

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS DECLINE FOLLOWING PASSING OF TARIFF

Speculation Arises in Farm Circles as to Whether Temporary Tax Reduction May Require Revision

FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press, Sept. 25)—The most precipitous drop in customs receipts since enactment of the new tariff law has given rise to speculation in Washington that either the temporary tax reduction put into effect by the last session of Congress may have to be revised.

The farm bureau federation says that if government revenues continue to decline, there is a chance that the farm tax reduction will have to be reduced or a higher tax rate than the present emergency rate will be imposed.

Customs received a reduction of 1 per cent in taxes for one year only and unless further action is taken at the end of the year the rate would be increased to the level provided in the revenue act of 1928.

Customs receipts for the first two months of the present fiscal year, ending June 30, were $10,821,972 for the same period last year. Simultaneously, treasury operations have shown a deficit of $10,284 compared with $10,521,218.

Imports

The reduction in customs receipts was due in part to heavy imports preceding final enactment of the tariff bill when there was a great increase in the value of rates under the bill. There is a possibility that imports, and likewise revenues, may increase when these supplies have been exhausted.

While farm leaders are in accord with the reduction in taxes, they are of the opinion that the advocates of debt reduction overtaxed the priority of debt reduction over tax reduction. There was an increase in the number of farm weather stations in August. The national debt stood at $10,671,782 on August 21, which was $10,626,683 below the national debt on August 1, 1929.

The purchasing power of the tax dollar is now comparatively high for tax purposes. In the same period, March 4, 1929, to June 30, 1930, the national debt was reduced $1,160,000,000, which is estimated to have cost the government about $10,000,000 a year in interest payments.

USE OF WOOD IN THIN LAYERS SAVES SUPPLY

DETROIT, Sept. 25 (AP)—The use of laminated wood, that is, woods built up in thin layers, has done much to conserve the American lumber supply. G. O. Foster, president of the timber in, in his report to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, "It has done much," he says, "to insure the use of lower grades of lumber."

AIR BOMBS SEEM TO CURB FRANCE'S HAIL

Statistics Show Use of Rockets Reduces Damages in Small Agricultural Area

VICHY, France, Sept. 25 (AP)—A series of aerial bombs the clouds have been used to stop storm fighting hail with explosives.

This is the center of the hall of precipitation service in which many Frenchmen are engaged.

Here in the suburb of Vichy are made most of the rocket bombs, and the seven-mile semicircular line of 100 anti-hail stations around the city is one of the best organized in France.

The theory is that big rockets sent into the clouds exploded by precisely timed fuses, create waves that dislodge clouds and prevent the formation of hail.

Now, however, question the efficacy of the method the farmers' association show statistics to prove that where rockets are used there is a 50 per cent reduction in damage from hail, one of the scourges of this region. Half acres of great size are reported.

There are 20 "firing posts," to each of which are detailed two men, usually farmers, one of whom must always be on duty to give the approach of a storm. As soon as storm clouds approach, the sentinels call the height and fire the rockets.

This half acre costs each farmer about eight cents an acre a year. Once canons were used but they were found to be too costly to be cheaper and better. Before they that were used big iron funnels with the large end up. A small end was inserted standing up which was widened.

But ranging practice is a science and the rocket is a smaller and lighter body is rung loudly. As the village itself is in a funnel-shaped hollow, the sound of the rocket's flight carries well.

Committee on Resolutions
Urges Discard of Liquor
Law and Amendment to Prevent Saloon's Return

(By Associated Press)
ALBANY, Friday Morning Sept. 25.—The Republican State platform plan voted by the committee on resolutions early today, that the party has an unpreceded loyalty with them, it is told at the General conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here.

Mr. Hoover such an unprecedented majority have a right to expect that they will be given the same loyalty with them," it is told at the General conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here.

The party's plan of the blacked hue would be reflected in direct proportion to the conference law which the majority will be dry or not at all.

Pickett said the fight against the prohibition law was won by the party.

He said the party's influence and leadership of men and organizations have plans to seize political control of this country in order that they may establish an amendment to end liquor trade with its enormous profits."

Men Shoot Negro for ATTACKING WHITE WOMAN

TOMAHAWK, Okla., Sept. 25 (UPI)—Willie Kirkland, 19, was sentenced to death here today for a group of men after he was identified as the assailant of a white schoolgirl.

The Negro was condemned to die until his trial, but the sheriff was overpowered. The Negro was shot in the head with a rifle.

He remains on the statute books it should be obeyed. The security and stability of society require that the constitutional rights of the Negro be upheld, until finally changed, he argued by "obedience and enforcement."

The goal in national prohibition lies in the welfare of the saloons and the saloon system, and its grant of congressional power to control interstate commerce within the nation to maintain a prohibition system and to protect such states from importation of liquor.

On the other hand, the evil in national prohibition lies largely in the composition sought to be placed upon state governments to determine the administration of the system. We favor the retention of each state of the authority to deal with the liquor problem in accordance with the wishes of its citizens.

"To this end we favor the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, provided that it is done in such a manner as part of the new amendment as providing as adopted outlawing and forbidding the manufacture of the United States and the saloon system, and its replacement, the private traffic in intoxicating beverages for private consumption, and the federal cooperation and assistance to states which have prohibition in whole or in part."

