BERLIN'S COALITION GOVERNMENT FALLS ON FINANCIAL ISSUE

President von Hindenburg Accepts Resignation of Cabinet Following Defeat on Unemployment Question

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, March 27—The coalition government of Chancellor Hermann Mueller, after surviving the stormy seas of German politics for 21 months and recently bringing the Young reparations plan safely through the reichstag, crashed today on one of the many rocks threatening it in its financial program.

The resignation of the Mueller cabinet was far from being unexpected. Political circles had long been aware that all that held it together was the necessity of seeing the Young plan through the reichstag, and consolidating the achievements of the late Minister Muller, Bresemann in European politics.

The Socialists, who with the Centre, Democrats and Populists, and Bavarian people's party formed the coalition, will withdraw from the new government, therefore, will have a center of gravity shifted toward the center of the reichstag. The Centre, probably under the leadership of Minister Muller, Bresemann in European politics.

For weeks the financial program of Dr. Brüning, Minister of Finance, has been causing trouble for the cabinet, over-issuance as well as unemployment insurance. Brüning has tried in his efforts to conciliate the views of the various party leaders.

The question actually at issue was the unemployment program. The reich would have to issue 100,000 marks to a fund to employ unemployed. The unemployment program was to be increased. It was also suggested that the existing scale of unemployment doles should be reduced.

COLLECTIVE FARMS OF RUSSIA EMPLOY AMERICAN METHODS

Soviet Government Advances Industrial System On Big Land Enterprises, Aiming at One Socialized Unit

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 27—Russian and American farms may be operated by identical industrial methods before many years, but farmers of the two nations will be in quite different boats.

So predicts Bruce Hopper, who studied farming in Russia as a representative of the Institute of Current World Affairs.

Russia is introducing American methods and machinery at a furious pace and was the best customer of the United States in 1929 for tractors and farm implements, said Hopper.

"Socialized Farms" Hopper predicts are being formed, all aiming at creation of one socialized farm embracing the nation, and fully as important, creation of a rural wage-earning class.

"Tractors and advanced machinery will be operating vast tracts in Russia, if the plan succeeds, releasing Russian peasants. The peasant will be a wage-earner and thus more thoroughly under control of the government because he is dependent upon it for his food," Hopper predicts.

"How far the soviet has advanced toward this goal of one national farm, and how fast they have gone is indicated by the acreage now collectivized. Under the 5-year plan soviet officials estimated 50,000,000 acres would be grouped into collectives by 1933.

"Cable advices say 172,000,000 acres are already collectivized, or about 14 times the amount estimated for this year. This is about 54 per cent of the total sown area of the Soviet union," said Hopper.

"The problem for the soviet now, of course, is to maintain these recently formed groups. The effectiveness for the soviet is apparent until 1931, and it remains to be seen whether the state will be able to administer such an enormous socialized farm de-

LONDON CONFEREES DRAFT TREATY FOR FRANCE AND ITALY

Political and political phases of conference work will be made. While the conference inaugurated by a subsidiary treaty, the United States is largely only an interested bystander. In a talk with Dip. Grandi tonight, Ambassador Tug. Gibson, speaking for the American delegation, informed the Italian foreign minister that it was impossible for the United States to participate in the development of a Mediterranean security pact, and that the present phase of the disarmament conference here was considered solely a matter for Great Britain, France and Italy.

It is reported that what France particularly desires is a Mediterranean defense, as far as Great Britain, France and Italy pledge, in case of a dispute in the Mediterranean to accept responsibility of the League council regarding the situation as obligatory.

"This point arises from Article 16 of the League covenant, the true meaning of which has been debated. The new treaty would make obligations definite, as far as Great Britain, France and Italy are concerned, in any dispute in the area covered by the pact. Treaty negotiations are taking place only between the British and French, but the Italian presumably will participate later.

FRENCH OPINION LAUDS UNITED STATES FRANKNESS

PARIS, March 27 (P)—French opinion tonight lauds the United States for the frankness of the American position in refusing to make guarantees of security to France in order to induce a five-power disarmament treaty at London.

