FRIENDS OF TARIFF MEASURE CONFRONT SENATE'S BARRIERS

Vice President Curtis Upholds Four Democratic Points of Order and Bill Returns to Conference

WASHINGTON, June 5 (By The Associated Press) - The tariff bill ran up against four insurmountable barriers in the senate today, but hurdled a fifth in the house and tonight was back in conference for the fourth time awaiting correction of its rate sections.

After Vice President Curtis had upheld four Democratic points of order against the conference rates on cheese, wools, rayon, and a provision relating to temporary free entry of cattle from Mexico and Canada for pasture, the house decided to pass the tariff bill.

The decision on the points of order automatically returned the bill to conference. Both houses represented their conferees and Senator Smoot, Utah, chairman of the senate conference committee, said he would call a meeting in the hope that the corrections could be made and the bill reported to the senate late tomorrow.

While the vice president's decision was no surprise to Republican leaders, the move in the house for and against the bill immediately after that branch agreed to another conference with the senate, Georgetown, D. C., Texas, the minority leader and a tariff conferees, made the instruction motion which lost by 41 on a record vote.

The senate had kept the three leather commodities on the free list after the tariff bill was written a scale of duties acceptable to all sides. The conference agreement on the house raised the 10 per cent on hides, from 12 1/2 to 20 per cent on leathers, and 20 per cent on skins.

Senator Barkley, Democrat, Oregon, whose point of order against the tariff bill was sustained, requested returning the bill to conference for a rewriting of its leather clause, made the points against wools, rayon, and cheese, while Senator Hayden, Democrat, Arizona, won his point on the tariff bill.

Huling on cheese, the chair held that the conference duty on this product made from sheep milk and white cheese should be 10 per cent, that in either the senate or house bill.

METHODIST BISHOP WALKS OUT DURING SENATORS' SESSION

Lobby-Committee-Members Await Return of Chairman Caraway to Determine Course of Action

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Left tall to the Senate today by Bishop Caraway, members of the senate lobby committee awaiting the return of Chairman Caraway to determine what they should do about the deficit chairman.

Calling back over his shoulder that he was no longer a voluntary witness and that he would answer no more questions whether unless subpoenaed, Bishop Caraway walked out of the senate committee room with Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, was shaking his head and saying that he was no longer a voluntary witness and that he would answer no more questions whether unless subpoenaed.

The bishop returned with the committee only long enough to tell that he was no longer a voluntary witness and that he would answer no more questions whether unless subpoenaed.

Committee Adjourns Senator Walsh adjourned the committee unit next Wednesday with the understanding that Chairman Caraway would not return until Tuesday, however, he returned tonight that Senator Caraway was on his way to the city. The committee chairman last night in his public statements that Bishop Cannon need not testify.

When Cannon made his dramatic exit, Walsh and Blaine were the only members of the committee to be present. Walsh, however, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, entered and joined in the laughter and applause that greeted the bishop's exit. He was the first time a quorum had been present.

Refusing to quit because of the lack of a witness, Senator Walsh read into the record a statement made by the Illinois anti-Smuth Democrats.

The United Southern Methodist bishop issued his ultimatum to the committee as soon as it convened today. Making his ultimatum in a prepared statement from his pocket which assailed the investigation and got no answer was no longer a voluntary witness.

Makes Charge Cannon said in the statement the committee was not investigating any other organizations which had opposed or favored the "wet" Tammany candidate in 1928 and charged that his examination was "an effort to single out and hold up to the country the anti-Smuth Democrats and myself in particular and the persons whose activities in the campaign required investigation."

Hoover Instructs Borah to Demand Action on Treaty (Continued from Page One) statement asserting that "no case action before members of the senate is fully informed, to compel confessions before every charge of information and every significant document is not before them should be returned, not only by the foreign relations committee, but by every individual senator."

Earlier in the day Senator Walsh, Indiana, the Republican, announced the original plan for taking up the treaty in a special session immediately following the regular session adjournment would be pursued. There was talk yesterday after the president had called Senators Vandenberg, Michigan, and Allen, Kansas, Republican advocates of the treaty.

