Three Groups Plan to Break Graf's World-Circling Record

Aviators Hope to Shatter 21-Day Mark Set by Germany's Zeppelin

Lieutenant and Mrs. Herbert Fahy, John Henry Mears and Harry Husted Plan Encircling Journeys

Lieutenant Herbert Fahy and his wife (center), John Henry Mears (lower left) and Harry Husted (lower right) all plan globe-girdling trips by airplane during May and June.

By OSCAR LEIDING (Associated Press Aviation Editor)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Three proposed attempts to shatter the globe by airplane appear as aviation's most spectacular promise for 1930.

To shatter the 21-day speed record of the Graf Zeppelin is the aim of John Henry Mears, lieutenant and Mrs. Herbert Fahy and Harry Husted, all of them propose to make round-the-world trips in May or June.

Mears, who encircled the earth in 23 days and 18 hours in 1928 with the late Captain C. B. D. Collier, intends to use a Lockheed Vega monoplane. He hopes to make the trip in 18 days.

Brent Balchen, whose most recent achievement was to fly from Admiral Richard E. Byrd over the south pole, has been mentioned as Mears' probable pilot.

The flight is booked to start late in May from New York with plans to span Atlantic and Pacific oceans by air, rather than by steamship, as Mears and Collier did in 1928.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Fahy, both pilots, also will use a Lockheed plane and have announced they will attempt to make the trip in 12 days, flying only in daylight.

The Fahy venture will be backed by the Detroit aircraft corporation. It has been announced Fahy is test pilot for that organization.

Husted, widely-cited manufacturer, has announced plans to encircle the world in a Paker F-32 in 10 days, probably starting June 15.

Like other would-be Magellans of the air, he proposes to fly eastward, starting either from the Pacific coast or New York. It has been his original intention to fly westward.

Besides the attempt to lower the globe-girdling record, he plans to take moving pictures en route, many of which he says will be turned over to the government for their educational value.

Army fliers, Lieutenants Erik H. Nelson, Lowell H. Smith and Leigh Wade, in 1924 piloted the first planes around the world.

Bears And Huskies Train For Night Indoor Dual Track Meet

Greatest Artists Of Cinder Path in Conference Clash

Seattle Prepares For Second Event of Kind Ever Held in University Pavilion of Northwestern Country

By FRANK G. GOBBIE (Associated Press Sports Writer)
SEATTLE, March 22—Two great teams—those of the universities of Washington and California—will open the Pacific Northwest track season this year with a night indoor dual meet here April 5.

It will be the second such event ever held in the Northwest. Last year Stanford and Washington clashed in the Washington pavilion, with the cardinal winning, 73 to 54. The evening indoor event made a big hit with the fans and much interest is expected in the Bear-Husky meeting.

Washington will pit a fancy band of stars against the strong Bear combination, including two national champions, to rate the favorite. Steve Anderson, Husky captain, winner of the national collegiate and national Amateur Athletic union high and low hurdles last year and Ed Genung, national collegiate half mile title holder, will show against the Bears.

The captains of the two teams will serve one of the most interesting of the events to the fans in the hurdles. At Fogolotti, leader of the California squad, intends to give Anderson his first big test this season. Despite an early season handicap of a fractured ankle last year, Fogolotti won third place in the Stanford-California meet and took fourth in the low of the national meet. His time was 23.2 seconds.

Everitt Mossman, red-headed wrestler and Ken Churchill, 105-pounder, are the 200-foot javelin throwers, and two other stars of the California aggregation. Washington has three other stars to show in the meet: Rufus Kiser, former national mile champion and Pacific coast record holder; Pat Jessup, giant shot putter and discus thrower; and Talbot Hutter, quarter miler.

Colorado Wins in Amateur Athletic Contest in Denver

DENVER, March 22 (AP)—University of Colorado tonight drew away with the first annual Amateur Athletic union track and field meet in the Denver Coliseum. Coach Frank Potts' team scored 22 points and its closest competitor, Colorado college, Colorado Aggie and Denver, scored 11, 10 and 10 points, respectively. Colorado won 18 points each, Wyoming scored 13 points, Colorado Mines 11, Colorado Teachers 11.

