By WILLIAM H. BEATTY (Associated Press Staff Writer)
STROTT, Mich., July 11.—Having reached the pinnacle of achievement in industry, Henry Ford today is turning to the interest that nearest his legs—farming.

FORD ADVISES AGRICULTURE

"The new remedy for the farmer's problem is to bring him closer relation with industry."

"The big industries of the future will be those that will be manufacturing in their business."

"A responsibility can exist between farming and manufacturing."

"We are not farmers here—we are industrialists on the farm."

"If industry can derive new outlets for the products of the farm, the farmer will be able to get at least a part of the slack in labor."

supervision, a farming experiment so unusual and revolutionary in its conception that it has a possible aim the revival of the old-time family farm. The trial system, it is under way on a newly-purchased 3000-acre tract not 35 miles from this industrial metropolis.

"For years Henry Ford has maintained that agriculture and industry should be more closely related. It has experimented on a small scale with industrial methods in farming, and has kept many men at work, making industrial outlets for farm products. But today he is throwing his forces into the conquest of agriculture on a greater scale than ever before."

"We are not farmers here," says Ford of his experimental tract, "we are industrialists on the farm. It is not food it wants to raise; it is products that can be utilized by industry."

Devin News Outlets

"If industry can derive new outlets for the products of the farm, the farmer can take up at least part of the slack in labor."

"The industrializing of agriculture is the purpose of the experiment," says Ford on the huge new Ford farm. All the known sciences are being used in the experimental work, and are operating under the mass-production methods of the motor car manufacturing plant.

"No ordinary farmer can afford to experiment with things like this," said Ford emphatically. "It is too expensive a proposition."

"Yet, in reference to his smaller experiment, Ford says he has a new branch of the larger tract, Ford has said that the land never failed to turn a good profit. This despite the fact that he has completed several hundred men, each at a standard $3 daily wage."

"Ford has declared it his belief that farming ought to be something more than a seasonal occupation."

34 Days a Year

He said he believed that when this said about the ideal of farming the average farm could be done in 34 days a year, leaving the other days to be given over to other kinds of business.

"We have been using certain things just one way, and are sending goods through only one channel, and then that way is slack, that channel is clogged, business stops, too, and all the army consequences of depression set in," says Ford. "We are now looking for new methods. We need more mobility."

"Ford's far-reaching idea of decentralization of industry is being given a test. He believes there is possibility of distributing industrial units over large areas; that the principal cause for concentration of plants have been removed by modern transportation."

He has visualized the industries of tomorrow as small units surrounded by farms able to sustain them.

Farming by Companies

By extending them over whole states, he thinks, work would be brought to remote sections. At the present time he is testing the theory with outlying branches of his own

On a 3000-acre farm near Detroit, Henry Ford is testing his far-reaching theory that decentralization of industry will solve many economic problems. He predicts that tomorrow's industries will be small units surrounded by farms sustaining them.

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Fair and cooler today; fair and rising temperature tomorrow.

Maximum temperature in the 12-hour period preceding 5 P. M. yesterday was 83 degrees, according to the report of D. B. Chayne, government weather observer here. Maximum for the 24-hour period was 84.4 degrees.

Minimum for the same period was 57 degrees. The day was clear and the barometer registered 30.25 inches at 5 P. M.

plant. He holds cooperative farming by large companies to be practicable.

To the farmer immersed in the traditions of the soil, Ford's methods are startling. His workers bring regular hours. All the men except those operating the tractors on the farm end their working day at 4

IDAHO'S FIREMEN END STUDIES AT POCATELLO

POCATELLO, July 10 (UP)—After three days of lecture and demonstration on the causes, prevention and fighting of fire, the chief of fire departments in Idaho cities will close their school here tomorrow night.

Instruction has been given by members of the Los Angeles fire department. A. C. Canfield, Pocatello chief, is host to the visitors.

P. M.

The farm is almost entirely motorized. Everything operates smoothly, at top speed.

During the present period of construction, Ford is rebuilding the landmarks, rebuilding, picturesque churches and schools.

"Daily the strides of his farm, equipped, directed, his has said that the present wide scale of experimentation is the fulfillment of a lifelong dream."

100-ACRE IDAHO FIRE

MISSEOLA, Mont., July 10 (UP)—Forest headquarters were advised here today that a 1000-acre fire was raging in the Clearwater forest in northern Idaho.

"The blaze, located about 30 miles west of Lolo pass, was believed started by lightning."