"The French admit the honesty of the United States in declining even to appear to be hoodwinking France by inducing the French to reduce their naval program as a basis of supposed American military assistance in case France is attacked. France thinks the United States now will participate in a general conference at London. This is agreeable to the French, but they do not deem it enough to warrant naval reduction.

They desire a Mediterranean treaty with Great Britain, Italy and Spain, perhaps Jug-Slavia and Greece also participating. Too, they want it to imply real mutual assistance in time of aggression by one

VIGOROUS OPPOSITION

TOKYO, March 27 (P)—Vigorous opposition to Japan's acceptance of London would have permitted Japan the tentative agreement by Japanese and American delegates to the London naval conference halted action today by the Japanese cabinet, the ministers apparently believing that their acceptance would endanger the Hasegawa cabinet's existence.

The naval general staff, supported by other influential elements, has opposed the inclination of the civilian officials to accept the agreement. The naval faction insisted that while providing for Japan having a percentage of 65 of the total tonnage of the United States, the agreement was fatally defective because it did not concede Japan a 70 per cent ratio in big cruisers and provided for 82,000 tons of submarines instead of 70,000 tons permitted by Japan. The tentative agreement at London would have permitted Japan 62 per cent of the American tonnage in big cruisers.

The meeting of the cabinet scheduled for today to set upon the American proposal made at London was cancelled because of the domestic political obstacles to its acceptance. Although the cabinet ministers are said to be convinced of the wisdom of accepting the agreement, believing that it would insure amity with other powers, they wish to avoid precipitation of a political crisis at home. Therefore, careful deliberations are being continued.

"We are through with methods of leniency," the warden declared as he peered up and down in front of the silent group within casement of cell houses containing the rebellious convicts. "We are going to close down and run this penitentiary on a hard-boiled basis. We are going to grab no special privileges." "The riot in the main dining rooms was started by the same 700 who refused to attend for two hours without violence because they objected to stew that was fed them for lunch.

Gain for Repeal In Third Week of Prohibition Poll

Kansas is the only state that is voting here this time in the prohibition poll, according to the third week's tabulation of over 12,000 ballots returned $7,283, or over 41 percent of the total vote for repeal of the prohibition amendment, 32,117 for prohibition to permit, 14,834 for wine and beer, while nearly 27 percent of those voting to date, 233,117, says the official enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment and Volstead law.

The returns evidence a slight gain in the ratio of those favoring repeal. Of the 23 states whose results are listed in the current tabulation, Oregon, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Washington show more votes in favor of prohibition than for either modification or repeal. In Missouri, a strong "no" vote was recorded in favor of prohibition. In the "no" vote for repeal is greater than for either enforcement of prohibition or modification of prohibition. California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia, give a total vote greater than for either modification or repeal. Georgia, the only Southern state which has had a vote, has been taken over by the 1928 election. An additional 1,018 votes are reported this week over the previous week.

North Dakota is the only state that has "no" vote, a "no" vote for repeal. A total of 10 states, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia, give a total vote greater than for either modification or repeal. Georgia, the only Southern state which has had a vote, has been taken over by the 1928 election. An additional 1,018 votes are reported this week over the previous week.

Primo Carnera Carries Invasion Of America Into Far West

Large Feet Lure Crowd to Rings Throughout Land

Critics Suggest Manager of Ambling Alp Charge Fee For Looking at "Understanding" when not Boxing

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Staff Writer) SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Primo Carnera, about the biggest pugilist the world has ever known, is supposed to have the Far West included in his itinerary. In case of mistaken identity, Carnera is the 6 foot 7 inch, 265 pound (or is it 285 pounds) behemoth who is tearing the towns with a once-in-a-lifetime knock-out so-called patookas and decapitators, his manager being certain that one of these three types appear as the opposition.