Senator Walsh issued the following statement after his call at the executive mansion: "The president expressed to me the desire to have the treaty disposed of before we finally adjourned at a special session. I said to him that my attitude was the same as that of the majority of the senate, that is, that it is wholly immaterial to me whether it was disposed of at the regular session or at a special session. That so long as the senate remained in session I would feel it my duty to urge the treaty."

"I did not say to the president, 'I will not support the treaty unless the committee was satisfied to all the steps which would show my lightness of what was promised to the people of the United States and the people of the world when the treaty was...

CHARLES G. DAWES PAYS TRIBUTE TO GOLD STAR GROUP

American Ambassador in Cambridge Refers Casually To Social Seekers Abroad

(By The Associated Press) CAMBRIDGE, England, June 5.—Ambassador Dawes tonight addressed a dinner given by the masters and fellows of Trinity college during which he paid tribute to the American Gold Star mothers and made casual reference to American social seekers in Great Britain.

The ambassador was responding in behalf of 17 noted persons who had been given honorary degrees by Cambridge earlier in the day. The ambassador himself received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

He referred indirectly to those Americans who seek social preference bringing this up in connection with the recent visit of the Gold Star mothers whom he referred to as "the best representatives of my people."

"We have recently had in London," he said, "a body of American travelers representing a cross section of the American people, representing the heart and soul of the American people, representing the boys and girls of the American people—a body of travelers not self-interested, with their minds occupied by thoughts of goodly typewriters or fashionable dresses."

"They brought no social introductions. The credentials which they carried were but the photograph of a son and a few withered flowers from a garden at home to lay on a grave in France."

The ambassador's address was mainly on Anglo-American relations. "Mr. Dawes said in part: 'Reference has been made to the friendly relations of the two English speaking peoples. It exists, and why?'

"It is not because of what ambassadors may say or do. It is not because of what self-appointed spokesmen of the peoples of either country may say or do. It is because of the generous sprinkling of Anglo-American blood in the public life of both countries here could be no such thing as permanent English relations."

"The kindly attitude of the two English speaking peoples exists because of a blood tie and thus rests upon a foundation as immovable as the Rock of Gibraltar."

LAND'S FIRST LADY GOES TO MOUNTAINS

White House Hostess Leaves For Solitude of Virginia Camp to Recover Strength

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Accompanied only by her secretary, Mrs. Herbert Hoover left the executive mansion of White House today for the solitude of the Virginia mountains where she can convalesce from her recent indisposition.

For the first time since she was injured two months ago, Mrs. Hoover this week attempted to resume her normal social activities. With the president, she was hostess at a state dinner on Tuesday and Wednesday attended a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Joseph P. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor.

These occasions left her somewhat exhausted, so Captain Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, recommended that she go to the presidential camp on the headwaters of the Rapidan river, where she would not be confronted by constant demands upon her time and energies.

Dr. Boone said no anxiety was occasioned by the setback in Mrs. Hoover's recovery but that the exacted nature of her back needed complete rest.

Under the caption "Americans who are not representative," The Daily Mail today gave front page prominence to the speech of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes at Cambridge, which the paper interpreted as revealing Americans who seek social preference.

Declaring that in the United States more than in Great Britain mothers and daughters, via with mothers and daughters to be presenters at the British court, the paper said:

"In view of this fact, much significant mistakes in the public administration by the ambassador."

THE HUMAN MIND

The human mind is a peculiar thing. An air mail flyer is lost in the hills of Northern Arizona and has not been heard of since the disappearance of ship and pilot last February.

Comes a space mechanic in an airplane who claims to be the missing flyer. Confronted with a picture of the missing man the mechanic's story collapses and he hurriedly leaves town.

A mental quirk of unknown character operated to prompt the story, in which apparently there was not a word of truth.

Two or three years ago a man named Floyd Collins, while exploring the narrow passages of a cave in Kentucky, was caught fast by a dislodged rock and perished miserably after a week of intensive suffering and far flung newspaper publicity.

Two men at different points within a hundred miles of the scene of the tragedy announced that they were Floyd Collins. Each held to it for days, answered all manner of questions and submitted to cross-examination. Each must have known that eventually his story would be punctured but neither gave in until compelled to do so.

Dozens of similar examples could be offered. Certain people possess the peculiar type of mind which leads to this sort of action. There may be a scientific explanation of the phenomenon but the average normal man finds it difficult to grasp.

