ALEXANDER LEGGE FLAYS CRITICS OF BOARD'S POLICIES

Speaker Declares Loudest Protests Emanate From Persons Far From Being Among Heavy Taxpayers

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 17.— Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, told the American Acceptance Council tonight his organization was only doing what congress created it to do.

Asserting that only through organization can the American farmer find prosperity, Mr. Legge told the acceptance group that the farm board is putting "the government in business," and added a blow at those who object to its methods by saying: "I have said to all, 'The agricultural producer carrying through the marketing of his product of his own will."

"One might go further and accuse many of these fellows who are making the loudest noise of being doctrinaire, but I think they are not. Local taxes are concerned, especially on a business of trading in a commodity on a percentage basis, and in West, in doesn't require fixed assets or tangible property."

Mr. Legge reviewed the troubles of American agriculture, pointing the finger of blame at Congress, which he said had not been given the chance to make through the tariff bill of 1918.

He said the problem had become more acute since the depression has forced tremendous debts, high taxes, and high wages. He declared flatly that the farm board was putting the agricultural producer into a position of strength.

"In the case of the agricultural marketing act," he asserted, "the government doesn't buy or sell anything. Each and every cooperative association that is being given a subsidy is owned and controlled, wholly by the producers themselves."

WILL WEIGH MERITS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—The agricultural marketing act will be weighed to weigh the merits of the newly established farm marketing act next week and determine whether legislation shall be sought at the approaching session of congress.

Senator McNary, Republican, co-chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, today called upon Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge of the farm board, to meet with the committee to state their views and purposes.

He invited also the presidents of the three national farm organizations—L. L. Jackson, head of the Farmers' Union; and S. H. Thompson of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The Oregon senator said he was calling the conference to get a complete picture of the agricultural situation before concluding his work on the bill.

This was a year ago by the senate over the objection of President Hoover, but was defeated in the house.

Whether the results of the farm meeting next week, it is expected that the house will take action in the senate at the end of the month for additional legislation or for a further test of the present act.

Senator Thompson, Republican, has suggested that the house renew his right for the export of butter. In the recent campaign, Senator Borland, Republican, Idaho, and Senator Hartley, Democrat, from the administration and advocated enactment of the export decree.

Already there is a movement in the senate to revise the export decree principle of farm relief as proposed by the farm marketing act.

This was passed a year ago by the senate over the objection of President Hoover, but was defeated in the house.

PRICE OF CANDY DROPS

OILEADEN, Ore., Nov. 17 (AP)—This is one place where a kid with a nickel gets his money's worth.

At the candy store, there's just a nickel cut the price of a cent bar to three for a dime. Another nickel gets you a five-cent bar of nougat. And now kids get three bars for a nickel from the first shop keeper.

LIGHTNING CRACKS HUGO SMOKESTACK ON COAST

ANACREON, Wash., Nov. 17 (AP)—Lightning struck the smokestack of Donovan lumber mill Number 2 here from top to bottom yesterday, leaving a hole 20 feet long and 10 feet wide on the side of the company, officials estimated the damage at several thousand dollars.

The bolt struck the cedar shingles on the roof and rattled windows for miles around.

DEATH RATE DECREASES IN UTAH ACCORDING TO DEPARTMENTAL REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—The total number of deaths in Utah was 562 during 1929 as compared with 581 in 1928, a report of the Utah state department of commerce shows.

The best marked decline in the number of deaths from disease was met among neuroticus meningitis which caused 223 deaths in 1929 as compared with 252 in 1928, and 241 in 1927 and 141 in 1926 respectively.

The next increase in the number of deaths was for disease of the heart, which rose from 75 deaths in 1928 to 83 in 1929.

(By The Associated Press) The large increase in deaths from disease was for influenza which caused 196 deaths in 1929 compared with 154 in 1928.

African Pageantry Mingles With Religious Rites In Colorful Coronation

FESTIVAL ILLUSTRATES FEATURES OF RELIGION

Principles and Observances of Faith Stay Practically Pure Through 16 Centuries

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17—Christian ceremony and African pageantry mingled in the colorful coronation of Emperor Haile Selassie I, Ethiopian Coptic priests in gorgeous vestments, scarfs and girdles, studded with gold and silver, chanted the hymns of their native land, while European forces had heard of Jesus of Nazareth," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the World Council of Churches.

"Persons fighting, dashing horsemen, their claims descent from King Solomon, and the queen of Sheba, were the Abbyssinians here for 16 centuries really preserved their ancient type of Christianity."