Section Worker's Paintings Win Favor Of Railroad Chief

ONE-TIME COMMON LABORER NOW PUTS SCENES ON CANVAS

Amos Ando-Spike-Drive-and-Sheep-Herder, Rises to Position of Company Artist

ITALIAN DOUBTS OWN ABILITIES AS PAINTER

President of Concern Asks Employee for Scene and Agrees to Judge Product.

(By the Associated Press)

DURANGO, Colo., Sept. 25—Water boys may grow up to be railroad presidents, but this is the story of a section hand who became an artist.

Amos Ando, an Indian and native of Gundalajara, Mexico, regarded working on the section and sheep-herding in the same field it was hard and honest work.

Earlier he had tried painting, and thought he failed. No one bought his work.

He went to Durango to improve his health, and the railroad encouraged after trying landscape treatment of his eyes.

Then J. B. Price, President of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, saw a painting he had made and asked him to come to the Arkansas river. Ando was summoned.

Ability:

"There are too many artists in the world," Ando protested. "You tell me I am good, but I don't know if I stand in the hot sun, I know it is hot. You may tell me the moon is shining, and it is cool. But I am not good." Oliver, back my action job."

On the same day, the railroad sent a telegram to the chief executive of the Durango Art Association, asking him to send Ando to the city.

"I am like those men," said Ando. "I will go." And so he did.

He found a studio and made it his studio. Only he knew its location, and no one makes it out.

Price, who is one of the finest natural artists ever has been discovered, and the railroad that once paid him to drive spikes is now buying his paintings. Ando, who seems fabuous in a section hand and sheepherder.

LOCOMOTIVE GRATES IN HOME FURNACE

Lennox Torrid Zone has Many Features. Beside Steel-riveted, Gas-light Construction

The most durable type of grates in the world is the Lennox Torrid Zone Ware Air Furnaces. They are of the special rocking design as used in locomotives and are constructed from the outside by a long hand. A little shaking every now and then is required to shake them, that is used in brushing the teeth. Any woman can do it—and she could do it in a party dress without fear of being noticed because of the unusual rocking motion.

The Torrid Zone is the ideal furnace for the fine residence and is made in types and sizes for homes in every class, and for schools, hospitals, restaurants and office buildings. There are also grates, water and warm air types and others equipped with electric blowers for large scale operations. They are made of the best soft cast iron, copper, wire, gas or oil burners. They'll save money for you in the burning of any one of them. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N. Y.; Marshalltown, Iowa; Toronto, Canada; Call on

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES PAY DEPARTED TRIBUTE

The First Presbyterian church here held services yesterday by memory of Rev. M. H. Woodhead, who gathered to attend his funeral at 2 P.M. Those who met together included relatives, neighbors, friends and members of the following organizations: The American War Mothers, the Order of Eastern Star, the Republic of Idaho, the Knights of Pythias, Mr. & B Club, Foyal Lodge, and others of eastern were many and beautiful.

Receiving word of the news some of Mrs. Woodhead's relatives gathered: William H. Woodhead; John Woodhead; Samuel Woodhead; Mrs. Woodhead; George Woodhead; and Albert Woodhead.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. James Parker, pastor, who spoke of the different ways the coming of Christ had aided upon the lives of men, and made application of this theme to the life of Mrs. Woodhead.

Mr. P. P. Dracken and Mrs. John B. Feldman sang two duets, "Abide With Me," and "Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown."

DIE WHILE GRIEVED
MAN BURIES MOTHER

- Death of his father-in-law and mother-in-law yesterday here to attend the funeral of his mother, constituted a sad episode in the life of William H. Woodhead, Kendall, Utah, who followed his wife, Mrs. Woodhead, to their home town.

William H. Woodhead, 56, died last night for Morgan, Utah, to attend the joint funeral of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hays.

Receiving word Monday that his mother had passed away in Salt Lake City, he came to the city at once and remained here for this city. At that time, while Mr. Hays was ill, his condition was not thought serious, but Mr. Hays was apparently in good health.

Monday, while Mr. Woodhead was en route here, Mrs. Hays died suddenly. The shock proved too much for him and he returned to Kendall, Utah, immediately. Mr. Woodhead acted as pallbearer at his mother's funeral yesterday, and prepared at once to return to Utah.

LUTHERANS BROADCAST ON NATION-WIDE CHAIN

The Lutheran church will be represented on the air at 8 P.M. Thursday evening, September 25, 1930, according to word received here yesterday by Rev. M. H. Ziegel, pastor of the Twin Falls Lutheran church.

The broadcast will be heard in Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico, 24 stations on a coast-to-coast hook-up. The broadcast will be known as the Lutheran Hour.

The first broadcast will feature the sermon of Rev. C. E. Schaefer, under the direction of Rev. W. Blitzer. The initial series of sermons will be delivered by Rev. W. Blitzer.

"The Lutheran Church has a definite message to spread to a half nation," said the Rev. Ziegel, in commenting on the project. "Just as it was once the purpose of the radio to be a denominational broadcasting station all year ago."

It is estimated that the potential audience of the Lutheran Hour is 55,000,000 people. People of all kinds should be able to tune in on one of

Another Triumph By Our New York Buyers

Two of our buyers made a special trip from New York to Philadelphia with the express purpose of visiting Schoole's immense factory to see if they could cooperate with us in staging the greatest "Hat Special" Twin Falls has ever seen. Needless to say the result of this trip was most gratifying. For, in return of the immense regular business we have given them for many years this is what they gave us. For real startling hat values we never saw anything like it.

Remember

—these are strictly first quality.
—newest fall styles in shades of tan and