Carnera is one of the choicest freaks ever to pull on a glove in this country. The writer is frank to state he would be among the early front row arrivals if he for other reason than to watch a close-up of the huge one's feet. According to the measurements, his shoes are 18 1/2 inches from heel to toe and 10 inches across the sole. Four thousand figures, cut on a paper pattern you see, come's manager have overlooked one bet to capitalize on him. Barman would have sold each of his feet for 10 cents and charged another "dime" to view his hoofs.

Louis Parente, natly promoter of fistic carnivals in Oakland, is dickering for Carnera's services. Parente plans to feature the biggest man hereabouts as the opponent. He has in mind Leon Chevrolet, 235 pounder. This Abner, who weighs 210 and Parente believes he would not have much trouble in disposing of them.

Frank Wilson, one of Blanford University's halfback stars, a few seasons back, credits his coach, Cleon (Pop) Warner will not have such any football during this year. Wilson says that in getting smaller, each season, largely due to the stringent scholastic standards.

More former big league players will appear in uniforms of Pacific Coast League teams this year than in many seasons back. Around a dozen and a half found their way back since the end of the 1929 season.

Soi Levinson, Jr., who makes boxing gloves, tells this story: A few years ago the Illinois boxing commission decided to introduce an innovation in "white boxing gloves." Levinson received orders to make up five pairs. A short time later he was advised that white gloves were not a success. Fans and boxers alike complained that they couldn't see the pinches coming or delivered because of the bright lights overhead. In addition, blood showed up too clearly to suit some of the spectators.

Texas Drops Suit Involving Tunney

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 27 (AP)—For the first time in nearly a year James (Gene) Tunney, retired world's heavyweight boxing champion, was free tonight of the court litigation in which he became involved last year with the filing of about 45,000 suits against him. John S. Fogarty, Port Worth, Texas, in superior court today withdrew his $500,000 alienation-of-affection suit filed last May against the retired champion. Recently, a judgment in favor of Tunney was entered by the superior court in a breach-of-promise suit brought against him last July by Fogarty's wife, Mrs. Catherine King Fogarty. The withdrawal of Fogarty's suit was accepted by Judge Edward M. Yermans. Counsel for Tunney said in court that no monetary settlement had been made.

150,000 Persons Trek To Rain-Soaked Aintree Race Track

40 Horses Await Starting Signal On Heavy Course

Dense Mist Turns Into Light Downpour to Cast Gloom Over Ninety-First Running Of Classico Steeplechase

(By The Associated Press)
LIVERPOOL, England, March 27—Two score horses peered through the cold mist over a rain-soaked Aintree course today as a world-wide crowd of 150,000 wended its way toward this historic track for the ninety-first running of the grand national tomorrow.

The heavy mist, turning into a light rain late today cast a gloom over tomorrow's renewal of the classico steeplechase event. The forecast of unfavorable weather augurs for heavy going in tomorrow's grueling test—the kind of going that spelled disaster last year for the American-owned Exeter Hero, which twisted a knee in the sticky course, but finished second after leading the field almost to victory.

Tomorrow's field is expected to number 40 unless there are a few last-minute scratches. The number is 24 less than the record number that went to the post last year. Among the starters are four American-owned horses, two of which are ranked among the favorites. They are John H. Whitley's Sir Lindsay and Victor Emmanuel's Royal Arch II.

Orakle, which finished sixth last year, was the favorite tonight for the big event. It will be his fourth attempt to win the race for his owner, Cecil R. Taylor. Liverpool, Orakle has had bad luck in other runnings of the famous steeplechase.

Sir Lindsay is receiving the backing of the Americans, though at long odds. The Irish horse, Shaun Collin, also received a strong play today.

A. g. h. and signed a three-year contract at approximately $12,000 per season. After a disastrous last year under Bagshaw the Washington students are looking forward to a more brilliant season next fall.—(7) Photo.

