MITCHELL CALLS ON STATES TO TIGHTEN DRY ENFORCEMENT

Attorney General Outlines Plans for Drastic Rearrangement of Agencies Administering Prohibition

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 26.—Demanding greater activity and effectiveness from state authorities in the enforcement of prohibition, Attorney General Mitchell called today on the states for a drastic rearrangement of government enforcement agencies.

The reorganization will become effective July 1 when the department of justice takes over from the treasury the duty of administering the national "dry."

The attorney general said the present 27 prohibition administrative agencies are scattered among 42 or more departments in some measure to the judicial circuits and the enforcement of the law would be hampered. There now are 87 in conformity with the judicial districts.

The explanation of the plan would bring closer cooperation between the United States attorneys who prosecute violations and the state attorneys who will bear the brunt of enforcement.

Moral obligation is the supreme law of the land," Mr. Mitchell said. "It being in the federal constitution does not make it any less the law of each state. There is no legal way of compelling state legislatures to enact enforcement statutes or to compel state authorities to aid in enforcement, just as there would be no legal way of compelling congress to enact enforcement legislation if it chose not to."

The moral obligation to take measures to enforce the prohibition amendment rests alike on federal and state governments. The power is concurrent and the duty is concurrent. For these reasons it was necessarily understood that state governments should cooperate with the federal government in the enforcement of the law.

The attorney general added that the department would endeavor to "secure that degree of uniformity which can only come through the united efforts of the state and federal governments in the enforcement of the law."

HOOVER GETS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE—VETERANS' RELIEF

Democrats are to take to broaden the measure. Republican leaders in both branches are aware that congress shall remain in session until the veterans' relief legislation satisfactory to the chief executive is passed.

In his message the chief executive said he could not overlook the "discriminations and injustices which this legislation creates, together with the failure to meet the real need that exists among our veterans in a sentimental and sound manner."

"The bill," President Hoover said, "is a wasteful and extravagant manner their goal far beyond the financial necessities of the situation."

"These costs are beyond the capacity of the government at the present time without increased taxation. They are larger than the veterans have themselves proposed."

While the veto message was before the house, Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, assailed the president's statement of opposition to the measure as "full of errors, misleading, inaccurate."

Representative Lathrop and Johnson of Texas, and Milligan of Missouri, and the lone Farmer-Labor—Klaxic Minnesota—voted for the new bill. Representative Hankin, Mississippi, ranking minority member of the World War veterans' committee, although opposed to the substitute measure, asked his Democratic colleagues to vote for it with the hope that the senate might change it to meet provisions that were in the measure the president vetoed.

President Hoover's veto message was read by the house after the branch had applied the resolution to give the new Johnson bill the legislative right of way, with debate limited to 20 minutes and no amendments permitted.

PUBLIC DOMAINS STUDY ADVANCED

Investigators Busy Throughout West Gathering Data for Report to President

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—President Hoover is to receive a report in the fall from the commission on conservation and administration of the public domain which he appointed last year to investigate the practicability of turning over to state control the public lands now held by the government.

Throughout the West, representatives of the eleven public land states on the commission of 20 members are conducting surveys both individually and in small groups. It was said today that a general meeting of all the members will be held in the capital in September or October.

At this meeting a report is to be drafted for the president, which he hopes will be the first step toward withdrawing the government from administration of the more than 2,000,000 acres of land, all the same of which the chief executive expects the commission to point the way to a more intensive conservation program.

Three outstanding problems confront the investigators and to these particular attention are being given: Overgrazing throughout the lands, it was said, diminished the value of range as much as 50 or 60 per cent and the same time destruction of the natural cover has imperiled the water supply. The best method of applying a reclamation service to the West in order to gain enlarged conservation resources, and the question of conserving oil and coal also are being reported and will be covered in the report.

The substitute measure proposes to commit the government to a new policy toward World War veterans, it is reported, having granted compensation to nearly 200,000 veterans and their dependents, but refrained from granting pensions as it did to veterans of other wars.

It provides a minimum pension of $12 per month to all veterans disabled to a 25 per cent degree, with a maximum pension of $40 for full disability and added pensions for those who have to have attendants.

For the first time in the history of pension legislation in America, a battle casualty clause is provided which would give a pension of $25 a month to "retirees" who were wounded in battle.

