HONOR, SONG AND SATIRE REIGN AS JOURNALISTS DINE

Newspapermen at Capital Paint Prominent Persons and Big Events on Canvas of Caricature at Banquet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Broad humor joined song and satire at the annual December dinner of the Grifflon club tonight as newspapermen painted prominent persons and big events on the canvas of caricature.

President Hoover and the club's other distinguished guests were called upon to furnish the canvas for the artists on the problems of public affairs.

The fun making was launched with a terrific crash of falling crockery echoing through the banquet hall.

The president had the opportunity to meet his mind from the evening's work, but only one thing was known that he said: An old established rule is "Representatives are present at Edison club dinner."

Senator Pennington, the Democratic leader, was the only other speaker.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (AP)—Here's a holding-up attempt with a smile: A robber hid one hand in a concealing position to a coat pocket, entered a downtown drugstore today and ordered W. J. Booth, the manager, to get busy on the combination of the store's safe.

"Nothing but state," growled the robber. "You couldn't open except to the front door."

Booth walked to the door. The man took his hand out of the coat pocket and laughed.

"The safe is open," Booth said. "I don't know the combination."

"You're a robber," Booth said. "I don't know the combination."

Farm Relief Costs Nation $225,000,000 During First Year

FEDERAL BOARD IN REPORT ON LABORS AND LOANED FUNDS

Cooperatives Get $137,659,457 to Be Paid Back and Grain Stabilization Corporation Gets $90,000,000

By FRANK J. WELLES, (Associated Press Staff Editor) WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Broadly, the first year of the government's effort to rehabilitate the American farmer under terms of the agricultural marketing act cost the people of the United States $225,000,000.

In its first annual report to congress the board announced loans to cooperatives totaling $137,659,457, an advance of $60,000,000 to the grain stabilization corporation and $100,000,000 to the cotton stabilization corporation and administrative expense of $76,650.

Adding all disbursements, the farm board had in the first 11 months of its mission $191,659,457, all except $25,538,438 of the original $225,000,000 appropriated to the $200,000,000 revolving fund authorized by congress.

More of this money has been repaid to the treasury than it had during the first 11 months of its mission. Of $107,833,823 loaned to cooperatives, only $10,111,517 has been repaid.

A total of $41,833,373 of that amount had been repaid to the treasury by cooperatives on the same date and interest paid to the treasury on loans advanced to cooperatives amounted to $444,317.10.

Interest and principal repaid automatically went back into the revolving fund. The $100,000,000 commitment to the cotton stabilization corporation had not gone forward on June 30.

This board actually had in the treasury at the end of the year $107,833,823 of loans, $10,111,517 repaid to the wheat and cotton stabilization corporations.

Loans made to cooperatives were guaranteed to repay every dollar advanced. The wheat and cotton stabilization corporations were charged by congress to make loans to farmers until the corporations have disposed of their holdings.

The act provides that if a loss is incurred in emergency stabilization operations it shall be borne by the revolving fund.

BEAN GROWERS LAUNCH ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

Cooperative advertising—advertising orange growers, walnut growers, pruner growers, grape growers and many other classes of producers of agricultural products—is now being applied to the bean industry of this territory.

The bean growers have gotten together and have determined that the merits of Great Northern white beans should be sold to the intelligent housewife of America in a forceful, vigorous manner. An extensive advertising campaign has just been undertaken by the Associated Bean Growers of the Tri-State valley.

The first advertisement is headed "Great Northern" variety white beans grow in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. This advertisement shows a map on which is located the area of production of the Great Northern white beans.

The advertising will dwell on the fact that the Great Northern white bean does not require overnight soaking. It will inform people that Great Northern beans can be cooked two hours quicker than the commonly known variety, and last but not least—this advertising will convey to millions of people their knowledge of the fact that in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming are the originators and the source of superior quality beans.

