SILVER CONFERENCE CLAIMSMATIONALIST CHINA'S ATTENTION

Word From Nanking Indic平ates Preparations for Calling of Session On Vital World-Wide Problem

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 14 — Anticipating a call shortly from one of the Eastern powers for an international conference on silver, authoritative circles indicated tonight the United States would accept such an invitation.

Word from China that the Nanking government might call a conference on silver at an early date, and official sources that the United States would cooperate with the Chinese government in such a conference. Aside from attendance and participation, it was indicated, the United States would be prepared to lend assistance in the preliminary preparations if a conference is called by another nation.

Over a considerable period, state, treasury and commerce department officials have been gathering an extensive amount of information on the question and the American government tonight, fully was prepared to enter a conference to consider the subject.

With the United States and Great Britain as dominant powers in the Far East, it is apparent to themselves, the Far East was looked to as the probable source of a call for silver parity.

No Obvious Solution

Even after months of study, American officials admit that there is no obvious solution of the problem of the greatly decreased value of silver. They are, however, continuing their conference to discuss the question from all angles until a solution. There is no doubt in the minds of Washington officials that the calling of a conference is imminent and is being taken by actions of the American government on the assumption that such a conference will be held.

Representative Walter Hall, Democrat, Utah, said he had been in touch with many of his colleagues in Congress in an effort to induce him to change his mind about returning to the capital.

The return of ministers today but they refused to accept it.

While Hall did not indicate his future intentions, if he remains in the capital, he will be a member of the Pan-European committee and represents France at the meeting of the League of Nations which is scheduled to meet in Paris next week.

"No true friend of silver will try to discourage the calling of an international conference," King said. "The resolution adopted by the international conference to be held at a later date, and some of the members, also from political parties, at news papers, except the irreconcilable Boeckeler, voted in favor of it."

It is reported that when Hall learned the result of the balloting he said characteristically, "I have known many others."

CONDITION OF IDAHO HIGHWAYS IMPROVES

BOISE, May 14 (AP)— Construction work on state highways has started again, with traffic, but the general condition of the roads in Idaho is poor, the weekly report of the bureau of highways said.

The Oregon Trail is good from border to border except a few spots between Layo Hot Springs and the Wyoming line, and a strip of construction west of the Snake River.

Other highways are excellent from the Nevada line through Twin Falls to Hailey and cars are going over the Glenea summit, although care is required.

PORLTAND ATTORNEY'S BODY FLOATS ON RIVER

PORTLAND, May 14 (AP)— The body of George McKeithen, 48, Portland attorney who died Saturday, May 7, was found floating in Lake Oregon tonight.

Appearance indicated the coroner, Dr. McKeithen had been overexposed to the sun while swimming in the lake.

McKeithen is survived by his widow and a 14-year-old son.

new whereby American employers would be required by law to give up a portion of their reserve to care for unemployed men was proposed today following a comprehensive survey of the unemployment situation by two economists of the University of Chicago.

The plan is contained in the book, "The Problem of Unemployment," by Leonard H. Kimball, Paul H. Douglas and Aaron Director, published recently.

The authors conclude that slightly more than 100,000 workers are promoted today from the ranks of unemployed wage earners and salaried workers in the United States.

"Since it has taken a decade for even the most conservative of us to see that such ventures are extremely val-

MOSCOW MAN ADVISES ON HANDLING OF MILK

MOSCOW.—May 15 (Special to The News)—Milk is the most perishable of all foods. A. C. Chisholm, dairy extension agent, University of Idaho, continues with the reasons for this, he says that the changes in milk brought about by micro-organisms known as bacteria, are the cause of the spoilage.

"These bacteria get into the milk from the milking utensils, from the cow's udder, but most of all from the dairy utensils. For this reason, such utensils should be thoroughly cleaned before they are used."

Chisholm suggests one of the best ways of cleaning these pails, strainers, etc., is to first clean them with cold water then to wash them with warm water to which a good quantity of soap has been added. This results in warm water, and finally sterilize with live steam or boiling water. After sterilization, the utensils should be placed where they can drain and dry. The ice cream tubs are easily cleaned. "Dish-washing liquid or detergent soap is extremely difficult to keep clean, and should be discarded."

