

HAZELTON GROUPS JOIN FOR SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

HAZELTON, Oct. 17 (Special to The News) — Groups in Hazelton, Idaho, for the week included a reception for the school faculty, and meeting of the Ladies Aid society.

The school board sponsored the teachers' reception Tuesday evening.

Owing to the busy season there was no regular attendance at the meeting.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. W. L. Ladd, Wednesday afternoon, for a social hour, followed by a dinner to be held in the church basement, Oct. 22.

The following committee was appointed: Mrs. C. E. Walker, Mrs. E. H. Hooper, Mrs. W. T. Coplin, Mrs. Jack McDonald, Mrs. and Mrs. Dickinson, Kitchen, Mrs. E. W. Herman, Mrs. Day, Mrs. R. C. Johnson, Mrs. E. Berry, Mrs. George Wylie, Mrs. J. Lindsay, Mrs. S. Brooks and Mrs. Van Duran; soliciting, Mrs. H. Eyred, Mrs. A. C. Johnson, Mrs. C. H. Hause, Mrs. D. O. Lengenberger. Will serve as chairman.

Smoothing the Rough

Edges

Science is like a giant chisel. With each new invention or discovery the sharp edges of life are being smoothed, and human temperament is improved. Perhaps in the next million years all the rough places in life will be made easy, and man will have grown so sweet tempered that there will be no need of government and, incidentally, no taxes to pay. Perhaps something will have been discovered to get husbands home on time for dinner, and something to stop Junior's endless questions. But, seriously, chemists have lately perfected something that will ease the work of the housewife, and put a smile on the face of the junior-husband. ABERDEEN COAL TREATED BY A NEW CHEMICAL PROCESS has certainly taken a rough place out of life. No more fear of dust and dirt in the house when the coal is delivered, and furnace and pipes remain free from soot. ASK US ABOUT ABERDEEN CHEMICAL TREATED COAL TODAY.

Within United States tariff walls that comprehend a territory considerably greater than all of Europe, there is presumably free and untrammeled operation of the economic system and its development.

Whether there is in the present situation, the forces of mass production and commodities fall sometimes before the bar of protection, the explanation must be either that supply exceeds demand, or agencies of distribution are following a "hang to me" policy.

Either too much wheat and beans and potatoes have been produced to meet normal demands and there remains a surplus which depresses price, or else dealers are buying in small quantities only enough of these products to meet immediate demands.

Definite information to determine which is the true explanation would invaluable.

If it is a case of overproduction, the tariff affords at least this one advantage that competition in the domestic market is restricted to American products. No foreign-grown beans can be brought into this country without payment of the tariff duty of seven cents a pound; no foreign-grown wheat without payment of the tariff of twenty cents a bushel; no foreign-grown potatoes without the tariff duty of seventy-five cents a bushel.

The tariff itself cannot raise the price of products produced in this country in excess of the country's normal requirements, but it can do this to reserve the American market for the American product, and in case of production below requirements it undoubtedly does prevent ruinous competition from imports, and generally insures the producer, lighter prices.

EAST FOR GUNNAR

George W. Wickes' suggestion of flogging for bandits and racketeers is rather startling. Most of us have accepted the view that we are past that sort of thing—civilization has outgrown it. Yet Canada, England and the state of Delaware still use the lash for some offenses. It may be, as Mr. Wickes says, that "it is a deterrent to others, flagging would seem to present great advantages." It is worth considering, anyway.

Criminals, as he observes, now have the advantage in their conflicts with civil authorities. Perhaps we have been too tender with their feelings as well as too careful in guaranteeing their rights in court. The crooks often seem to have more rights than honest men.

There may not be any more brutally in the whip that there is in the gun or bomb. Criminals might fear whipping more than gunpowder even though they fear the death of death. It would be something definite, painful and shameful to which to submit.

But to be effective the lash would have to be applied promptly and firmly. The chief defect of our punishments now is that they are too uncertain and too far away.

EXEMPTED BETTING LOSSES

Since life is just one tax bill after another, and one of our leading occupations is figuring out losses on exemptions, a decision recently announced at Washington concerning a proposed polluter is interesting and instructive.

The gentleman is allowed to deduct from his taxable income the money he has lost on horse races, thereby effecting a considerable saving and encouraging him to persevere in that line in an effort to recoup his losses.

The board of tax appeals, however, refuses to let him deduct the sum he lists as lost betting on a presidential election.

This is probably a good law, or good morals, or something, but it's hard for an outsider to distinguish clearly between the two. The subject is of special import right now, with a number of important campaigns in progress. Couldn't there be a little more fight-on-the-part-of-the-things?

If one exemption is legitimate, why not the other? Is betting on a horse race really different from betting on a donkey and an elephant race?

MINISTER PRAISES BOY SCOUT CAUSE

Rev. Glen W. Hutton Says
Movement Develops Lads
Into Trustworthy Men

"We invest money in scout buildings and camps and give Boy Scouts opportunities for training and leadership. They are the sons of their Makers," Rev. Glen W. Hutton, pastor of the First Christian church told members of the Pastoral Leaders Conference.

