WILLIAM E. BOORAH RETURNS TO BOISE TO PLAN CAMPAIGN

Idaho Senior Senator Denies Bumors of Intentions to Participate in Political Affairs Beyond Own State

BOISE, Sept. 6.— Senator William E. Borah has no plans to enter any campaign outside Idaho before election time, he said tonight on arriving in Boise for a prolonged stay.

Met at the station by a delegation of leading Boise and Southwestern Idaho citizens, the senior senator from Idaho denied he had been asked to speak at one of the meetings to be held Saturday to be opened all the time left before election day, quietly in Boise or traveling to various points in the state in the conduct of his campaign.

"I have no place whatever for leaving the state during the present campaign," he declared to newspapermen.

Toured in good color from several weeks spent in the Miami woods following adjournment of Congress, he returned yesterday to the home of Federal Judge C. C. Cavanagh where he will be a guest at least part and perhaps all of this stay in the city.

Plans to Get Rest.

He said he planned to spend the next three weeks continuing his rest, and final plans for his campaign in the state would be made during this time.

Arrived in Idaho to the news of the announced intention of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Illinois, and Bernice Abbott, New York, to abstain by the decision of the voters in their states on the prohibition question, but as to the proposed legislation, he said, "I am not in any way clear on that subject. We are very well known."

Expressed approval of the application of President Hoover to direct national enforcement of prohibition, declaring the selection seemed to have met all requirements of the East, he said.

Friends on Campaign.

His campaign in Idaho, he said, will be worked out generally in cooperation with friends, but he anticipated his own campaign would be directed along the lines of the federal farm relief problem and the depression.

Questioned as to his opinion on the action of France in ordering William Randolph Hearst to leave the country, he said, "I don't know if Hearst got excited about a very small matter."

The publisher, he said, had given him no information concerning the relations between England and France and, as an editor, published the facts as he found them.

After a short service, he buried the child in the cemetery.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6 (AP)— Dr. Morris Flishkin, Chicago, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Mrs. Flishkin and Dr. E. C. Carter, prominent Kansas City physician, were slightly injured yesterday in a motor car wreck on United States highway number 49 near O'Keeffe, Mo.

GIRL CHECKS MURDER
IMPULSE BY LETTING
TRAIN RUN OVER ARM

PACIFIC GROVE, Cal., Sept. 6 (AP)— The child executive made but eight speeches over a span of three years, according to his mother, Mrs. Pickles, who checked her arms under a racing passenger train here today and the wheels impaled it above her.

The girl expressed no regret as she lay in a hospital at Salinas tonight. Physicians said she was suffering from a severe shock and had terrible impulses to kill or harm her best friend, she explained. They "caused me my right arm, I felt my right arm was going to kill me." She added, "I feel the right of a knife always awoke that impulse."

She looked at her left arm and said, "I never tell anyone what's in my arm, so I won't have to worry more."

Smoke of Unnumbered Funeral Pyres Hangs Over White Man's Most Ancient City in Americas as Workers Consign Bodies of Victims of Island Catastrophe to Flames

By RENE MELLELVANICH
(Associated Press)

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 6.— Smoke of unnumbered funeral pyres hung over the white man's most ancient city in the Americas today as the bodies of the victims of last Monday's hurricane, now estimated at more than 4000, were consigned to the flames.

Twenty-five per cent of the populace are casualties. The estimate of dead, made by Dr. Antonio Calderon, in charge of the sanitary service, is submitted to be conservative and it is feared the final total will be at least 6000. That is about one-eighth of the entire population of the city. Five thousand more, many of them expected to die, are seriously injured.

Property loss is set at $40,000,000 to $60,000,000.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Sept. 6.—The largest pasenger flying boat in the world, the DO-X, which has 12 engines for a transatlantic hop to the United States, is tuning its 12 engines for a transatlantic hop to the United States.

So huge is the DO-X that an ordinary airplane could not lift the collection of instruments and mechanical devices carried to safeguard its crew and passengers.

Soon this mammoth aircraft, which requires a crew of 12 to operate it and weighs more than 50 tons when fully loaded, will be tested in the first transatlantic flight for New York.

Last year the DO-X astonished aeronautical engineers by carrying 10 passengers across the Atlantic. Since then it has been undergoing modifications still more.

12 Engines Purrl Like

Curtiss Conqueror water-cooled engines, each developing 600 horsepower, have been installed in place of the original Siemens "Jupiter" engines. A central power room also has been created.