Inhibitions in the placement of the individual operate, perhaps, to leave unmanifested some certain urge which is kept in subjection under normal conditions. Comes a situation with a direct appeal too strong to be resisted and the individual so marked—promptly—injects himself into it.

Undoubtedly the human mind is a strange piece of mechanism.

AMORABLE SLAUGHTER

A noble who died the other day is remembered as a challenger for the profits and credit of the famous Lewis machine gun which played so big a part in the World War. He was an enthusiast about firearms.

"A machine gun," he used to say, "is the mechanism which accumulates the greatest amount of human destruction in the shortest possible time, with least difficulty. That is a noble thing. For was not human destruction necessary? And did not the Allies win the war just because of their magnificent rifles? We had not destroyed them, certainly would have been destroyed."

The facts may be granted, and yet the interpretation questioned. Is slaughter or the means of slaughter ever really "noble"? Is it war or peace that is noble, taking life or saving life?

In spite of the traditional story and honor that go with the slaying of men in behalf of one's country or nation, there is a growing disposition to believe the peace-makers. It may be nobler to prevent war than to destroy the enemy after war has been permitted to break out.

STRENUOUS DR. OLIVER

Dr. Oliver Lodge, the famous British scientist who turned from problems of bridges, mines and hydraulics to psychic manifestations and communication between the living and the dead, had one remarkable occurrence. He was daily exercising to keep himself fit. He is eighty years old.

his own bag for the exercise that gives him in addition to the game. Here is a good example for younger men.

A Washington Bystander

BY KIRKE SIMPSON WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—A quarter century of congressional press gallery experience affords an admirable diving board for a plunge into a congressional career.

By way of illustration, observe the technique of Louis Ludlow, a newcomer to the group of gentlemen from Indiana in the house, but a 23-year press gallery looker-on.

The Bystander has heretofore noted the extreme skill with which the said Ludlow has kept the home news bureau burning via his former newspaper colleagues since he crowded into the House.

That was to be expected, of course. Louis knew the game. He knew as news palmer that the finest bait with which to angle for newspaper attention is news, real or imaginary. Happenings, therefore, unknown, as the dictionaries define news. That is what Louis set out to do that the home papers got lots of it.

Opposes Bureaucrats But that was not all. One thing his press gallery career impressed upon him was the growing tendency to concentrate power in the hands of a few men. Jeffersonian Democracy as he described it to the Bystander.

So his major congressional thrust turned out to be his resolution for a commission to study of ways and means of decentralization.

That's quite an undertaking, particularly for a minority newcomer in the house. What chance would any proposal he might make have of serious attention? Mighty little. But did that daunt Louis? Not at all. It merely inspired him to employ his experience as a congressional observer.

What he did was to begin writing letters. Goodness knows how many he turned out, presenting his resolution and a request for comment.

When his case I bring as witness many of the mightiest spirits in the house—throughout America in our generation. Representative Ludlow said in filing the record of the single-handed yet nationwide hearing, he had conducted—and is still conducting—on his plan to launch a drive against the tradition of bureaucracy.

What he followed flouted declarations of support from 17 governors and eight former governors, from 17 state Supreme Court Justices, from men like Thomas, John W. Davis, Owen Young, Daniel Willard, Henry Ford, from bankers, bishops, college presidents and from a host of past or present Republican national committee-men.

Keep an eye on Louis Ludlow, Indianapolis. He may be vice president of the timber in the making. Stranger things have happened.

Guiding Your Child

CULTIVATING DISHONESTY BY MRS. AGNES LYNE Marjorie's mother is a gay and care-free young woman who is always making good resolves which she never keeps.

She promises her husband that she will give up smoking but succumbs to temptation and then binds little Marjorie not to touch her. She takes Marjorie to the doctor and is given a diet list.

But she can't bear to follow it and gives Marjorie the forbidden goodies for which she teases. Next week at the doctor's office Marjorie solemnly bears her mother assure him that she has meticulously followed his instructions.

Over the telephone, Marjorie hears her mother tell a friend that she has a splitting headache and that she can't possibly make a fourth at bridge this afternoon. A half hour later she sees mamma sally merrily out of the front gate with a tennis racket under her arm.

