Hoover Calls For People's Rededication To Ideals And Service Of Great Republic

"The Eternal Principles of Truth, Justice and Right, Never More Clearly Stated Than by Lincoln, Remain The Solvent For the Problems and Perplexities of Every Age and of Our Day," President Declares

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 17—Standing before the tomb of Lincoln, President Hoover today called for a redemption of the citizenry to the service and ideals of the nation.

"The eternal principles of truth, justice and right, never more clearly stated than by Lincoln, remain the solvent for the problems and perplexities of every age and of our day," he said in dedicating the remodelled tomb of the Civil war time president.

Made Universal Appeal

"It is not new, yet it is eternally true, to state that Lincoln made a universal appeal to the minds and hearts of men. His every aspiration met for the united and reflected will

NATION'S RAILWAYS SEEK APPROVAL OF RATES ON FREIGHT

Business drying up, stock water scarce and some grain fields beyond recovery. Recent rains, although affording only temporary relief, proved highly beneficial in Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and parts of North Dakota. But in western North Dakota and eastern Montana, the bureau said, the drought continued unabated, and deterioration of wheat was unchecked. Heavy losses have occurred in the spring wheat belt. At the agriculture department today it was said records show that when the condition of spring wheat on June 1 it poor the crop never recovered before harvest. The June 1 condition this year was 67, the poorest on record.

WINTERING DRYNESS
DENVER, June 17 (AP)—A blizzard of dryness which has created a serious drought in eastern Montana continued today and temperatures which soared into the hundreds yesterday were expected to be duplicated. Showers were indicated for Monday.

It follows the general method used in increasing rates in 1914, when the roads received a 5 per cent increase; 1917 when rates were raised 15 per cent; and in 1920, when increases from 25 to 40 per cent were granted. This commission used the same method in reducing rates 10 per cent in 1922. Commission officials declined to say when the petition will be considered, or what procedure will be followed. Chairman Brainerd said there would be no decision as to procedure until the commission has time to familiarize themselves with the petition.

The carriers reviewed the situation at length. "The steam railroad carriers of the United States," they said, "being confronted with an emergency threatening serious impairment of their financial resources and their capacity to assure the public a continuance of an efficient and adequate service, respectfully submit the following statement concerning their traffic, their financial condition, their need of additional net railway operating income and the manner in which it should be secured."

In 1929, they continued, the roads found it necessary to decide which of two methods of operation would be followed. One would have involved laying off employees. The other, which was chosen, was to curtail a normal program of operation and capital expenditures.

The railroads have adhered to this method of operation, the petition stated, as long as could be justified from the standpoint of the true interest by the railroad security holders in the management of the carriers. It was pointed out it would put Idaho and the West at an extreme disadvantage to make a large difference in long haul produce, putting it in unfair competition with produce nearer present markets.

"JUST A GIGOLO" APPEARS AT IDAHO
William Haines will be seen today at the Idaho theatre in "Just a Gigolo," an adaptation of the novel by Walter Dill Scott, "Dancing Partner." Irene Duvall and Charlotte Greville of the greatest stage success of the season, "The Bachelor Father," fame, and "Tillie's Punctured Romance."

"The spot of Haines' latest vehicle, turns a never-dull, English and whose finale finally refers to 'hence any further amatory adventures and consents to support his upward impulse only on condition that he marry the girl of the week's choice. Haines amends the condition with the proposition that if he can give the girl to be promiscuous he be relieved of matrimonial bonds. The uncle agrees."

The hilarious episodes then "relate to Haines' attempt to compromise the young lady in the guise of a gigolo."

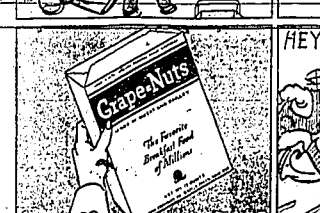

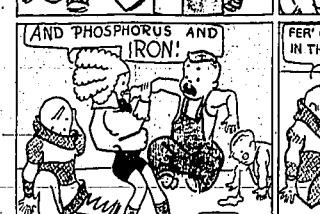

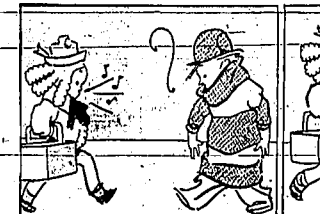

CHEERLES RUINED
WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 17 (AP)—The cherry crop was ruined and fields of heavily watered knocked down in several districts here today by the heaviest rainfall since the March 31 flood.

The rain, however, which reached 12.7 inches in 24 hours, will benefit gardens and the second crop of alfalfa hay and tend to fill kernels in wheat. The heavy crop was ploughed by the recent heat.

Farmers said some late wheat would be harvested but the rain was too late to help the winter crop greatly.

LEADERSHIP
Basis for much of the "lack of leadership" charge leveled against the Hoover administration is to be found in the President's acceptance of advice given by volunteer councilors who now are among the most violent in their denunciations.

Idaho's most conspicuous figure in politics is not necessarily on the front. It is commonly understood that Senator Borah, during the campaign two years ago advised the Republican nominee for the presidency to make a special season of Congress in the event of election in November. The promise was given, and fulfilled.