Within three years it will cost the government between $80,000,000 and $100,000,000 and affect 600,000 veterans. The vetoed bill was estimated to affect between 75,000 and 100,000 veterans and cost the government between $10,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year, in some cases amounting to as much as $200 a month.

such a declaration would stir up further opposition to the East to federal reclamation, but others pointed out that this is a small area, compared with the entire cultivable lands of the nation, and the paragraph was retained.

The resolution declared that not more than 20,000 to 50,000 acres of land can be reclaimed and brought under production annually under the most favorable conditions, and then referred to opposition to the reclamation policy as follows:

"Attacks based on lack of information, misinformation or erroneous assumptions have been made of late years which have led to the discrediting of, by creating a public sentiment against it and ultimately causing the discontinuance of federal reclamation."

Declaring "such abandonment of reclamation would retard the development of the West and reflect unfavorably upon the entire nation," the conference stated that "federal reclamation has been and is of great benefit to the entire nation" and that "its continuance is essential to the future growth and prosperity of the West and the nation as a whole."

Another resolution demanded that all future appropriations and use of water, by whatever agency directed, be retained under the respective state laws exclusively, and a third asked the appointment of a national conference by the western governors' conference to act between seasons of the body.

Governor John C. Phillips, Arizona, the only state executive present at the sessions headed Governor DeWitt C. Davis, here to attend the governors' conference tomorrow, arrived just before adjournment and was introduced to the meeting.

wheat taken out of the 1929 crop. Exact figures on the amount were not given, but Milroy said his organization has withdrawn from the market three times the amount of the 1929 increase in wheat supply.

Private trade estimates have placed the increase at from 17,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels. The department of agriculture estimates it at about 25,000,000 bushels.

Some circles here hope that the stabilization corporation may be able to dispose of its holdings, if prices rise to the level at which the wheat was purchased, the corporation will renew market operations, he said.

Farm circles recalled, however, that most of the "stabilization wheat" was purchased at from $1.10 to $1.20 on the loan basis as established by the farm board when each wheat was selling near the 10-cent mark. Wheat had fallen to the lowest level since 1914, when July contracts were filled at 7 1/2 cents a bushel.

Losses Unavoidable. Even if wheat rose to the loan values and the corporation started to sell, it still would suffer a heavy loss in storage charges.

It was said at the board that Milroy's statement was issued primarily to bolster up a sagging market caused by lack of export, the influx of the new winter wheat crop and the trader's limit operations in the absence of definite assurance that stabilization wheat would not be thrown on the market until the new crop is out of the way.

Denman's statement, it was said, was issued in the belief that lower wheat prices would stimulate consumption, eliminate the temporary surplus of dressed wheat and bring about more stable prices for livestock.

MOTORS

One of the interesting features of Kingford-Smith's Atlantic crossing in the famous old Southern Cross is the fact that this veteran of the skies is five years old.

There are printing presses in use all over America which have been in constant employment for from twenty to forty years and are still discharging their functions. There are stationary engines and motors of all kinds which have been in use for many years...

The average auto engine is abused from the start. It is operated by a man who bought it to go and go and must. When it refuses to go a mechanic is called in, but not often until then.

NEW BUSINESS MAGAZINE

The latest word from Colonel Beach is that he is planning a magazine to be a business ruler. He wants to run his country as an American industrial leader runs his business.

Napoleon's hat, we seem to recall, was under his hat. Not every man can be a Napoleon. But somehow we can't quite visualize a man of Napoleon's stature in the role of a business magazine.

FLANIGAN STEPS ON BREAKFASTSQUABBLE IN CAUSE OF SAFETY

CHICAGO, June 26.—M. J. Flanigan, manager of the Milwaukee food safety bureau, who recently got himself up as a style dictator by forbidding employees to wear neckties because of the possibility of it being caught with signals and who decreed form-fitting clothing as a safeguard against dangling sleeves and turned-up cuffs being caught in moving machinery, is at it again.

His latest ukase is an appeal to wives of the road's employees to refrain from breakfast squabbles. Married discord, he sagely observes, brings about carelessness which causes personal injuries.

In the interest of safety he pleads for a clerical word and a mild belated note from breakfast squabbles at the supper table.

