leave of absence during the rest of his Twin Falls pastorate, which will expire May 1, and left last evening for Portland where he will enter on his duties as official representative of the National Board of Pensions of the Christian church, for the northwestern district, which includes all of Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Washington and northern California, with headquarters in Portland. Mrs. Curtis and children will remain here until the close of school.

No successor has been selected to fill the vacancy resulting from the departure of Mr. Curtis, it was stated last evening by L. L. Patrick, chairman of the official board of the church. Rev. W. J. Agee will occupy the Christian pulpit here tomorrow, Mr. Patrick said.

Rev. Curtis came to Twin Falls May 1, 1926, from Fort Worth, Texas. During his four years' pastorate the congregation has increased steadily in membership. The splendid $75,000 church at the corner of Sixth avenue and Shoshone street north is a monument to his effective work here. Some time ago he placed his resignation with the board to take effect May 1, 1930. Since that time he has had several offers to become pastor of churches in larger cities.

NEW MODE IN WOMEN'S WEAR HOLDS MONOPOLY

Last year's styles in women's wear are not even shown in the Eastern markets, according to C. E. Booth of the Booth Mercantile company who returned yesterday from three weeks buying trip to New York, Chicago and other centers.

The new models, Mr. Booth said, are not extreme. They retain the longer lines that have been modified in the silhouette model that is in the ascendancy now and that, Mr. Booth asserted, is very pretty and becoming.

Business conditions throughout the east, are rapidly returning to normal in so far as can be determined by one looking from the outside, Mr. Booth said.

An outstanding factor making for improvement of business conditions, he declared, is the apparent fact that business men have quit watching paper profits in the stock market and are devoting their time and attention to their own business affairs.

"In fact," Mr. Booth stated, "it is my impression that business is on a more sound and wholesome basis now than it has been for many months."

INTOXICATED DRIVING ACCUSATION DISMISSED

Evidence in support of a charge of intoxicated driving against Glenn Munger was deemed insufficient to warrant prosecution in the district court and the charge was dismissed by Judge C. A. Bailey following a preliminary hearing in probate court here yesterday.

Munger was alleged to have been under the influence of liquor when the car he was driving collided with another machine driven by Ward V. Bonner on the night of last January 17. The collision occurred on a snow-drifted road north of Filer, and Munger's car is said to have been on the wrong side of the road.

DIVORCE DECREE GRANTED

On grounds of alleged desertion a decree of divorce was granted to Mrs. Fanny Tiffany from Bryant Tiffany following hearing in district court here yesterday.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. One of the most comprehensive buying movements since the post-panic rally was checked last December took place in today's stock market, with total sales, and the railroad, industrial and public utility indices all setting new high records for the year. While week-end profit-taking sales were rather heavy, they were easily absorbed, net gains in the active issues ranging from 1 to 11 points.

The call money renewal rate was fixed at 4 per cent, the lowest since January, 1928, but it was marked up to 4½ per cent again in the afternoon when heavy demands for funds in connection with month-end payments brought about a temporary scarcity in the supply.

The annual dividend on Burroughs Adding Machine was raised from 80 cents to $1, but Studebaker omitted the usual quarterly stock dividend of 1 per cent declared at this time.

Postponement of the federal trade commission hearing on the financial operations of public utilities probably stimulated the demand for those issues. American and Foreign Power, Brooklyn Union Gas, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, LaClede Gas, and Stone and Webster all closed 3 to 5 points higher, heavy covering by short interests stimulating the advance.

Mail Order Shares Rise

Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck were turned over in large volume but there appeared to be plently of stock for sale on the way up, and the net gains were held to fractions. R. H. Macy ran up 10½ points and Spiegel-May-Stern 4½.

New York and Harlem gave one of its periodic pyrotechnic demonstrations, soaring 47 points to 265. National Biscuit (old stock), Westinghouse Electric, Worthington Pump, Eastman Kodak, DuPont, Allied Chemical and Columbian Carbon showed net gains of 4 to nearly 8 points. Simmons ran into further selling on the announcement of new financing.

PRICE TREND FAVORS BUYERS ON EASTERN COAST WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Jan. 31 (P)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"The wool market has been generally quiet and quite uncertain as to what are fair values for wool. The price trend has favored the buyer, slightly.

"Foreign markets are gradually yielding to the pressure of wool and values favor the buyer, withdrawls are heavy in London and the colonial markets. The Adelaide sale has been indefinitely postponed on account of the unsettled condition of the wool market. The London colonial sales are expected to be shortened materially.

"Further openings of heavy weight staple lines of goods have not clarified the goods market situation. Demand for goods is suspended to a considerable degree and consumption at the mills decreasing.

"The new growers' marketing plan is unfolding gradually. Many details are yet to be determined.

"Mohair is dull and prices nominal."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Domestic—

WHEAT QUOTATIONS MOUNT AT CHICAGO

Bread Cereal Scores Abrupt Price Gains But Not Till Values Sink to New Lows

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
(Associated Press Market Editor)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31—Wheat scored abrupt price gains today but not until the market had dropped wildly to about 58c a bushel below the season's best level. Gyrations of the Winnipeg wheat market, especially a brisk late advance at Winipeg, had much to do with the action of values here. Export business in North American wheat today appeared to be at a standstill, but in some quarters late Argentine and Australian advices were taken to indicate that importing countries have practically no alternative but recourse to North America for supplies.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous at the same as yesterday's finish at ⅜c higher. Corn closed ⅛c to ⅝c to ⅜c advanced, oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a gain of a shade.