It is quite probable that there was never a more unnecessary season in the history of Congress. The best thing it accomplished was adjournment, and that was long delayed. Nothing that it accomplished could compensate for uncertainty and unrest that could not be allayed while it remained in session.

The American people have not lost confidence in President Hoover. They believe it has been well said that any man of presidential caliber in the President's chair during the past few months, if not Hoover—would have called Hoover to his assistance.

Most concerning would be assurance that the President has cut loose from the ministrations of his councilors heretofore, and is going to steer the course himself, in the light of his own wide knowledge and good judgment, from here on out.

HITCHING AND UNHITCHING

The Reno divorce mill is speeding up, as the summer season brings in extra business. Applicants come by scores. Clerks are busy recording the papers filed. The judges' trial may be obliged to cut the time of hearings from ten to two minutes.

Memorable the Little Church
Around the Corner in New York City is doing very well. There are three parsons on hand for the summer rush. It is expected that when the straight-line hitching system really gets into quality production, toward the end of June, there will be about seventy-five weddings a day.

At present it seems to be nip and tuck between two institutions. Matrimony may yet triumph over divorce in some enterprising parish state a chain of Little Churches Around the Corner.

FUGITIVE REFORMATION

In Nineteen hundred and thirty there were one thousand communities in the United States and Canada spending public money on various forms of directed public recreation. The National Recreation Association, organized at the White House twenty-five years ago with the stimulating approval and co-operation of President Roosevelt, reports amazing progress in the quarter-century. Less than fifty communities did anything about public recreation when the movement started.

Of the twenty-four million dollars spent for this purpose in Nineteen hundred thirty, eighty-five per cent came from public taxes, eleven per cent from fees and four per cent from private contributions. Playgrounds, swimming pools, municipal golf courses, tennis courts in public parks, outdoor centers with lawns, lawns, lawns for certain reason, all come under the head of directed recreation.

There are people even who regard expenditure of public money for recreational facilities as foolish extravagance. There are others, men and women with wide understanding and foresight, who see in increasing public recreation an educational force that benefits society as a whole, and a health-building force that will produce happier, better citizens.

AUDY'S SUCCESS
Rudy Vallee speaking: "I washed windows in my father's drug store in Maline. When the clerks washed the windows, they only washed in the middle. When I washed them, I cleared up all the soap powder in the corners. These clerks are still in Maline.

"Ever with my God-given sense of rhythm and flair, for anything, I wouldn't have amounted to anything if I hadn't worked hard."

Recently, Rudy, who, like, the First Lord's song from Pinkette, you remember how it goes:

"I cleaned the windows and I swept the floor,
And I polished up the handle of the big front door.
I polished up that handle so sweetly,
That now I am the ruler of the Queen's Niece!"

WORK ON WAGE CUTS

Editor Twin Falls News,
Dear Sir:

Mr. Rubenber, I have just read your letter in The News regarding the working men's wages being cut and would just like to give you a pat on the back for the truth in that writing. I am one of those poor laborers with a family to support and just scrap from one pay day to the next.

Six years we have worked for this company and it has been said and discussed in the meetings that we were the men under paid in the job. Still we are the men that must be cut. The big boss must have three times as much as the man that gets out from 8:00 in the morning until 5:30 at night wading water, mucking ditches and telling these bosses where the jobs are that need to be done, and if it were not for the ditch riders and ditch laborers what would become of these farmers? Now would they get the water to their cars? Still it is the big gun that gets his car and gas and oil turn around and goes alone back home and looks over the country that has the responsibility and the big pay check. The man that gets out and wades mud and sweat drier over his head to the bank that must pay his own convenience and upkeep of his car and cut out his mid-day lunch so his family can have the benefit of his cut.

Is it fair or is it not? And is it justice for part of these men to have a place furnished them to live while the other fellows do the same work and pay $15 or $20 house rent. Show me the man with a family who can rent a house $15 to live in for $5 or $10 per month. It can't be done. If these men have always been under paid and could scarcely exist before, how are they going to live now? It is not fair that this should have more consideration and if it is to be made every man on the Canal company payroll should be cut in common with the laboring man. So I cheer a second to that!

ORPHAN DEER RETURNS FROM BURLEY LAWN TO FORMER HOME IN HILLS

BURLEY, June 17 (Special to The News)—A young blacktail deer, for several months inmate of a farm enclosure on the courthouse lawn, has been taken to the high hills and released to liberty among his kind. Mrs. Parley, county game warden, took the little animal to Elia, and turned it loose in a field where wild deer were sometimes seen to congregate.

The warden then went to a place of vantage where he could observe results. Presently a small band of deer appeared. They cautiously approached the stranger and made observations. The orphan deer did little. And finally, the entire bunch, stranger and all, leisurely made their way back out of the field and past the protecting screen of a long fringe of quaking aspen trees.

The released deer had been brought to Burley, together with a youthful companion, last summer. They had been picked up in a starving condition, up in the hills country, by Dick Mire and Joe Black. A small park, with a little cabin, was built for them by the city council. In the corner of the park, one of them died, presumably from an overdose of tobacco administered by children. The other lived through the winter months, and was taken to the place from whence he came, and given his liberty, by the Game-County game warden.

The baton is held in a firm grip, and the hand is positioned as if about to conduct or strike. The image has a grainy, almost abstract quality due to the high contrast.
