Babson Reveals Factors Tending To Cause Recovery of Prices in Nation's Leading Farm Products

Bay State Statistician Declares Values Below Cost of Production Eventually Will Bring About Own Correction

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABBON PARK, Mass., July 31.—Evidence accumulates that the smacking decline in grain prices being carried low here. What is lower than it has been since 1914 and approaches the 1907 panic level. What now appears to be well defined, even taking in account world depression, lack of export demand, surplus supplies and all the other unfavorable factors: There is a time in falling prices when a commodity becomes definitely unprofitable. That would seem to be true in wheat today. It applies also to certain other grains. The world will always need grain. It grain were some luxury commodity, or one that would go out of style, then there might be no limit to the drop; but it is a basic industry such as farming, which is the real foundation of our wealth, there is no definite limit.

Factors For Recovery

What, then, are the factors that may cause a recovery in farm prices? First, bargain prices are being indicated to doubt this, watch the crowds at a sale or bazaar where you will find real bargains in merchandise are being offered, even in times of business depression. Second, staple farm products are selling far below the cost of production, a situation which always causes great pressure in any line of business, but which in wheat brings about its own correction. Present grain prices are so discouraging to the high cost producer that they will almost surely curtail the planting of winter wheat this fall, and will be very careful about planting spring crops next spring. With sentiment for cutting down acreage gained, the grain market should strengthen in advance of its actual occurrence.

Below Production Cost

It costs the farmer about $1.24 a bushel, on the average, to produce wheat in this country. This includes charges for his own seed, fertilizer for his family, and a fair charge for the use of his land on a cash rental basis. Therefore, if the price of wheat equalled the selling price of wheat, the farmer would be paid for his time and his investment, but would make no profit. However, instead of $1.24 wheat is bringing about $0.85, a five cent manufacturer, a shoe or automobile, offered the public those articles at 25 to 30 percent of the cost of production, the public would feel that it was getting a tremendous bargain and would not be cleaned out in a week.

Weather Conditions

It is a mistake to place too much reliance on the early crop estimates. The critical growing conditions of July and August will paint an entirely new crop picture. Recent unprecedented hot and dry weather here and there the crops are good, an illustration of how conditions can change before crops are fully harvested. In many areas a full turn in prices, 1924 was an example. Up until the middle of June wheat prices were very low in the nation. The crop of heavy crops and burdensome supplies. These and other unfavorable conditions altered the whole picture, and prices at once improved. Incidentally, the fact probably saved the Republican party from defeat in the fall of 1924.

Hayting made rapid progress with the second crop of alfalfa mostly in the stack in the lower valleys, and meadow hay going up in the higher sections. The grain harvest is in full swing in the lower sections with good yields and prices improving rapidly. Apples and pears are doing well in most localities, except that some summer apples are defective, possibly on account of injury in the severe freeze last winter. Irrigation water is still sufficient in most of the larger projects, but falling in several smaller ones. The range is dry in many localities. # Beet Growers Meet to Develop Cooperative Marketing Unit

SUGAR PRODUCERS MOVE TO OBTAIN FARM BOARD HELP

Representative Farmers in 17 States Trek to Session in Greeley, Colorado

BODY SEEKS BETTER BARGAINING POWERS

Growers Share in Proceeds of Sale of Completed Products in Plans of Marketing

Sugar beet growers will meet August 2 in Greeley, Colorado, to frame a national cooperative marketing program. Typical beet loading scene (above) and field workers (below) are shown.

(By The Associated Press) GREELEY, Colo., July 31—Representative growers from 17 sugar beet-producing states will meet here August 2 to develop a national cooperative marketing program.

Sugar beets, having been declared a commodity by the federal farm board, now are eligible to be handled by a farm product under the agricultural marketing act.

With their product designated as a commodity, beet growers are privileged to set up an advisory committee which allows them the power to suggest and discuss with the farm board plans for stabilization.