11 tons of ballast should buy the

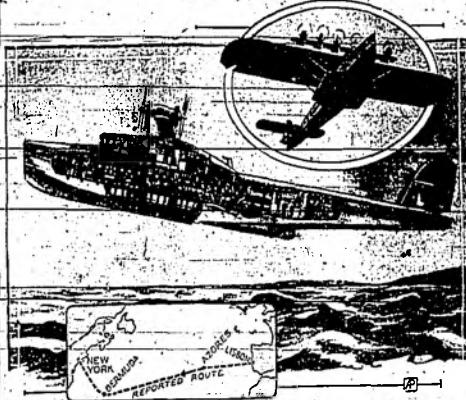

DO-X if it would find enough space on the passenger deck for a seven-ton racing boat. The interior of the passenger space is divided into cabin for eight, 10 or 12 persons.

There is a smoking room with leather-upholstered chairs, a room with an armchair with electricity, and a main lounge 22 feet long. A central gangway connects the rooms, which average 10 feet wide.

The DO-X also has a power plant, eight fuel tanks—two in the wings—can be loaded with 4000 gallons of fuel, while three oil tanks hold 4150 gallons. The maximum speed is listed as 150 miles an hour.

12 Experts

Besides the flight commander, chief engineer, radio operator, 12 men will be required to operate the ship. Two pilots sit side by side in front of dual controls in the pilothouse, and a pilot sits at the controls of the passenger deck, behind them in the navigation

A cross-section of the DO-X, world's largest flying boat which plans soon to fly to the United States, is shown above. Upper right shows huge craft pointing its nose skyward, and proposed route to New York is indicated by map.

ONE-THIRD OF LAND'S HOTELS BOAST RADIOS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Thirty

per cent of the country's hotels have radio installations, a survey of about 25,000 hotels and apartment hotels now in operation says.

With about 25,000 hotels and

apartment hotels now in operation

this estimate means that

7500 of them have up to this time either a radio or speakers connected to a central receiver or with receiver outlet for antenna and ground components.

The same estimate, which is based on data gathered by Lewis

Winner, New York radio expert, last year, lists 25,000 hotel rooms and that leaves 16,000 rooms which still have no radios.

H. Knapp who was making it. Mr. C. D. Price, Fraternal Secretary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, said his brother, while he fully consciousness with a hole through the right side of his abdomen and his heart entirely removed from his body, was still breathing when a heart-pierced his body an hour and a half before the accident occurred. New Yale on the state highway some 25 miles east of Burley, Idaho, where he had been killed in a head-on collision with a truck carrying a load of poles.

Bob E. Wood, Chehalis, Washington, whom he was riding, crashed into the rear of a head-on of a truck operating on the highway. Wood, the driver, said that he was unable to see the poles before the crash came. "Ordinarily," said Sheriff Pace, "pole signs down the road between Burley and Colton, Idaho, which went through Knapp's body, was sticking up just enough to raise the radiator of the car and the unfortunate fellow was able to see them coming. He did as he was talking to me and I cannot see how he lived so long after he had lost so much blood."

Knapp had for the last two months been working for Wood, whom he was riding in the car from Idaho Falls, Idaho, to Burley, Idaho, for a week. His brother, William Wood, was only slightly injured with cuts about the face from the broken windshield. Knapp was a man about 60 years old. PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6.—The National league champion Chicago Cubs, who are fighting hard to repeat this season, won an even break with Pittsburgh in the four-game series, emerging victorious, 19 to 14, after plugging much this afternoon.

The Cubs got away to a six-run lead in the first two innings but the Pirates scored four in the second and four more in the fourth and were leading 12 to 6 when the game was suspended in the eighth. The Cubs made 10 runs in the last two innings to win the game, while a blizzard held up the ninth until well past the time of the final score.

Hank Wilson hit his forty-seventh home run in the ninth.

Charlie Root and Ray Kramer, starting pitchers, were hammered from the mound early in the game and relief hurlers fired little better, but the Cubs collected 17 hits and the home club 13.

Battle Of Japan To Stop
Wide-Spread Use of Opium
Seems Yet Far From Won

System of Government Monopoly and Registration of Addicts Appears as One Of World's Experiments

By CLARENCE BAKER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
TOKYO, Sept. 6.—"Wide-spread opium smuggling and a marked increase in illegal smokers have caused the Japanese government to renew its 30-year fight to eradicate the opium habit from its colony of Formosa."

The Japanese experiment in Formosa, and its extension to Manchuria, has been regarded as one of the most enlightened experiments of the kind in the world.

Japanese experiments by the Japanese for almost a quarter of a century in their Kwantung Leased Territory at the southern tip of Manchuria had met with less success than the Formosa scheme, a recent survey recently concluded.