CENSUS RETURNS INDICATE UNEMPLOYED COUNT UNDER ESTIMATES

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Census returns on unemployment announced today fixed the total of jobless persons in an area inhabited by one quarter of the country's total population at 674,671.

These figures, the first yet announced from the national survey undertaken in April as to the employment situation, indicated the total number able to work but unable to find jobs would be in the neighborhood of 20,000,000, which, Secretary Lamont commented, was considerably less than the estimate generally current as to the probable number of unemployed in the nation.

The first return, Secretary Lamont added, constituted a fair sample of the country, since they gave the count from 738 counties and 23 cities scattered well over the continent, though no complete states were enumerated. The figures will be followed by more complete study as the census bureau receives its data, but included every living person over 15 years of age on Monday.

The average unemployment in the country was indicated to be 3 per cent, slightly ahead of the national average. The absolute low of unemployment in a state was indicated in Arkansas where but four-tenths of one per cent of the persons listed were out of work.

The high for a single state was Nevada with 4.3 per cent of its population unemployed as far as a count.

Another high figure of unemployment came from a partial census of Chicago where 4.3 per cent of workers were found on a compilation of somewhat less than half of the city's total population.

Among the larger industrial states, Pennsylvania was listed as indicated—7 per cent unemployed—New York 1.3 per cent, Massachusetts 3 per cent, Michigan 2.7 per cent and Illinois 1.6 per cent. Ohio had 2.3 per cent unemployed, while New Jersey from which only three smaller cities reported a count, indicated 2.2 per cent of unemployed among its labor population.

California on the Pacific coast showed 2.3 per cent unemployment and Colorado in the Rocky mountain territory, 2.8 per cent. It was estimated that in total of unemployed given represented the jobless portion of a total population of 22,646,400 who were individually enumerated by the census agent.

This is the first time in a number of years that a national count of unemployment has been attempted.

Slain Chicago Reporter's Financial Operations Probed in Gangland Probe

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—State's attorneys investigators said today they had uncovered evidence which indicated Alfred "Jake" Lingle, slain Chicago Tribune reporter, had borrowed $85,000 immediately after the stock market debacle last fall.

High public officials and racketeers were among those named as having lent money to Lingle when the stock crash caught him unaware. Among those named and the amounts reported were Samuel A. Etison, corporation counsel and Mayor Thompson's spokesman, $5000; Major Carlos Ames, president of the civil service commission, $5000; Alderman Bert Cronan, Etison's nephew and law partner of Clarence S. Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, $5000, and an unnamed high sanitary district official, $15,000.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

JACK SHARKEY finds himself in the luckless plight of a lackluster pitcher. He has a world of stuff but lacks control. In his bout with Schmeling, the Boston sailor pounded the German with his right, or fast one, and threw some deceptive curves in the form of left hooks, but in the pinch he could not get the ball over and gave a base on balls forcing in the winning run. It was even wilder in his bout with Phil Scott at Miami, several punches landing in foul territory where only one fell on the German, but from a front row-ripgarde seat at each bout, the four or five punches inflicted on the Briton did not seem to do so much damage as the one which struck Schraving. Schmeling's ability to "take it" was one of the big surprises of the abbreviated Milk-Eumund show. The German in the ring did not look like he weighed the 188 pounds shown by the boxing commission scales, but he weathered a storm of hard rights to the face and lefts to the body from his heavier opponent, and certainly could get on top of a while if Sharkey had followed the rule "keep 'em up."

SHARKEY's wild left in the fourth round probably cost him his chance to sit in the boxing hall of fame once ruled by another loquacious Bostonian, John L. Sullivan. The former Gob, however, saw many breaks in his favor before he had one called against him. Two came in Miami. In his bout with "Young" Strickberg, the first so-called battle of the Palms, he had no decided edge over the Georgian and while there was not a great deal of fighting in the affair, Strickberg might easily have given the decision, and with more initiative might have knocked Sharkey out. And certainly Sharkey was never nearer a defeat than when he battered the fragile Scott to the canvas with a series of blows on the leg and hip. And there was a matter of a draw with Tom Heency at Madison Square Garden when most of the outlanders accepted that the Hard Rock from Down Under should have had the decision. One in this mix-up, Sharkey was very close to being knocked out. So perhaps, after all, in boxing as in sports else it all comes out fairly even.