Three hundred fifty men were being recruited at Spokane and Idaho points to start a march tonight against the flames. A second night-nine-o'clock fire was burning on Rock creek, 25 miles east of Misseola. Fifty men will be sent from here tonight to the scene.

A stiff wind was blowing across this part of Montana.

FANNED BY HIGH WIND

BOISE, July 10 (UP)—Fanned by high winds late this afternoon an acre of grass and sage fire below under control earlier in the day, leaped patrol lines of fire fighters and the fire spread toward timber in the foothills five miles north of Boise.

Smoke from the fire is plainly visible from the city. Intense heat on the south slopes handicapped a crew of men placed on the blaze yesterday when it was discovered. The fire is not menacing any ranches, but forest officials said they feared it might catch timber lands on the Boise river drainage under check.

FIRE UNDER CONTROL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (UP)—Fires which raged down a half dozen fronts this week were reported largely under control throughout California tonight, with one exception at Mount Diablo where a week-old blaze flared out of control again.

The Mount Diablo fire, however, was not in a position to cause damage to anything except brush and grass.

Wednesday, even if Germany were able to pay, would be "manifestly impracticable," said the principle of President Hoover's proposal.

It points out that "certain outstanding questions regarding the method of giving effect to President Hoover's proposals remain to be settled."

It is for the settlement of these outstanding points, "the most important of which are the questions of delivery in kind and of the amount of funds which France would be required to deposit with the World Bank in the event of a German moratorium under the Young plan at the expiration of the Hoover plan, that financial experts of the committee chiefly concerned will meet here next Friday."

The British government today issued a statement regarding the matter which will be represented at this conference. They are the United States, Germany, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan.

The United States is to be represented by Hugh B. Gibson, ambassador to Belgium; will be the American "observer." America is not a signatory of the Young plan.

market," C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers' National Grain Exchange of Chicago, said here tonight in commenting on the President's statement on speculation.

"I admire the president for his courage in calling for the abolition of the public, the short-selling office," Mr. Huff said. "The danger that the private grain trade has set up against the farm board's position on stabilization of prices."

"This we find that certain elements in the grain trade are deliberately beating the market down and at the same time seeking to convince the wheat producers that the farm board and the co-operatives are responsible for the declining wheat prices."

IDAHO OFFICIAL APPEARS BLAMELESS FOR CRASH

PORTLAND, July 10 (UP)—A study of the accident on the Seattle-Portland highway as a result of which Sumner Frost, commissioner of law enforcement, is being sued for $25,000 by John Yates, Seattle pilot, for injuries received, shows Frost was not at fault, said a report received Friday by Governor C. Ben Ross from R. H. German, in charge of the Pacific division of the national auto club bureau.

German declared that the ordinary rules of common sense in driving would have kept the car in which the Yates girl was riding from turning in front of the traffic, across an arterial highway, with another car as close as was the Pilot car when the turn was made. The traffic is heavy on this road, he said, and the turn was not even made at a regular intersection.

JUSTICE SETS DAY TO DECIDE FATE OF FALL

WASHINGTON, July 10 (UP)—Justice of the District of Columbia supreme court will decide tomorrow whether Albert J. Fall's next year may be spent in jail.

He will rule on the government's request for immediate execution of the one-year sentence given the former secretary of the interior for bribery in the oil lease cases. Fall's attorney, Frank Hogan, has moved a suspension because of his client's physical condition.

BOARD ANNOUNCES SURPLUS OF LABOR EXISTS IN COUNTY

Commissioners Appeal to Employers to Engage Only Local Residents During
Coming Busy Autumn

Warning that employment in this county at present is so scarce that there are dozens of men in Twin Falls county who cannot obtain steady work at this time, the board of Twin Falls county commissioners, who held an open session yesterday afternoon, announced that they will endeavor to place in the hands of employers in the county a list of local residents who are in need of assistance during the winter season.

It was pointed out that there is now a surplus of home labor and that there will probably be a surplus of local labor and that if foreign workers are imported, it will leave many of them stranded and helplessness in need of assistance during the winter season.

The matter of employment for local labor should be the subject for serious consideration. There are dozens of men in Twin Falls county who are unable to obtain steady employment during the summer and fall months, and the county commissioners are now endeavoring to place in the hands of employers a list of local residents who are in need of assistance during the winter season.

There are now 35 men in the county who are in need of assistance during the winter season. There are 19 men in room number 2, 11 in room number 4 and eight in room number 5.

There has been a slight falling off in the number of men in the county who are in need of assistance during the winter season. There are 19 men in room number 2, 11 in room number 4 and eight in room number 5.