Chisholm emphasizes the importance of keeping his milk, and in the case of his utensils, he can find a more ready market for his products, and sometimes is able to compete with

MOSCOW SCHOOL GIVES ADVICE ON GARDENING

MOSCOW.—May 15 (Special to The News)—The vegetable garden is one of the most important parts of the picture. State L. H. Tucker, assistant professor of horticulture at the University of Idaho, a well planned, properly placed and well cared for garden will produce a large amount of fresh vegetables for the family during the year round, besides being a potential source of income during the summer months.

Experiments at an eastern school showed that such a garden paid from $1.63 to $1.70 per hour for the labor expended upon it. In this district, where there is corn belt, one-half acre of vegetables returned more than 10 acres of corn.

Vegetable gardening need not be expensive. Every home gardener can have its own garden with favorite varieties of freshly harvested vegetables from now until frost. In addition, these products can be canned, frozen, dried, variety of many winter-meals.

Peas and beans may be planted in several varieties, both the dwarf and the tall. They require more care, but they are yield more dwarf varieties. Wax beans and lima beans may be planted as well as the usual green beans.

Such plants as cabbage, beets, carrots, cauliflower, Chinese cabbages, etc., are all easy to grow from the seed. Tomatoes are also in this class and should be planted in the month of April. Potatoes should also be planted at intervals during the summer in order to have a continuous supply of fresh produce.

Carrots, lettuces, radishes, turnips, etc., are leafy green vegetables which thrive all summer long. It seems to be little used, but is especially suited to the garden of the family man who wants to have a garden that continues to produce all summer.

If you plant a garden, take good care of it, it is a chance to add up your time at the end of the season to see what it has netted you.

WEISER CO. SETS NEW IDAHO HOLSTEIN RECORD

WEISER.—May 15 (Special to The News)—The state butterfat production record for the four-year-old Holsteins on three daily milkings that stood for the last five years, Telon Onona Denbybrook, was broken yesterday when the new record was set by the Weiser Co., Inc., in the state champion for age division with a production in the year to date of 16,651 pounds (1150 bushels) of butterfat, which displaces 500 pounds of butterfat, she displaced last chum, Cornelia, owned by Mr. Foster, Moscow.

Idaho Onona Atkinson, a senior member of the Holstein Association, stated that the record was set by University of Idaho, Moscow, is credited with 15,972 pounds (1050 bushels) of milk, containing 51.22 per cent butterfat, from three daily milkings for one year. This production is only 42 pounds below the state record for age and division and is equivalent to 70 pounds of fat at maturity.

Teton Segis "Vale," a "junior" two-year-old Holstein of the T. Davis farm, was the second with a production of 10,564 pounds (700 bushels) of butterfat, equivalent to 500 pounds of butterfat at maturity on three daily milkings.

GRATITUDE

Once in a while something happens that tends to renew faith in a spiritual goodness of mankind.

Such an occurrence was recorded at Lewiston recently where a widow with five children, the oldest fourteen years, finding herself and little else self-sustaining, enjoying comforts-of-life and the education of the children being provided for, asked the County Commissioners to discontinue presenting-waiting, thanks, the Lewiston mother told the Commissioners, "believe the children and I can get in one family without the aid of the taxpayers. There was a time when the mother's pension kept us together."

In Lewiston, it was stated, a similar application for dispensation of payment had been received only once before in thirty-five years.

In the earlier instance the record showed, the mother asked that payment of her pension be discontinued and included with her letter a check for one thousand dollars to reimburse the County for money it had to her during the trying period while she was endeavoring to rear her family. The children, thus held together in a family group, finished schooling and obtained employment that greatly increased the income of the home.

To be sure, there are exceptional occurrences. Experience proves that administrative officials must be constantly on guard against abuse of pension funds.

Twice in thirty-five years widowed mothers at Lewiston have asked to have payment of their pensions stopped. Automatically, under terms of the law, course, other pensions have been cut off when children became older, and urgent need for assistance slackened. Other mothers, enabled by the pension to hold their families together, have not been lacking in appreciation, even though their gratitude has not been expressed in a formal fashion.

The example of the Lewiston mother is a heartening thing, tending to justify the wisdom of Idaho's mothers' pension law, and bringing to taxpayers a measure of compensation for their contributions to the maintenance of government and its manifold activities.

HISTORICAL IGNORANCE

Every school child has to study Washington's Pawnee Address, in English class if not in civics or history. But how many know anything about Lincoln's second annual message to Congress?

