Flood Waters Recede In Northwest and Damage Toll Reaches $1,000,000

Inundations, Worst in More than 50 Years in Southern Washington, Northern Oregon and Central Idaho, Appear Past Peak and Weather Man Predicts Better Days Ahead

(By The Associated Press)
SEATTLE, April 1.—Floods, the worst in more than 50 years in southern Washington, northern Oregon and central Idaho, were receding, and the death-toll leaving in their wake damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

Sudden rains in the watersheds of tributaries of the Snake and Columbia rivers had ended and at least two days of good weather was promised by the United States weather bureau; sunshine warmed the flooded region after two days of steady down pour.

Walla Walla, Washington, seemed the hardest hit. City streets, highways, bridges, business houses and truck garages in the low country around the city were badly damaged. The city was flooded, and the water was so high that it was impossible to go anywhere. The water was so high that it was impossible to go anywhere. American Author Samples Diet Of African Cannibal and Says Steak Of Black Savage Tastes Like Veal

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—William B. Seabrook, American author, has sampled the diet of African cannibals.

Back in a Fifth avenue apartment, after six months among the cannibals in the West African country of Senegal, Seabrook was found on one of the publications of his book, "Cannibalism in the Tropics."

"Much," he said, "has been written about cannibals. They are pictured in the movies, but everybody has supposed at the dinner table, nobody has written about the peculiar cuisine that makes them eat."

Seabrook, 43 years old and of medium build, said he had sampled the diet of cannibals for nearly 30 years. He said, the author reports, that "it was no surprise to find that the diet of cannibals was not so different from that of the rest of the world."

Milner-Shoshone Project Features Inverted Siphon And River-Channel Shift

Interesting Phases of Construction On Gigantic South Idaho Irrigation Canal Receive Attention

(Special To The News)
SPOKANE, Idaho, April 2.—Some interesting phases of work on the Milner-Shoshone canal are now taking place.

At the junction of the canal with Little Wood river, 1 1/2 miles northwest of Shoshone, are some unusual features. Here the canal will pass under the river. The concrete work on this conduit, along with its siphon, will be completed by the end of the month. Some work remaining to be done on the approach, however, and the steel now being hoisted must be assembled to form the bridge structure in, with this conduit, operations are in progress here also.

Morrison-Knudsen company expects to be through with this contract by the first of August, officials stated today.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Shoshone Church at the Shoshone at 8 P. M. on Wednesday, April 8th, 1931, at the Twin Falls Church of the Nazarene located at Third Avenue North and Third Street.

North in the City of Twin Falls. The purpose of meeting directors for the County Church of the Nazarene.

Adm. — PAUL WORCESTER, Pastor.

There are also, at this place, huge piles of heavy steel rods, bent into various diameters and twisted in the shapes and lengths desired. Large concrete mixing machines are located on a structure, support of which are situated outside the canal walls. The base of the support is equipped with tires, which are on track rails paralleling the canal walls. This structure itself is also portable and has movable rollers. Machines Do Heavy Work.

All heavy work is done by power-driven machines. Gravel trucks dig up the face of reinforced steel and, with their automatic dumps, pour out their loads into hoisting apparatus which carries the gravel up to the masons. From the masons

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Fair and cold; freezing temperatures at night.

Maximum and minimum temperatures in the Twin Falls vicinity were 62.7 and 43.0 degrees in the 24-hour period preceding 8 P. M. yesterday, according to the report of D. H. Chayne, government weather observer here. There was a precipitation of .19 of an inch. The barometer registered 29.6 at 8 P. M.

The finished concrete mixture is wheeled by hand push-carts on the deck of the frame structure and dumped into the opening, leading into molds for the side walls.

Further down the canal near the intersection with the present Twin-Morrison-Hill highway, two drafters are at work scooping out a path for the canal. Extensive rock-blasting operations are in progress here also.

HAGERMAN MAN FAILS IN PLEA AT CAPITAL

BOISE, April 1 (AP)—Emmett Terry, Hagerman, who told the board of persons he had tried to save his life by the board yesterday that he must remain in prison 300 while Terry was convicted of perjury for changing his testimony in connection with a charge of arson presented against him, A. M. Terry, the board was advised that partly because of young Terry's testimony his uncle was acquitted.

Since being in the penitentiary Terry argued a statement upon which officers based a new charge against the elder Terry, who has been bound over to district court for trial.

Emmett Terry appealed for pardon before the board, which began acting Wednesday morning, but was given a continuance instead of the freedom he asked.

Glorious Obscures Notre Dame Grid Future

Disaster Recalls Coach's Remark On 1931 Outlook

Gone is Rockne, Great Master and Strategist of Game, and Hopes for Coming Years at South Bend

By PAUL MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 1.—No one took Knute Rockne seriously a few days ago as he provoked hearty laughs by saying 1931 football prospects at Notre Dame were "bad."

But because of his audience, he was often asked just how "bad" they would be—not just for 1931 but perhaps down through the years.

Coach Rockne, the great master and strategist of the game, who has led the Notre Dame football team to seven national championships, said today that the outlook for 1931 was "bad" because of the loss of Knute Rockne.

Rockne, who was killed in a plane crash on October 31, 1930, was the greatest coach in the history of the game. He was a master of the game, and his team was the greatest in the history of the game.

DUMB BELLS

Wrestling Probe Reveals "Inside"

Two Factions Appear in Control of Sport With United States Divided

SEATTLE, April 1 (AP)—After an investigation of alleged "crooked" wrestling bouts here, the Seattle school board today announced that it had learned wrestling was "double-crossed" by two factions among college boys on the coast.

The investigation was conducted by a committee of the school board, which was headed by a member of the board named George W. Smith.