It is to be wondered at that at school Marjorie's teacher politely complains of her as being "indirect." Marjorie's "indirect" methods are but a reflection of the atmosphere of her home.

The mother who dares not in even small, apparently unimportant matters cannot expect that her child will learn honesty.

Small matters of convenience or personal indulgence but the very little child does not understand this distinction and follows the pattern of his parent's behavior as he understands it.

Of course, every adult finds it necessary occasionally to tell small social lies, but it is not until the child acquires a background of experience that he can be brought to see the difference between an untruth told in order to spare the feelings of someone else and one which is told to avoid detection of wrong-doing or concealment of one sort or another.

TOILET SOAP EXPORTS LEAD WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam last year exported six times more toilet soap than he did the shaving and aftershave shampoos, valued at $39,309 pounds, as compared with 1,000,007 pounds of shaving soap, toilet soap, medicated cream, powder and sticks.

Virginia Republicans Fight To Retain Three Seats In House

DEMOCRATIC HOSTS LAUNCH ATTACK TO REGAIN LOST HOLD

Intense Campaign Looms in "Mother-of-Presidents" State Following Primaries

GRAND OLD PARTY CASTS EYES ON FOURTH PLACE

Nomination of C. Bascom For Congress by Hoover Supporters Stirs Up Interest

(By The Associated Press.) RICHMOND, Va., June 5.—Embattled Virginia Republicans, routed in the gubernatorial election of 1929, have girded themselves for a fight to retain three seats in the national house of representatives, won in the 1928 Hooker landslide.

C. Bascom Stemp, former secretary to President Coolidge (left), nominated by Virginia Republicans for congress, Mrs. Sarah Lee Pain, who seeks Democratic nomination, and John W. Flannagan, who will oppose Stemp if he accepts.

They are casting their eyes longly toward a fourth seat now held by a Democrat.

The Democratic hosts, however, are seeking to send to Washington a solid Democratic delegation such as was broken up in 1928 when Virginia, for the first time since Reconstruction, voted as a state for the Republican ticket.

Before launching an attack against the Republican party, the Democrats have their annual intraparty primary battle August 8.

The nomination of C. Bascom Stemp for congress by Republicans of Virginia's "fighting ninth" district has added interest to the campaign over and above the usual interest of the Democratic-Republican contest for control of the legislature.

Stemp, one time secretary to former President Coolidge and to present Republican national committee man for Virginia has not yet accepted the nomination which was made by a convention in his absence.

The coalition of anti-Smith Democrats and Republicans is no more, and a straight Republican movement is offered in the four contended districts.

United States Senator Carter Glass has been nominated for reelection by the Democratic party and no opposition has been offered by the Republicans.

Second District Contest Chief interest in the Democratic primary is centered in the contest in the second district (Norfolk) where three Democrats, including a woman, seek the nomination. The district is now represented by Republican Menelus Bankford.

Mrs. Sarah Lee Pain, who served Norfolk in the Virginia general assembly for several years, is campaigning for the Democratic nomination against former Congressman Joseph T. Deal and W. W. Veltins, a member of the legislature.

Should Stemp accept the Republican nomination he will be opposed by John W. Flannagan of Bristol, a picturesque campaigner.

Democrats have until June 6 to file primary candidates, but the senatorial primary lists have closed.

BUHL'S COUNCIL PLANS TO IMPROVE CITY PARK

BUHL, June 5 (Special to The News)—Buhl city council has authorized improvement in the city park with the placing of 275 new trees and shrubs. Two rock pillars of native lava rock are to be placed at the southwest entrance. The swimming pool is being cleaned with scrapers and the dirt removed to the "fill" ponds around the reservoir. Water will be turned back into the pool in the near future and it will then be ready for children of Buhl and vicinity. Tentative plans are for a swimming instructor to be located at the pool during this summer and a special instructor in swimming and life saving is scheduled for early in August.

IDAHO GEOLOGISTS PLAN FOR SURVEY

Moscow University Faculty And Graduate Students Arrange for Extensive Work

MOSCOW, June 5 (Special to The News)—The most ambitious program of geological field work in the history of the Idaho bureau of mines and geology is planned for this summer, announces Dean A. W. Fahrenwald of the University of Idaho school of mines, secretary of the bureau. The field party personnel and the program to be followed.