As for Schmeling, he is a crowd hoxer and if he is to keep his somewhat questionable title on straight, he will have to ask how much his opponents know before he enters a ring with them. The Scott who met Sharkey in Miami certainly would out-box the Schmeling who met Sharkey in New York but might not be able to keep his feet and as a light hitter would not offer the danger packed by Sharkey who could outbox the Teuton and hit hard as well.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 25—Shades of "Old Man River," old-Pop Courtney, and the rowing glory that is again Cornell's. In one of the most spectacular, dramatic come backs the Hudson has ever known, Cornell's big red crew made a show of the greatest fleet in intercollegiate regatta history this afternoon, winning the four-mile varsity race for the first time in 15 years to rule again the waves that the Huskies dominated so long in the many days of the late Charles E. (Pop) Courtney.

River again enacted a heavy toll among the leading contenders. Cornell, outriding the waves and outrowing all rivals, not only lifted the blue ribbon prize of the regatta for the first time since 1915, but came within a few seconds of actually sweeping the river as the Huskies divided the first two races of the regatta with their up-state rival, Syracuse.

The Big Six was left with only one member from outside the state of Pennsylvania today as Frank O'Dell of the Phillies finally slugged his way back into the organization, displacing Bill Terry. That one is Babe Ruth, who holds last place, but did his share of the slugging yesterday, getting two hits in four tries for a 3-point increase. O'Dell crashed out, three hits in seven times up in the heavy hitting day to go into fourth place with a .400 average.

McCoy won the first fall in 23 minutes and Sonnenberg the next two in 18 and six minutes respectively. In another match Stanley Baskat of Poland, was the victor when Jack Sherry of Cleveland, was disqualified for kicking after five minutes of vicious going.

Cornell Passes Tech
Cornell took command of the varsity race shortly before the half way mark was reached after the surprising Massachusetts Tech crew competing in the regatta for the second time, had set a sensational pace from the start. From the two-mile mark on, Cornell shook Massachusetts Tech and was unchallenged except by Syracuse for the rest of the long race, drawing away from the galling orange boat load in the last mile.

MIDWEST FARMERS INCREASE USE OF SOIL FERTILIZERS

In Iowa, "Realm of Everlasting Soil," Applications of Plant Food Gain By More Than 70 Per Cent

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 25.—Midwestern Iowa, the realm of everlasting soil, has seen a greater rate of increase in the use of fertilizers last year than any other in the nation.

The actual tonnage was negligible compared to that of the long-farmed lands of the South and West, but it ranked among students of soil fertility a question of whether Western soil, too, was beginning to weaken under the strain of heavy crops.

In Iowa, where it was commonly believed the soil never could be exhausted, the application of fertilizer was increased 70 per cent over 1918. Iowa, however, used only 10 per cent as much this heavy compared with the 10,000 tons used in 1918, was insignificant besides such countries as the 1,500,000 tons used in North Carolina.

Use of Lime
Professor J. L. Bostman, Iowa State college, estimates that more than 25,000 Iowa farmers applied lime and fertilizer in 1919, as against 17,000 in 1918. More than 11,000 of that number used 250,000 tons of ground limestone.

The rate of increase over 1918 was 16.6 per cent in Minnesota, 23.1 per cent in Wisconsin, 27.4 per cent in Texas and 32.9 per cent in Texas and 69 in Oklahoma.

Professor E. E. DeTurk, University of Illinois college of agriculture, says Illinois farmers used 750,000 tons of ground limestone last year, as against 500,000 tons in 1918. He says the soil for alfalfa and sweet clover.

Dr. C. C. Fletcher of the bureau of chemistry and soils does not see the increased use of fertilizer in the West so much as a result of weakened fertility, but as the result of better understanding of the economies of plant food.

Western farmers, he says, are using fertilizer as a farm "tool." They are putting it in their "bearing" practices to drop some of the marginal land and make a greater profit on few acres.

Sell Still Fertilizer
Corn yield in Iowa "bear out" Fletcher's theory that the soil has not weakened sufficiently to cause all the increase in the use of fertilizer. The average yield was 35.7 bushels per acre in 1919, 35 bushels in 1918 and 40 bushels in 1920.