Professor Edward Sisson of Reed College, Portland, Oregon, is much disturbed because educated Americans are so professedly ignorant of the significant facts of Lincoln's life and work. The best biographies of Lincoln up to now, he believes, were written by Englishmen, as was the only great play about him. The second annual message to Congress he regards as Lincoln's greatest state paper. "And it is almost unknown."

"That is the way with schools," he says. "Miss taught me trivial nonsense leaving out all the really important things."

This is all rather strong opinion, yet there is doubtless much truth in it. And it must be applicable to many other great men in American history and in many other historical periods. State papers are often dull, but now and then they are tremendously important and ought to be shared with all students, not saved only for the thesis-writing scholar.

If Professor Sisson's statements and flocks of people to the libraries to hunt up that congressional message, the general ignorance may be increased. Perhaps they'll get more out of it than way if it had been required reading in school.

ENGLISH LAND PROBLEM

The penny a pound imposed by the British government on land is trifling, but it is the principle that counts. This tax is regarded as an encroachment on the wedge, British land has been taxed as American land has. We may be sure that it will be taxed more and more heavily hereafter, in accordance with the new spirit of taxation by Christopher Bonham.

"Land is given up by the English to the English, the value of which Duke, but for the Queen to her children."

Observe the "equal use." Here is a reminder that the British Government, though regarded by Communists as hopelessly conservative and capitalistic, nevertheless calls itself Social.

British estates, to tell the truth, carry quite a little breaking up without doing any little shrinking or shrinking of estates or decreasing the Russian rate of concentration. A remarkable result has been withheld from cultivation of other estates and carried on to provide food and living expenses with hunting preserves. With millions of acres driven into pasture by unemployment, that land something should, but will be difficult. The most obvious way to accomplish this purpose is by procuring large-scale land enterprises to carry and thus forcing sales. That is, double what the former does and increase for it.

"There is such problem in America," he says, "we have plenty of land. As for success, they'll be land or property or securities, they have a way of distributing themselves. They pay rather heavy taxes, they are divided at death among many heirs, and often they are given away in philanthropy before death."

DEATH RINGS DOWN CURTAIN ON LIFE OF DAVID BELASCO

was a genius in his life and a great personality in the theater."

NO HUSBAND, BEG MOTHER

For the wife of one of the American theaters than that of David Belasco.

His inherent love for his work took him to every part of the world in every outfit made him one of the most successful men in the theatrical field.

To achieve this distinction, he took a new and easy task and insisted, on the part of Mr. Belasco, active participation in every phase of work connected with the stage.

That subject brought a vigorous outburst from him when he was asked if he had ever regretted not having a fifth birthday anniversary.

"I shall retire when I am carried feet first out of the theater," he said. "I expect to be writing plays and producing plays when those who

NEW NAVY LEADER APPEARS SCHOLAR
Admiral Frank H. Schofield Gets Rating as Outstanding Expert in Tactics

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Navy's outstanding expert in the field of tactics is the rating which has been given to Admiral Frank H. Hermann Schofield, who takes command of the entire United States fleet next September.

This son of New York and— he was born in 1878—has for the past 25 years ago—been at this exciting post a scholar's curiosity and passion for learning as well as a keen intellect, and rare judgment.

The son of the admiral, who has nothing better than for years distinguished service in the

where the higher strategy was planned on the bridges of great ships and—in the controversies heats of international conferences.

Admiral Schofield's career has included nearly all the experiences of naval life.

He has been a midshipman, a lieutenant, a captain of a submarine, a commander, a rear admiral, and is now a vice admiral.

He has been one of the founders of the naval war college and—among its first instructors.

He was a commander but senior admirals were among his pupils. During the war he was a member in the planning section set up by Admiral

ADMIRAL FRANK H. SCHOFIELD

midshipman S. Sims, the American naval chief in London.

Later he went to Paris to help frame the naval armistice imposed by Germany. He appeared at another international conference as an exponent of the American navy's capabilities in the three-power naval conference of 1927-28 at Genoa, Italy, and Britain decorated him for his services to the allied cause in 1917-18 and his own country recognized his war service with the navy cross of the Legion of Honor.

Admiral Schofield is regarded as one of the navy's "saltiest" seagoing admirals.

The scholarly side of his nature comes out in his appearance.

He is of medium height, weighs about 165 pounds, and has a decided military bearing, decorated with face rather heavily lined.

