Proposed Route Touches at Isles of Bermuda and Azores On Trips Over Ocean

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 — First to span the Atlantic by air, America also seeks to be first in knitting the old and new worlds with a regular airmail line.

Definite action has been taken by the postoffice department in calling for bids, to be opened at noon Decem- ber 24, for airmail service between New York and Europe.

The route as proposed by the department will run from New York City, either via the Azores and on to the old world; or by way of Bermuda and the Azores.

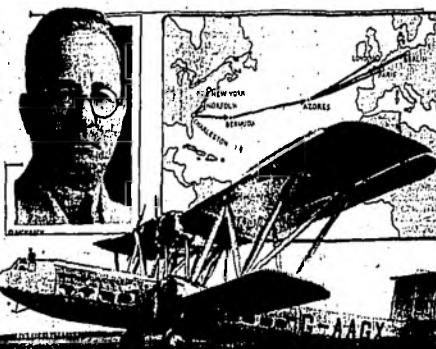

A 10-year contract for weekly round-trip service would begin June 1, 1931, though the successful bidder will not be required to run the line until January 1, 1932.

Because of a restriction on rates—a maximum of $1 a mile for a 100-pound load and $1 a pound for 100 pounds—no bidder could expect to profit if the rate were to be established at 25 cents. Officials observed that dirigibles would be unable to operate at a profit, leaving the line open to service by heavier-than-air operators.

Post Office Ruling

The venture must not be undertaken by Americans, bidding "below cost," but must be done by a company to compete in which 50 per cent of the stock is held by citizens. The postmaster general also may require that 50 per cent of the stock of United States manufacture and flying personnel be citizens as far as practicable.

OFFICERS INVESTIGATE RICHFIELD POISONINGS

BROKERS, Dec. 19 (Special to The News) — Victor Sanden, Ois Banden and Gerald Lumper, Richfield poisoners, have been indicted over to the direct court by U. S. Federal Probate Judge, under § 100 bond for alleged illegal transportation of dangerous drugs before Thanksgiving day, and will still be tried before Judge D. H. Stull.

The men were officially taken into custody in connection with investigation into the death from poisonings of 11 persons in Richfield.

Officers seem to have reached the conclusion that neither Lumper nor the Sanden boys had anything to do with the deaths.

The grisly secret of the arsenic later found in their bodies which the coroner's jury declared to be responsible for their deaths.

Details of the investigation in the poisoning case have been made by officers, though it is understood it still is being probed.

FAREWELL TO TURKEYS GRIEVES OHIO GROWERS

ALLIANCE, Ohio, Dec. 19 (UPI)—

For the Sam H. Blanton turkey ranch, 15 miles west of Alliance, the heartache that comes with producing comic pieces for holiday tables.

"The hardest part of turkey raising is getting rid of them," says Blanton.

"Turkeys demand so much care and individual attention. That winter nursing a flock of them through the severe Ohio winter is a task."

Blanton, whose flock numbered about 1,000, a bond of affection is sure to be established—and it isn't broken with some losses.

But he has some solace on the Stockton farms as Christmas nears. Old "Uncle" Andy, two veterans of the flock, may stay to provide over next year's crop.

The two share an annual grudge against the young turkeys who "do not know what we mean by the rule," but always manage to violate it on a fall day which sees the last of their specimens carted away to the chopping block.

COUNTY TREASURER
AT JEROME GIVES
REPORT ON TAXES

Levies On Farm Lands, City
Property and Public Utilities For Fiscal Year
Amount to $517,650.27

(Special to The News)

JEROME, Dec. 18.—Total amount of tax of Jerome county to be collected by the county treasurer and collected on behalf of the public utilities is $517,650.27, according to Earl P. Kennedy, county treasurer. The share charged to the county for farm and nuptial taxes was $21,216.94.

"In addition to the regular school tax, there is a nuptial tax; with each one-third of the county tax is ascertained, as collected, to the various school districts. In accordance to the property tax, there is a nuptial tax," Mr. Kennedy said.

"The figures given above do not include the personal property tax, which is $100,000. This is the Maristic county assessor, and which amounts to $2,603.27." Mr. Kennedy pointed out.

The personal property tax, of course, is the tax charged equitably in state schools and the charitable care of farm rents and mercantile items, such as flour, etc. It is this tax which will be added to the personal property tax, the tax assessed against mineral stock, such as sheep, cattle and horses, which is assessed to the county to county, and the amount cannot be determined until the end of the year, as this migratory stock leaves the county for the portion that is in each county.

"It might be interesting to know," Mr. Kennedy said, "that the tax on the electric power company is the Idaho Power company, whose tax averages nearly $100 a week."

The taxes will be distributed to the various taxing units of the county as follows:

BAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—(AP)— Thirteen-year-old Tommy Wilson's ambition to play football at Stanford was dashed when he got a leg in a store window. But there are compensations.