Crabbing, however, that farmers buy more fertilizer than their crop brings more money, it is shown that the average farm price of Iowa corn in 1919 was 30 cents a bushel, 27 cents a bushel in 1918 and 70 cents a bushel in 1920.

MELLON CAUSTIC IN COMMENT ON BILL

Treasury Secretary Terms Measure to Prohibit Sale Of German Bonds Unsound

WASHINGTON, June 25 (AP)—Unfaded opposition to the McFadden resolution to prohibit purchase of German reparation bonds by American banks was expressed by Secretary Mellon on the ground that it was unnecessary and that government interference with private capital would not be "sound policy."

Applying before the house banking committee, the treasury head described the measure as "ineffective" because federal reserve banks have no authority to purchase such bonds, national banks are limited to the purchase of "MIRACLES" securities under regulations prescribed by the comptroller of the currency, and state banks are governed by state law.

Mellon said "Good, sound foreign bonds are beneficial to the country" because the "world is getting closer" every day and international loans are essential to international trade.

FEDERAL FUNDS AID CAMPAIGN TO CURB MENACE TO WHEAT

300 Field Workers Labor to Exterminate Plant Responsible For Parasite

TOTAL OF $379,920 FINANCES PROGRAM

Supervisor Advises Hybridization and Prevention of New Forms of Disease

Donald Fletcher (inset) is supervisor of field workers in 1930 program to eradicate the common barberry, which spreads destructive black stem rust.

By FRANK I. WELLER (Associated Press Farm Editor) WASHINGTON, June 26—With $379,920 in federal funds to aid their campaign, 300 field workers have received a 12-year battle to eradicate the common barberry.

"His task is spurred by a discovery that a black stem rust, in its recent stage on the barberry, is quite capable of originating new physiologic forms or parasite strains to attack resistant varieties of wheat as rapidly as scientists can breed them.

Donald Fletcher, field supervisor, says the 1930 program of eradication has a two-fold purpose: to reduce the amount of rust, and to prevent the origin of new forms by hybridization.

The barberry bush is the one essential factor in the life cycle of black stem rust. On no other plant can the black, or reproductive spores, center the seed stage of the parasite.

Rust Resists to Grain

Bred on the underside of barberry leaves in the spring, rust spores move to the growing grain in summer. By the red stage, the rust has then both black and red spores, the former living through the winter on straw, stubble and wild grasses preparatory to the spring advance on the barberry.

While red spores are capable of production, there is no case on record of their surviving north on wheat.

Complete eradication of the barberry would break the life cycle of rust in the north, as it will be possible for high, strong winds to carry red spores up from the south where they withstand the milder winters and periodically re-new mild rust epidemics.

Barberry eradication has been in progress since 1918, after an outbreak of rust estimated to have cost $185,000,000 in wheat losses in 1918. At that time it was generally believed that rust epidemics were caused by insect-borne winter wheat.

Federal appropriations since eradication started have totaled $3,692,715, and states have contributed in cash and kindred aid $915,657.

Barberry bushes killed by applications of salt, kerosene or grinding total 18,452,000 in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa,

CALIFORNIA FARM UNIT BOOSTS RADIO

Continuation of Daily Local Market Reports Depends on Federal Hearing

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 26 (AP)—Continuation of California's network of market reporting hinges upon the outcome of a hearing before the federal radio commission in July.

In the last two years the state department of agriculture, in co-operation with the federal marketing service, has developed an eight-station network to carry prevailing prices on agricultural products. These reports have been broadcast three times a day by KQW, San Jose.

The price gathering stations cover quantities where some particular commodity is grown in the greatest quantities. Reports are sent to Sacramento for compilation, the quotations then are relayed to San Jose by short wave and rebroadcast on 266.9 meters from KQW.

Radio Aid Sales

The California board of agriculture maintains that the farmer with portable or seasonal crops usually has to sell his produce before it leaves the farm at the price offered by a buyer. With the radio service available, the farmer has been stabilized and the grower in a position to demand the market price.

The summer broadcasts will consist of grand opera in English, local minstrel shows and the numerous dance orchestras which play at the seaside resort. There also will be organ recitals from the huge organ in the new Civic auditorium.

