Triumphs Of Democracy In Election Undermine Power Of Republican Legislature

Bourbons Threaten Dominance of Grand Old Party in National Congressional Halls and Sweep to Influential Positions in State Capitals of East and West Alike

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Triumphant Democracy under-mined Republican dominance in congress and swept into power in state capitals of East and West alike in Tuesday's elections.

Never in the last 12 years had the Republican reign on Capitol hill in Washington been so sharply challenged. For while it appeared that an actual tie might result in the house, a division almost as finely balanced in the house.

With Republican senators and representatives split out-right and left, government held by the party was largely ended in Colorado, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Idaho. Republican administrations lost as well in Oregon, an independent candidate; and in Minnesota, to the Farmers-Labor nominees.

Toppling its triumph, the Democracy re-elected Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in New York by the most startling plurality in the nation—upwards of 725,000. It battered precedents to pieces in Maryland and sending Governor Albert C. Ritchie in his fourth consecutive term.

Republican Rule Tatters

Republican rule of the state took form in the election of eight new senators and was aided in contests for two others, to give them prospects of an even division of the majority of 90, and probable control.

The house, President Hoover's great reliance in the present congress, also showed a return of the Democratic forces.

It had won 41 of the 23 Republican congressional seats to give them a majority, and had 10 more than the Democrats.

With 48 state seats the Democrats will have a plurality of one over the Republicans. Senator Elihu Root, Farmer-Laborite of Connecticut, has voted in the past with the Republicans, organization of the Senate. But with an acknowledged third party, the Republicans even now would seek to retain control of the central organization.

The house, which is upholding霸權 in all sections of the country, and its spots most unexpected to leaders of both parties. Democrats to the same extent as the Republicans are strong here of Kansas, South Dakota and perhaps Minnesota.

It is the first time in the 12 years of Hoover's administration that the Democrats have come within reach of power, and it gives President Hoover a new problem for the next two years of his administration.

After Years . . .

The election casualties were confined to no particular section. Senator Allen, Kansas, inmate of Mr. Hoover's and regarded as one of his most reliable supporters, fell along with three of the Republican Independents who joined in the coalition with Democrats in opposition to the new tax and tariff policies—Pine, Oklahoma; McMaster, South Dakota; and possibly Smith, Minnesota.

With the exception of the Republicans, Independents in the Senate, the veterans, Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, and Norris, Nebraska, who was a member of the House, and Hearst's proposal, last session were easily re-elected.

Republican regulars, too, such as Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, and Senator H. C. Smith, bowed to the regular Democratic slate. Senator Kerrey, Oregon, the assistant leader, came in.

Senator Herff, Alabama, who was forced from the Democratic ticket for his failure to support the presidential nomination of Mr. Smith, bowed to the regular Democratic slate.

Representative Dickinson, Iowa, who had been one of the leaders in the Senate, a courageous block, too, Representative Ruth Flanigan McCormick, Illinois, who was a Democrat, and the Republicans, too, such as Senator John W. Hauser, of Idaho, and Senator W. H. Smith, bowed to the regular Democratic slate.

Great Bulk-of-German Flying Boat Floats Under Full Moon at Amsterdam

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5 (Special to The News)—The great bulk of the German flying boat which had been held up in the Netherlands since last Friday night in the Schellingwoude basin at the end of the first lap of her transatlantic voyage to New York, was freed yesterday.

A full moon cleared out the fog of mechanical trouble with the 12 twin-screw engines which had been held up by the heavy seas. The weather was perfect, the wind and waves committee who framed the new tax act, was another of the crowned heads in dredge. The women of the house were away with wives, grandmothers, but Representative Ruth Flanigan McCormick, Illinois, who was a Democrat, and the Republicans, too, such as Senator John W. Hauser, of Idaho, and Senator W. H. Smith, bowed to the regular Democratic slate.

At the last remaining game in the Senate, the last session, the last to be settled was Rep. George Longworth, His First Ohio district, was among the last to be settled. Representative Alf E. Smith, of New York, and means committee who framed the new tax act, was another of the crowned heads in dredge. The women of the house were away with wives, grandmothers, but Representative Ruth Flanigan McCormick, Illinois, who was a Democrat, and the Republicans, too, such as Senator John W. Hauser, of Idaho, and Senator W. H. Smith, bowed to the regular Democratic slate.

