growers in session here today voted unanimously to reduce wages 20 percent and curtail all other operation costs, including demands for lower commission rates, lower rail fees and better marketing to halt what they termed heavy losses brought about by low prices for lamb and wool.

The growers, representing most of the sheep industry in Southern Idaho, pointed out if the low prices prevail they will face ruin unless expenses can be reduced. One large company in the state which earned $101,000 in 1928 lost $22,000 in 1930.

WATERUSERS ASSEMBLE AT SHOSHONE MEETING

SHOSHONE, June 2 (Special to The News)—The North-Cooling water users met today at the court house to discuss the proposed canal board to ask that a four-mile ditch be constructed that they might obtain the benefits of water from the American-Palls canal for the present year. This canal is to be 25 feet on the bottom and to be approximately 115,000 feet, that is the estimated cost at present.

The canal is to be refilled after being used by the Big Wood Canal company. There are possibilities that it can be used in the early part of next season, if the American Palls water should not be available for the North-Cooling tract of the Big Wood Canal company.

There were about 250 of the water users present.

BURLEY MILL MANAGER
ENTRAPS FOR GOTHAM

BURLEY, June 2 (Special to The News)—Charles L. Sakry, manager of the Great Northern potato mill here, has left for New York City to remain away for the summer. He will return, he says, at the beginning of the "potato" harvest when it is expected that the factory will handle a big run of multi-potatoes and possibly number-two for milling purposes.

The past season has been devoted to perfecting minor operating troubles in the machinery. A few loads of meal were manufactured, of excellent quality, Sakry says, and the machinery, which is almost entirely of new and unusual design, was gotten into satisfactory running order. The plant will be in good running order when started the coming fall, he says, with all weak points located and renewed.

The plant is now under the care of T. G. Hensch.