While no indoor records were broken or closely approached, some very good performances were witnessed in tonight's meet, the first indoor competition of any consequence staged in the state.

Marvin Harvey, Colorado Aggie star, captured the pole vault with a leap of 13 feet. Harvey was not in the best of condition, an injured leg handicapping him to some extent.

American Fork Aggregation Bows to Victors, 28-21, in Zion City Tournament

SALT LAKE CITY, March 22 (AP)—Himckley high school won the Utah state basketball championship here tonight by defeating the American Fork team in the final game of the tournament, 28 to 21.

Himckley gained an early lead and the teams fought bitterly in the opening quarter, the score for the period being 4 to 2 at real-time. Himckley ran wild in the second period, scoring practically every shot at the basket to gain a 15-10 lead at the end of the opening half.

RALPH (PEST) Welch, one of the leading halfbacks of the country last year while playing with the Purdue university football team, has joined the coaching staff of the University of Washington grid-squad—Welch will handle the Husky freshmen—led by Jimmie Phelan, Washington's new head coach. Phelan taught Welch the tricks of the game at Purdue and thought so much of his work that he employed him to assist him in the Pacific Coast conference.—(AP) Photo.

Cleveland Pugilist Again Gets Opportunity to Exhibit Equality if Not Superiority Over Argentine

By EDWARD J. NEFF (Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, March 22—New York City pugilist Victorio Campolo, the Panama mauler, will have to start all over again in the fight racket early Tuesday morning.

The gawky Gaucha of the Argentine tangles with Johnny Risko again in Madison Square Garden Monday night in the first of the New York state athletic commission's battles. A few weeks ago the solemn solons ruled that the Cleveland spoiler, the loncolias of the heavyweights, was too small for Risko.

But time has changed things. Risko is now a featherweight. Risko was knocked out in New York City last night in the fight to Florida to bolster the case of the Cleveland pugilist. ATWATER KENT RADIO 4872 HOURS and still going strong!

A man in Long Beach, California, bought an Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio last August and has had it in continuous operation—24 hours a day—ever since.

He wanted to make a personal test of the famed dependability of an Atwater Kent Screen-Grid set.

At last report his radio had functioned steadily for 4872 hours and was still going strong, without even the change of a tube.

"It has continued to give first-class service and the most natural tone of any radio I ever heard," he writes. "It has proved the superior logic—and surprising quality—of Atwater Kent Radio."

Probably you will not want to run your radio 24 hours a day. But what a comfort to know that an Atwater Kent is so sturdy built you can count on it for long, long service.

"An Atwater Kent works and keeps on working." For eight years people have been saying that. And for eight years Atwater-Kent sets have been proving that they are right.

Potsdam, Once Seat of Military Power, Hopes For Sports Conquest

By WADE JERNER (Associated Press Staff Writer) POTSDAM, March 22.—This city on the outskirts of Berlin, once famous as the seat of German military power, has no intention of taping to obscurity because Hohenzollern military pomp is gone.

swimming and rowing girls of modern Germany now are sometimes Potsdam's gayest attraction. Instead of equipment for war there is a wealth of ballfields for sport. A stadium seating 19,000, five football and hockey fields and a track and field section are included in the city's sport facilities.

Already it has made itself one of the principal athletic strongholds of Germany. When the nations clash in Los Angeles in 1932 Potsdam's stars will be surprised to find themselves in the center of the Olympic games.

During the war that great shipyard harbor was one of Potsdam's proud lights. These days—no—depression took off. Military defeat brought destruction of the huge hangars, but the ground and water frontage on the Tannenberg Bay haven't gone to waste. That is Potsdam's new sport playground.

Equatorial stations of the old Hohenzollern regale still paw the air as proudly in Potsdam, but more faithful to Potsdam's present-day character are the skilled, graceful riders of the horse shows and tournaments.