10,000 FEET OF WOODEN MAINS REMAIN IN CITY

Only 10,000 feet of wooden mains remain in the Twin Falls waterworks system, and this will probably all be replaced by cast mains before the end of 1932, it was stated yesterday by Mayor H. Rayburn, superintendent of the city waterworks department. The total city system contains 17,000 feet of pipe. During the year 1930 a total of 41,000 feet of wooden pipe was replaced. Up to July 1, this year 9,000 feet was replaced. About 3,000 feet more will be replaced during the year 1931, leaving 10,000 feet of wooden pipe still in the system, which, Mayor Rayburn says, it is believed will be replaced with cast pipe in 1932.

COMMISSIONERS FIND JAIL CONDITION GOOD

Twin Falls board of county commissioners made a regular inspection visit to the county jail yesterday afternoon. The various rooms were found clean and in good condition, they reported.

CHICAGOAN SEEKS LARGE JUDGMENT

Court Hears Suit of Illinois
Woman for $38,000 and
11 Years' Accrued Interest

Action instituted by Mrs. Mary Cleveland, Chicagoan, against D. H. Moorman, the Murchugh Canal company and the Miller-Lovitt Irrigation district, involving a sum of $37,857, with interest at 6 per cent since 1920, came on for trial before Judge W. A. Haddock this morning.

According to the plaintiff the Miller-Pauls Land and Water company, entered into a contract with the Danes River company of Idaho under the terms of which the land and water company was obligated to pay the Miller-Lovitt Irrigation district a sum of $37,857, with interest at 6 per cent since 1920, came on for trial before Judge W. In Marital 'Crackup'

Matthew Scully, 86, Dis-
appears On Way to North
Gooding to Visit Friends

Officers of southern Idaho were searching last night for Matthew Scully, 86, Buhi pioneer who disappeared Thursday afternoon on the north side after a fall with Andrew Darnell near Gooding.

The disappearance was reported yesterday to Sheriff E. F. Prater here by Constable J. H. Walker, Buhi banker. Sheriff Prater at once began telephoning to various friends in southern Idaho to be on the lookout, and also announced the disappearance last evening over KFTV, a radio station here. The following circular sent out by Mr. Prater described Mr. Scully's personal appearance and set forth other details:

Mr. Scully is 86 years old, 4 feet tall and weighs 215 pounds. He has white hair, his hair is left off at the sides, he was dressed in a brown hat, light coat, tan shirt, gray trousers when last seen leaving a black Pack coupe, model '27, bearing Idaho license number 47-230.

Mr. Scully left his home in Buhi on the morning of July 9, 1931, and called on friends living north of Gooding. Leaving his friends home about 3 P. M. July 9, he drove west the wrong way to his home, but stopped and asked a party the way to Gooding. He was advised as to the right direction and was driving to Gooding when he was seen, at 3 P. M. July 9.

Mr. Scully was a little feeble at times and it is thought that he has been harassed by some of his neighbors, some of whom have taken him to task and slapped him and may have robbed him.

OFFICERS HUNT FOR MISSING BUHL MAN

Matthew Scully, 86, Dis-
appears On Way to North
Gooding to Visit Friends

Officers of southern Idaho were searching last night for Matthew Scully, 86, Buhi pioneer who disappeared Thursday afternoon on the north side after a fall with Andrew Darnell near Gooding.

The disappearance was reported yesterday to Sheriff E. F. Prater here by Constable J. H. Walker, Buhi banker. Sheriff Prater at once began telephoning to various friends in southern Idaho to be on the lookout, and also announced the disappearance last evening over KFTV, a radio station here. The following circular sent out by Mr. Prater described Mr. Scully's personal appearance and set forth other details:

Mr. Scully is 86 years old, 4 feet tall and weighs 215 pounds. He has white hair, his hair is left off at the sides, he was dressed in a brown hat, light coat, tan shirt, gray trousers when last seen leaving a black Pack coupe, model '27, bearing Idaho license number 47-230.

Mr. Scully left his home in Buhi on the morning of July 9, 1931, and called on friends living north of Gooding. Leaving his friends home about 3 P. M. July 9, he drove west the wrong way to his home, but stopped and asked a party the way to Gooding. He was advised as to the right direction and was driving to Gooding when he was seen, at 3 P. M. July 9.

Mr. Scully was a little feeble at times and it is thought that he has been harassed by some of his neighbors, some of whom have taken him to task and slapped him and may have robbed him.