THE COMBAT
By D. R. CHURCHILL
Twas midnight: stillness hovered round.
The moon shone full and clear.
A thousand stars hung in the sky
From Heaven's chandelier.
The earth was wrapped in Nature's robe,
Fringed round with purple bloom;
And from its bosom rose and fell
The breath of sweet perfume.
A loud cough brewed peacefully
From far Duane's Hill.
While in her shadow lay her fan
Contentedly and still.
Beside them stood the noble book,
The monarch of his race;
A symbol of perfection's art
Of majesty and grace.
His fingers the steel bayonet
Were seen to flash and glister.
When instinct prompted him within,
To stand at bay and listen.
The challenge of a worthy foe
Came floating down the breeze,
And life or death he reckoned not,
By warriors such as these.
A slant back to flight
Pursued on the scene with weapons drawn.
To measure might with might.
They stood the sentries, motionless
With proud defiant heads;
And then into a deadly charge,
Like arrows swiftly sped.
With muskets trine as banjo strings,
And trained to fighting lore,
They gave and took, deep wound for wound,
Till both were red with gore.
The night wore out the morning broke
And fainter came their breath,
They paid the supreme sacrifice,
With horns still locked in death.

BERLIN MOVES TO CUT SOCIAL COSTS FOR WINTERTIME

Official Season of Society Looms as Least Pretentious Since Stabilization of Mark in 1923

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER (Associated Press Writer) BERLIN, Dec. 13—The official social season this winter in Berlin may be the least pretentious since the stabilization of the mark in 1923.

President von Hindenburg, down all on the past have felt obliged to collect liberally, although during their social budget to a minimum.

A cabinet pronouncement admonishes citizens in view of the seriousness of conditions to curtail their social expenditures and especially to refrain from public festivities.

Alms for the poor has become popular to entertain. If at all, only within social limits.

Thus the president will not give the annual address to representatives of parliament, the press, business, industry, science, and labor. His dinners will be few and far between.

Cabinet ministers have announced they will refrain from giving many customary receptions, and are to reduce the money laid out on charitable purposes.

The Prussian government has cancelled its annual reception, one of the usual highlights of the Berlin social season.

The city of Berlin, a most generous host in past years, seems to have thrown its social calendar away altogether.

The only form of amusement which apparently continues unabated is the ball. Yet even here changes are not being made.

In the first place many organizations have cancelled arrangements.

Smaller groups Others report much smaller crowds than in previous years.

Still others—and they are the great majority—find that the only reason they are continuing arrangements is because they hope somehow to raise enough money to cover expenses and thereby evade having to pay fines which many managers of large establishments are by terms of their contracts obliged to exact if the venue is unprofitable.

The national-socialists are trying to make even these affairs impossible. They have announced their intention to stand before entrances to the halls and to make the guests run the gauntlet of the inspectors.

JAY-WALKERS PREVAIL DUBLIN, Dec. 13 (AP)—Dublin is troubled with its jay-walkers. The motor traffic is well handled by the police, though automatic mechanical control is advocated and is contemplated. But the pedestrian does what he likes, and often suffers for it. Special white line passages laid down as critical points are ignored.

BEAUTY QUEENS PROVE EXPENSIVE IN FRANCE

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Beauty queens in France are proving to be an expensive item.

The Paris committee which annually elects the "queen of France" has been ordered by court to pay $400 to the 1929 selection, Madeleine Maud Drillet.

Mrs. 1929 claims she lost that much money by her last year's carry on her ordinary work while she was acting as "Ambassadrice" of France in America.

The court agreed that good-will carries should be paid.

WATER SUPPLY IN CHINA DECREASES

Kansu, With Population of 6,000,000 Appears Unluckily Provoked of Realm

PEKING, Dec. 13 (AP)—Kansu, which is about the size of New Mexico and normally had a population of 6,000,000, is perhaps the unluckiest province in all unhappy China.

In 1929 half a million people were killed within 10 minutes by an earthquake, and within the last four years about one-third of the population has disappeared, because of civil war, famine, banditry and typhoid.

As a result of the depopulation, British famine relief workers, with a prediction that large areas will be depopulated, have begun gradual fallow of the water supply.

It seems as if the drought conditions prevailing in the Gobi, Alghan and Ordes are moving southward.

It is said that the water supply here also for six months on moving water in the province.

Twenty years ago the rainfall in Kansu would make there was water mill. Now many of the mills are without motive power.

In many villages temples are falling, and the amount of water each bit of land is entitled to will usually be so small that measured by the length of time it took to burn a stick of incense—yet there is no water in sight.

Andrew had at his disposal $250,000 donated by American sympathizers with the famine victims in Russia. Most of this was disbursed for seed grain loaned in payment for work on roads and bridges.