Triumph in marble, too, still lingers along avenues of the Park Sans Souci, but the lithe, athletic

ON THE SIDELINES

by BRIAN BELL

BASEBALL has never been far away but it is coming back now with a rush in the opinion of the presidents of the major leagues. John Arnold Heydler, president of the National league, and Ernest Barnard, president of the American league, are in the south, watching the ball teams get in shape for the 1930 season. The two executives have been pleased at the sight, they have seen.

Mr. Barnard was convinced that the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox would be much better in 1930 than they were in 1929 and it is right, such improvement will add zest to the American League baseball argument.

Mr. Heydler and Barnard agreed that the game had strengthened its hold on the affections of the people and that there should be no worry over lack of attendance.

ALL players have good memories and we unto the man who leaves an opening for his opponents to make merry at his expense during a game. This is called "riding" and the men doing the riding are "jockeys."

Tommy Armour, head hitting pitcher for Boca Raton, Florida, pulled up in third place with 280 taking 41000 of the prize money. Armour shot a consistent golf throughout the final 36 holes to take a pair of 37s and nose out Bobby Brantbank, Purchase, New York, and Billy Burke, Westport, New York, who finished with 291 each to tie for fourth place. They divided fourth and fifth money to $4745 apiece.

Tommy Mason, Elmford, New York, provided the low score of the day when he burned up the course, after the noon recess, to an 85 1/2 under par. Mason's low score gave him the special $1000 prize for the first 18 holes and then he took him his four-tee in 28 with Whiffy Cox, Brooklyn, New York, and John Miles, Miami Beach, Fla., who finished with 291 each for sixth place. They divided the prize money for the sixth, seventh and eighth places placed between them, getting $475 each.

Boxing Glove Shop Recalls Patronage Of Title Fighters

Battlers, From Fitzsimmons To Tunney, Used Product Of San Francisco "Tailor" In Championship Events

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND. (Associated Press Sports Writer) SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—This is the story of a boxing glove. On Mission street, about two blocks west of the office where this is written, is a door which bears the legend, "Sol Levinson, Boxing Gloves."

You climb a set of creaking stairs to be greeted by the smell of leather and horsehair, rising in its drooping, in this second-story workshop, or its smaller predecessor, gloves for most of the big championship fights since the roaring '20s have been turned out.

Thirty or so years ago Sol Levinson, maker of working gloves by vocation and sportsman by inclination, conceived the idea he could fashion a better leather mitten than the ones used by the pugilists of that era. At home, at night, he worked on his pattern. A hand tailored glove with patented finger grip was the result.

Levinson becomes famous. Fame knocked at Levinson's door and Levinson was there to answer it. When "Rube" Robert Fitzsimmons fought Jim Corbett for the heavyweight title at Carson City, Nevada, in 1897, he trained on wearing gloves made by "the chapple down in Price."

A great parade of ring warriors has marched by in the intervening years. The fire in 1906 wiped out most of the written records but enough was preserved to reveal the idiosyncrasies of the early wearers of the gloves. For instance: Fitzsimmons was very busy about his gloves and insisted that they be as tight as possible.

Stanley Ketchell ordered the largest and heaviest training gloves ever made by Levinson. They had three rolls of cuff, reaching to the elbows and weighed more than 20 ounces.

When he next appeared on the field, raucous cries sounded from the "home" bench "Call for Levinson's Gloves." At Spohrer, the Boston Braves catcher, lost a decision to Art Shires during the brief visit of the White Sox first baseman to the prize ring at any odds fountain and have a friendly chat over some light retirement and a soft drink.

BIG-TIME STARS GIVE "KID BROTHERS" HELP

Keeping step with all star sports performers, Horton Smith, Art Shires and Ernie Orsatti have acquired patrons. And they went no farther than their own families to get them. Smith helped brother Ren establish himself in his old position as "pro" at the Joplin municipal links; Shires talked John McGraw into giving Brother Len, an infidel, a tryout with the Giants, and Orsatti, crack young Cardinal outfielder, brought Brother Vic along to the Red Birds' training camp for a shot at an infield job.

factory still produces its quota of hand made gloves. At the helm now are the widow and the son, Sol Levinson, who divides his time between a law practice and the supervision of the glove-making.