Preserved By Isolation

"Geographic isolation, to a large extent, accounts for much that is unique in the church's life, its art, music, architecture, in the empire's Christianity. Shortly after the Ethiopians were converted to the faith of Christ, they sent a delegation to the Coptic church of Egypt, of which the Ethiopians are an offshoot, wrote from Nemanja.

"We find that the Moors and the pagans of Africa and Arabia, persecuted the tribes of Ethiopia, captured their Red Sea ports, cut them off from the Mediterranean at Alexandria, and drove them westward into the mountain abodes."

"The wonder is that they maintained their church, their separate form at all. Yet the principal tenets and observances of the faith which they received are practically pure, despite the persecutions and the laxities of faith which have been set them continually from all sides."

"Polygamy is practiced to a certain extent in the empire, but country, and slavery is not unknown, although efforts are being made by the emperor to stamp out both. But

Muslims Tax

"On the other hand the Ethiopians are in many ways a stirring and heroic people. Paul the Apostle, who was a Greek, married, had two sons, and kept his family, as in the Greek church the priests may marry, but only once. Saints and angels are adored, and saints are venerated, but the saints are not升学. The saints carry amulets, however, in the power of which they believe implicitly, even though the sainted friends are not升学. The saints are venerated, and the shrines of the church hang portraits of the emperors and empresses, and realistic representations of martyred saints."

"A religious ceremony in an Ethiopian Coptic church is a strongly traditionalistic service in Western eyes and ears. The Easter services are roughly built, circular structures, surrounded by Greek crosses, which are set up in the church. The altar is in the center, the cross stands the altar, surrounded by crude paintings of the Virgin and of Saint Michael the Archangel, and a wide cross is woven into the fabric of the church hangs portraits of the emperors and empresses, and realistic representations of martyred saints."

"The instruments of drama bounded by horns, and of caskets, rattled by merrily-looking clerks, leaning on staffs, a reverend old man, a young girl, a boy, a girl, comes from his assistance. All of the voices are keyed in a high falsetto, which, when not pleasing, gives the impression that the ceremony is devout and respectful.

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Fair and cold; scattered showers, followed by snow and rain.

Minimum temperature in the Twin Falls vicinity was 37 degrees in the night prior preceding 8 P. M. yesterday, according to the weather bureau, which has stations here, the mountains, and elsewhere.

Maximum for the same period was 41 degrees. Snow fell intermittently during the day, but soon after each flurry the clouds parted by the warm rays of the sun shine down. The snow crews cleared a precipitation of .31 of an inch.

Lowest temperature on Sunday was 35 degrees, with a steady rain falling following a chinook, which melted all the snow, amounted to .43 of an inch.

Service held by the Ethiopian converts of Jerusalem. Before the Ethiopians were cut off from the Holy Land, they had a small colony of their own at Patalene. Now they must content themselves with the flat roof and space around the dome of the church, where they sit in places outside the walls of Jerusalem.

On the night before Easter Ethiopian priests set up an altar under a palm tree, and the priest officiated at the church. Here, as near as he can get to the church of the Holy Sepulchre, a small, simple, arched stone chapel, the Ethiopian monks move in procession, bearing tom-toms and rattling guitars, consecrated bread and wine, and finally, the priest.

Finally the priest leaves the temple, walking at the end of the procession under a rocco state umbrella.

Then follows the mass, the church around the dome in their curious dancing gal, to the accompaniment of chanting that sounds odd to both the Ethiopians and the Europeans.

Finally the priest leaves the temple, and the Ethiopians leave the church.

Schrob had come over in connection with the munitions which his company was manufacturing for the British.

Lord Jellicoe said Schrob manufactured the submarines in parts in the United States and shipped them to Canada, labeled "automobiles."

Finally the priest leaves the temple, walking at the end of the procession under a rocco state umbrella.

Then follows the mass, the church around the dome in their curious dancing gal, to the accompaniment of chanting that sounds odd to both the Ethiopians and the Europeans.

Finally the priest leaves the temple, and the Ethiopians leave the church.

The Ethiopian church is virtually independent. It only links with the other forms of Christianity being found in the empire, but it is still a branch of the church.

While the world outside the empire, and the pagans of Africa and Arabia, persecuted the tribes of Ethiopia, captured their Red Sea ports, cut them off from the Mediterranean at Alexandria, and drove them westward into the mountain abodes.

"The wonder is that they maintained their church, their separate form at all. Yet the principal tenets and observances of the faith which they received are practically pure, despite the persecutions and the laxities of faith which have been set them continually from all sides."