Doctor Warns Heliophobes To Beware Of Sun's Peril

If Your Skin Will Not Tan, But Blisters and Burns, Keep Covered, Says Pabst

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—A warning is issued to heliophobes to keep out of the sunshine this summer.

Dr. Charles F. Pabst, of Greenpoint Hospital, Brooklyn, says: "A heliophobe is one whose skin is morbidly sensitive to the effects of the sun's rays, and whose skin will redden, blister and burn, but never tan. A heliophobe should not try to become a bronze Venus of Adonis."

Dr. Pabst has five rules both for those who wish to avoid danger of sunburn and for those who desire a fashionable tan.

Acquire a coat of tan by short exposures.

If your skin will not tan, you are heliophobe, and should not expose yourself, as every new exposure means a new burn.

Do not sleep on the beach in the direct rays of the sun.

Rays Reflect

When fishing or sailing, remember the water reflects the ultraviolet light which may burn you.

During June, July and August protect yourself from direct rays of the sun, as a severe case of sunburn may cause serious illness, and even death.

Every year Dr. Pabst says, 200,000 working days are lost because of illness due to sunburn, which represents an annual loss of $1,400,000.

A heliophobe in a beach costume like this need not fear dangers of sunburn.

RUSSIAN DIRECTOR OF COMMERCE BUYS AMERICAN PRODUCTS

Chairman of Amtorg Trading Corporation's Board of Directors Spends Millions on Farm Machinery

(By The Associated Press)

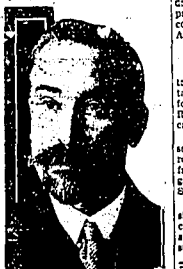

NEW YORK, June 26—A jovial 48-year-old man who wears a luxuriant beard with the air of a duke is the chief business representative of the Soviet government in the United States.

As chairman of the Amtorg Trading Corporation's board of directors, Peter A. Bogdanov supervises the purchase of millions of dollars' worth of agricultural and industrial machinery from America for use in Russia.

In his office on the eighteenth floor of a Fifth avenue skyscraper, Mr. Bogdanov sipped tea from a silver removes as he discussed industrial relations between his country and the Soviet Empire.

Six months in the United States have impressed him with the hustle and bustle of American life, but his

PETER A. BOGDANOV English still is sketchy, so an interpreter conveyed his thoughts. Russia would buy even more from the United States, said Mr. Bogdanov. If American banks were willing to extend more credit, Russia's present purchases in American, he explained, are limited by credit available here. For this reason, he continued, much Russian business goes to European countries where credit flows more easily.

A civil engineer himself, Mr. Bogdanov has been surprised to note in perfection with which problems of construction have been solved in American buildings and subways.

Rides Horseback

He likes to ride horseback, play tennis and take through the mountains. Music has a special appeal for him, and he is pleased to note Russian influence in several American plays.

Born in Moscow, Mr. Bogdanov served in the war with Russian desertion on the Gallipoli front. In 1918 he began work to organize Soviet industry through the Supreme Economic council.

In New York he lives in a Riverside drive apartment. He has four children, the eldest two of whom are students at the Higher Technical Institute at Moscow.

GUARDSMEN'S CAMP DESCRIBED TO CLUB

Kiwanians Hear Military Engineers' Condemn Curtilment of Rail Service

An interesting description of the work of the Idaho national guard units at the summer camp at Idaho Falls was given at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club at noon yesterday by Major J. L. Hodgson and Captain F. E. Johnson of the 11th engineers. The meeting was presided over by C. A. North in the absence of H. J. Robinson, treasurer.

All-Kiwanians might well be observed at the Hodgson hotel here Monday night by the 10th, 11th and 12th Twin Falls clubs, simultaneously with the opening of the International convention at Atlantic City.

Condemn Train Curtailment

The club adopted the following resolutions regarding the adoption of a new schedule on the Oregon Short Line branch of the Oregon Short Line railroad:

"Whereas, the Oregon Short Line Railroad company has been operating a line of railroad between Twin Falls, Idaho, and Wells, Nevada, and giving daily freight, passenger, express and mail service both ways for the past year and a half or more; and

"Whereas, the said railroad company has recently discontinued said daily service and inaugurated a tri-weekly service instead which very much is not satisfactory to the City of Twin Falls and surrounding territory, and is a backward step in the advancement of the interests of this community and is wholly unwarranted;

"Therefore, be it resolved, That we, as members of the Kiwanis club of Twin Falls and citizens of this community, condemn the action of said railroad company in the curtailment of its railroad service over said line between Twin Falls, Idaho, and Wells, Nevada, and request that said railroad service be restored to its former status."

