PRESIDENT HOOVER ANNOUNCES RESULT OF SWEEPING MOVE

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW.—Fair with rising temperatures; scattered and warmer, followed by snow and rain tomorrow.

Minimum temperature was 1 degree below zero in the 24-hour period preceding 9 P. M. yesterday in the Twin Falls district, according to the picture given by the national weather observer here. Maximum for the same period was 21 degrees. The day was fair.

FUNERALS

SHORT.—Funeral services will be held at the White chapel here at 10 P. M. Friday for Mrs. Emma Short, wife of R. O. Short, resident of Twin Falls for many years and head of a family, whose death occurred Monday.

Individuals lauded gained from 41 to 600, and the price index of 20 representative issues advanced 24 points, according to the advanced December 17, when, incidentally, it was first widely rumored that such an agreement was in progress. As measured by the price index, these gains are the best for a single day since 1929.

The market as a whole made less extensive gains than on December 17, when the rail rebounded violently after recording a new low for about 3 1/2 years, but utilities were bid up in the late trading, when profit-taking reduced the extreme advance made by the carrier issues, and several of the industrials made fair progress.

While the swift advance in the rail represented in a considerable measure heavy covering by bears who had grown sceptical of the rumors that a move to end the 10-year Eastern conflict controversy was being sponsored by Washington, the financial district generally was inclined to regard the agreement as highly constructive. While it cannot be expected to have any near term influence on earnings, because of the uncertainty, it permits the roads to discuss their long-range investment projects with more assurance.

Chairman Parker, of the house interstate commerce committee, after conferring with President Hoover, endorsed the consolidation plan. "I believe it will be a very advantageous proposition for the roads and perhaps will result in cheaper rates," he said.

The president's statement drew criticism from two Democrats on the interstate commerce committee. Representative Rayburn, Texas, and Representative Robinson, Alabama.

Representative of the interstate commerce commission should have been the advising body in this matter rather than other public officials. "It is needless to say the president had prevailed the case which must be decided before the commission is approved."

GOVERNMENT FILES LIQUOR LAW BRIEF

Solicitor General Thacher Reports Readiness to Argue Case at Any Time

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The federal government today filed with the supreme court a brief of 100 pages in support of the liquor law. The argument against the ruling of Judge Clark in New Jersey, holding the Eighteenth amendment invalid.

The department of justice reported less than a dozen hours were consumed in the preparation of the brief.

Solicitor General Thacher, at the same time, filed with the high court a motion to advance the case to hearing at an early day. He reported himself ready to argue it at any time.

The government's brief, written by the solicitor general and Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, is a charge of prohibition, with the aid of four other attorneys, filed in its entirety only 18 pages, most of which were given over to questions from other laws and rulings. Its summary of the case said:

"Article Five of the constitution provides that amendments shall be valid when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by congress."

"It was held by the court below (Judge Clark) that the genuineness of this language should be modified by 'principles of political science' and that an amendment such as the Eighteenth amendment could be constitutionally ratified only by conventions in the states.

"We submit that the language of Article Five is clear and entirely free from ambiguity, and that there is no room for the construction adopted by the court below. This court, the supreme court has said: 'The language of the article is plain and admits no doubt of its interpretation.'"

"Furthermore substantially the present argument was a presentation to the court in the national prohibition case. Where the court determined that the Eighteenth amendment, by lawful proposal and ratification, had become a part of the constitution."

It was upon these grounds, the government asserted, that "the district court erred—in quashing the indictment, and in holding that the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution was invalid, and that the national prohibition act, as amended, therefore, unconstitutional and void."

The tribunal will end its present recess on January 8, and government attorneys believe the court may set a date for argument at its next opinion day, January 11. However, should the case be argued before the week of January 19 it must be postponed at least a month, since the court will recess again from January 20 to February 21.

"What's the News"

WHEN COLUMBUS and his caravels returned from the New World, the first question shouted from the shore was, "What's the news?"

That's always the question of paramount importance. Years ago folks asked it of the post rider, the soldier returned from the wars, the man who had been down to the settlements, or the neighbor back from the general store.

Today, you find the answer in your newspaper. Through the newspapers the news of the world and of the community quickly becomes public knowledge. And remember this—it takes two kinds of news to make a modern paper complete.

The first tells of happenings near and far—of fires, sports, elections, accidents, marriages, deaths, great men, great events.

The second tells of things you eat, wear and use—things you buy, things being sold to your friends and neighbors. This news is advertising.

It's just as important to keep up to date on the advertising in this paper as it is to read about what's doing in the world of events.

Advertising is an essential news service. It is distinctly your advantage to be guided by it.

New York Commission Orders Schmeling To Agree To Terms

Tenton Clouter's Spokesman Loses Before Dictators

Jacobs Strolls Into Solons' Den—Lightning Flashes In Charged Atmosphere and Manager Walks Out

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The blast that may blow Schmeling right out from under the championship crown was launched today in the offices of the New York state athletic commission.

Like a spark falling into a certain black dam in some coal mine, Joe Jacobs, spokesman for the Tenton club, strolled into the den of solons and the charged atmosphere flashed lightning. "Kicker Yonkers" wandered out dizzily a few minutes later, followed by the chairman of the commission, who was setting within seven days the date for the commission that Schmeling must fight Jack Sharkey here in June or fight in some other place.