Additional Momentum

Giving additional momentum to the late upward trend of the Chicago wheat market were reports of frost damage to the domestic winter wheat crop Southwest, Oklahoma and Texas in particular, with uneasiness also about the condition of the crop in the western part of Kansas. Meanwhile, regarding chances for Europe continuing to draw wheat imports from the Southern hemisphere, dispatches at hand showed that Argentine and Australian shipments this week were both smaller that for the week previous. Under such circumstances, speculators who had been active on the selling side of the market turned rather unanimously to an opposite direction, and purchased on a large scale in order to collect profits as the day drew to an end.

Values Declined

Until about mid-day, however, the general course of wheat values here was rapidly downgrade, with attention of the trade focused on persistent breaks in the Winnipeg and Liverpool markets, and with prices here outdoing the season's lowest record established only 24 hours before.

Corn and oats sympathized somewhat with wheat weakness, but declines brought in good buying from commission houses.

Provisions were mostly firm, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

CASSIA COUNTY BEGINS DRIVE AGAINST DISEASE

BURLEY, Jan. 31 (Special to The News)—Mrs. Frances M. Wann, Cassia county community nurse, has started her campaign in the Burley schools, and plans to remain here four weeks. Mrs. Wann started in Cassia county at Malta, and devoted part of her time there to assisting in the immunizing of children against scarlet fever. She has visited practically every schoolhouse in the Raft river valley section, including Almo and Elba. She reports receiving very satisfactory cooperation.

NEW FREIGHT DEPOT AT BURLEY GOES INTO USE

BURLEY, Jan. 31 (Special to The News)—Burley's new modern freight depot is now in use and handling all freight business. The old wooden structure, which has seen much use ever since the branch line was built, has been sold to a local contractor and will be wrecked and disposed of locally.

The new $40,000 depot has a warehouse about 24 by 102 feet inside measurement, with 11 steel roller doors, surmounted by glass sash. There is a steel cage for protection of valuable freight, and a warm room for perishables kept at a temperature of 50 degrees. The building is fireproof. The concrete floor has had a surface protection of steel filings worked in, to provide years of wear.

The offices, at the east end of the warehouse, have modern equipment, including heating arrangements, lavatories, steel lockers for employes, and fireproof vaults. The entire building is constructed of brick, concrete and structural steel, with exception of a few wooden beams in the roof.

HOLLISTER BANK PLANS TO INCREASE CAPITAL

HOLLISTER, Jan. 31 (Special to The News)—Stockholders of the Bank of Hollister in adjourned annual meeting here yesterday elected directors and officers and determined to make a survey immediately on the banking needs of the project with a view of increasing the capital stock of the institution sufficiently to accommodate requirements of the farmers and residents.

Officers elected included Henry Jones, president; R. Glavin, vice president; A. F. Craven, cashier; Henry Jones, R. Glavin, W. W. Powell, A. F. Caldwell and A. F. Craven, directors.

SCARLET FEVER BREAKS OUT IN CASSIA COUNTY

BURLEY, Jan. 31 (Special to The News)—Miss Anna C. Pearson, rural school supervisor, has for the second time been forced to leave Cassia county without completing her two-week tour. This time, scarlet fever at Malta was the cause.

Tuesday morning all Malta schools were closed by order of the county health officer, Dr. C. I. Sater, Malta, and public gatherings in the village have been banned. Several scarlet fever cases have developed; although the malady is pronounced light. Miss Pearson, who has completed her labors in the west part of the county, will return to Raft river after the epidemic in under control.

SEAL SALE IN CASSIA COUNTY EXCEEDS GOAL

BURLEY, Jan. 31 (Special to The News)—Final Christmas seal sales reports show that Cassia county went over the top with record returns of $165.77, thereby becoming eligible to be recognized by the state Anti-Tuberculosis society as an organized county.

Mrs. Marguerite Buchanan, county superintendent, announces that Warm Creek rural school has won first place in per capita sales of the seals for the third successive year, thereby earning the pennant awarded by the Women's Relief Society of Cassia county. This school, located in the Oakley valley project, has also won several other awards this season for sales of these stamps. Verna Glodpwski is the teacher. There are 13 pupils this year, and the sales amounted to $1.23 per capita.

Rural schools in Cassia county made sales amounting to $207, Burley schools sold $168 and Burley community sales amounted to $90.

TWO CARS ENTER INTO INTERSECTION CRASH

Two automobiles were damaged but no one was injured in a collision at the intersection of the street leading north from Kimberly with the state highway early last evening. A car driven by Richard Peacock, Twin Falls, traveling on the highway failed to make the curve at the intersection and crashed into another machine in which Mrs. W. O. Victory, 255 Sixth avenue north, and her son, were traveling northward, it was reported to officers here. Mr. Peacock, it was stated, assumed responsibility for the collision. Both machines were so badly damaged that it was necessary to tow them to the repair shop here.
