It won't do any good for Mother Earth to try to produce a satellite planet, as that she will do something like six thousand million million tons, and adds that even if all the human race and its livestock were suddenly whisked out to another planet the "weight" of the earth would not be reduced by one million-millionths.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

The initial luncheon of the Twelfth Century club took the form of a home production given and held at the Park hotel Tuesday at one o'clock.

In a number of communities public meetings are being held at which the local merchants and business industries and commercial enterprises is being aroused.

Something of the same thing was reported in Twin Falls in a luncheon held and given Tuesday, with a public address in which a good many citizens took part.

The luncheon, another grotesque caricature staged here at that time, may have had a beneficial effect. As any man it could have done to harm.

It is the most important thing that can be remembered about the whole affair was that a decided improvement in conditions did set in a little later.

And the most important benefit of the present National Prosperity Week, is that it brings realization of the meaning and significance of that better day has a period of prosperity returning to new high levels, failed to follow a period of depression in this country.

A SET BACK

The distribution of the first English dirigible R-101 with the forty-six kite balloons on the major calamities of the air and some situations at back to the cause of flying in this time.

It may take years to overcome. In its simpler aspect, the air is easily understood: the power of the elements was too great for the man-made machine. From the standpoint of the public it does not matter what, precisely, caused the crash.

Perhaps some minor point in the investigation was made by the press, and caused the pilot to hurry to the ground. Perhaps not because of the kind took place because of the straps of the rising wind the great ship was unable to continue its flight.

Aviation science will wait to know these things and the man one case is ascertainable. And the conclusion to be reached is simply that under certain weather conditions the dirigible is not a safe means of transportation although under other conditions the safety element will compare favorably with that of any other means of transportation.

Aside from the loss of life and the tremendous property destruction, the unfortunate feature of the case is to be found in the fact that the whole proposition of commercial aviation by means of the dirigible involves a check which may give peace to the entire industry, for a time at least.

BIG MEN AND BOOKS

The Book Publishers' Research Institute conducted a survey to discover what the successful man of affairs reads. Opinion prior to this had been divided into three beliefs: that successful men read the best; that successful men read the latest; and that successful men read the most.

Forty-three prominent men were invited to divulge their reading habits. It was found that the most successful men are bookish, reading at least two hours a day on serious reading.

Economists, business relations and the classics rank high in their lists, but biographies lead. These men read many of the same, the current ones being the most popular.

Complimentary to Mrs. M. A. Brannin, Helena, Montana, district director of the North Pacific division of the American Association of University Women, the executive board of the Twin Falls chapter presented with a check of $100.00.

Maloney Upsets World Of Pugilism By Vanquishing Carnera

12,000 Fight Fans See Fierce Battle In Boston Garden

Gladiator, considered "Ham and Egg" Heavyweight at Points Beyond Boston, Clearly Outpoints Giant

By BILL KING
(Associated Press Writer)
BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Jimmy Maloney, considered a "ham and egg" heavy-weight everywhere except in his home city of Boston, upset the pugilistic world here tonight by vanquishing Primo Carnera, 265-pound Italian behemoth, in a wild and savage 10-round battle in the Boston Garden.

Over 12,000 fans swarmed to the Garden to witness the contest. Throughout the pugilist's fight, Carnera made more than 100 blows, but he will be remembered here in every corner as the man who was the first to prevent the giant from finding a way into a corner or against the ropes. Carnera's men, the "Ham and Egg" boys, and short straight lefts into his body.

Maloney once he found a way to prevent the giant from finding a way into a corner or against the ropes. Carnera's men, the "Ham and Egg" boys, and short straight lefts into his body. This chopping was Maloney done gradually but he digested his punishment in impressive fashion and took Carnera to most of the punches up to the ninth round.

Carnera's first defeat. The defeat was the first suffered by Carnera since he started his career in 1926. He had a record of 23 victories, 22 of which were knockouts.

Maloney was impressive only at these quarters. Critics say such a feat Maloney has to do again in New York and in London.

GRIM REAPER SUMMONS FORMER IOWA CITIZEN

M. S. Carman, 71, former resident of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who came to Twin Falls from Colorado with his family three years ago, died early Tuesday morning at the county general hospital here following an attack of typhoid fever. Cause of death was determined definitely by an autopsy performed yesterday afternoon.

The family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Carman and three 9-year-old daughter, lived here in a dwelling on Sixth avenue west. The body lies now at the Drake funeral parlors, while arrangements were being made last evening for its removal to the former home in Iowa.

HEALTH UNIT STARTS CRUSADE IN SCHOOLS

Weighing and measuring pupils in the grade schools and the junior high school, and the inauguration of a health campaign, were completed yesterday by Mrs. Richard H. Smith and Miss Helen Wolff, health nurses, connected with the Twin Falls health unit of which Dr. George C. Halley is director.

Children are weighed and measured to determine whether their weight is approximately what it should be according to recognized standards. Hereafter they will be weighed by teachers weekly and a checkup made to determine whether abnormal differences are being eliminated.

The health campaign consists in dissemination of information regarding diet and rules of conduct conducive to bodily welfare, and granting prizes to children who comply with advice set forth in pamphlets which will be distributed in the schools.

The system now in the Twin Falls city schools was started in seven schools in other parts of the county last year.