Dr. P. H. Laney will spend several weeks in the Beers Devlin mining district in Adams county. This trip is designed to complete Dr. Laney's geological studies of that district which have extended over a period of several years.

Professor Alfred L. Anderson, assisted by Leslie R. Vanger, Ellas, a graduate of this year in the school of geology, will go to the Shoshone and Dolomite mining districts, Cassia county. These districts lie between Burley and the Nevada and Utah lines. These are districts of considerable mining potentialities and Professor Anderson's reports of his work there will be awaited with much interest. At the close of the field season, Professor Anderson leaves for the University of Chicago, where he will study a year in residence for his doctor's degree.

Upper Salmon District D. C. Livingston and John E. Norman, Wallace, also a graduate in geology from the school of mines this year, will take their pack train into the Thunder Mountain region. This region lies in the upper drainage basin of Monumental creek, a tributary of Big creek, which is itself one of the largest tributaries of the middle fork of the Salmon river coming in from the west. Mr. Livingston is well known in Idaho and in the Northwest.

Stewart Udell, recently appointed assistant geologist to the Idaho bureau of mines and geology, accompanied by Joseph K. Cremona, Hailey, Montana, a sophomore in the school of mines, will go into the Little Wood river district, Blaine county. Thomas H. Hill, who has been a graduate student and instructor in the department of geology of the school of mines, accompanied by John T. Carpenter, Moscow, junior in the school of mines, will return to the Boise basin country to continue geological studies of the Baylors quadrangle under the direction of Clyde P. Ross, of the United States Geological Survey. Mr. Hill receives his master's degree this year.

The parties will remain in their respective districts for a period of two or three months.

SHANGHAI PLANS FOR 3000-SEAT THEATER SHANGHAI, June 5 (AP)—Shanghai residents soon may attend the

CANADIAN CITY BOASTS OF MUNICIPAL FOREST

QUEBEC, Canada, June 5 (AP)—The first municipal forest in Canada has been established at St. Charles with the object of preserving farm land.

Later, it is expected to produce Christmas trees and eventually to provide valuable stands of white pine, spruce, birch and other merchantable lumber.

Quebec already has 74 township or cantonal forest reserves, covering approximately 600,000 acres.

An up-to-date theater seating 3000 persons and costing $470,000 is projected. Special tea and refreshment rooms are planned for the new theater.

Bitter Battles Loom In Windy City Track And Field Meet

Hurdles, Sprints And One-Mile Run Attract Interest

National Collegiate Amateur Athletic Association Championships Furnish Grand Climax to College Year

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

CHICAGO, June 5.—Sensational battles in the sprints, hurdles and mile run figure to feature the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships, furnishing the grand climax of the college campaign tomorrow and Saturday at Slaggy Field.

The meet brings together, for the first time this year, the spirit races of the Southwest, Middle West and Far West. If there are no changes to the state, Cy Leland and Claude Dreyer, the twin torchbearers from Texas, will step off the marks against their "Big Ten" rivals, George Simpson, State of Ohio State, and Eddie Yorkoff, Simpson, Braey and Leand, have been the state champions in the 100, 200 and 400 yard sprints.

It was unanimous, if Hubert Kester of the State, and Eddie Yorkoff of the Big Six, in the 100-yard championship, moves into the sprinting party.

Anderson, Washington's great hurdler, divided honors with Dick Rockaway of Ohio State last year, but both will need to be in shape to outstep Lee Sentman, the sensational Illinois timber-topper, who is the most improved college performer of the year.

Anderson has been nursing a bad ankle. The fastest pair of college hurdlers in captivity will renew a duel for supremacy if Ralph Hill of Oregon and Rufus Rier of Washington toe the marks. Hill is the hero of an American record-mile victory over Kester at Eugene, May 17, in 4:18. Rier still will be in a class by himself if he can repeat his grand performance.

One of the leading middle-distance rivals in Oval Martin of Purdue, the Big Ten champion.