The youthful brother-in-law of Herbert Hoover has found his home-made "radio station" WEFN—the Galileo high school radio club has made him a life member—and he has been invited to participate in a bell used in one of its contests and presented it to him. President Wilson who rescued him from the street last week will award him a medal for bravery.

"Tommy has a good start as a radio boy," says his mother. "He is looking forward to his convalescence in the President Hoover Hospital on the Stanford campus to his father, his mother, Carter of Hoover, Jr., and his own brother, Charles L. Watson.

PESSIMISTS' PROGRESS

Idaho's Governor persists in seeing things as through a glass darkly.

So singular are his views that they have considerable publicity value. It seems likely that the oracle of Parsons, in these later days of his administration, may get on more front page than any Governor in Idaho for more than twenty years.

A few days ago the Governor told his council of war that hard work and pick and shovel should be substituted for machinery in emergency employment.

The council of the state's best minds made a rather thorough survey of the situation. It found nothing to indicate any unusual distress growing out of economic depression, and unemployment in Idaho, but it took advantage of the opportunity to urge more and bigger appropriations of federal government funds for Idaho.

Now our Governor confides to the world-wide Associated Press, that in his judgment—President Hoover and everybody else to the contrary notwithstanding—it is going to be necessary to slash wages in order to avoid an economic depression.

This idea is in line with the thought of reorganizing machinery. It implies reliance on a superstition that, curiously, still persists that wealth is a fixed and static thing—that there is in all the world only so much wealth, and one man cannot gain a dollar unless another man loses a dollar.

Naturally, expression of such views in high quarters, these days, attracts attention.

Reorganization of machinery, reduction of wages—but the Governor has no yet swayed completely around the orbit, in despite of the present economic situation.

There is perhaps something to be said about the possibilities of birth control, and suicide clubs.

ANOTHER DISAPPOINTMENT

Judge Ben Lindsey is prepared to go to almost any lengths to make his "compromised marriage" meticulous stand up.

'The Judge has met with a good many disappointments of late. Offered in an effort to climb back into the spot light which he loves so well following his reelection by the people of Denver as Juvenile Court Judge, the compromised marriage being has not had at all the effect anticipated.

Lindsey isn't bad. A magazine article or two, a few lectures and, in the West at any rate, the bottom dropped out. As a sort of foeman goes, apparently, the Judge saw fit to interrupt a Sunday morning sermon delivered in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine which was devoted largely to criticism of the Lindsey propaganda.

This too was a disappointment, earning for Lindsey merely a reprimand in court when the case was called.

Lindsey is a capable and a clever man to whom it should be readily apparent that there is no market for his present wares. A little more of it and there will be no place for Lindsey no matter what his line.

UNLUCKY PROTOCOLS

It is unfortunate that President Hoover sent the World Court protocols to the Senate for ratification just when he did, or to look at the matter from another point of view, it is unfortunate that the Senate was not present when the protocols were handed in.

Here is an important and fatal piece of business, too long delayed, which will not be considered now, on its merits if it is considered at all.

Further delay dismays the national majority which favors the Court. Further delay gives foreign critics of the United States additional grounds for arguing that we are inferior in our peace procedures. Furthermore, weakening the international movement, which needs strengthening.

All this because statements on both sides take their tempers, and neither side can forgive this weakness in the other.

EINSTEIN'S OPPORTUNITY

Some of the things the New York Intertribe said of the theory Albert Einstein makes considerable symbolism. The man of many individualities who never fails to understand anything of mathematical theories. The man has humor. He has kind eyes. He is a little shy and is obviously abashed at the fuss being made over him by Americans.

He is all cut up. The man and likable. Perhaps one of those days he'll dash off come good fairy tales that we can all understand and enjoy. The author of "Alice in Wonderland" was a mathematician, not of the Einstein type by any means, but a mathematician just as he is, though he is not necessarily possessed of a mathematical bent.

No responsibility is assumed for cases of uncorrected manuscripts. Photoengravings, illustrations and other material submitted for publication should be accompanied by a self-addressed envelope with postage paid in advance.

UNLUCKY PROTOCOLS

It is unfortunate that President Hoover sent the World Court protocols to the Senate for ratification just when he did, or to look at the matter from another point of view, it is unfortunate that the Senate was not present when the protocols were handed in.

Here is an important and fatal piece of business, too long delayed, which will not be considered now, on its merits if it is considered at all.

Further delay dismays the national majority which favors the Court. Further delay gives foreign critics of the United States additional grounds for arguing that we are inferior in our peace procedures.

Further delay weakens the international movement, which needs strengthening.

All this because statements on both sides take their tempers, and neither side can forgive this weakness in the other.

SPANISH AVIATOR TELLS OF ESCAPE

Major Ramon Franco Says
He Stayed With Friends
After Flight From Prison

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 12 (AP)—Major Ramon Franco, interned Spanish aviator and central figure in the abortive revolutionary attempt at Madrid, told the Associated Press today he had remained in Madrid between the time of his sensational escape from prison recently and the outbreak of the revolution.