Picard Leads In North and South Open Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27—The clubhouse, table number two Pinehurst golf course joined forces with the elements today to hold its par barrier of 71 unbroken through the first two rounds of the twenty-eighth annual $2500 North and South open tournament. More than 100 line experts led by young Henry Picard, Charleston, South Carolina, matched prowess with the treacherous layout. With a cold, driving wind sweeping across the tricky course, the youthful South Carolina "pro" started out in perfect figures and along near standard marks throughout the first two rounds to post a 146 for the 36 holes and gain a one-stroke lead over the field. Today's play saw Horton Smith, defending champion, thrust far back to the rear, eight strokes behind the leader.

Maureen Orcutt Wins Golf Title

Metropolitan-Champion Captures Mid-South Championship With Total of 241

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 27—Miss Maureen Orcutt, Hawthorth, New Jersey, Metropolitan champion, won the second annual Mid-South golf championship for women here today over a field of golfers which included the national champion, Miss Glenn Collett, and several members of the American team which will sail for Europe soon. Miss Orcutt made the title safe by her sterling play on the first two rounds of the 98-hole tourney when she scored a 74 in the first day and a brilliant 76 in the second day. She had an 87 today. The Metropolitan champion's total of 241 list Miss Collett by three strokes after the national champion turned the course in her final round today to 20 strokes to close the gap of 10 which separated her and the leader before today's play started. Miss Collett showed a total of 244 for the 54 hole. Mrs. O. S. Hill, veteran Kansas City golfer, who was runner-up to Miss Orcutt at the end of 54 holes, turned in an 85 today for a total of 245 and third place in the tournament. In fourth place came Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, many times champion of her home state, with an aggregate of 246.

THE WORDS on the back of the package still mean what they say. No "extras," which do not contribute to the quality of the smoke, are included in the price of Camels. Just the utmost smoke-enjoyment that modern science can put into a cigarette.

That statement was on the first package of Camels manufactured and has been on every one of the billions of Camel packages sold from that day to this. When it was first written, other cigarette manufacturers were giving away flags, pictures of actresses, pictures of ball players—almost anything that would make the smoker think he was getting something extra for his money. The makers of Camels believed the smoker wanted a cigarette sold strictly on its merits, with all of its cost put into quality—a cigarette made of such excellent tobaccos—so perfectly blended—so mellow—so fragrant—that it would win its own way.

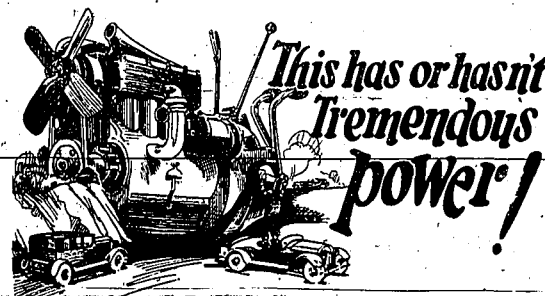

The vast popularity of Camels is a tribute to that four-square policy.

Don't look for premiums or coupons, as the cost of the tobaccos blended in CAMEL Cigarettes prohibits the use of them.

WINCHESTER PLANS FOR FETE IN BLOSSOM TIME

Only Weighed 85 Lbs., Gains 15 Pounds

Mrs. Rebecca Walker. "I only weighed 85 pounds when I started taking Sargon. Six bottles of this wonderful medicine increased my weight 150 pounds, and I don't feel like the same woman."

Winchester, Va., March 27 (AP)—When apple blossoms are brightest, in late April or early May, Shenandoah valley will be host at the festival to crown a new "daughter of the South." Winchester, set in an orchard of a million apple trees, is ready to entertain 100,000 visitors. The apple blossom festival will include three Pennsylvania counties this year from which will come, for the first time, Quaker maids as princesses in addition to 75 or more from Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. Governors of four states have been invited and one of them will probably crown the queen.

If Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd comes home before the festival, it may be the occasion for a public reunion of the three brothers, Tom, Dick and Harry Byrd. Former Congressman Harry Byrd, Virginia, is home again at Winchester, lending his apple contacts with his brother Tom, and is aiding in plans for the fete.

KANGAROO LEATHER has characteristics which distinguish it from every other material used in the manufacture of fine shoes.