Whittier Records The fire in 1906 wiped out most of the written records but enough was preserved to reveal the idiosyncrasies of the early wearers of the gloves. For instance: Fitzsimmons was very busy about his gloves and insisted that they be as tight as possible.

Stanley Ketchell ordered the largest and heaviest training gloves ever made by Levinson. They had three rolls of cuff, reaching to the elbows and weighed more than 20 ounces. Ketchell's theory was that by training with the heavy gloves, the regular ones would feel much lighter than under ordinary conditions.

William Wigley, Jr. is so certain his Chicago Cubs will see regular play for the National League championship there is no use arguing with him—he won't argue.

The Crimson Tide won 11 games without a defeat before the conference tournament and then waded through the ranks of the tourney favorites to chalk up four more victories and the title. North Carolina's championship team of 1924 is the only other title winner of the recent years to go through a season undefeated. The Tar Heels won 25 games that year.

COTTON FINDS NEW PLACE IN SPRING'S GOODS FOR FROCKS

Voiles and Printed, Poplins Go Into Tailored Blouses and Simple Dresses for Warm Seasons' Apparel

By BARBARA BEAUFORT (Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS, March 22—Cotton clothes out of the sports clothes category in spring, and takes its place among fabrics for tailored blouses and simple dresses.

A wide variety of cotton voile, plain and printed, is displayed for summer frocks. One leading couturier shows short-sleeved simple afternoon dresses of a printed cotton material with a fine crepe. A floral dress on a white background is a favorite. Voile also finds its way into blouses to be worn with suits. Many spring tailored suits have crisp pleated blouses, mostly sleeveless.

The latest type of blouse, with single-breasted fastening, is new and widely used.

Colored poplin is replacing them to some extent for sport and better dresses. It rumples less easily and costs less.

While cotton poplin easily is the favorite for sport and beach dress fabrics, plain-colored beach clothes, in particular, are in vogue for the coming summer.

Some jupes, however, have eye-covered printed lines or color jackets. Cotton poplin gives an immediate effect of blue tailored suits. The newcomer among styles in exclusive places is matinee ticking. Fine-striped blue and white ticking is used for trousered beach suits and big sun hats.

The Latchstring

Peace within and joy beyond all else, that is the Latchstring's aim. By Rosemary

FELIX had perfectly pulled the Latchstring and entered before I begged her for a few fashion items for this column. Fashioners are quick to business, you know, "well," remarked Ellen, "since its time to fling away the winter garment of the light weight modern to the spring raincoat of joy, don't you think?"

"I am quite agreed with her and asked her to describe some of this joyful apparel. Ellen continued, "Clothes always seem so good and important every spring but especially so this year. Perhaps it is the new emphasis on pink—from pastel tints to the most intense of the four corners of two handkerchiefs and make a set of collar and cuffs from the top—handkerchiefs."

"Then there are those so little touches that make up the difference between a good dress and a great one. Cuffs made from dainty white linen handkerchiefs. Buy half a dozen of these minute squares, cut them in oblong halves and use them to decorate the V-shaped neck of that new pink dress. Finishing with jabot ends on buttoned-up blouses and the same of two handkerchiefs and make a set of collar and cuffs from the top—handkerchiefs."

Scarves and hats set—Have you seen the scarf and hats set—one scarf and two hats to wear with it? Very French they are, done in colored linen, plain or designed. One hat will be a close fitting sectional construction with a buttoned-up top and a wide brim. The other hat is a wide brimmed matching felt with linen incrustations. The same scarf matches with each hat, you see.

Straw Jersey some of our enchanting new materials for this season. Jersey which looks like a buttered wire and is neither light and pliable. Jersey which is ostrich, woven into a wide-meshed net. What with knitted hems and all, you better save your stitching and make yourself a hat.