He spoke at the banquet hall of the Christian Church last evening.

"A good reason for interest in the movement," he continued, "is the fact that the boys of today are leaders of tomorrow and we need to develop leaders now." He urged the scouts to forward a movement which will develop boys into good men and make them trustworthy and reverent citizens.

The speaker of Red Rockton was present to speak on the subject of welfare by James Collett, Twin Falls president of the convention and by brief talks by G. E. Allen; Lawrence Lund, Twin Falls; C. E. Lind, Twin Falls; C. S. Bachelder, Twin Falls; Edwin Gill, Kimberly, and Louis Jack, Flirt.

The other outstanding addresses were given by Dr. F. J. Smith, Twin Falls, president of the chamber of commerce of the river area, who explained objectives of the convention and urged continued cooperation and work; and W. D. Hutton, pastor of the First Christian Church, who spoke on the convention theme, "Sharing the Scoutmaster's Load."

Supintendent Smith urged the patrol leaders to work together locally to build in each member of the patrol the spirit of cooperation, illustrating it by the example of the boys in the trenches in the Great War.

Scout patrol speakers yesterday morning included Claude Titus, Rutherford; Fred Carter, Durley; Clarence Nye, Twin Falls; Boyd Waller, Kimberly; and Dr. F. J. Smith, Twin Falls; and Max Morris, Gooding; Ursus Dalton, Jerome. After the banquet last night, the boys practiced for stunts to be put on tonight.

The meeting opened at 8 o'clock in the afternoon. At 7:30 P. M., Dr. L. D. Hyde will speak, following which there will be a movie. The meeting will close with services at 10:45 A. M. Sunday.

UNION PACIFIC SYSTEM MAINTAINS TRACK WORK

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 17.—The Union Pacific railroad, which it is reported has orders for $25,000,000 of steel rails and other material for track work, indicates that it intends to press on with its program that it has in mind to keep the same scale as it has in 1920 and during the former year of 1929.

Orders for 45,000 tons of rail were placed by the railroad at $2,000,000 per car, according to E. E. Anderson, president of the railroad. An order for 19,000 tons was given the Illinois Steel company and a similar order was given to the Bessemer and Lake Erie Steel company. The inland steel company was awarded 4000 tons. The orders for the plates, which are to be used in the construction of the new bridge, will be approximately $150,000 and will also be placed by Mr. Adams within a short time.

IDAHO TUBER MART OUTLOOK IMPROVES

President of Potato Bureau
Predicts Reasonable Increase in Prices Soon

BURLEY, Oct. 17 (Special to The News)—The market is a more liberal demand for potatoes and a much more reasonable market situation from the standpoint of the grower, according to Fred Martin, president of the Idaho Potato Bureau. He predicts the Idaho potato harvest, it seems probable, he says, that the bottom has been reached, and that a steady and gradual increase in the market price may be looked for in the near future.

There has been a flood of newly harvested potatoes here of late, that has nearly swamped the dealers. The long-drawn good weather, which has brought out many pickers and trucks of all descriptions and turned them into the fields. The crop, in most instances, is fed with the first frost, and the field forces piled up enough sacks of the tubers to keep trucks busy hauling each day until midnight, or later.

Lack Storage.
According to Oldendorfmen, there is not more than 45 per cent storage space available for the new crop. Farmers, though, are disappointed at the low price, which has been down to 75 cents an hundred for the last two weeks, and it is probable that all cellar and storage room on the project will be made use of.

At the warehouses, it is stated, the first rush seems to be over. Growers who have sold off their crops are now buying shipping costs, and are turning to the market again. The lack of storage has been unduly depressed by heavy shipments from all potato areas, and will continue to affect the market for some time. It is probable that all cellar and storage room on the project will be made use of.

At the warehouses, it is stated, the

RUPERT POTATO CROP
BRINGS $445 AN ACRE

RUPERT, Oct. 17 (Special to The News)—Sale of five acres of potatoes grown this year by Fred Martin on the J. W. Murphy farm here brought $445 an acre, or $222.50, according to reports received here today. The tubers were 18 inches long, and weighed 1.5 pounds each, or 80 sacks to the acre. There were only 80 sacks of seed left in the entire tract.

The potatoes were sold to the Lemmon Cottrell and Murphy families, who have the property, along with the property, about 100 acres, and brought $150 an acre.

The returns are slightly over $45 an acre.

CHAPTER 19

Hallie met Lester again on a cliff summit. She did not answer his greeting had as his former days, when he had come to her nest.

"Hallie, you're on your high horse about something or other. Could it be sweethearts? I've got a lot to say to Lester."

"It's no secret. Lester! She had no means to say it, but I guess he'll tell us all about themselves out the night as well as to add to them."

"I'm to blame in a way, but when I told him I was wrong, he didn't love that I fell for you." Her words came rushing now—she could not stop them. "I told him I was the release of your money; because surely—surely you don't want to marry me before you talked to me again."

"I'm really happy when you held me and kissed me, but I guess that last time that happiness like that isn't right."

"You liked it all right?"