IDaho's Governors LEARN DETAILS OF JOBS IN ONE MONTH

Newly Elected Governors Spend Time with Former Leaders Learning Rulings of "Governorship"

He tasks all governors must perform as they Republican or Democrat.

Such probably will be the procedure of the newly elected governors of Idaho, C. Ben Hargrove, a Democratic governor, and the offices occupied by a Republican executive to learn how the job is done.

Gov. James F. Brady, who spent a month in the statehouse with Governor Brady, every day talking over some new job that awaited him and the new legislation he must pass.

His executive acts would be his.

"A similar procedure was followed yesterday by Gov. C. O. Moore and Governor H. G. Baker."

States of Tasks

There are a dozen of tasks not covered in platforms, which call for the executive's best efforts quite as much as the performance of his platform promises.

A half dozen times during the year he will be on the pardon and parole board where his judgment and mercy are called for.

Such is the case with the land board and forestry board where the natural wealth of the state is concerned.

Associated with these are myriad meetings of the board of examiners to approve expenditures, the long fall meeting of the board of equalization and occasional meetings of various boards such as the public institutions improvement board.

All the fundamental duties of these as outlined in the state constitution must be learned and relearned by each new governor.

Better than learn his responsibilities for results.

Moore, too, will have all these to learn as his predecessors. Already he has made a tentative visit to the statehouse since his election, and as the time draws near he will be in full swing.

His executive acts would be his.

"A similar procedure was followed yesterday by Gov. C. O. Moore and Governor H. G. Baker."

Crops Thrive on Reclaimed Black-jack Lands of Florida

CHICAGOANS PROVE VALUE OF DISTRICT CALLED WORTHLESS

Native of England Assumes Charge of Tract and Constructs Farm Buildings

RESIDENTS OF STATE MAKE FUN OF MOVE

Thousands of Plants Flourish On Ground Thought of No Worth Two Years Ago

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 17.—They've changed the story about the worthlessness of Florida black-jack lands.

They can be reclaimed, Black-jack land, of which there is plenty in West Florida, has been considered hardly worth paying taxes on by many Floridians.

Two years ago, Burnt Brothers, chain store operators of the poorest black-jack land in the state, said they were going to develop it into farm land and the nation would benefit.

H. A. Stroud, born in England 42 years ago, took charge of the tract, built a farm home and necessary buildings, and imported farm machinery. He named the place "Creative Farms and Orchards."

Now 10,000 grapevines have been planted and the first crop will begin paying a profit next year.

There are 5,000 orange trees, 12,000 blueberry bushes, acres of lemon, lime, peach, persimmon, figs, grapes, kiwiberries, custard beans and tung trees.

All crops thrive.

Truck-crops, lettuce, cucumbers, onions, beans, peaches, tomatoes, cabbage, carrots—in fact, nearly everything that grows elsewhere in the state is found here.

Legumes, turnips, radishes and flowering plants are being grown in abundance.

Stroud built a "show place" for this section. Soil building, of course, has been his first consideration. Legumes have been planted to prevent soil erosion.

Fruit is grown, too. Fresh fruit is now purchased potato, Austrian pea, navy pea, cranberries and raspberries.

The big test came this year in the summer drought. Crops on Creative farms did not stop growing, and were harvested earlier by the dry weather. It was the legend that did it, Stroud said.

The manager, a tractor operator and his helpers keep the big farm in condition.

Farm experts, after watching experiments on Creative Farms, recommended that a small farmer in this section of Florida, and such areas as may be reclaimed from scrub pine, sand and sparse vegetation,

IDAHO JOB SUPPLY SHOWS SMALL GAIN

Harvesting Work Provides Temporary Employment for Many Laborers in Monida

DENVER, Nov. 17 (UPI)—There was a slight increase in the volume of work available for laborers in November, but a surplus of labor prevailed, with indications the supply would increase in the next 30 days, the monthly report of the state department of labor says.

Harvesting of sugar beets, potatoes and onions provided work for about many laborers, but this work will be practically completed in November. The shipping of live cattle to market will provide employment for a number of men. The sugar beet factories started their seasonal haul early in October which created employment for quite many skilled workers.

Sawmills and box factories operated on considerably curtailed basis, and lumber operations presented little work for the non-skilled.

But Borah and Wahab together advocate the export development plan.

It is felt a new effort should be made for the export development at the extra season.