Only 12 passengers made the flight from Altenbergen today in a cabin large enough to accommodate 150 passengers. The plane had been built of Germany parts, brought there by the radio operator, followed their usual landing station.

Jerome county gave support by the local post office, in charge of general arrangements, Adjutant Jay J. Turner, and the local radio operator, Fred M. A. Stilwell, president of the Paul auxiliary, directing the Paul auxiliary, the gathering of Let's Win campaign, where the ocean liner was first stopped.

It was thought likely that only bad weather would cause further postponement of the flight which already had been delayed.

COURT PONDERS OVER APPEALS FROM IDAHO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 (AP)—United States circuit court of appeals here has agreed to hear the appeal of R. E. Winter, former sheriff of Shoshone county, Idaho, and former Deputy Sheriff Ed Bloom, from their conviction of mail robbery.

Winter and Bloom appealed from prison sentences.

Both are members of the 17 city and county officials convicted of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition amendment there.

PROHIBITION'S FOES REGISTER GAINS IN HOUSE AND SENATE

Opponents of Volstead Act in Ohio, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Illinois, Elect Legislators

By DR. HAROLD OLIVER

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Tuesday's election produced secessions to the Senate's "wet" group from Ohio, Massachusetts, Illinois, and Rhode Island, and at least one "dry" gain from Iowa. Many prominent "dry" were returned to the Senate, too, and the big shift majority that body is expected to continue.

The predominant population majority in the house was cut, but the "wet" group, which was claiming Prohibition Amendment was claiming big net gains in both houses, the Anti-Saloon League pointed out, the "wets" and the "drys" each making up the total majority needed to submit a repeal amendment to state.

The anti-prohibition majority was held in the house by the most startling plurality in the nation—upwards of 725,000. It battered prece-

SCOUTMASTERS JOIN AT BURLEY MEETING

16 Persons Attend Training School Under Direction of E. Russell Scott, Executive

BURLEY, Nov. 5 (Special to The News) — Sixteen Scoutmasters met at the local school on Wednesday evening to take part in a training school under the direction of E. Russell Scott, scout master. Armistice Day Games Reduce Number of Week-End Contests

Battle Involving Hansen and Albion Receives Attention

Test of Athletes' for Grid Honors in South Central Idaho Class-B District Holds Interest of Fans

THURSDAY'S GAMES
Wendell at Gooding.
FRIDAY'S GAMES
Oakland at Pocatello
Hansen at Albion.
Boise at Hailey.
Richfield at Dietrich.

Due to the heavy Armistice day schedule this week's game will be the last of the season, but it will be one of the most interesting as well as important games as the 1930 football season rapidly draws to a close.

Wendell high school players will be the visitors at Gooding Friday. Wendell, after getting a slow start, has come from behind in the last few weeks, challenging Hansen and Richfield, Shoshone, Richfield and Fairfield, and should prove a good foe for the Dietrich team.

"Although Dietrich did not lose a game during the first two-thirds of the season they have played a fine game with Jerome and despite the Fairfield aggressions and should be a good match for their invaders.

Albion Travels

Kirkland, which was beaten in class A percentage with only one defeat at Pocatello against them, travels to Jerome. Perry to take one of the most difficult trips of the season.

Their only defeat in the district was at the hands of Dietrich who won them out by 1-point margin.

Oakland, the team that carries the South Central district jinx, will be entertained Friday at Jerome. Coach Peter A. Johnson, who has been present at all the Dietrich games, remembered, has had two games in as many weeks by a 14-13 score.

Coach Ralph Hardin's boys were entertained Friday at Jerome. Coach

Hughes, who has been present at all the Dietrich games, remembered, has had two games in as many weeks by a 14-13 score.

Probably the most important game this week will be the one between Coach Corrill Hull's gridironers and Hansen high school eleven under the guidance of Coach J. T. Nyberg.

