Mayor of Pocatello, Candidate for Governor, Gives Democratic Rally Address

TWIN FALLS, Oct. 14 (Special to The News)—BEN ROSS, political power-house for the Democratic party, Ben Ross, mayor of Pocatello and Democratic candidate for the office of governor, has started his campaign of statewide audience, filling the courthouses of Minidoka county to capacity at a Democratic rally. C. A. McCall, state senator, and district judge on the Democratic ticket, present as a visitor, also gave a short talk.

In running to his entrance into the political arena for the governorship, Ross stated that his campaign was waged on the direct and simple lines of the facts. He outlined his policy in regard to the direct primary; expressed hope to re-elect the former state legislature and the new state constitution.

In speaking on farm relief, he stressed the folly of advising farmers to cut down their production in the quarry as to how they expected to meet tax requirements one-tenth of the land is to be idle. He showed the need of more money for the education of school funds and condemned the present administration as a "wasteful organization."

The speaker said that the speaker implied there would be a dramatic reduction in taxes under a Democratic administration.

J. Toes, Paul, State Democratic committeeman for the meeting was led by D. A. Weisch, resident of Jerome, D. F. N. Vicker, secretary of the Democratic county committee.

Minidoka was furnished at the beginning of the meeting with a sum of $1,000 by Harry Colwell, William Renaud, Frank Walsh and Lawrence Hahn, in campaign songs from the Zion Sinclair campaign.

On leaving here Monday night Mayor Ross drove to Boise and Tuesday was scheduled to speak at Granger, Idaho.

ATTACK ON JONES "DRY" LAW FAILS

Supreme Court Finds Against
Two Joseph Residents
Convinced Under New Act

WASHINGTON. Oct. 14 (UPI)—An action on the constitutionality of the Jones act, under which a violator of the Volstead act can be sent to prison for five years and fined $10,000 failed yesterday before the state supreme court.

The suit came from Missouri. Two St. Joseph residents, Hugh McElvogue and William J. Driscoll, charged that the statute which McElvogue was sentenced to the penitentiary for a year and Brown four days ago, was unconstitutional.

As a customary, the court in refusing to pass upon the constitutionality of the draft "dry" law gave it a "faint go." The question of the constitutionality of the Jones act was not raised, however, in the United States district court where the case originated.

The challenge to the statute was made on appeal to the eighth circuit court of appeals. Those proceedings pointed out that in such circumstances the tribunal generally decides a question of constitutionality.

Denial of the petition for review does not preclude the court at some future date from passing upon the constitutionality of the Jones act.

The Jones act, passed in 1929, said it was the intent of congress to "discourage between casual or illegal importations of intoxicating liquors, or attempts to commercialize violations of the law."

Counsel for McElvogue and Driscoll argued that the Jones act was a violation of the right of self-government of states to classify the offense and determine the punishment violated the constitution.

McElvogue, on a conviction under the Jones law, was sentenced to five years in Altona. At the court's last term he asked for a new trial, the result of which he had been convicted, should be treated as a misdemeanor. His plea was refused and a writ of habeas corpus for a rehearing was denied.

Marco Colpo, Buffalo townswoman, Butler, Pennsylvania, failed to get a new trial yesterday after being found guilty of violating and Edward B. Johnson's attempt to have recommended the use of alcohol in a place of public entertainment.

Johnson, 50, was indicted on the liquor law violation and by Edward B. Johnson's attempt to have recommended the use of alcohol in a place of public entertainment.

A review, however, was granted in the liquor case which is expected to be handed down next Friday.

The Waterlot Distilling corporation, which has been granted a license to manufacture beer under the federal or state internal revenue laws, has been granted a license to manufacture beer under the internal revenue laws.

The indictment against Vincent resulted from alleged false statements before the grand jury in money from the Ohio state bank and later gave the funds to Daugherty. The state claimed that such a loan was never repaid.

County officials said the indictment was based on the testimony of Cecil L. Hall and Frank O. Schaeffer. Clinton county commissioners, who were the bank locators at the prosecutor's request, Daugherty is alleged to have misappropriated $37,000.

Artificial Sunshine Stencil Marks Babies To Avoid Mixups

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A 1/16-second shot of artificial sunlight, which will tan and discolor skin, is used by a baby is advanced to prevent hospital mix-ups by the scientific journal American Medicine.