"Quite hats are in again, with the long curly side effects that are so becoming. Soft taffets is also a favorite material for those adorable little hats."

"And the wide drooping hats to go with the dipping skirts, as fragile as a butterfly's wing and so transparent. And for the new, poke bonnets, a man's I know calls them "frit" incrustations. They are so much they'll be worn! I'm simply got to run and make myself a set of halibos to house them."

Modern Boudoir Reflects A French Charm

This boudoir eliminates that crowded appearance.

By ELSIE DREW KENNEDY, Pictorial Review Decorator. Written For THE NEWS

If you are tired of your boudoir, you will like this modern adaptation of a Louis XV room. The modern woman who has few hours for leisure, too, will welcome its restful charm.

The furniture of this interior offers luxurious comfort. It is scaled for its modern room and combines several necessary furniture pieces, two factors which create the spaciousness which is a first essential for a charming interior.

The danger of too much in the room is eliminated in this interior in the combination of dressing table and desk, boudoir and desk chair, two pieces of furniture which serve for four. The dressing table and desk arrangement provides facilities for spending an additional hour. In this lovely boudoir catching up with correspondence or settling household accounts.

The low plain headboard of the bed, which you may decorate yourself, and the absence of a footboard, give a dainty character to the bed. Dressed in organdy for summer months, or contrived taffets for winter, the bed contributes considerably to the boudoir's beauty.

Leisure hours are sure to be restful in this altogether feminine room. It is a room in pastel, if one follows the standard of Louis XV interiors, color tones are restful and soothing to tired nerves.

More and more, the smart world is carpeting its floors to the wall. As the illustration suggests, it creates a beautiful floor, which stays unobtrusively in its place and gives a feeling of added space.

Color, correctly handled, is the keynote to the success of this room.

THE MESSENGER OF SPRING

By D. R. CHURCHILL

In the maple through my window I can see a ray of cheer. Telling me that Spring is near.

Winter winds have spent their fury heaping high the riven snow. Sweeping leaves which Autumn scattered. Here and there, still to and fro.

Birds in beak-winded southward; Panesels bowing their icy head. From the open the-sky they lead. And the crowing they lead.

Snow has climbed her crystal carpet Over the valley hills and down the river to the spring. Now the tulips and the crocus Have awakened from their sleep. And I see their pointed noses From their cover sleep.

When the voice of Nature whispers: Back to life they swiftly wing. And the robin in the maples Is the messenger of spring.

The Crows were the first people to write music.

DAUGHTER TUNES SET FOR VON HINDENBURG

BERLIN, March 22 (AP)—President von Hindenburg, like most Germans, has a radio set at home, but he frankly admitted that he doesn't know his works.

"My daughter generally sits it going," he said to a visitor. "I don't know-how-to-do-it. I think it's a wonderful invention."

Moving over to the instrument, he turned a knob to the right. An ear-splitting din resulted. "The old field marshal stood listening for a few moments. "A wonderful invention," he repeated, delighted.

MIAMI, Fla., March 22 (AP)—A woman who likes to wash dishes is becoming a politician.

"Washing dishes has become a lot of fun," she says. "I have done dishes since I was a child and never disliked it. It's just ordinary water and clean gleaming dishes—what could be nicer?"

NEW STYLES IN DRESSES REDUCE STADIUM SEATS

ITHACA, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Changes in women's dress styles have added space to college football grandstands, says Royen Berry, Cornell University.

Berry explained that in 1910 the correct width for a stadium seat was considered 18 inches. The only film shown here have French or English sub-titles but small screens at the Ithaca carry translations into Hebrew.

Britain Increases Effort To Regain Lost Trade In South American Countries

Commercial Enterprises, Put into Comatoses State by War, Unable to Overcome Lead of United States

By NELSON J. RILEY (Associated Press Correspondent) BUENOS AIRES, March 22—Great Britain is making a big effort to retrace her lost commercial supremacy in South America.