Relax Regulations

As a result of disclosure in Formosa that the Japanese were relaxing their strict regulations to the hope of bringing unlicensed smokers under government control and cracking down the smugglers.

The relaxation of controls in Formosa is kept from public knowledge by the Japanese as a matter of state "internal affairs."

The Japanese experiment in Formosa, a bold attempt to be a great success if official statistics were to be believed.

Even the Japanese colonial authorities, however, admit that the true picture is hidden by official returns. According to these, the number of registered addicts in Formosa dropped from 162,500 in 1922 to 26,500 in 1929, while in the same period the amount of opium seized at official posts fell from 177,000 kilograms annually to 35,000 kilograms.

Old Ones Registered

Of the 26,500 registered addicts in 1929 few were under 40 and the great majority were over 50 years of age.

It appeared that the younger generation was growing up free of the vices of their fathers, and that in due time the Japanese would claim the remaining addicts and solve the problem for good.

More careful investigation, however, disclosed that the Japanese had been buying at least as numerous and probably twice as many as those on the books of the opium administration.

The Germans move to appeal to Ghandi

GENEVA, Sept. 6 (AP)—How a Mexican theater manager content to fill his house with a paying audience would be presented and what anyone who did "no like it" had only to say no and the enraged manager would be reduced to silence.

The house was packed and the audience got ready to be won when the "EXTRA" manager was called to sing "The Internationale."

No a single clink was made on the law office.

GERMANS MOVE TO APPEAL TO GHANDI

National Congress Party of India Endorses Proposals of 400-Teutonic Leaders

This is the khaddar, or Indian homespun cap, symbolizing the campaign to struggle for independence. The decoration shows the Ghandi spinning wheel, and therefore stands for native industry.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Twenty German capitalists to start Indian industries will be forced to leave the country unless they have been granted enthusiastically by the National Congress party.

Members of the party in the scheme a move to hit back at the Germans.

The Germans purpose to establish, with the help of Indian capitalists, sugar, industrial, and in time, cotton mills, and another Latin American, perhaps a representative of Guatemala.

Mr. Pravda's act is likely to be copied by other Scandinavian countries. He has been foreign minister of Finland, and King Gustaf V of Sweden.

The present council session will be concluded after the adjournment of the assembly.

The Nationalists admit that imports from Germany will scarcely be conducted to the well-being of India, my men that are numerous and probably twice as many as those on the books of the opium administration.

Chewing Gum Gets Mexican Spotlight

Producers See Governmental Restriction as Possibly Doom of Paving Industry

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6 (AP)—A chewing gum controversy has sprung here.

Producers of the raw material see in government restrictions recently applied to their business a possible end to the growth of the country's sources of large income.

Most of the gum consumed by Americans is made from chicle produced in Central America and Mexico. There is little American manufacturers have for years bought the crude material from independent producers.

Producers Share

Now the government decrees that interests only cooperative organizations, in which the producers share, may operate in Mexican territory.

A dispatch to the Mexico City newspaper Examiner from Glodell, director of the U.S. Commerce department, says:

"The head of the organization here is Theodore Ficker, of Berlin, a former member of the German National party."

They believe that American chewing gum manufacturers will abandon the Mexican chief fields and develop sources of material in Central America, Ecuador, and Colombia.

Belgium Ranks Nobility

BRUSSELS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Belgian has received a royal decree making a section of the Brussels Order of Malta headed by the king, and which includes such Belgian members of the high nobility as can boast of at least 18 coats of nobility.

Army Man's Daughter Idolizes Green-Lace

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—A long lace dress was worn at a recent dance by Miss Catherine Long, crystal earrings with matching necklace gave a cool effect to the pretty costume.

At the same dance, Maria Medina, daughter of the Bolivian minister, wore a black chiffon dress embroidered in gold figures. She carried a large painted fan.

Spain's Electoral Machine Again Creaks In Semblance of Operation

Prime Minister Insists Upon Holding First General Elections in Eight Years

Early During 1931

By CLARENCE BAKER

ADRID, Sept. 6—Spain's electoral machinery, though rusty and in many regions wrecked because of eight years of abuse, is creaking into semblance of operation again.

The long-heralded general elections, if actually called this year, will be the first since 1923, when the last election was held.

dence of his gaining a popularity similar to that of his father, may change the view of those who had assumed that the royal inheritance might have been lost.

But as it may, elements directions of overthrowing the monarch, and establishing a republic are reorganized now. The struggle must focus in Spain, and the people must be organized against them. So are the influential factors of the established government.

The present slogan of a national salvation is that whatever its methods, whether they be military or peaceful, will dominate the government and country.

To change this situation requires a coup. None is indicated.