As the doctor holds the newborn infant to the nurso she lays a stencil appropriately on the skin and holds it for 18 seconds over a water-cooled mercury lamp, which gives intense ultraviolet radiation.

The identification mark can be a number, name, as real or symbol or an arbitrary mark.

The journal suggests putting a selected mark upon each mother upon admission to the hospital and then placing the same upon her baby, or both.

This can be芙蓉 although it may not be from the time after a few days. It can be read at any time within six months by use of black light. This is ultra-violet light with the violet rays cut out.

Black Light Never Fails

Whether it is a symbol or a picture, the black rays characters are as plain as if made of dark paint.

Dr. Herman Goodman, New York City, with originalizing the idea of thus making a tan record for months.

He has been granted a patent of this identification. Dr. Goodman in April this year tandem a spot the size of a quarter upon the forearm of his wife, Mrs. Caswell, who has been artificially tanned, and the round spot was distinctly outlined despite the fact of sun tan covering it from eygicht.

In September Dr. Goodman turned his attention to babies, and the first ones he treated were those that had been artificially tanned, and under the invisible rays the round spot was distinctly outlined despite the fact of sun tan covering it from eygicht.

Babson Believes Insurance to Be One of Few "Depression Proof" Businesses and Predicts Growth

Buy State Statistician Reports Increase in Sale of Policies Despite Recession in Many Other Major Lines

By ROGER W. BABSON, PARIS, March 14.—With the exception of last winter, the analysts, statisticians and economists began to hunt around for so-called "depression proof" business, one of which would hold up regardless of general business readjustments.

One by one we have seen their reports and conclusions, but nothing. Strangely enough the few businesses that really have proved "depression proof" were not mentioned.

The young fellow above is being stenciled with a number.

conditions, are tending toward longer life.

This fact added to the fact that insurance money is invested by the best experts and is most carefully supervised makes it possible for the insurance companies to offer attractive policies to their clients.

They offer a much wider variety of policies on more liberal terms than any other company can offer.

Insurance companies buy the services of a rating bureau, which is a prime factor in moving bond prices toward higher levels.

Service to Policy Holders

I look for continued growth of our service industries. I believe, however, that this growth will be more rapid if ways are found of still further increasing the service to the business. Life insurance means more to the public than any other investment.

Life insurance means putting by for old age, saving for old age, not spending now on old age tomorrow.

For once the Marquis do not win a war!

They storm the citadel of Bonaparte society and capture the heart of the Marquis.

It is a good idea to let the Marquis know that he never was given a chance to decide whether or not he wanted to be an actor.

Marquis to "prosperous doctors and wealthy teachers" no personal possessions are good as a personal competent insurance man. To be sure we sometimes regard them as great men when they are over-inflated, but the insurance man is the one who provides for old age, educate children, support the disabled, and have a host of other good things.

The insurance man has now become a profession, and people should go to an experienced and honest man who will analyze their needs.

Although life insurance has long given a distinct benefit to mankind, it offers many more advantages to the public, and increased living and civic effort, and increased living.

Further proof that Leathernecking, adapted from the stage play, "Present Arms," is destined for laughing success is the fact that the author of the story has sold the rights to the Orpheum Theatre in Los Angeles California.

When he grew up he not only acted in plays but painted with them before he was old enough to walk and sang at the age of four, the debutante in "The Poor Nut," "The Trouper," "Dumbbell," "The Stage Star," "The Breaks," and "By the Way."

And now he finds himself at the place he first started from, namely Hollywood, the only difference is that he is the only one left.

The author of the original film qualified as a screen actress, and a singing voice of unusual charm. The new song, "All My Life," sung by him in "The Poor Nut," is a smash hit.

The other Sunshine Girl, daughter from England, also make their film debut in "Leathernecking." In two elaborate costumes, and prepared for the premiere of "Bliss of the Children" doing both.

Five of them sit for the laugh picture. The author of the stage play, Elliott Nugent, Eddie Foy, Jr., and Benny Rubin. All succeed in capturing their share.

Now he is off to the Orpheum Theatre in Los Angeles to play the initial film debut of Irene Dunne, former Ziegfeld prima donna, who has the lead role in "The Poor Nut."

He is the author of the original film.