Smith's committee found that there were two factions among the wrestlers. One faction was known as the "Bumblers" and the other as the "Knucklers."

The "Bumblers" were known for their lack of skill, while the "Knucklers" were known for their cunning and cheating.

The investigation found that the "Knucklers" were the more powerful of the two factions, and they were the ones who were responsible for the "crooked" bouts.

The school board has decided to take action against the "Knucklers" and to reform the wrestling program.

The board has decided to hire a new coach and to have the wrestlers trained in a more proper manner.

The board has also decided to have the wrestlers' bouts filmed and to have them shown to the public.

The board has also decided to have the wrestlers' bouts judged by a panel of experts.

ON THE SIDELINES

by BRIAN BELL

BASEBALL is said to be losing its attraction for the younger generation, colleges are dropping the sport, city kids can find few diamonds available for occupation, and all in all, the situation is as bad as it can be with indications that any change will be for the worse. Now hear the testimony of Jack Levitt, manager of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league.

Jack Levitt has more interest in the younger generation this season than ever before. He agreed to look over the baseball war of ambitious youngsters, anxious to break into professional baseball. He thought 60 or 75 might show up at the field. Three hundred came and a small riot resulted.

Of course, it was impossible to permit 300 baseball players to get into action at one time and the overflow was herded into a waiting line. They finally grew tired of this inactivity and stormed the clubhouse, guarded at the moment only by the clubhouse boy. The custodian of the uniforms and the manager's office were the only ones left when the trainer rushed to the rescue and chased the youngsters back into line.

A GROUP of National league baseball players talked of a double play combinations and many effective pairs at Chicago, "down to present-day alignments."

"It's funny," said one player. "Ford and Criss made a new double play record at Cincinnati. But Jackson and Criss did not do so after Hughie went to the Giants, although every one knows Jackson is a better hitter than Ford."

"The explanation is simple," said Rogers Hornsby. "It's the difference in the infielders at the Reds' field and the Polo Grounds. The infield at Cincinnati is lightning fast. In New York it's slow."

Jackson got that ball away from him as fast as any infielder in the business and he certainly can hand it to you to throw to first base for a double play. I know I worked with him. But there's a difference of a step in the make-up of the grounds. The ball comes to the fielders far faster in Cincinnati. The same ball in New York will give the batter a chance to reach the base where in Cincinnati he would be out of play."

BASEBALL players have gone far in the world, notably John J. Toner, who became governor of his state of Pennsylvania and president of the National league, but only a few, perhaps, have been elevated to the bench. One great hitter of baseball's yesterday now is a judge.

C. C. Cravath, former fence buster of the Phillies and once the home run king, is a municipal judge at Ephrata Beach in Oregon county, California.

Cravath, who was known in the National league as Judge Cravath, was known in the National league as Judge Cravath. He was a great hitter and a great fence buster.

Cravath's story is a true story. He was a great hitter and a great fence buster. He was a great player and a great leader.

Heavyweight Championship Fight Figures Confers Without Reaching Decision

CLEVELAND, April 1 (AP)—A question mark continued to hang in place of an answer to the proposed July heavyweight championship fight between Max Baer and W. L. (Young) Ring, but no indication was given here today that any early decision between Chicago and Cleveland.

All-day discussion, investigation and negotiations between Joe Jacobs, American manager of the champion, and C. C. Wetten, representative of the Madison-Square-Garden corporation, of New York, promoters, and George H. Bender, manager of Cleveland's giant new downtown stadium, resulted in the unanimous statement that "there is nothing definite to say."

Contract between the three continued until indications they would continue tomorrow. Neither Jacobs nor Wetten was present to call off their exhibition games today.

Bambino Predicts Failure of Women In Baseball Roles

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 1 (AP)—"Babe" Ruth, the home-run hitter, is greatly perturbed at even the thought of women entering professional baseball.

The perturbation was given emphasis today as he faced the prospect of having Jack Mitchell, Chattanooga's girl pitcher, pitch to him in an exhibition game here tomorrow between the New York Yankees and the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern association.

"I don't know what's going to happen if they begin to let women in baseball," Babe admitted. "Of course they will never make good. Why? Because they are too light. It would kill them to play ball every day."

"Babe" yawned and stretched and shook his head. "I don't know what's going to happen if they begin to let women in baseball," Babe admitted.

20 Athletes in Hagerman Turn Out for Track

HAGERMAN, April 1 (Special to The News)—Regular athletic track was started on the Hagerman school ground Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with over 20 students showing up for the initial track try-out under Coach C. E. Hester.

AN INTERSTATE meet will be held at the track April 3, Coach Hester announced. The meet will include track and field events and will be open to all athletes in the area.

JOHNSON'S BODY Rests in Indiana

SPENCER, Ind., April 1 (AP)—The body of Byron Jackson Johnson, one of the best players in the history of the American league, was laid to rest today in the crypt of a mausoleum in the city of Indianapolis.

Johnson's funeral service, held at the Spencer Christian church, was attended by a large number of friends and relatives. Johnson was a member of the American league and had played for several teams.

Johnson's body was transported from Spencer to Indianapolis by a special train. The funeral service was held at 10 o'clock this morning.

Chapter 24
HAD NEWS COMES IN PAIRS
Jimmy sat in the living room, Alvin's side, as the red thread of the film came back to him. He was looking at the clock, and the hands were pointing to the time when he had first seen Alvin. It was a new sensation and he did not like it, but this was no time to ask her what she thought.

"He's one you want to know," Alvin was studying a letterhead she had just received. "He's one you want to know."

"That one to the 'crippled' naturally, I mean to—and I want to know something for the first time."

"I'll say you do something for the first time," Jimmy said, looking at the letterhead. "I'll say you do something for the first time."