"No wonder Papa was a perfect boy," Grandma was his mother, the young fellow says, "and she didn't crank up any can." Willie Willis is a member of the Kiwanis club.

RAIL MEN ASSERT CONDITIONS GOOD

Idaho And Utah Suffer Least From Business Depression, J. L. Amos Says

"Business in the states of Idaho and Utah has suffered less from the general depression than any other part of the country," J. L. Amos, Salt Lake City, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific system, said here yesterday.

Mr. Amos, with T. B. Kinsinger, Salt Lake City, superintendent of traffic, and Earl Priest, Boise, general passenger agent of the Oregon Short Line, was here yesterday consulting with H. W. B. Wright, secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, relative to the service on the Wells branch.

"Crops in this section and Utah promise to be better this year than last," Mr. Amos continued, "and this is encouraging. It is impossible, of course, to realize at this time the full results of this until we know what prices will be—something which cannot be foretold at this time."

Nothing has been given to the public relative to the result of the conference, but it is understood that the matter is under advisement of the present—and will be given further consideration. The railroad officials felt that evening to visit several other points. They asserted that business in general has fallen off over the system, that it is very light at this time on the line between Twin Falls and Wells and that it was planned for daily service to be resumed as early as conditions warranted, shortly after September 1.

CITY HOLDS SPRINKLING REGULATION IN RESERVE

Although no legal notice has been issued regarding days for watering laws in this city, as provided by the resolution adopted by the city council Monday night, several owners had asked at the city hall whether the rule was already adopted. It was stated yesterday by G. M. Clark, city clerk. The resolution, authorized T. A. Sanderson, street commissioner, to issue an order putting the resolution into effect at the event that use of water at any time should be great enough to endanger fire protection.

It will require three days legal publication should be felt necessary to set up into effect before users will be under obligation to obey it. "So far there has been no reduction in pressure requiring any regulations, hence no legal publication has been made. It is considered possible that it will not be necessary to publish any time, depending as it does largely on weather."

Should the order be put into effect at any time, violation will be punishable by a fine of $5.

ROADSIDE INFORMATION LEADS DRIVERS ASTRAY

Dependence on roadside information is one of the greatest causes of annoyance and inconvenience during the touring season, according to R. O. Cole, manager of the Idaho State Automobile association, affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Cole points out that with a network of highways extending in all directions and changing from day to day because of construction or other, it is almost impossible to keep a motorist from being misled. He declares that the handling of the nation's motor transportation is as complicated as the movement of trains and requires the attention of experts in routing and scheduling.

"In the past," he says, "car owners have been hesitant to consult maps due to their unfamiliarity with them and the trouble of folding. However, highway maps are now greatly simplified and for motor-travelled highways, route cards may be secured from motor clubs.

"The modern motorist has a choice of routes, and are kept 'up to the minute' in addition to the Idaho State Automobile association publishes directory maps twice each month, giving details on all national highways and beyond-saving time and trouble for the car owner, also serve to reduce the travel expenses.

SHEEP BUYER WANTS RETURN OF PAYMENT

Action was instituted yesterday by S. T. Hamilton, attorney in behalf of Ed King, sheep raiser, against W. V. Sharp and D. T. Sharp, filers of $2214, which the complaint alleges were advanced to the defendant for partial payment of the purchase price of 1500 sheep—which it is alleged, the defendant subsequently sold to the plaintiff. According to the conditions of the contract, the sheep were to be delivered either on March 10 or April 1, 1930. On the face of the contract, the plaintiff was the complainant, "to pay defendant $2250, but as it proved that the sheep were not delivered on the date the actual payment made was $2214. The complaint says that on March 10, 1930, the defendant was notified to see the sheep, but that delivery was refused and that the sheep were sold to another person. The complaint states that defendant refused to return the partial payment, for which action is brought, on demand therefor.