LEVISTON, Idaho, Oct. 14.—Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, Progressive—the northern states, tonight said he believed the several national conferences he had participated in had "had a great influence" in helping to develop competitive naval shipbuilding.

He predicted great international controversies in the future will be settled by arbitration rather than by armed conflict, so effective have become the efforts toward disarmament.

He said prosperity of the world was largely dependent upon agriculture.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 14 (UPI)—
Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, Progressive, addressed his last night at Moscow, Idaho, farmers the "right for equality between agriculture and industry" would be started Oct. 25, at the opening of the next conference.

"This time it comes for a showdown to find out whether the pledges of our national conferences to help farmers in the East and West are going to be kept," he said. "I'm part in the 'farm relief' right," he said, "but I'm just starting."

He added he had "little faith" in the federal farm board's ability to help farmers without resorting to "a little bit of socialism."

"The farm board started out right," Senator Borah said. "Leggo Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, is a good man. He is doing a good job for the farmer. But about that time Julius Barnes and other gentle men in the United States Senate got into Congress and Washington. They convinced Legge he was on the wrong track; at least I pre-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—When White House delegates of the National Woman's party bore banners for the Nineteenth amendment, they cheerfully went to jail for their cause.

They went to jail—and they emerged to flaunt checkered workshop housewives in a "prison special" campaign tour.

Now these same women are coming back to Washington. They mean to sweep aside, in one stroke, more than 80 "sex inequalities" in-statutes and every subject to its jurisdiction.

For a "Year Campaign" less drama, because there is less opposition, less of appealing than the support of Minnie Younger, former

"In the old days," she said, "we were told that it was not to let the men think we knew too much.
We felt we had to be 'Jemimine' to the vote."

So "putting the finger on the law"
has superseded "sweet femininity."

WILDE AND LLOYD

IRVING, N. C., Oct. 14 (UPI)— Det. Lloyd fought a light gun battle with a fugitive last night
according to E. H. Kline, California attorney general. The fugitive said he offered several officers to subdue the Lamar killer who went down curving.

Police officers were on the trail of the killer who was wanted for the slaying of Harry Wilde and C. A. Lloyd, California detectives, and E. L.

in the other cities.

The story of the shooting as told by Kline:

"Five of us were sitting in the forward chair car as it pulled into the station at Branson, Mo., when we saw a man and a woman, as we had a hunch that Fleagle either was in northern Arkansas or farther south in Missouri."

"There was a struggle and a gun fight between the federal and state officers and the fugitives. We were all hit."

"One of our officers got off at

EPIDEMIC CLOSES DOORS OF CALDWELL'S SCHOOLS

CALDWELL, Idaho, Oct. 14 (UPI)—

A school has caused closing of all schools and children have been advised to keep away from public gatherings for the next two weeks.

The case of the disease is reported by Dr. F. M. Johnson, city physician, to be the most serious
since the outbreak of the Spanish flu.

The northern state of Paris was closed on the side of President

Washington, and the schools organized to aid the government and auxiliaries, relying in the hope that the disease will not spread.

A football game scheduled for this evening between Caldwell and Payette high school teams has been canceled off.

The College of Idaho continued

in session, the greater age of the pupils making them less subject to the disease.

MUTUAL PURCHASES BUILDING SITE ON SHOSHONE STREET

Building and Loan Association Outgrows Present Quarters and Lays Plans
to Construct New Home

The Mutual Building and Loan Association, which has quarters at 112 Main Avenue west into which its officers were moved about a year ago, are laid out a new building on Shoshone Street on which a new home for the association is to be erected. H. H.
Grant, president and general manager of the association, announced last evening.

The association's new home is to be erected on property on which building now stands at 112 Main Avenue, which was for many years occupied by Twin Falls' public library, a small business concern, and later by a lumber company, estate lumber.

Although building plans have not been completed, Mr. Grant said it is under way and will be completed in time to be rated, and the new building will be constructed with full 50-foot front on Shoshone street. The first two stories will have quarters in the new building.

The building site was purchased by the association from J. W. Craven, lawyer and administrator of the H.
McCullum estate.

Indicative of the steady growth of the association, Mr. Grant referred to purchasing a new building on the large vault that was expected to accomodate
the association's record for an indefinite time, that now is full to overflowing and will be recruited by the organization.

In its present location the association shares quarters with the Leach and Williams Realty company.
