HOOVER COMPLETES TASK OF SELECTING TARIFF COMMISSION

Two Former University Presidents and Two Ex-Professors in Colleges Accept Important Positions

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — Five men, four of them experts in tariff matters and the other a veteran diplomat, today were charged by President Hoover with operation of the flexible provisions of the recently enacted Hawley-Smoot act.

To the three commissioners previously selected — Henry P. Wallace, former vice-president; Thomas Walker, Vice, Virginia, and Dr. John Lee Coulter, North Dakota, chief economist of the commission — were added Senator George H. Odell, Massachusetts, and the names of Edgar D. Broadbent, Utah; the present chairman; and Alfred P. Dennis, Maryland, now the vice-chairman.

The sixth member of the commission, which is to be bi-partisan under the tariff act, is to be announced later. It is expected that a definite delegation to serve by one of the proposed Democratic appointees would prevent completion of the group for at least a month.

The tariff commission, Eugene Meyer, Jr., New York, was taken to task by the Senate Committee of the Senate reserve board, who served the government for many years as chairman of the war finance committee, and the Senate Select Committee on federal farm loan board, replaced Roy A. Young, Minneapolis, on the board.

Counsels on Experience.

In renaming Broadbent and Dennis to the tariff commission, Mr. Hoover has given the job to men who will benefit from their experience and to assure the continuity of investigations started since the tariff bill was enacted.

Each of those appointed, except Chairman Fletcher, has "had wide experience with tariff matters."

He also said that the other two were "outstanding college professors."

Fletcher was born in the diplomatic corps in 1920, spent 30 years after serving with the Roosevelt Rough Riders in Cuba, he became secretary of the Cuban legation and after becoming ambassador to Mexico, was signed last year as ambassador to Italy.

Dennis, one of the commissioners selected, is a former member of the Senate, his son, a law professor, and his wife a former "lady-in-waiting" to Mrs. Roosevelt.

The other, George H. Odell, was born in 1873, graduated from Cornell University in 1893 and served as chairman from 1924 to 1926.

Broadbent has served on the commission since 1924, and before the commission he had been professor of agriculture economics at the Utah agricultural college, director of the agricultural extension of the University of Minnesota and economist of the tariff commission.

The president also went to the personal service of the Senate's fifth member, Dr. Coulter, who has been chief economist and chairman of the commission's advisory committee for more than a year.

Fletcher's resignation.

Midnight, returning to Princeton University, he still slept until 8:30 when Woodrow Wilson was president of the institution.

Page, the other Broadbent, was appointed to the commission by President Wilson in 1918 and served as chairman from 1924 to 1926.

Broadbent has served on the commission since 1924, and before the commission he had been professor of agriculture economics at the Utah agricultural college, director of the agricultural extension of the University of Minnesota and economist of the tariff commission.

The president also went to the personal service of the Senate's fifth member, Dr. Coulter, who has been chief economist and chairman of the commission's advisory committee for more than a year.

Cabinet Moves to Repose in Incumbent Chancellor Task of Solving Problems

(By The Associated Press) SEATTLE, Sept. 16 — The cabinet decided unanimously today that Dr. Heinrich Bruening should carry on as chancellor of the state before the new legislature convenes in January.

Judge Deaderick was appointed to the supreme court in 1927 from his home state of Indiana. While state legislators terms he was author of the Deaderick anti-nano law.

Rainfall in Idaho for Month Passes Normal

BOISE, Sept. 16 — The rainfall range from 100 to 200 percent of normal for the month has been a rainfall map received by the state department of reclamation indicated today.

The greatest rainfall was concentrated in the eastern part of the state, principally in the Upper Snake river section.

Meanwhile, the various parties are calling conferences to establish their views with the state party scheduled to have the first meeting tomorrow.