Though the entire amount was transferred to London through hundreds of miles of hand-drawn lines, only a cent was lost through robbery.

South American Trade Calls Nomadic Prince To Study Big Industrial Market for Britain

Dynamic "Royal Salesman" Goes to Open British Empire Exhibition and to Study Land's Conditions

By EDWARD STANLEY (Associated Press Writer) LONDON, Dec. 13—Britain's royal salesman is preparing to call on the South American trade again.

H. H. R. the Prince of Wales will travel through half a dozen South American countries to open the British empire trade exhibition at Buenos Aires March 14.

He knows the territory, does this first-hand familiarity with a vast part of the world, the buying world and otherwise. Never has an heir to the throne traveled so vigorously and so widely in his nation's behalf.

Few of his trips have been for pleasure alone, and some have had dangers, as for example his tour of India.

Travel Extensively He has traveled literally hundreds of thousands of miles and the countries he has seen, among others, the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, West India, India, Ceylon, Persia, Japan, Malia, South Africa, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile, Colombia, Sierra Leone, Cote d'Ivoire, Liberia, Transvaal, and Orange Free State.

Thus the prince has only the one official engagement—that of opening the exhibition—the trip has a deeper business flavor, more so perhaps than any of his previous jaunts to far parts of British empire, or even his previous South American visit.

Great Britain's roving Prince of Wales, accompanied by his brother, Prince George (right), will tour through several South American countries next spring in the interests of British trade.

Great Britain's roving Prince of Wales, accompanied by his brother, Prince George (right), will tour through several South American countries next spring in the interests of British trade.

And this is all without regard to the investments in South America, and normally the British and competition from German, French and American firms is growing.

With Russia, China and India only weak markets at best now, British industry will be glad of an energetic hand-holding in South America.

The prince plans, according to the official announcement, to study as closely as possible conditions affecting British industries and interests in Argentina and elsewhere, so he may gain personal knowledge of how they can be satisfied.

After brief visits to Bermuda, Havana and Kingston, the Grogona, on which the prince will sail, is scheduled to disembark the party at Tucuman. There it is expected he will visit the Talara and Lobos oilfields, which are British controlled.

On the way down the west coast his party will visit in Lima, Cuzco, and La Paz, according to the present schedule, arriving in Santiago February 21.

On reaching Buenos Aires he will have at least two weeks in that capital before he sails on March 21. And before he goes the prince hopes to spend a week traveling in northern Argentina. Much of Britain's best comes from this vast pamper region.

Few Important Issues Escape Being Blown Into New Lows For Three Years

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (U. S. A.)—Stocks: Weak; United States Steel, American Tobacco, and other leaders at year's low. Bonds: Weak; rails at new lows for the first time since 1927. Corn: Weak; market at new lows for three years.

Markets at a Glance
NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (U. S. A.)—Stocks: Weak; United States Steel, American Tobacco, and other leaders at year's low.

By JOHN L. CONLEY
(Associated Press Columnist)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The general decline in commodity prices stirred up a sale of selling in the stock market today.

Few important stocks escaped being blown into new low ground and general business at bottom. Sales totaled 1,982,450 shares.

When the 3-to-4-point net were averaged in the regulated price index, it meant that the composite had dropped 4 points since the start of the year.

Hope that something had reached bottom encouraged the doves at exchange who had received a rude shock last few days and a market that really weathered a sharp reaction turned dependent when the market was blown into a new low.

Spontaneous business news development of importance to the market were lacking. Although admission to trade reveals that Christmas business has been disappointing so far, at least in certain sections, added to the babel of speculation.

Large Blocks Dislodged
Many large blocks of stock were dumped today, the market being a considerable volume, professional speculators had to press their advance and nothing was spared. United States Steel went to the new low of 17 1/2, and support there and in 1929. It closed off 1/2 above that price.

ICE CONDITIONS IN DITCHES BALK PLAN TO SHUT OUT WATER

Winter Intervenes When Court Removes Barrier to Suspension of Delivery in Part of System

Although legal barriers against shutting water out of a portion of Twin Falls canal system during the winter season were removed by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here yesterday, Twin Falls canal company directors have decided that, "on account of the conditions of the canal," water in the canal system shall be "permitted to remain in the system at this time in order to prevent the resumption of the winter operation for this season."