The board says, however, that emergency stabilization is not in the picture. For the present, growers are concerned chiefly with the development of a better bargaining power.

Two organizations in the sugar beet country there are only two cooperative organizations—one at Greeley, with 4000 members, and one at Salt Lake City, with 3000 members. They are bargaining associations the officials of which meet once a year with agents of refineries to set prices for the crop.

While the proposed national marketing association will operate for cooperative members only, the sugar advisory committee will act for the processors as well.

Beet processors and growers are closely allied through a sliding scale arrangement, by which manufacturers guarantee growers a minimum price based on the sugar content of the beets as well as on the net price received for sugar.

In no other country and on no other crop is the farmer known to have the advantage of sharing in the proceeds of the sale of the finished product manufactured from his crop.

More Blowers in Growers The whole program is described as an effort to obtain for the grower more money for his beets in relation to the price of sugar, rather than a mere to obtain more money for sugar on a contract basis.

Despite increased duty on Cuban raw sugar, the price of refined sugar for the protection of domestic cane and sugar beet producers—the price of refined sugar has fallen off about 15 cents per 100 pounds since the new tariff was enacted.

There are about 100,000 farmers growing sugar beets in the United States. In 1929 a total of 717,000 acres yielded 7,272,000 tons of beets having a farm value of approximately $27,000,000.

The condition of the crop this year is about the same as last, with the prospect of a slightly larger acreage.

NEW DEVICE MEASURES ALTITUDES ACCURATELY

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—A new "rule" that measures altitude within 63-millionths of an inch has been made for the United States geological survey.

The instrument, fashioned by R. L. Atkinson, chief of the division of field equipment, is a precise level for determining altitude above sea level.

By eliminating errors of old instruments the new apparatus is expected to prove practically valuable in accurately measuring mountains to get information about earthquakes.

While the proposed national marketing association will operate for cooperative members only, the sugar advisory committee will act for the processors as well.

Beet processors and growers are closely allied through a sliding scale arrangement, by which manufacturers guarantee growers a minimum price based on the sugar content of the beets as well as on the net price received for sugar.

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Increased use of automobiles is partly blamed by the public health service for gains in hay fever cases.

Motoring has brought more people in contact with quantities of pollen, the department believes, and "war" against weeds is recommended.

Increase in suburban living, also attributed partly to the use of automobiles, also was held a factor in hay fever gains.

Hay fever has increased until nearly 8,000,000 people in the country are believed suffering from hay fever or asthma, or both.

EXPERIMENT PREVENTS RURAL CAR ACCIDENTS

WILMINGTON, Del., July 31 (AP)—A county's experiment in mounting rural guards at country crossroads during heavy week-end traffic is showing the way to preventing motor accidents.

No accident has marred the scheme of using part-time intersection police, inaugurated a year ago in New Castle county, at 14 rural crossroads.

The experiment was initiated by Charles E. Grubb, now with the American Road Builders' association.

The scattered intersection officers, stationed at important cross lanes, maintain contact by telephone with rotating motorcycle police who watch the roads between the fixed points.

With a cost of $300 a season for each intersection, the service was found to be less costly than traffic lights and more flexible in character.

Rosenberg's Presence of New York Nine Draws Hebrew Fans

Fortune Smiles On Western Boy Under Big Tent

Former Heavy-Hitter For Missions in Letter Tells Home Folks of Punching Clock and Price of Error

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND (Associated Press Sports Writer) SAN FRANCISCO, July 31—Every rookie dreams of the day when he will be a leader in the big baseball tent of the major leagues. A few succeed; more fall.

Harry Rosenberg, the young Hebrew outfielder who went up to the New York Giants for three months of professional ball with the San Francisco Mission, is one recruit who will be a success. He is a big, strong, fast player, and a few million Jewish citizens of the big city have waited long for one of their descendants who would step up to the plate and sell out Babe Ruth.