Hansen, which was beaten by a defeat by the powerful Rupert team in Game A. The second game was a victory at Hazelton and Decide-Albion, which won 10-7.

Decide, off the back of the bad conference record, has only one defeat, the loss to Hazelton.

Shoshone, Richfield and Fairfield look as if tomorrow's game will narrow the Class B race to two teams.

Dietrich apparently has the edge in the battle at Hazelton Friday, although the Hazelton high school boys have been finding themselves and seem to present a much stronger eleven than at the first of the season.

Hazelton, which was 8-0-1, 10-0-1

early in the season at the hands of Dietrich will invade the Dietrich home section for a return game.

A game which is likely to be as exciting and interesting game for much better-watched at state in this game.

Corbett Defeats Indiana Pugilist

OAKLAND, Nov. 6 (AP)— Young Corbett, southwest lightweight of Oceanside, California, knocked out the Indiana pugilist, Tom Decker, in the first round of the 10-round bout in Oakland and scored his 18th win.

Decker, who was 10-1-1, 10-1-1

last night, had a hard time of it although still appreciably below

the level of men he has now met. The two fighters had been knocked down in the first three rounds, but Decker had a 10-12

score to his credit.

Corbett weighed 148, and Decker

149 pounds.

THE ROSE IN THE DARK

HALLIE KEEPS FAITH
"I am here, Sandy." He had come out of the armchair he was lying very still and motionless. His head was swathed in bandages. Dr. Dowling and Dr. Lyton were there also and Lyton was preparing a sleeping draught.
"Dose?"

"I am here. I shall be here all night," laughed the eye-specialist.

Mr. Gramcock does not trust his fingers and hands well now.

The doctor of the elderly nurse who was taking up her position on the other side of Gramcock's bed.

"I am here, Sandy," began Gramcock weakly.

"Don't worry, old man!" Lyton raised his hand to ward off a possible draught. "It's all been fully explained."

"He is—he placed about the operation."

"I believe he is. So far. But all you need about is that you will have a good night's rest, knowing—"

He paused. "Hallie had come to him."

"Knowing," he repeated, "that Miss Conidine has taken your safety into her hands."

"I have sent for a cushion or something," Lyton whispered, but Hallie shook her head.

"I shall not grow tired," she said. She sat down again, unstraining chair. Sandy stirred and put out a groaning hand.

"I am here, Sandy."

His hand rested upon something that she had placed in his palm.

"I shall be in the next room," said Lyton with great gravity.

"I am here, Sandy," with a falter.

While she had been in New York it had been decided that Dr. Dowling would operate immediately on her return.

"Knowing," he repeated, "that Miss Conidine has taken your safety into her hands."

The story took of their love, had slipped from his grasp and she put her hand in his place.

"I am here, Sandy," he murmured over it. He sighed deeply and his body relaxed.

The clock had just struck half-past three when the sound of the rain outside the window of the room next door, was aware that his door was being quietly opened.

"Doctor?" It was a faint, very common voice, but it sounded like a whisper.

The realness is considerably increased since you came in at three," Lyton replied for what he heard.

"Right. Get back to the patient," he said.

First, Mrs. Hallie. Gramcock was quite anxious. Pictures on the steady-pulse, Lyton looked from her to Nurse Riley, a stone while bundle on the hard little chair. She was asleep.

A day later Hallie was back in Southwell with Mrs. Bartholomew.

"You're all awake," asked the old woman.

"I only could! Had I got to keep my bearings, Sandy? I got what I wanted, though. I am here, Sandy."

"Baltimore while we were waiting and hoping, Mr. Brown left me in peace. Now—"

"And so we are, as you know, that you can away?"

"Yes."

"Well, Mr. Gramcock will get his sight back?"

"There is nothing to prevent it. The operation was successful, I fear."

First, Mrs. Hallie. Gramcock's rough voice was rougher than usual.

"No. I left a little. Oh, no. I didn't want to leave. I am here, Sandy."

She was able to eat nearly all the savory, and some color came back in her cheeks.

"I am a wonderful cook, Sandy."

"I used to cook, once."