"No. But I knew all the time that I was wrong. It's not my place to tell you. I can't tell you what I heard him say to her voice broke."

"I'm ashamed that I could know myself so clearly and yet not be able to do anything about it."

"I guess that's what it is to come to a man at last."

"The real thing being poor old Lester, I guess," she chattered.

"It is amazing," said Lester. "But how easily, I can stand back now and see why I thought I loved her. I think I'll go back to her, Hallie. You might. I'll have to before I let you go."

He came very slowly toward her, his hands tucked behind his back, caught, held, struck. Then she flung herself away and ran wildly in the opposite direction.

RESERVES PLAN TO HEAR J. C. PENNEY

Magic Valley District Conference Schedules Noted
Business Man As Speaker

J. C. Penney, New York City, founder of the J. C. Penney Company and chairman of its board of directors, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting in the Christian church of the Magic Valley Old Reserve conference here October 23. It was announced yesterday that the conference will be opened at the conference. They will represent Idaho, Plier, Kimberly, Hansen, Harlow, and Twin Falls. The first session opens October 23 for two days.

Leaders at the conference will be Miss Helen N. Flack, Boise, resident secretary of the board; Mrs. W. H. Gandy, association Miss Tatian Hessler, Boise, City Reserve Secretary of the House-Southern district; Mr. M. L. Loveland, Twin Falls, City Reserve Secretary of the Magic Valley district. The Penobscot Girl Scouts members will participate in the conference, the first session opening October 23 for two days.

Leadership service will be at the First Presbyterian church with Rev. James Miller as the minister and speaker. The Twin Falls Girl Scouts will be performing special music. The candle lighting ceremony will be given immediately following the sermon. The conference will open at 10 a.m.

District officers are Aita Lind, Twin Falls, president; Geneva Nickelson, Plier, vice-president.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE PLANS ENLARGEMENT

Enlargement of the advisory committee representing districts similar to the American Falls reservoir districts will be considered at the meeting of the committee of officers of the United States Bureau of Reclamation Oct. 21-22, at Twin Falls, according to representatives from Twin Falls who returned Thursday night.

Representatives selected R. E. Sherrard, Jerome, chairman, and E. H. Johnson, Twin Falls, secretary. An executive committee of R. E. Sherrard, Jerome, W. H. Gandy, Kimberly; W. B. Paul, Rupert; H. Peterson, Rigby, and John E. Kelley, Shelley, was appointed.

At present committee has the names of 120 individuals representing 100 of the 125 districts owning water in the American Falls reservoir. These include the American Falls, Palisade, and other districts, headquarters here; American Falls reservoir district, 2, with headquarters at Orofino; the Miller Land Canal company, which includes the Miller Canal unit, and several small districts. The total membership is about 330.

The Twin Falls Canal company, the Twin Falls Irrigation and other associations which buy water from the American Falls reservoir district, 1, are not members. However, they are invited to have their name taken in, it will be entitled in representation, since it owns water directly there.

The advisory committee has been active for several years, and its work is the wish of the reservoir bureau that its scope be extended and that it take an active part in regard to water regulation.

HUNT FOR HEIR TURNS TO TWIN FALLS AREA

Earl Bates, believed to be a real estate agent of Twin Falls, apparently is entitled to $7000 as 'heir to an estate according to will recently recited here by a man from a Chicago probate attorney that is searching for him.'

Bates, according to this information, was last heard from in Twin Falls several years ago. It will be his interest, it was stated, to furnish full particulars of Mr. H. H. Lee's history concerning him—probably a Chicago concern, and any friends he may have.

"And now that you are in Twin Falls, won't you drop down and see the largest stock of hand and orchestra instruments in the State. Our stock is again complete after the school-rush. Here you can see—not only—one or two of each instrument, but a dozen different styles of trumpets, a dozen clarinets, and almost a dozen different saxophones and trombones. Also we can show you a dozen different styles of banjos, guitars and violin. We have a nice stock of drums and traps, and a wonderful line of accessories. We sell Conn, Martin, Holton, Indiana, and several medium priced lines as well as used and re-conditioned instruments. You can purchase on the easy payment plan at cash prices."

WHAT FOSS-FIRESTONE SERVICE REALLY MEANS:

Foss-Firestone Service Means Just ONE-STOP for Complete - All Around - Service

50

COMPLETE SERVICES

Under One Roof!!

When this modern service station was planned, it was planned with the idea of bringing something new in real service to motorists. That idea was the "One-Stop" phase... to make it convenient for the motorist to stop only once for every bit of service his car might need. How well we succeeded is evidenced by the many departments you may find under this one roof.

Imagine it! Just drive your car into our building and we can service it from radiator to tail light without moving it out of the station.

Each department is a veritable "shop within a shop" ... complete in every detail and so conducted that there is no job within their line they cannot handle quickly, efficiently and at the fairest possible price.

Make it a habit to stop at the Foss-Firestone Service Station for the little things... or the big things. Always remember every accessory, repair or general service your car may need... the Foss-Firestone Service Station is the place to come.

Get the Foss-Firestone Habit... it will mean miles and smiles of satisfaction to you.