John McGraw, chairman of the board of the National League, thought his trouble over when he picked up Andy Cohen, second base man, but that young man failed to elude. While he played, however, the burnouts followed from the increased attendance. Money talks in any language and McGraw never has been accused of not being a good interpreter. Therefore, when he heard that a 21-year-old youth, whose name was "Rosenberg," was pounding the apple around a 400 club in the Pacific coast league, he promptly laid out $40,000 in cash and players.

Rosenberg's fortune is far from being the greatest prospect to graduate to the majors but certainly he is one of the most fortunate. From a small town in the New York State in a few months is considerable of a jump. Such is the situation of Rosenberg, who will be tutored by one of the greatest leaders in the league. In his first letter home, Young Rosenberg, unknown to his father, Mr. McGraw, was so anxious to obtain his services, he was anxious to obtain his services. He is a big, strong, fast player, and a few million Jewish citizens of the big city have waited long for one of their descendants who would step up to the plate and sell out Babe Ruth.

all my life I'm going over big with them and they wait after the game, thousands of them, to look at me. It is a lot different up here. We have to punch a clock in the morning, since 10 o'clock and McGraw comes out just when the game starts and runs the club with white collar. What a man! You can hit two or three over the fence and he won't look at you but make the lead batter and he will buy you out. They (the players) have to answer 'yes' or 'no' to him.

Charge on error against Shaker who wrote 'What's in a name?' And so, readers, Reed Monna, the Hawaiian heavyweight, walked out of the gymnasium and we haven't heard from him since. His idea on playing didn't coincide with those of John Burdick, old time conditioner. Monna, looking a little attracted into Tawak's gym and wanted to train. He had no trunk, shoes or equipment. Burdick said, 'I'll tell you how to train without any paraphernalia. Go out to Golden Gate park and run 10 or 15 miles every day.' Monna reflected, then remembered he would have to use his own feet for the running. Ed's Monna.

CRIPPLED BRITISH AIRCRAFT ARRIVES

(Continued from Page One) to Montreal, 15 miles away, and started over the city at 1:40 A. M. The plane flew low with lights shining and searchlight playing on the ground.

The storm which swept down the water forced the motor to stop and to detach from its course as it neared St. Hubert tonight. High winds and heavy rain were reported.

The R-100 was a torn fabric, too serious, its commander did not disclose. For more than four hours it hovered over the island of Orleans, a small Quebec, almost motionless, while it presumed the crew repaired the damage.

The damaged fabric caused a great reduction in the craft's speed which prevented it from reaching the airport before the storm broke. It had been scheduled to arrive about 11 o'clock, and thousands of persons who had lined the flying field were forced to return home disappointed.

Weather conditions had been perfect up until 9 o'clock when a sudden squall struck St. Hubert and the water to the Northwest.

The R-100 was slowly making her way up the St. Lawrence at that time and when a weather report was broadcast, the plant director, rather than run into further difficulty, turned about and followed the white of the wind.

In one hour and a half the ship made hardly more than four miles straight away while it tossed in the edge of the storm. It based over Quebec, about 90 miles from the flying field, but was still cruising about.

REPORT LOOSE FLAP ST. JEROME, August 1 (AP)—Quebec, July 31 (AP)—Captain Harvey St. Martin, Montreal, who flew over the R-100 at the Island of Orleans today, reported there was a large square of loose fabric in the top of the surrounding fabric and believed it was a patch the crew had used in repairing the ship. He said the airship seemed barely to be moving when he left the scene.

A SUGGESTION in which John J. McGraw is said to concur, that the pitching distance be reduced to aid the pitchers in curbing heavy batting, may not find universal favor with the pitchers.

SUNNY JIM BOTTOMLEY started it when he batted for the pitcher and drove the ball over the fence. Later Pucinelli, of the new school of Cardinals, took his bat in hand for another pitcher and he drove the ball out of the park.

Home runs by pinch hitters have not been infrequent in the major leagues, but four in one afternoon in the same park is a bit out of the ordinary.