Ed Hamm, Georgia Tech, outstanding favorite in the broad jump, will try to beat the best and the world record, Wayne of Northwestern and McDermott of Illinois figure to flir with 14 feet in the high jump. Eric Krenn—Harlow Rothert, the Stanford weight-lifting twins, should

Government Plans Highways To Reveal New Forest Worlds

Congress Authorizes Sum Of $30,000,000 For Road Building In Timberland

Bill Awaits Signature of President Hoover and Backing by Appropriations To Make National Woodlands Fully Accessible

Roads (below) and trails (top) that traverse national forests will be increased by thousands of miles if federal highway program is approved.

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—New forest worlds may be revealed to the public by federal extension of automobile roads and trails.

Congress has authorized an additional $30,000,000 for forest roads and trails, to initiate construction next year, if President Hoover signs the bill and it is backed up by appropriations.

The measure authorizes an extra $3,000,000 for next year and $12,500,000 each for the following two years. The normal cash expenditure has been $7,500,000 annually.

To make the national forests fully accessible, it is estimated that 16,000 miles of roads and 200,000 miles of trails, suitable for pack horse and foot travel, are needed.

In the last 25 years, $100,000,000 has been spent in tapping virgin timberland and in the 157 national forests there have been completed now 16,720 miles of roads and 47,075 miles of trails.

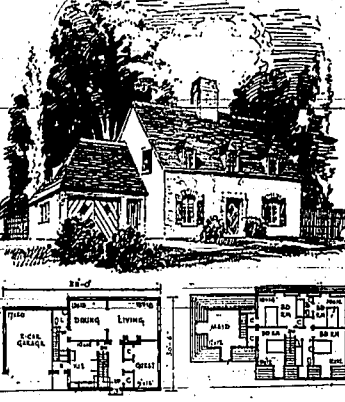

The need of extending motor and foot passages through the wilderness is emphasized by the forest service for purposes of administration, recreation, and fire protection.

Last year the national forests had 31,000,000 visitors, the service estimated, 24,000,000 of whom were motor tourists.

From the point of view of fire protection, 62 per cent of the total area of national forests in the western districts is not accessible to reach and control a blaze after its discovery.

Each year's program is mapped out in conference between state highway commissioners, local district foresters, and representatives of the bureau of public roads in each state.

Six Bedrooms, Lots of Color in This Design

There is more room in this house than one might guess from the outside. Six of the nine rooms actually may be used as sleeping quarters. If necessary, the second floor has four bedrooms, there is a maid's room over the garage, and a room on the first floor may be used as either a guest room or library. Dining room and living room are secluded at the rear. The fireplace adds to the coziness of the latter.

In rainy weather one may enter the living room from the porch by the way of the kitchen, entry, back of which is a pantry and two-tile lavatory.

Colors of color will like this type of house, for the exterior is French in character, which lends itself well to bright decoration. Greens, yellows and browns can be worked into the roof, which may be of either shingles or tiles. A green or French gray for the front door and other woodwork would match well with the warm colors of the roof.

Walls and chimney are of brick, painted white, to set off the color of the roof and woodwork. Additional charm for the exterior may be gained by having the garage and front doors in diagonal pattern as shown, and they could be treated in two colors, contrast with the white of the other dark green. Plenty of color is not out of place in suburban homes such as this.

A woven wood fence to enclose the garden is suggested as it would harmonize with the house. Excellent landscaping would complete the effect.

A lot 75 by 100 feet is desirable for this home, with the house facing north. The cost would run from $10,000 to $12,000.

Babson Avers Banks and Trusts Should Join Together to Avoid Flooding Mart With Securities

Bay State Statistician Declares Chief Cause of Sudden Slump of Values on New York Exchange Due To Lack of Co-operation

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 5.—We prosper only as we serve! That is the motto of the Babson Institute, and it is the motto of the business world as it is in the business world. If our investment banks, investment trusts, and banking syndicates would join together to protect the interests of the public, they would prevent the recurrent over-inflation and deflation of securities. They must gauge the legitimate buying power of the market, and they must more accurately than they did last summer, for example, never before in history have there been a flood of new security issues as we had just prior to the stock market collapse last year. In the first nine months of September and October, 1929, $1,012,000,000 new stock and bond issues were floated. The investment banks and trusts had at least $1,000,000,000 of this amount had to be carried on brokers' loans because they could not be distributed. With credit already stretched to the breaking point, brokers' loans became the final straw that precipitated the greatest stock market crash in history. Investors, investment trusts, bankers, and business men, all suffered great losses. While an adjustment in stock values was bound to come, the over-inflation of the market would have been largely lessened were it not for the large quantities of undistributed securities being dumped upon the market.

