NEW YORK, May 1.—Stocks stumbled into air pocket in the last hour of trading today, and then a sharp decline followed.

Some issues, United States Steel among them, more than dropped their gains of the previous session and went to new lows for the bear rally.

Until mid-afternoon the list had given a reasonably strong lead.

Industrial stocks, which had led the advance, perhaps the absence of aggressive buying, told the bears they had little to fear from a market that was still in a selling movement that started Monday up momentum toward the close and became a scramble to dump stocks.