EARLY POTATOES LEAVE WEST END FOR CHICAGO

BUHL, July 31 (Special to The News)—The first carload of Buhl's early potatoes raised by P. J. Allipoli, the first crop of the 1930 crop, left the Buhl district, left the local station Wednesday. The tubers were sold to Chicago commission men who were here this morning inspecting them in this locality. Mr. Allipoli together with his brother, George E. Allipoli and a brother-in-law, P. F. Hefflinger, will have about 20 cars of the early spuds. The price for this early variety will run from $1.40 to $1.50 per hundred-weight net to grower. The potato crop is running about two weeks earlier than last year. The growers here is probably larger than last year and the production will probably be larger. It is too early to set estimates on the price of late potatoes but many indications point to a condition similar to 1927 when the market stood at about 31 per hundred-weight for number 1s.

SHIP CARRIES RADIO AND SPECIAL LIGHTS

Airman Plans to Take Tiny Mouse to Detect Presence of Deadly Carbon Gas

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, July 31.—Captain Frank Hawks' four-horse-powered, open-cockpit, license number 1313 on his "mystery" ship, failed him in a test flight but he will make a delayed attempt to knit the Pacific and Atlantic coasts closer than ever before.

The crash of his sky speeder which left the twin-engine New York-Los Angeles flight, 2700 miles each way, until some time this month when the former military flier will attempt to establish the fastest time ever made by man on the route.

Captain Hawks' immediate goal will be the record of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, who flew from California to New York in 14 hours, 45 minutes and 32 seconds.

Plans Three Stops The Lindbergh averaged 177 miles an hour. Captain Hawks expects his plane to carry him between 225 and 240 miles an hour, with 15-minute stops each way at Indianapolis, Indiana, Wichita, Kansas, and Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Favorable flying weather will be sought at an altitude of 10,000 feet where his skill in navigating as well as in piloting will be tested.

His silver and red monoplane has room for one person but there will be a flying companion—a tiny mouse to detect carbon monoxide, deadly gas from the engine exhaust, filling the cockpit.

Carries Equipment Though the plane has been stripped to the bone, it will carry a special radio receiver set for obtaining weather reports, airplane flares for emergency landings, and navigational lights.

In June, 1929, Captain Hawks flew from Roosevelt field to Los Angeles nonstop in 19 hours 19 minutes 22 seconds, rested a few hours and returned in 17 hours 38 minutes 17 seconds.

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP)—Radio set production will have increased to normal by August 15, it has been estimated. The estimate was made by Martin P. Flanagan, executive secretary of the Radio Manufacturers' association. "Producers of raw material and parts, as of July 15, were operating on a 60 per cent basis," he said, "and because of orders on hand the 60 per cent will have reached 100 per cent by August 15." Many cabinet manufacturers have business on their books that will keep them busy on a 100 per cent basis at least until the close of the year.

SCIENTIST REPORTS ON EARLY ASIATIC PEOPLE

PHILADELPHIA, July 31 (AP)—A little-known Caucasian race furnished the "pioneers of civilization" more than 6000 years ago in Asia Minor. A report that their existence has been established beyond doubt, and that they probably were of the Alpine race, is made in the American Philosophical society by Ephraim AVIGOR, speaker, assistant professor of Semitic languages at the University of Pennsylvania. Six thousand years ago, he says, nameless artists of the first city of Sumer had attained such complete mastery of pottery that their ceramic masters were not strayed again until the Greek times 2800 years later. Passengers on French railroads frequently pay for their telegrams with postage stamps.

For 21 years Dr. Knight has been studying the chemistry of precipitation, and when it rains he knows what it is raining.

Two Young Men, Taken as Suspects, Confess Theft And Return Cash Loot

I. Holloper yesterday recovered $70 that was stolen from his car parked at the rim of Snake river canyon near Twin Falls Wednesday afternoon, and two young men who pleaded guilty to the theft were sentenced by Justice of the Peace F. E. Bell to pay fines or serve confinement in the county jail.