SPECIALIST POINTS TO HANDICAP OF MONOPOLY

(By The Associated Press) WALNUT SPRINGS, Sept. 16 — The historian that X-ray specialists are handicapped in their work because of a present monopoly can be traced back to the American concern for apparatus used in diagnosis, in the production of radiographs, and by a foreign monopoly, says Dr. Louis, president of the National Medical Association.

Addressing radiologists, physicians and surgeons from 41 states attending a post-graduate conference here on methods of cancer control, Dr. Louis charged that the X-ray tube monopoly filed away the useful patents.

CONSTITUTION DAY

Today, the seventeenth day of September, is the one hundred and forty-third anniversary of the birth of the Constitution of the United States. On the seventeenth day of September, one-hundred-and-twenty-five years ago, our American patriots signed their signatures to the document that has enabled this country to become the most powerful and happy land in the world.

The seventeenth day of September ought to be made a legal holiday throughout this country, perhaps in place of some existing holidays. Let me emphasize that it ought to be celebrated in solemn and dignified manner by men, women and children in the United States.

This is a more important anniversary in American history.

On one day, at least, we might well turn our attention to the New Land we have had, and consider it a moment in its entirety.

Remembrance of the anniversary ought not to be left alone to the Governor's proclamation, that might arrive a little late for any adequate observance of the occasion.

WIRE TAPPING

Charge of "wire tapping" by a Senatorial investigating committee was brought by Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for United States Senator from Illinois.

Mrs. McCormick, it will be recalled, spent something over a quarter of a million in securing her primary nomination. Later, the United States Senate appointed a committee to investigate the matter of the expense, directed by Senator Ora P. Nyre. Mrs. McCormick retaliated by hiring a squad of private detectives to investigate the investigating committee. Recently charges were made that wiretaps had been flying thick and fast between the head of the Senate committee and Mrs. McCormick.

It is difficult to see clearly the right or wrong of the situation. Mrs. McCormick's expenditure, as large as it seems, is not more than sufficient to send a single letter to each of the voters in her constituency. Yet a Senate investigation is not out of order. The idea is that it is necessary for any candidate to spend any such sum is repugnant to the American people.

It is such practice can be shown to constitute the sole means of obtaining political preferment in a democratic country. The situation amounts to a chance that only the rich need apply. There no chance for the mass of voters, no matter how who they are, who also possess a large independent fortune.

But to resort to wire tapping and the hiring of private detectives by either party to the contest does not sit well. The impression persists that the argument is to be carried forward on a mighty low plane considering the dignity and importance of the state when such tactics are resorted to as a mere preliminary before even the question of anybody's election is determined.

WISDOM

Jane Addams, grand old lady and sociologist, questioned as to her views of life on her seventh birthday, replies that she doesn't necessarily bring wisdom.

She thinks wisdom is a flexible thing, secured "only through adaptation to a changing world." She would agree with the celebrated words of the old Roman poet Horace: "Times change, and we change with them."

Not being, as merely theoretical person, she gives an example or two.

Talk what is the greatest achievement of her lifetime, she says: "I consider that the outstanding achievement has been conferences and treaties between the powers of the world for the reduction of armaments, outlawry of war and the establishment of the World Court."

The greatest possibility of improvement for the future she looks for along the lines of greater international comity and good will.

CONSTITUTION DAY

Today, the seventeenth day of September, is the one hundred and forty-third anniversary of the birth of the Constitution of the United States.

On the seventeenth day of September, one-hundred-and-twenty-five years ago, our American patriots signed their signatures to the document that has enabled this country to become the most powerful and happy land in the world.

The seventeenth day of September ought to be made a legal holiday throughout this country, perhaps in place of some existing holidays. Let me emphasize that it ought to be celebrated in solemn and dignified manner by men, women and children in the United States.

This is a more important anniversary in American history.

On one day, at least, we might well turn our attention to the New Land we have had, and consider it a moment in its entirety.

Remembrance of the anniversary ought not to be left alone to the Governor's proclamation, that might arrive a little late for any adequate observance of the occasion.