Jacobs A. Pezay chairman of the commission, told Jacobs that Schmeling may make the promise he made the commission shortly after he won recognition as the title holder by the simple process of claiming foul in his match with Sharkey here last week. That promise for 18 months later return him with the Dougan fight was not kept and he was announced to read "no more."

The commission felt Jacobs knew that Jacobs rather than Schmeling's title was away and on second thought had come to the commission to make a deal with them with little effort, and continued after Sharkey struck him low in the fourth round in the Yankee stadium.

Opposed by Frontiers
The stand of the commission, opposed by promoters who would have Jacobs fight in some other place, and by critics who believe in young fighting, the commission of Southern, Eastern and Western states as the challengers, may give out all plans for an exhibition tournament with the winner fighting Schmeling in the spring.

Bill Carey, president of the New York Athletic Club, who has been Square Garden, sought approval for a bout between Sharkey and Schmeling for Miami, Florida, but this was frowned down.

The development of the day increased the possibility that Jacobs will not get another title chance in all. Schmeling has a $50,000 offer for a championship defense against Strickling in Chicago next June and his refusal to kneel to the dictator of the local commission probably will be accompanied by acceptance of a deal from the New York Athletic Club that has agreed to terms for the Chicago match.

Ruth Admits Love For Links As Way To Keep Condition

$80,000-a-Year Southpaw Sluggish Approves of New Ball and Sand Wedge, New Club, Gets Endorsement

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The great man was flat on his back, more or less at the mercy of his interviewer, when the subject of baseball finally was brought up.

Strange as it may seem, it isn't so easy to pin the eminent George Ruth on it as down to the discussion of the game in which he has achieved his greatest fame. The great man has a rather odd quiet interest besides the responsibility of being the $80,000-a-year outfielder for the New York Yankees.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Leaders of thought in intercollegiate athletics, many of them green eyes in the seats of sportsmanship, reported to the National Collegiate Athletic association today that they found little fault with either with the game as they are played or the rules that govern them.

There were a few dissenting voices but in the main the faculty representatives, the physical directors, the athletic directors and the critics in football and other intercollegiate athletic endeavor than did the football coaches themselves, who gave recognition for their conventional staidness to the cry of over-enthusiasm and advised resolutions tending to answer such criticism.

Faculty representatives from the various colleges and universities were unanimous in praising the conduct of athletics in their territory.

Several of the district leaders reported an increase in interest in intercollegiate sports in their localities.

R. K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee, sounded the cry of the rule-makers in his report, in which he said:

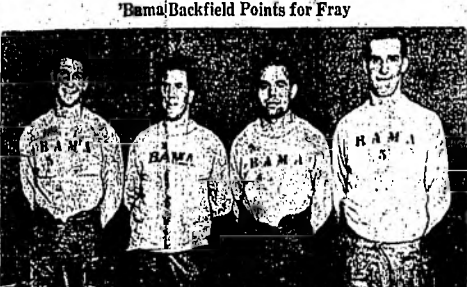

"I can't tell 'em quite so far with the bigger ball but it's great to put with and I guess I'll have to worry myself by looking 'em around 200 or 300 of the 'em."

Bama and Cougar Teams End Grinds

Coaches Expect to Conclude Training for Rose Tournament With Light Workouts

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 30 (AP)—With both teams reported in the best of condition, Alabama and Washington State took no chance of losing their edge before the tournament of Rose football game Thursday.

The opposing warriors from the South and Northwest trudged in the lightest sort of workouts and called it a day.

"Tomorrow the same program will be followed and Coach Wade and Coach Hollingbery expect to send their teams on the Rose bowl next Tuesday night for the fray.

Before going to the practice field this afternoon the players relaxed. The Cougars going for a long light-swinging trip while the Bama boys led in the sun on the lawn of their hotel.

Identical officers have figured the big game will develop into a contest of forward passing, retaining the opposing lines are so powerful power attacks must fail to piece.

"I would not be surprised to see team receiving the kickoff pass on the first play," said a visiting coach today, who refused to permit his name to be used for fear he might be in the position of giving unsolicited advice.

Look at the lines? he continued, "how can a team hope to gain through such walls. I'll have to be a passing game."

Interest continued to increase and prospective customers gave the two men who approached. A brisk sale of tickets developed Monday and Tuesday, with a first drive of no mean proportions indicating for tomorrow.

ON THE SIDELINES

by BRIAN BELL

The great and the near great, former football players of note and coaches, are being asked on every side to name "the best football players you ever saw."

Kaule Rockne confined himself to a discussion of backfields and pointed to Jim Thorpe, Elmer Olliphant, Ernie Nevers and Morley Drury.

"Pop Warner, asked to cover more ground, picked the immortal Hinkley, and the gigantic Hefflinger, guard, and two backfield men, Ernie Nevers and Jim Thorpe.

"Thorpe had more ability than any player I ever saw," said the veteran coach, "but sometimes he was careless. Nevers, perhaps, was the better player."

"Pop" recalled that in a game against Pennsylvania many years ago, the Red and Blue completed a long forward pass for a touchdown over Thorpe.

"I asked Jim after the game if he couldn't have knocked the ball down," said Warner, and Jim replied:

"Sure, I could have knocked it down all right, but I didn't think that fellow had a chance to catch it."