From the first step taken in a pair of shoes made from Kangaroo leather, you will notice their flexibility. You can walk right off in them, for they are as comfortable as sandals.

While this flexibility makes them fit like a glove, they do not lose their form.

Because of brilliant polish that may be given to Kangaroo leather, its dressy appearance makes them suitable for all occasions.

The wonderfully tough grain does not crack, ruff nor peel, and on account of its extreme toughness, shoes made of Kangaroo leather may be re-soled again and again.

Babson Tells of Changes Taking Place in Retailing and Predicts Less Wasteful System in Future

Bay State Statistician Declares Neither Present Chain Store nor Independent To Be Ultimate Method of Distribution

By ROGER W. BABSON
BOSTON PARK, Florida, March 27.—Today is an amazing state of flux. Styles in distribution are changing as rapidly as styles in dress. We now have chain stores, super-chain stores, mail-order houses with retail stores, retail stores with mail-order departments, chain department stores, department stores with co-operative buying associations, manufacturer-direct-consumer selling, manufacturers operating their own stores, wholesale stores, stores on motor trucks, house-to-house-canvassing, and many other variations. These have sprung up in an attempt to combat the extreme competition which has existed for the last 10 years.

While the recent trend toward consolidation in retailing was at first held as a solution to the competition problem, it is not working out that way. When a new chain of department stores, or association of independents, is formed, the first thing it does is establish more branch stores. Hence the merger movement is increasing the total number of retail outlets, rather than diminishing them. In the mail-order-for-business many new stores are being started in territories which obviously cannot support them. What the retail business needs is "containment" or "production" of new stores, just as the oil industry is trying to curtail petroleum production and the copper business is trying to control copper production. There is only so much purchasing power in this country. If we try to increase the number of stores faster than the normal increase in purchasing power, profitable operation becomes impossible.

Expansion
Also, as the chains expand they reach out into poorer and poorer territory which will raise costs and reduce profit margins. It is likewise more difficult for the chains to attempt to adapt their merchandise quickly to changing styles. Here the independent has a distinct advantage.

The chains are gradually being forced to give more service, carry a greater variety of goods, to take telephone orders, and in some cases are making deliveries and extending credit. The "cash and carry" idea is thus in danger of breaking down. At the same time the independent stores have been forced to increase their efficiency, to adopt more modern selling methods, and to cut down costs. Hence, the chain stores, as a group, still have some advantage over the well-managed independent, but they now do not have anywhere nearly as great an advantage as they had five years ago.

Too Many Retail Stores
I have said that the force of extreme competition is responsible for all these new innovations in retailing. The fact is that we have at least one-third more retail stores than the country can support. The census of distribution clearly proves this. There is one retail store for every 72 persons in this country, and the average per capita volume of business for all stores is only $24 a year. Now in the world any store can operate and pay salaries on such a small volume of business. As a matter of fact, at least one-third of them are operating at a loss. That represents a tremendous waste and burden upon retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers, and especially upon the ultimate consumer who must bear it in the form of increasing prices. And still we go ahead establishing new stores at the rate of about 10,000 a year. Small wonder it is that the failure rate is so high.

Independent Stores
Strangely enough also, there are more small independent stores being formed right now than there are chains. Wholesalers and manufacturers are responsible for much of this trouble. They should not encourage every Tom, Dick, and Harry to start in the retail business. It is not fair either to their own business or to the man who sets up in business, to the legitimately organized retail store, or to the public. Manufacturers and wholesalers are gradually coming to realize this fact. They see there is no profit for themselves unless their retail outlets also can profit. Fidelity of small orders which do not pay for the cost of getting in is the principal reason for the decline of the wholesaler.