Another major offensive will take place early next year when a British trade mission headed by Lord Plowden will visit Argentina.

Here is held the annual national stock show that ranks with the best in the world. In addition to use made of the permanent buildings of the Rural society's plant, pavilions covering a vast area will be built to house special exhibits.

TURKS BAN TEACHERS FROM BEAUTY PARLOR

ANGORA, March 22 (AP)—The Turkish minister of education has taken a complicated way of telling school teachers of the nation to be simple.

Orders were given last year forbidding school teachers to use cosmetics or wear silk gowns. Now a new ministerial decree proclaims: "The punishment of educators from their posts shall be inflicted upon teachers of both sexes who wear a larger number of ornaments, especially of the Lutharian faith, within its walls than have plighted their lives in many a decade."

Four hundred years have elapsed since Luther, against whom the pope had hurled an anathema, and from Emperor Charles V had declared outlaw, lived in the castle and in it guided the protestant reformation which formulated the Augsburg Confession.

To commemorate the four-hundredth anniversary of Luther's journey, the city of Coburg has devised an elaborate program of exhibitions, plays and musical renditions.

The opening date is April 15, when a Luther exhibition is to be inaugurated at the convention hall of the "Veste" or citadel-castle.

The Luther library of Coburg will show some 200 rare editions of Luther's writings, personal autographs by the great reformer, and pictorial representations of the delivery of the Augsburg Confession.

On the evening of April 15 an historical drama, "Prophezie," by Hans Jost, is scheduled to be performed at the Landestheater, followed three days later by a performance of Wagner's "Tristan." Both these offerings will be repeated at intervals throughout the festival season, which ends in October.

One of the high spots of the festival will be the observance of Sunday, May 18, as "Luther Day," which will be celebrated by a torchlight procession.

LAITY OBJECTS TO SYRIAN PATRIARCH

Greek-Orthodox Community Dislikes Appointee Inter-ested Solely in Luxuries

BEIRUT, Syria, March 22 (AP)—A group who is interested in the laity, in soft living in palaces, in wearing garments of silk and golden robes, in the kind of food which the Greek-Orthodox community here wishes to fill the age-old foe of the Patriarchate of Antioch.

The appointment of the Patriarch of Antioch has been in progress for more than a year, since the death of the last Patriarch of Antioch, between the Greek-Orthodox clergy and the laity community. The laymen claim the right of vote, while the archbishops demand as their exclusive right the selection of the occupant of the Chair of Saints Peter and Paul.

Declaration The laity issued a declaration addressed to the archbishops, setting forth their protest. It said: "We do not want the candidate to be chosen from among the epistates who are interested in luxury, in palaces, in soft living in palaces, in wearing garments of silk and golden robes, in the kind of food which the laity community go hungry and naked, lacking the means to teach their children, to trade, to earn their bread and to clothe and feed their untapped families."

CITY MADE FAMOUS BY MARTIN LUTHER PLANS CELEBRATION

Coburg Arranges Elaborate Program of Exhibitions, Plays and Musicals for Huge Flood of Tourists

(By The Associated Press) COBURG, March 22—The eleventh century fortress and castle of Coburg, which inspired Luther to write the famous hymn, "Ein feste Burg," expects to see from April to September a larger number of tourists, especially of the Lutharian faith, within its walls than have plighted their lives in many a decade.

Four hundred years have elapsed since Luther, against whom the pope had hurled an anathema, and from Emperor Charles V had declared outlaw, lived in the castle and in it guided the protestant reformation which formulated the Augsburg Confession.

Widow Buries Scarab in Attempt To End Seven Years of Bad Luck

BRADLEY, England, March 22 (AP)—A scarab taken from an ancient Egyptian tomb was buried by Mrs. John Bertram Parkes for seven years of poverty and misfortune, until, sitting in widowhood, she buried the thing in the woods near her let-gardener, toy maker and fire-wood seller. Then for several years he was unable to land a job of any sort. Finally he was forced to build a two-room shack in the woods near her home, where he was to have shelter for his wife and four children. Then he died, leaving his family destitute.