"He is known to the top without becoming infected with the admiral-complex" one of his colleagues says. "An engaging personality is one of his outstanding traits. He is democratic and has a wide interest in other people. His intellectual tests are broad and cathetic."

His curiosity ranges from physics and astronomy to philosophy and religion.

SHOSHONE ARRANGED DETAILS OF JUBILEE Horse Races, Auto Polo, Indian Parade, Talks, Trap-shoot and Dances Attract

SHOSHONE, May 14 (Special to The News)—Another feature of the jubilee celebration at Shoshone in June in celebration of the Millenium will be the annual competition in the horse racing, polo, trap-shoot and dancing headed by W. W. Custer. These races are to include quarter-mile, half-mile and pony and relay races on Monday afternoon, June 15. Another feature will be the auto polo, trap-shoot and dancing. These events are still going forward to procure a band of Indians for the grand parade.

The speakers will include Hon.

W. G. Gandy, state senator, prominent state officials and railroad and business notables. Efforts are being put forward to procure an ornate Queen of the Queen of the Contest.

It has been suggested that the queen of the beauty contest be asked

YELLOWSTONE ROAD CLAIMS ATTENTION OF CONGRESSMAN

Addison T. Smith Devotes Part of Brief Visit Here to Conference With State Men Regarding New Route

In Idaho on a 10-day visit, Congressman Addison T. Smith has been at home here since Tuesday, and leaves Saturday morning for Boise, where he expects to remain two days.

During his visit to Boise, Mr. Smith expects to confer with Abbie Harcourt, Idaho commissioner of public works, in regard to construction of a new route from the state line to Yellowstons national park. Collected has made available funds for construction of the road, through which the state will have approximately five-sixths the total distance, on condition that the state provide for construction of the remainder. Mr. Smith said.

The road, which the state indicated this will be continued to provide an Idaho gateway to Yellowstone park, will lead directly to the park entrance.

While in Boise, Mr. Smith also will visit the Veterans' hospital for improvement of which Congress has appropriated $1,000,000.

Returning to Twin Falls Sunday, Mr. Smith will spend the afternoon and leave in the evening for Pocatello, where he expects to be back returning to Washington.

As one of the members of a congressional committee investigating reclamation projects, Mr. Smith expects to go to the White House on August 10, and as soon as his work with the committee is completed, shortly thereafter, he expects to come to Idaho again for an extended stay, he said last evening.

Mr. Smith will return to Washington at this time for the purpose of making arrangements for his campaign and the budget bureau in regard to providing funds hitherto authorized for continuing work on Western reclamation projects.

With the exception of the Michael project in southeastern Idaho, for which a $1,000,000 appropriation is to be made in the 1932 budget, no additional funds have been made available virtually all reclamation projects in Idaho, Mr. Smith said.

Construction of additional power plants in the Snake River valley, he said, would not require action by congress, but money for the purpose could be taken from the reclamation fund.

is to be made in bringing adequate protection to the workers."

The author's plan proposes, in brief:

It should include all manual workers in industries other than agriculture employed by employers who have three or more workers on their payroll—such as all clerical workers whose full time salary is less than $2,000 a year.

There should be joint contributions by workers and employers—this is to be followed by legislation.

The fund should be administered by a joint body of workers and employers, with a chairman representing the state.

Benefits should be paid primarily only to those laid off because of lack of work, and a widow or disabled wife, person registered in a projected system of national unemployment bureaus, cannot decline work at his trade in his locality at

The outbreak apparently having subsided, Catholics returned to their churches today for services commemorating the Ascension of Jesus Christ. The Ascension is observed in the Catholic calendar and a national holiday. Bishops and diocese of every kind were at a standstill. All large churches in the town were packed with people while priests performed their duties.

Concerning the possibility of looting and the destruction of church property, it occurred, but, however, the operation of martial law seems to have restored order. Many arrests were made among Monarchists, communists and hood-lum elements.

Many, perhaps, most, of Spain's nearly 5000 convents and monasteries have been closed and many have been abandoned by monks and nuns. They have taken refuge in private homes and most of them refused to return even when local authorities have offered to house them.

On the other hand, some of the worst cases, provincial officials have placed government seals on the closed doors, established guards, and appealed to the people to respect the property of the church.

Many think the church is safe.

President Alcalá Zamora told the press today he believed the disturbances were "coincidence" between Monarchists and Communists.

He said he had been informed both the Monarchists and extreme left wanted to discredit the administration in recent days to do so.