WIRE TAPPING

Charge of "wire tapping" by a Senatorial investigating committee was brought by Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for United States Senator from Illinois.

Mrs. McCormick, it will be recalled, spent something over a quarter of a million in securing her primary nomination. Later, the United States Senate appointed a committee to investigate the matter of the expense, directed by Senator Ora P. Nyre. Mrs. McCormick retaliated by hiring a squad of private detectives to investigate the investigating committee. Recently charges were made that wiretaps had been flying thick and fast between the head of the Senate committee and Mrs. McCormick.

It is such practice can be shown to constitute the sole means of obtaining political preferment in a democratic country. The situation amounts to a chance that only the rich need apply. There no chance for the mass of voters, no matter how who they are, who also possess a large independent fortune.

But to resort to wire tapping and the hiring of private detectives by either party to the contest does not sit well. SOUTH IDAHO'S 4-H CLUBS ARRANGE FOR EXHIBIT AT JEROME

Boys' Livestock Organizations and Girls' Home Economics Demonstration Classes Plan for Fair

(Special to the News) — JEROME, Sept. 16.—A large group of 4-H club members of both boys' and girls' organizations in the South Central Idaho district is making plans for entry of exhibits and demonstration projects at the district club fair to be held in Jerome September 25, 26 and 27.

Calf club members from Minidoka County, Owyhee, Jerome, Twin Falls and Canyon counties are making plans to enter the district contest. Minidoka club members will exhibit a cow which the county will have a Holstein calf herd. The outstanding animal in each county will be exhibited in the district contest.

Gurney Calve

A pure-bred Gurney bull calf will be awarded to the most successful Gurney calf in the state by the South Central Idaho district. The young herd sire is being donated by Mrs. Minnie Miller, owner of the Miller Gurney Cattle Ranch near Hailey. The calf is one of one of Mrs. Miller's show cows and will be a real award for anyone that wins. It can be seen at the fair by club members in this contest.

District Contest

Livestock club members will compete in the district contest. The winning sheep club members in the state will receive a free trip to Portland by the Idaho Wool Growers Association.

The local 4-H club member in Idaho will give a free trip to Portland by Swift and company. The winning 4-H club members in Idaho will also receive a trip to Chicago, the expense being paid by Armour and Company.

Another 4-H club member may compete for the trip that corresponds to his project.

Livestock Judging Contest

Each club member will be invited to enter one judging team of three members to compete for district championship in Livestock Judging. Each club member will receive a check and two classes of dairy cattle. Gold medal will be awarded to the members of the high judging team.

The program for the state district contest includes a 4-H club demonstration contest, and a style show. The demonstration contest will be conducted by Miss Helen Jensen, district home demonstration agent. The girls' contests will be held Friday and Saturday and third and fourth days of the fair.

The girls' judging contest will start at 8 A.M. Friday. Classes will be based on the number of fresh eggs and new-laid eggs. Each club in the district is eligible to enter a judging team of three girls.

Decorating Contest

Kern interest is being shown in the home economics demonstration contest where the winning team in each club will receive a gold medal and the top team will compete for a free trip to the Pacific International Stock Show as guests of the stockmen.

Fourteen demonstration teams have already been selected to enter the competition. The winners will be selected from the various demonstration weeks. Achievement days have been held.

The fair board has provided a special tent to take care of these contestants.

Deminations

Deminations will begin at 10:30 P.M. Friday and continue until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The contests will be continued at 8:30 P.M. on Saturday morning for the Jerome county team.

Style Show

As a special feature this year a style show contest is being sponsored by the Jerome 4-H club. The winners in each county will be awarded silver and bronze medals for first and second respectively. The winner of the style show will receive a trip to the other three districts in Idaho and the winner will be given a free trip to Chicago where she will compete in the national style show.

This contest will be held on Friday at 3 P.M. and will be judged by Miss Marion Heyworth, state home demonstration agent.

The girls are encouraged to work and model in their costumes.