Costumes for Street Wear

Large Units Increase
While the recent trend toward consolidation in retailing was at first held as a solution to the competition problem, it is not working out that way. When a new chain of department stores, or association of independents, is formed, the first thing it does is establish more branch stores. Hence the merger movement is increasing the total number of retail outlets, rather than diminishing them. In the mail-order-for-business many new stores are being started in territories which obviously cannot support them. What the retail business needs is "containment" or "production" of new stores, just as the oil industry is trying to curtail petroleum production and the copper business is trying to control copper production. There is only so much purchasing power in this country. If we try to increase the number of stores faster than the normal increase in purchasing power, profitable operation becomes impossible.

Automatic Selling
One of the most interesting methods for large scale merchandising at low cost is selling through automatic sales machines. The possibilities of mass distribution of standard goods by this method are great. Obviously, there are limitations. One would never expect to see millinery, dresses, or other style goods sold in this manner. However, new and enlarged machines now being manufactured, take care of a wide variety of articles formerly sold by person. Introduction of "Robot" devices which talk, saying: "Thank you," "Please pay the cashier," etc. is a feature of many of the machines. Among the articles being dispensed in this manner are, cigarettes, stationery, stamps, books, handkerchiefs, cosmetics, bathing alippers, candy, tinsias, salted peanuts, tinsias, railway tickets, and a number of other standard articles of convenience. The possibilities of expansion are great. Moreover, they do not necessitate new merchandising outlets, but rather can be utilized as cost-reducing factors in existing stores. Hence, instead of increasing retail competition they tend merely to reduce operating expenses.

UNIVERSITY AT MOSCOW PLANS SUMMER SESSION

MOSCOW, March 27 (Special to The News)—Summer school courses at the University of Labor this summer will be devoted in part to preparation of the proposed new course of study for Idaho high schools, according to announcement by Dean J. F. Messenger, director. Courses will run for six weeks, beginning June 10 and closing July 18. Teachers from Idaho schools will form 10 committees to work on the new high school course, under direction of Dr. H. D. Russell, professor of secondary education at the university. Members of these committees will be required to take a university course in curriculum construction. This course may be taken in summer school, by correspondence, or at the regular session.

Cooperating with these committees, it is expected that fully 200 Idaho teachers will work on the new high school plan. A year or more will be devoted to the task. The undertaking is sponsored by the state department of education and the Idaho Education Association. A course of study especially suited to the needs of Idaho students and schools is sought.

New World Spins Around Hoover's School for Mountaineers

Children Become Accustomed To Host Of Visitors And New Ideas

Little Institution on Wooded Slope Along Rapidan River Brings Many Changes To Lonely Section

President Hoover's mountain school (above) has brought new life to the Virginia hills. Miss Christine Vest (inset) teaches a class of all ages (lower left).

By SUE McNAMARA (Associated Press Staff Writer) DARE HOLLOW, Va., March 23.—"Right smart" changes in this lonely section of the Blue Ridge mountains. It has taken President Hoover's mountain school only a few short weeks to leave its mark on the rugged country around Old Double Top mountain. Children who never before glimpsed the ways and means of modern life suddenly have found themselves in a world of visitors, re-forged automobiles, strange ideas and books. A little schoolhouse on the wooded slope along the Rapidan river has caused it all. Only 24 boys and girls trudge up the mountainside to "Miss Hoover's school," as they call it. But there's not a person within several miles who hasn't felt its influence. Christine Vest, who has lived among Kentucky mountain people herself and taught them, faces the task of tutoring these uneducated children. Students range from 5 to 18 years of age. Some have quit school 10 miles away to attend "Miss Hoover's school."

OSTRICH FARMERS HOPE FOR RETURN OF PLUMES

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The ostrich is set for a comeback in the hope of pulling his commercial tailing average to where it was before the war, sent him to the bush league. South African ostrich farmers this year have brought more than 100,000 birds to maturity, according to Dr. Philip Botha, commercial secretary of the South African Ostrich Association.