There are no signs today in the railroad yards that suggest prospective unemployment legislation but this has not crystallized yet. Friends of the bill say its introduction of its plan is not far off. Senator Borah, Democrat of Idaho, and Senator Wahab, Republican of California, have been working to have what was planned.

Meanwhile, the long辧e in Congress was over.

State Association Votes to Hold Its Next Annual Convention Here

The Idaho State Sheriff's and Police Officers' Association, which concluded an annual meeting at Pocatello last Saturday evening, voted to hold its next annual convention in Twin Falls, Ralph E. Leighton, Twin Falls chief of police who was re-elected as one of the members of the executive committee, was elected chairman of the annual convention from Pocatello Sunday. F. P. Prater, Twin Falls county sheriff, also attended the Pocatello meeting.

The organization's membership includes all Idaho sheriffs and police officers.

On account of unfavorable weather conditions, attention was given to the annual picnic which was as large as at previous sessions, but proceedings were declared to have been better than for years past, W.

Leighton said. The picnic was held at the association's executive committee.

Pocatello Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Hoppin will make a report on findings and on recommendations later, and forward a copy to the association's executive committee. It was stated by Newell B. Wright, secretary.

ONE WAY OUT

A three-party agreement lately worked out at Rupert offers one way out of a nasty impasse which is judicious use of an unpaid Local Improvement District law has gotten a number of Idaho municipalities, including Twin Falls.

Under this agreement, Minidoka

County and the City of Rupert waive their claims against the tax assessors against some three hundred and fifty Rupert city lots that remain as security for payment of one hundred eighty thousand dollars of unpaid Local Improvement

District bonds. These lots are to be transferred tax free, to the bondholders, who will proceed to offer them for sale. It is anticipated that there will be ready demand for these tax-free lots, and that the property will be restored to the tax rolls immediately. In several instances, it is said prospective purchasers at the bondholders' sale plan to build on the lots.

The Local Improvement District

law is now in effect in the body of Idaho's statutes.

Theoretically it provides for payment for sidewalks, sewers, paving or other improvement by persons most directly interested in the fund.

Actually, under strict construction of the law, in most cases, the bondholders hold the sack.

Only the property in the District is security for payment of the District bonds. The City assumes no responsibility after creating the District upon petition of a certain number of the District's residents property owners, except to make the District lessors and to receive and handle the proceeds of these levels.

Owners of property within the District are relieved of any further responsibility when they pay their individual assessments. If the property is worth the assessment, the levies are paid, and these payments are used to retire bonds. Bonds are retired soilfully, as that is the final wind-up there remains only the least desirable property in the District as security for payment of the unpaid bonds.

Holders of the bonds are in the traditional position of the waterers at the end of the ditch.

When a solution can be reached satisfactorily the Rupert agreement seems to be, everyone concerned in it is entitled to compensation.

ANTARCTIC CRUISE

The announcement of a winter cruise to the site of Admiral Byrd's base at Little America comes sooner than expected, but is nevertheless interesting. We have been looking about tourist expeditions to the South

Pole, but always dreading them in the remote future. Such a cruise is being organized for this winter, however, and will sail from England on the tenth day of December and from

New York ten days later—the necessary quota of passengers is booked.

An ocean-going yacht, called the Stella Polaris, is the ship picked for the cruise. Lieutenant Commander

Shimpoone, once of Shackleton's

South Pole expedition, is to be navigator. The plan is to reach the Ice of Whales in January, the mildest time of year in that region.

Rates for the cruise run from two thousand five hundred dollars to seven thousand dollars. It is said that twelve persons have already signed up, but it will take many more to make the trip possible. The ship has accommodations for two hundred passengers to cross the Antarctic Circle.

It is a novel idea, and perhaps enough adventurous travelers will make the voyage possible. Some people, however, still prefer to risk

the South Polar regions by way of magazine articles, movie screen and public lectures.

NORMAL BUYING

Business men in many places are urging, very properly, "normal buying"

by those with steady incomes.

It is a way to steady business and to reduce unemployment.

The present period differs from nearly all previous periods of depression in the large number of people whose buying power has been enabled, relatively, to meet their desires.

Businessmen, though less able to afford luxuries, are still able to purchase necessities.

ENGINEER BRINGS HOPE TO COUNCIL IN WATER PROBLEM

Representative of Builders of Plant Here Offers Services in Improvement of City's Summer Supply

Better water during the last three or four years has made possible improvement of Twin Falls water supply. H. J. Weston, engineer in charge of design and construction of the Twin Falls municipal waterworks, pointed out at the meeting of the Twin Falls city council in regular session last evening.