Mrs. Parkes said her husband blamed all his misfortunes on the scarab.

"I was too superstitious to throw it away," she said, "but he asked me to get rid of it," she explained. "He felt it was a curse."

"When he fell sick an ironic fate sent him a half dozen offers of lucrative employment. But he was ill as a coal dealer, and later as a market bit can be exterminated or crossed with his aristocratic fur-bearing relative and thus changed from a pest to an asset."

COFFEE PRICE DROP PROVES HARD BLOW TO AFRICAN COLONY

Estimates Indicate Plantations Containing Several Million Trees Will Be Forced Out of Production

ANGORA, Portuguese Africa, March 22 (AP)—The big slump in coffee prices hit this colony a hard blow. It is estimated that plantations containing several million trees will be forced out of production.

Large stocks of coffee are lying in warehouses and the prospects of disposing of it are so poor that it has been seriously suggested that the lower grades be destroyed.

Growers Appeal Growers have made pressing appeals to the government, but the colony's financial situation is precarious. This latter phase reached such a middle that Dr. Cunha Leal was relieved as governor of the Bank of Angola and replaced by Com-mander Cupados, a naval officer without business experience but upon whom the home government relies to carry out the orders of the federal department of finance.

The coffee growers must, therefore, rely upon their own resources for at least six months as that the shortest period in which the government says it can straighten out the financial tangle.

Economy Campaign Meanwhile there is an intense economy campaign in official quarters and this has further lightened the general money situation.

One of the relief measures for which the coffee men are pressing is a high tariff in Portugal on Brazilian products. Although this and other possessions of Portugal make it the second coffee producing country of the world, it imports hundreds of thousands of tons from Brazil yearly. The local coffee growers hope to get a larger share in this "boom" market.

Tokyo Plans to Celebrate Completion of Rebuilding After Earthquake in 1923

Government Makes Ready to Commemorate Ending of Gigantic Task of Repairs Within Devastated Areas

By GLENN BARR (Associated Press Correspondent) TOKYO, March 22—New Tokyo, the finer, more spacious and in some respects more beautiful Imperial capital that has arisen from the ruins of the city devastated by the earthquake and fire of September 1, 1923, is ready to celebrate the almost total obliteration of the hideous scars of the disaster of six and a half years ago.

The formal reconstruction program of the government is at an end and the reconstruction of the city has been freed for suitably commemorating the completion of this great task.

The chief event will be the journey of inspection through the rebuilt city by Emperor Hirohito on March 24.

The sovereign will spend the whole day in an imperial progress covering some 30 miles, with many halts for worship and inspection. It will add another precedent to those already set by him in abandoning the seclusion, hedged about with regulations, of a palace, maintained by Mikados before him.

On September 1, 1923, at noon, the most terrific earthquake disaster in modern times overcame the Tokyo-Yokohama district, totally destroying Yokohama and wiping out five-eighths of the capital. About 120,000 lives were snuffed out, by falling buildings or the raging flames that followed the shock.

Yokohama celebrated the completion of its reconstruction last year. The larger job of rebuilding the capital entailed "the expenditure" of 700,000,000 yen (435,000,000 dollars) for the reconstruction of the national prefectural and city governments. That figure represents only the cost of new streets, bridges and parks and a few public buildings. It does not include the billions spent by the public on shops, shops and homes.

Although Tokyo is about to celebrate its reconstruction, the actual building of the new city is only well begun. Steel skeletons still are in evidence, although the earthquake menace precludes the lowering height of American buildings. Everywhere the strident chatter of rivets, the drat and confusion of building. What has been accomplished has been the reaping of the city, the laying out of broad, tree-dotted squares, asphalt and lined by wide sidewalks, the building of 246 new bridges over the canals and other waterways that provide drainage for thousands in the holocaust of 1923, the extension of the park and other open spaces.