EFFORT TO STANDARDIZE BRIDGE ENDS IN FAILURE

CLEVELAND, March 27 (AP)—Bridge players simply will not submit to a standardized game. This has been discovered by William E. McKinley, manager of the American Bridge League, after an eight-year campaign to reduce varieties of bridge to one. The more he crisscrossed, the greater became the number of variations in the game. He has been unable to publish 120 different types of forms to suit customers' needs. There are a dozen kinds of score cards, plus traveling

OFFICIAL GETS MANY FROG FARM QUERIES

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—This is an official frog story. "Each year we receive a large volume of requests for information on frog farming," says Lewis Radcliffe, deputy commissioner of fisheries. In a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science. "In general it appears that the principal source of revenue is allegedly successful frog farmers is derived from furnishing for a monetary consideration alleged secrets of how to raise frogs successfully. "I do not contend frog farming is impossible for one who develops means of supplementing natural conditions so as to increase productivity."

He speaks twice each Sunday to a radio church club which has 2000 listeners as members. IDAHO WOMAN PIONEER ANSWERS FINAL CALL

Mrs. Louisa P. Reed, 72, wife of Frank Reed, 446 Main avenue south, pioneer of southern Idaho and a resident of Twin Falls since 1915, died shortly after midnight this morning following an operation at the county general hospital here. She was born in St. Louis in 1858, and came to Idaho from Utah in 1882. Besides her husband, she is survived by six children, Maudie Pickett, Mervyn M. Reed, Andrew Clem, Kimberly, Robert L. Reed, Waldemar P. Reed, Mrs. A. P. Bonar, and George O. Tolman, all of Salt Lake City. All of the children had visited their mother recently. Arrangements for funeral services had not been completed this morning, but it was stated, the final rites probably will be held next Sunday at Marton, Idaho, where Mrs. Reed made her home for many years. The body rests now at the Grossman funeral parlors.

CONDITIONS AFFECT "HEALTH" OF METAL

MADISON, Wis., March 27 (AP)—Even metals get sick, says Willis W. Mechole, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin. To illustrate, he refers to tin. At 18 degrees or warmer, the element is stable as a shiny metal; while below that temperature a "gray powder" is the stable form. This, Professor Mechole says, is known as "tin plague." Sickness in metals comes through pressure, heat and other forces, he says.

WARM TEMPERATURES AFFECT AUTO SPRINGS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 27 (AP)—When a driver's fingers on a cold day feel as if they were stiffening beyond use, his car springs are just as stiff as their best. But when it is warm and his fingers full of strength, the springs begin to get floppy. W. P. Wood, an associate professor of mechanical engineering, subjected valve springs to temperatures of 147 degrees Fahrenheit. He ran other tests down to 100 degrees below zero. At low temperatures he found no change in rigidity, but at high points rigidity deteriorated.

TESTS REVEAL ABILITY TO UNDERSTAND BIBLE

ST. CHARLES, Mo., March 27 (AP)—Parents now may determine how quickly a child is likely to grasp the meaning of a biblical quotation. For eight-year-olds the choices of understanding are found to average 42 in 100 and for 10-year-old intelligence 58, with a regular increase in ages between. This finding is reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Ralph T. Case, Lindenwood college. The analysis is a guide in selecting passages for children, which shall be readily understandable. Tests were tried upon 3200 school children in four representative Iowa school systems. Dr. Case found "there proved to be a linear superior comprehension of the part of girls at every mental age."

WAR AND PEACE SURVEY REVEALS MANY OPINIONS

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP)—A survey among 1400 students of the University of Chicago showed that those who knew war were less favorable to pacifism than non-combatants. The survey, conducted by Professor L. Thurstone, showed Catholics and Lutherans as the least pacifistic of the Christians. Jews were the most pacifistic. Students of foreign or mixed parentage were more pacifistic than native-born students.

SPRING FEVER MYTH PHYSICIAN DECLARES

ATLANTA, March 27 (AP)—There is no such thing as spring fever, says Dr. M. E. Winchester of the Georgia state board of health. "It's entirely a mental thing—this spring fever business," declares the doctor. "The fact is that there is no physiological basis for it. It's a tradition, or something that went-out with hoop skirts. The reason people want to go into the woods on balmy spring days is because the woods are attractive to the eye, the ear, the nose and the sense of feeling."