Co-operative Study

As we look back upon the financial history of the last year it is clear what ought to have been done. The brakes should have been applied to new securities flotations long before the crash. Instead, in the first three months of last year $2,500,000,000 securities were issued and eight more were offered, totaling nearly $3,000,000,000. As Mr. Fred L. Kent of the American Bankers' association points out, there were $4,000,000,000 of securities that had to be taken by investors in three months. The market was not able to do. Our national income does not permit it. Hence, the resort to inflation of bank credits to carry these securities. The federal reserve authorities issued warnings, which were promptly disregarded. Investment banks and investors, trust themselves were led astray by declarations of greed. If they thought about it all they assumed that the country was so wealthy that there was no limit to its buying power for securities. They had no guide posts based on statistical study of the supply and the legitimate demand for securities.

Following the stock market decline there was an abrupt halting of new security issues. The market was no longer favorable to stock flotations. This, however, was like locking the barn door after the horse was stolen. What is needed is some permanent commission or association which will keep our financial markets posted on the real condition of the money market at all times. The law of supply and demand applies to stocks and bonds just as it does to commodities. You cannot oversupply the investment market with securities at prices any more than you can oversupply coal, cement, steel, lumber, etc., all without similar disaster.

Movement Underway

A movement is now being started by the American Bankers' association, to study this question. It determines nature, and what is worse, prevailing conditions. It is time for the public to the whole investment trust idea. It is time for the trust to class houses, and to force the adoption of an iron-clad ethical code administered by a national organization. Policies must be in accord with the public interest and the general economic and financial welfare.

All Should Contribute

Having organized the legitimate trusts into a national association, then let that association join forces with the Investment Bankers' association, the American Bankers' association, and the New York Stock Exchange, to establish a permanent research bureau to constantly study money conditions, the condition of supply and demand for securities, the need or lack of need for further capital expansion of particular industries, the relation of national income to security offerings, and similar vital questions. This should act as an advisory board to prevent, insofar as possible, such catastrophes as occurred in the financial markets last summer. Industry is organized, but finance is not. We have learned, for example, how to control oil production, and control our oil reserves. We have research bureaus helping to make the conduct of manufacturing. Our manufacturers are in constant touch with data on production, stocks, shipments, and markets in their industries. The time has come when our financial leaders must discard any idea of selfish isolation, and co-operate with one another for the general good.

Business by the Babsonchart now registers 8 per cent below normal compared with 11 per cent above normal at this time last year. (Copyright, 1930, Publisher's Financial Bureau.)

DEVICE TESTS WEAR OF BRICKS IN PAVING

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—The "rattler," a type of shaking machine that has been used for testing the wear of concrete, now receives official scientific rating. The American Society for Testing Materials announced adoption of a contract for testing the strength of paving bricks. Bricks are just barrel-shaped containers, containing stones or other hard objects. The substance to be tested is put in and the rattler is whirled a few hundred times. Then the material under test is removed and exhibited to its critics the same results as would be produced by several years of hard wear.

It consists of a steel rod, to which a small light is attached, suspended from the wall at the thirty-seventh floor, and a camera attached rigidly to the floor. The camera moves with the building but the light remains stationary.

Suffering of 8 Years Ended By Sargon

Mrs. Ida Hendrickson

"I don't believe any man or woman has ever suffered worse from indigestion and stomach trouble than I did for eight years. I was a nervous wreck. The first cure I got was Sargon. I was wonderfully strengthened. Now my stomach troubles, indigestion, and nervousness are things of the past. I took Sargon pills along with the tonic, and the combined treatment had a wonderful effect for me."—Mrs. Ida Hendrickson, Black Lake, Idaho.

From Coast to Coast and from the Gulf to the Great North Sea, Sargon is known and honored. Its fame is based on actual results—not empty words.

WORK BEGINS UPON $22,000 ADDITION

Twin Falls Feed And Ice Company Plans Large Extension of Modern Home

Work was started yesterday clearing away old structures owned by the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company on Fifth avenue south in preparation for an addition 100 by 100 feet in dimensions, two stories high with full basement, to the present building of the company.