Under government direction 200,000 houses have been moved to make way for new highways. Fifty-three of these are more than 75 feet wide. In addition 121 other new streets have been laid out. One thing on which the rebuilders of Tokyo pride themselves is the new elementary school system with 116 up-to-date schoolhouses. But the finest of the new structures will be the new parliament building standing on the height in the central Kojima district at a cost of $15,000,000. The American Embassy, to be completed next year on the site of the embassy burned in 1923, will also be one of the ornaments of the capital.

TUNIS NEEDS MEN TO EARN MOVIE TICKETS

TUNIS, March 22 (AP)—Wanted—men who will work and women who like movies.

These words sum up the economic problem in North Africa, according to the principal Tunisian newspaper, La Depeche Tunisienne, which says there are 800,000 jobs open for good men in Tunisia and 600,000 unemployed.

The unemployed are native Arabs who are paid about 30 cents a day, and work two or three days a week. They are paid twice as much, La Depeche is certain, they would work only half as long.

Tunisia has a total population of 1,200,000, governed by France, but there are less than 5000 European laborers here.

La Depeche sees the moving picture as a partial solution. Once the Arab women begin going to the movies, it predicts, the men will discover they need more money and there will be more work done.

THE STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF MARY YOUNG

By MILTON M. PROPPER

Cora Blakely broke in eagerly with a graceful glance at the detective. "Then, I told you everything would be all right. Jerry. I'm sure we can go down, and have money to go on about. Can't we Mr. Rankin? You see, Jerry and I really were at the park on Sunday night. Jerry and I had a picnic and fun, and Jerry couldn't let Mrs. Bond find out for she has such a jealous disposition and thinks such unfair things of my Jerry."

"Just one moment. There are one or two questions that Mr. Bond must either answer here or speak in court before we can let him go. He refused to let me see him, and did not tell me the truth. Unconsciously he returned his attention to the trunk. "What time did you get up on Sunday morning?"

PIONEER CITIZEN ANSWERS SUMMONS

Herman Voss, Twin Falls County Resident and Farmer Since 1907, Succumbs

Herman Voss, one of Twin Falls county's most respected and substantial pioneer citizens, died early Saturday afternoon at the residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Allen, 516 Second street, at which home he had been suffering from a serious illness for about four weeks. He was 78 years old.

Mr. Voss had been residing in this county for 23 years, making his home on a farm four miles south and a half mile west of Twin Falls, and he had been engaged in farming for a quarter of a century.

He was born in England, Germany, January 18, 1852, and came to the United States as a young man of about 24 years. He lived for a year on a farm in Illinois, before moving westward to Utah and then to Idaho.

Mr. Voss was the mother of six children, five sons and one daughter. He is survived by his three daughters and two sons and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Barnes, 111 N. Second street, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The body rests at the Grosvenor funeral parlors.

FORMER RESIDENT HAS PART IN GOLD STRIKE

Ed J. Roberts, who resided in Twin Falls prior to June 15, 1929, when he was removed from the number of local orchard projects, was also interested in mining at Contact, county in the prominent mention in connection with the strike gold strike in Lander county, Nevada.

Mr. Roberts now resides in San Francisco and has been actively engaged in the mining business since Twin Falls. With two other partners he has lately completed extensive sampling of the deposits located to the Imperial district in Lander county, Nevada.

The property is said to contain the largest body of free milling gold ore of commercial grade opened in the west within the present generation. In commenting on the development of the Commercial News of San Francisco carries the following: While many high-grade samples were obtained, assaying from $50 to $200 per ton, and widths of 10 to 25 feet gave high milling values; the great mass of the ore was indicated to average around $7 per ton. The reports stated that the main ore body presents an exceptional opportunity for a large scale operation. It is estimated that this ore can be mined and milled at a total cost not to exceed $150 per ton, in a large quantity.

Sampling of the main deposit was said to show a width of at least 100 feet and an indicated length of 1000 feet. This, it is declared, coupled with the value shown by sampling, is indicative of a deposit of unusual magnitude that of the famous Homestake mine and of considerable higher average grade. Enrichment in the district is said to extend over a large area.