General Primo de Rivera dismissed the Cortes upon becoming dictator in 1923. His substituted for parliament a body of his chosen supporters, who were then known as "the iron curtain of the well informed today."

The great improvements that have been made in Spain since the fall of the monarchy are due to the efforts of the king, who is the source of all the wealth of the country.

Involved in the scheme is the digging of a series of canals that will draw off the Yellow River excess water to irrigate nearly two million acres of land that is now barely cultivable land.

The district has a population of less than 90,000 but it is estimated that within less than 10 years, production will be increased ten times.

The district has a good shape, the same area will be able to support ten times that number.

Lucien Saint, French Resident General of Morocco, Complains of Difficulties

NAJAB, Morocco, Sept. 6 (AP)—Lucien Saint, French resident general of Morocco, says that Anglo-Saxons often break his plans for modernizing the country.

Mr. Saint, an energetic executive, is president of the Suez Canal and the British South Africa Company, and has pushed on toward his objective, the source of the Amazon.

The district will be well-endowed with a network of ditches for irrigation, and a canal 43 miles long.

Wings Of Love

By Vera Brown

"I'm a little surprised about the girl," said Gage frankly. "Bob is thin. Maybe this new job is too hard or something, but the Lewis fellows are well-pleased. I'll be cooking for them."

Both men were silent for awhile.

"There's no doubt about her being in love with this pilot she's engaged to is there?" Gage asked.

"Not at all," said Jack. "He's quiet, and Jane looked at him in surprise.

"The first time I realized how much Harry loved his wife, such a woman would have pleased me greatly, but he was too old and experienced in the ways of the world to try to make any affair."

Gage shook his head.

"I guess he'd better keep an eye on Jane, just a little supervision. She's a beautiful girl, I know. Better keep it in mind. And the subject was concerning.

"Harry's been working at the airport to earn some of the new Lewis' share. There was a general celebration of the girl's return and Jane did some spuds and a few jobs around the house."

Then the gift and Jack flew together for a while, Jane keeping the event secret from the rest of the benefit of the admirers below.

As the ships were converging about Mars—shaded with admiring admiration—the Count had found an echo in his heart. It seemed impossible that a lovely creature like Jane could prove so attractive.

As Art shaded his eyes to better see the flying exhibition, Shoemachier touched him on the shoulder.

"You know, Gage," he said, "Gage, you're a good guy."

"What about some more money?"

"You know I haven't got the girl paid in despite—"

"I've got a few extra paychecks from my new outfit today," he remarked.

"That's $50. Hand it over!"

"What am I going to do with it?"

"I'll take care of that," Gage said.

The money was given to Gage and he handed it over to the Count.

"Thank you, Gage," the Count said.

"You're a good guy," Gage said again.

"I'm staying in Mars, Gage."

"I'm staying in Mars, too," Gage said.

"I'm staying in Mars, Gage."

PORTRALD ATTORNEY LAUDS TWIN FALLS

Colonel Hamer, Former Congressman of Idaho, Says Magic City Prosperous

Warm praise for the satisfactory business conditions evident on every hand in Twin Falls and for the fine crops grown on the projects was given last evening by Colonel Hamer, who stopped here last night on his way to St. Anthony, his former home town, where he will be accompanied on the trip by Joseph Murphy, Portland businessman, former Pealeale resident, who agreed with his estimate of this new area.

"This is the most progressive city we have seen since we left Portland," Colonel Hamer said, "and everybody seems to be doing well. You have no vacant store buildings here, and the men are working hard and getting good pay. I am sure that the new crowds on the streets, indicate prosperity. While it was getting late as we drove into Twin Falls, it is apparent that you have had fine crops here."

Colonel Hamer, who was practicing law in St. Anthony when the Spanish-American War broke out, claimed that he and his wife were the first to leave the country for the project, becoming colonists of the 1st Idaho Infantry. He was severely wounded at the battle of Calocan, price-

In the Philippines, in February 1900. Later, he was military governor of the Island of Cebu, and served as associate justice of the supreme court of the Philippines Islands. He served as judge advocate general during the Great war.

Colonel Hamer is a warm and possible protégé to Congressman Adolph T. Smith, his successor from that district in the national house of representatives and in his work has been a valuable asset.

He has a strong desire to see that there is no possibility of the people being ungrateful enough to do him wrong again, he said.

Colonel Hamer, a brilliant orator, preceded either as temporary or permanent chairman at every meeting of the chamber of commerce in Idaho between the time he returned from the war in the Philippines and the adoption of the state's primary.

In 1912, he presided over the annual chamber of commerce convention in the old Lathering theatre. On this occasion he was voted for permanent chairman.