The addition, for which plans were drafted by Burton E. Morse, Twin Falls architect, will be constructed by Ernest White and Company, Twin Falls contractors. At a cost of $22,000. The new building will extend to adjoin the building of Simpson and Company and when completed will make the entire connected structure of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company have a frontage of 225 feet, facing Fifth avenue south, with a depth of 100 feet.

Speaking of the matter yesterday, A. M. Baird, proprietor of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company, said that construction had been decided on, after it became evident that the demand for room in the present building would be inadequate to meet the demands of this year. He stated the building would be erected from heavy masonry—brick, similar to the present structure. New machinery will be installed as requirements may demand, Mr. Baird said, but it had not fully determined on what expansion would take place or the cost of additional machinery.

Mr. Baird called attention to the fact that one of the frame buildings, the demolition of which started yesterday, was erected here in 1903 and was the first warehouse ever constructed in Twin Falls. The original structure was 40 by 100 feet in size and was owned by the Pioneer Grain and Storage company, a firm that was composed of W. Craven and P. H. Smith. The building was later sold to others and passed through several hands before it was purchased by Mr. Baird in 1912.

GILLIS THINKS CHANGE FOR NOMINATION GOOD

That his proposals for Republican nomination for the governorship of Idaho appear to be in a thriving condition and improving daily, was the opinion expressed by W. D. Gillis, attorney general, who was in Twin Falls a short time yesterday on his way to Mackay. Mr. Gillis did not claim to have a cinch on the situation, but expressed the belief that his views were excellent.

Mr. Gillis stated that he was on his way to Mackay in an effort to secure compliance, if possible, without litigation, to an order made by the public utilities commission of Idaho to a private water company which furnished the water supply to Mackay. So far, Mr. Gillis said, the company has returned to comply and to the extent it continues to adhere to its present attitude, steps will have to be taken to endeavor to secure obedience.

LOGGERS PLAN SERVICE IN HONOR OF DEPARTED

The Twin Falls Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges will hold memorial service at the Odd Fellows hall, Sunday, at 3 P. M. It was announced yesterday. There will be a musical program and an address by Rev. E. Fleming Bricker, pastor of the Baptist church here. Following the ceremonies at the hall, the members will go in a body to the Twin Falls cemetery where graves of departed members of the organizations will be decorated. The committee in charge has invited all who can spare flowers to bring them to the hall before the opening of the services.

COMMISSIONER ACCUSES JANITOR OF PILFERING

M. C. Ware, chairman of the board of Twin Falls county commissioners, yesterday charged a janitor with pilfering. The charge was made after a complaint filed by a janitor, charging Mike Bohrn, night janitor at the courthouse, more than 10 years past, with theft of three gallons of gasoline worth about 90 cents, from Twin Falls county.

Bohrn was said to have been caught in the act of siphoning gasoline out of the tank of one of the sheriff's office cars standing at the rear of the courthouse early yesterday morning. A deputy sheriff stationed on the premises, seeing an official on watch for persons stealing gasoline from county cars parked outside, was said to have observed the accused man and sounded an alarm. Bohrn had been released from jail at the courthouse and J. C. Morgan has been designated as night janitor in his stead. It was stated.

FIRE DESTROYS COAL SHED IN TWIN FALLS

Fire of unknown cause, which broke out about 6:30 P. M. yesterday destroyed a small coal shed, in the property of Mrs. John F. Hansen, 223 Fourth avenue east. The loss was estimated at between $10 and $20. The fire department arrived promptly and extinguished the flames. The company was called shortly after 11 A. M. to haul dirt, an extension of Second avenue west, by some unknown person, whom it is believed feared spread of a small rubbish fire. As the department force prepared to connect a hose to the plug it was informed that there was no need for its services.

LATTER DAY SAINTS POSTPONE GATHERING

Because of the meetings of the Mutual Improvement association and the Primaries convention which convene in three-day session Sunday in Salt Lake City, the union meeting of the Twin Falls Stake of the Latter Day Saints church has been postponed. The committee in charge has invited all who can spare flowers to bring them to the hall before the opening of the services.