The Burns-McMahon corporation, 14 years ago built Twin Falls municipal waterworks sufficient to meet the needs of the city, but because of its present size, it is now considered that a new plant is needed.

Mr. Weston, who has been engaged in maintaining a continuing interest in their work here and that when he learned recently of trouble resulting from growth of the city, he suggested that the city make a study of the problem and go to the state chemist's office recently, he was directed to consult with the council here with view to having a new plant built to meet an improvement. Problems similar to the one existing here have been solved successfully elsewhere—the solution being that the city first insures that the problem here would not be unusually difficult. He suggested possibility of value in consulting a class of about 100 engineers in every state of the union for advice on all chlorine from the water.

More Storage Essential

Additional water storage capacity would be required for immediate use of the city's water supply under any circumstances, Mr. Weston asserted. He pointed out that original plan for the waterworks here had called for additional storage which was not built at the time because of lack of funds. Inadequate storage capacity is now considered a serious hazard in the event of a prolonged drought of the water, when, as now at the peak season, the plant here is carrying a heavy load which it was designed to carry.

Councilmen made it plain that it would not be possible to contract for additional storage unless there is a definite improvement of the water supply without a budget appropriation for that purpose, and that nothing further could be done until after the beginning of the new fiscal year next year.

At the same time they also agreed that the engineer will be available to confer with a specialist in engineering concerning the creation of a new local improvement district for graveling of Addison avenue eastward three blocks from West Shoshone street.

There will be no fees or costs of property owners in the proposed district, and a petition which was presented two weeks ago by a group, half of which Mrs. Frank Eier appeared before the council last evening, requested the council to assess the cost of creating the new district.

Under regular proceedings in connection with creation of local improvement districts, it is required to publish a declaration of intention giving opportunity for protest to those who do not consent to the proposed improvement.

Councilmen expressed entire sympathy with petitioners in their purpose, however, and while they were minded to issue an informal agreement and pool-

FUTURE FARMERS BANQUET FATHERS

Songs and Speeches Entertain Smith-Hughes Students and Dinner Guests

Sixty-four persons attended the Father's and Sons banquet staged by the Future Farmers of America last evening at the room of the Twin Falls Hotel. The annual Twin Falls fathers' act for which the repast was prepared by the department.

Parents were welcomed by Don Miller, president of the Future Farmers organization in a clever talk to which response was made by Dr. L. Smith. Don Miller, substituted for his son, who was away, spoke for a brief talk announced a song entitled "Future Farmers of America." The singing was followed by a talk by Lawrence Miller, member of the Twin Falls high school faculty, which was followed by a speech by Kenneth Stevenson, L. L. Palmer, C. E. Allen and a T. Bellamy.

Dinner was then served. After dinner, a short program was presented by the chamber of commerce, substituting for Harvey B. Hale, Twin Falls county attorney, who was unable to be present. Mr. Hale's place was taken by the attorney and chief of police, G. C. Wright.

Through civil actions, the city pursued its right to require payment of amounts on the premises that they constitute nuisances.

John G. Poldham, former Smith-Hughes instructor of the Twin Falls high school, pointed out the advantage of the work for the Future Farmers of America in the community.

Councilmen argued only that owners of premises likely to be affected by the new regulations should be given adequate notice.

Council indicated purpose to warrant a general card playing, dancing and social gathering, holding for issuance of a license to C. W. Anderson, 231 Shoshone street, to operate two card tables.

For additional information, the city was not at the time because of lack of funds.

Inadequate storage capacity is now considered a serious hazard in the event of a prolonged drought of the water, when, as now at the peak season, the plant here is carrying a heavy load which it was designed to carry.

Councilmen made it plain that it would not be possible to contract for additional storage unless there is a budget appropriation for that purpose, and that nothing further could be done until after the beginning of the new fiscal year next year.

OPEN HOUSE PERIOD AT BICKEL SCHOOL SESSION

Open house at the Bickel School for one hour from 7 to 8 P. M. next Wednesday evening will precede a regular meeting of the Bickel Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium. The program will include a talk by Howard Cooper concerning the new school building, a talk by William Hoag asking permit to operate a drug store, and a talk by the city engineer on paving.

The banquet last evening was one of similar events in all parts of the country where the Future Farmers are organized. The nation-wide organization, which has 100,000 members, was anticipated. Many remained after dinner until it was finished.

More than 10,000,000 acres are embraced in 18 national forests in California while four national parks in the state cover an area of approximately 2,600,000 acres.