Clarence Coffey, 19, and Wayne Nygard, 20, both of Kimberly, yesterday confessed the theft, were arrested at Kimberly Wednesday night within an hour after Holloper reported his loss at the sheriff's office here.

Coffey was sentenced to pay $50 fine, and Wayne Nygard to pay $25 fine. A third young man, Fred Nygard, 20, cousin of Wayne, who was held with the other two at Kimberly Wednesday, was released when he told the officers that although he had been with the other two when the money was taken he had urged them to leave it alone. His story was not disputed by the other two.

Coffey announced that he would serve a jail term rather than pay the fine, and he was remanded to the jailer's custody.

Holloper, who is a son of a former probate judge of Jerome county, came here last week from Orland, California, and joined forces with Humphrey, Twin Falls, in a plastering project in Snake river canyon below Twin Falls. He left the money in a pocket of his good clothes in his car parked at the canyon rim when he and Humphrey returned about 5 P. M. They returned about 5 P. M. to discover the loss of the money.

FIELD DAY AT BEAN EXPERIMENTAL PLOTS

A field day at the bean experimental plots on the state highway for a distance of quarter miles west of Twin Falls, has been arranged for next Thursday, August 7, to permit bean growers and other interested persons to inspect progress being made in development of disease resistant types of beans and other plants, according to announcement at Twin Falls county agent's office last evening.

This work has been carried on here for several years by the University of Idaho and the United States department of agriculture, and in charge of W. H. Pierce. Some very promising results are beginning to show in the several sections that are resistant to the

LAST RITES ARRANGED FOR YOUNG MOTHER

Last rites for Mrs. Alice Weidman Priest, 28, wife of David Priest and mother of four children, will be held at the Waller Chapel here at 2 P. M. today. Services will be in charge of Twin Falls Latter Day Being church. Burial will be in Twin Falls cemetery.

Mrs. Priest's mother, coming from Colorado, is to arrive early this afternoon.

Mrs. Priest's death occurred at the county general hospital here last Tuesday evening, following several days' illness. She was born in France, coming to this country with her parents when she was an infant. She was married to Mr. Priest 18 years ago, and during the past seven years the family home has been at Twin Falls.

measle disease, it is stated. Three of these sections are being grown to increase plots, and a large number of new sections are being grown in red rows.

Irrigation experiments on beans and blight resistant work on tomatoes are other interesting things to be seen by field day visitors to the experimental plots.

Dr. E. W. Hungerford, dean and director of the college of agriculture, and extension service, and Walter H. Pierce will explain the work being done on the experimental plots and will give talks on bean diseases.

In order to take care of the crowd that is expected, two sections will be held, one in the morning at 10:30 A. M. and the other at 2 P. M. Persons living in the west half of the county are requested to attend in the morning, and those from the east in the afternoon.

YOUTHS MISTAKE CALF FOR COYOTE AND SHOOT

Six Murlough youths, 15 to 17 years old, were held in the juvenile ward at the courthouse here last night after being interrogated individually and collectively during an afternoon at the sheriff's office in regard to their suspected part in slaying a number of calves in the hills back of Murlough, and the shooting of a calf belonging to Frank Terrill, Murlough ranchman, last Tuesday evening.

The boys admitted shooting of the calf but denied any part in depredations at the cabins.

The calf, they said, leaped up at the side of the road as they were returning after dark from a rattlesnake hunt. They mistook it for a coyote. Only two of the four boys in the party carried firearms. One had a .22 calibre rifle and another a .40 gauge shotgun. Both fired and the animal fell. They could find no evidence of a wound, but the calf seemed to be paralyzed. Subsequent examination by the owner showed a rifle bullet had struck the animal in the body just in front of the rear quarters.

Two of the six boys remained in camp, while the others went out on the rattlesnake hunt. They had been camping on Dry creek south and east of Murlough for about a week.