He said he escaped from prison by means of a double cord which he pulled down after touching the ground, striking the ground near a group of Ultras. He stayed with friends in Madrid until he went to Castro Venta airfield Monday morning to proclaim the setting up of a republic.

He said today that although he and the other Spanish officers who escaped to Portugal with him were safely across the Atlantic, they are now stranded on the island of Madeira, where they are interned. They could not bring themselves to accept indefinite imprisonment in Portugal because they could not make any purchase and were forced to contend with day-long idleness.

"This is the reason," he said, "that when we left Portugal we did not want to return, to go to France where we can feel more at home and among friends."

It was understood this evening that the Spanish government's resolution to go to France was being considered; it would probably be referred.

The aviator-revolutionary appeared today at the airport in Madrid but refused to believe the Republican movement had been crushed beyond hope.

"Our first attempts has failed," he said, "but the movement continues."

Last year the total subscriptions were $222,000, up from $200,000 collected.

Only Living 200-Mile-an-Hour Driver Seeks New Speed Record

Campbell Aims to Shatter Mark at Beach in Florida

British Racer Plans Trial
Early in 1931, Hoping to Regain Title of "Speed
King" Once Held 62 Days

By OSCAR LEIDING
(Associated Press Automobile Editor)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Dec. 15.—Captain Malcolm Campbell, only living man who officially ever has driven an automobile faster than 200 miles an hour, is expected to come to the United States for an attempt to shatter the existing record.

On the 1-mile ribbon of sand, where the late Sir H. G. D. Serafis set his Golden Arrow at 213 miles an hour in 1927, he will early in 1931 to regain the automobile crown of "King Speed" he once held for 62 days.

His old title for "the flying mile" from his fellow Britisher, Sir Graville, in 1928 when he piloted his Napier-Biased at 203.65 miles an hour, can still have an American, the new King, to add to the mark to 207.532 miles an hour.

Sergeant returned the title to Great Britain in 1929 with a speed of 205.2 miles an hour, but the assault last May by Harry Dunn, another British champion, in his Silver Birkin Special, was too much.

Captain Campbell will come back to the world-famous battleground with a goal of 250 miles an hour. A special racer had been designed for him, but it will be some time before his old machine.

It will have a motor, called a Schneider-type supercharged engine, which will develop 1,000 horse power.

The new chassis will have the present body, but the front end of the driver to sit in between it and the frame. There will be a directional fin in the rear and a radiator in the front.

Captain Campbell, expecting to have the car ready in January, as late November 20 made overtures to the American Automobile Association, and will not get far for the time when Dunn's standards are hard packed, between January 1 and April 1.

Plans for a speed carnival have not been approved by the association, but it is held likely that there will be an American championship England's first in 1931, organized by Harold Penger and Peter De Paoli veterans speedway drivers, who are constructing a 48-cylinder thunder.

While the association has received official word from only Campbell, it is understood that there may be other American drivers, including a car built by J. M. White, Philadelphia, who backed Roach with the fitted White Triplex that was demonstrated at the meeting when it carried Lee Bible to death.

Smoky Mountain Athlete

Officials Declare Open

Tendering of Financial

Assistance to Be Success

(By The Associated Press)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 15.—White college officials at other conferences are worrying about secret subsidizing of athletes the Smoky Mountain Conference, here, declares a four-year experiment in open lending of financial aid to athletes.

Most prominent educators, among many various "scandals" in college athletics, have declared themselves in favor of financial aid to athletes.

But officials of the Smoky Mountain conference for four years ago declared that the system of prohibiting athletes from taking outside jobs, loans or money was a failure.

The conference is composed of seven East Tennessee colleges. W. O. Lowe, Knoxville attorney, is president of the athletic conference.

"It is well known," he says, "that competition between universities for athletes is keen. It is also known that friends of many universities are putting up considerable money to pay athletes."

"As a result, athletes stand outside which pay them more money and are encouraged to lie about the financial end they are receiving."

"Instead of local influences of supporters and friends of the school, authorities refuse to try to find out the facts about their athletes," he says.

"Our new rules," he explains, "require every athlete to answer the question: 'What did you receive in value of thing of value from any one except his mother or father?'

"Athletes who bring up to school expenses about their parents have been accused by the commissioners. Any athlete guilty of making a mile-wide statement about his financial condition, however, is liable to a fine of $100."

"The rules clearly admit that there is no inherent harm in an athlete taking a job, but it is illegal to accept a position which interferes with his studies."

"College football is not a business, but it is a profession," Mr. Lowe said. "It is a business in which the players are students."

"Athletes are entered by commercial establishments, churches, park districts, foundations, etc., and local players as utility men."

"I am not in favor of utility men," he said. "I am in favor of utility men, but I am in favor of utility men who are not members of utility companies and are not utility men."

"The association is under suspicion of the park district and recreation board."