Directors embodied this decision in a resolution adopted at a special meeting held here last evening following the court's decision. The proceedings in district court in which Judge Babcock dissolved a temporary restraining order which had been issued to suspend the canal company from suspending water deliveries.

Reason Why For Plan

Effect of the court's decision was to clear the way for the canal company to carry into execution the terms of the resolution adopted at its special meeting for shutting water out of ditches from November 15 to March 15 in an area lying between Perrine coulees on the east and Cedar Draw on the west and extending from the Low Line canal to Snake river.

Such definite decision to suspend winter water delivery in a portion of the canal, was in conformity with recommendations of a Fact Finding commission, appointment of which was authorized by the canal company stockholders at their annual meeting last January, and in conformity also with a majority vote on the part of the water question recorded at that meeting.

The winter water question had been under discussion here for nearly 20 years. Suspension of winter deliveries was advocated by the fact finders as a means of improving a silted ground-water situation, and also for reducing cost of the canal system operation.

Endorse Experiment

Stating his own belief that proposed suspension of winter water delivery was an experiment, Judge Babcock yesterday endorsed the experiment as a possible means of benefiting the entire project, and overruled the objections raised against it at hearing in the injunction proceedings.

The temporary restraining order that was dissolved yesterday, was issued November 29 on application of the canal company, directed by its landowners. In support of their contention the river landowners, who were represented by Charles A. Ketchum, Twin Falls attorney, argued that suspension of water delivery for winter would violate terms of the contract between the canal company and the water users.

In reply, Judge J. H. Bothwell for the canal company, referred to the contract between the state and the Twin Falls Land and Water company, predecessor of the canal company, which provided only for delivery of water for irrigation.

Counsel for the canal company also referred to a report made by H. O. Magh, engineer, and E. H. Riley, hydrographer to the fact finding commission last spring. Only 41.9 per cent of persons representing 43.9 per cent of the acreage under the canal system, replied to the questionnaire, the attorney pointed out, and only 37.1 per cent of the replies showed provision made for winter water requirements.

Injunction proceedings in this matter were in the nature of a legal test of the canal company's right to suspend water deliveries. Counsel for the protesting landowners was complicated by the fact that through-going endeavor to present all objections to the proposal.

The resolution adopted by the canal company directors at the meeting of the canal company yesterday, was as follows:

Whereas, a restraining order was heretofore issued in the case of L. O. Hill et al, versus Twin Falls Canal company, which prevented the canal company from carrying the resolution of May 17, 1930, into effect, which resolution provides that in the operation of the Twin Falls Canal company's system for the year 1930 and 1931, water shall be shut out of that portion of the system bounded on the east by Perrine coulees, on the west by Cedar Draw, on the south by the Low Line canal, and on the north by Snake river, during the period from November 15, 1930 to March 15, 1931;

Whereas, said restraining order has on this day been dissolved by the court upon a hearing on an order to show cause; and,

Whereas, the conditions in the canal at the present time make it prohibitive and impracticable to attempt to comply with said resolution; and,

Whereas, the results desired by compliance with said resolution cannot at this time be obtained; Now, therefore, be it resolved, that this water in the canal system in the territory described in the resolution be permitted to remain in the system as it now is during the remainder of the winter operation for this season.

CANAL DIRECTORS CONFER ON WATER

Boards Consider Proposed Contract Regarding Hold-over Jackson Lake Supply

Members of the Twin Falls Canal company board of directors accompanied by John W. Irons, manager and Judge James R. Bothwell, attorney, and several members of the North Side Canal company, with their attorney, T. P. Parry, Twin Falls, conferred here yesterday in regard to the terms of a new contract touching the hold-over water in Jackson Lake reservoir, proposed by the federal reclamation service.

At present these companies have no water in the hold-over water in Jackson Lake reservoir. If they do not use their annual allotment they forfeit ownership at the end of the season. The proposed contract of the reclamation service contemplates granting such privileges to the reservoir. This principle is satisfactory to the canal companies, but it were not entirely satisfactory as stated. It was agreed to draft a new form of tentative contract to submit to the board.

The meeting was held in the headquarters of the American Falls reservoir district, where F. E. Shapard, Jerome, P. E. Bayre, Billie, and A. J. McCallum, who are members of the North Side Canal company board of directors, were attending a meeting of the board of directors of the American Falls reservoir district.
