Scientists Find Moon Peaks Higher Than Mount Everest

LUNAR MAP SHOWS APENNINE RANGE OF HIGH ALTITUDE

100-Foot Chart of Contour Level Appears Similar to Land's Air Surveys

PICTURES REVEAL BIG TEMPERATURE VARIETY

Geologists at Mount Wilson Study Craters to Determine Origin or Cause

Mount Wilson observatory scientists are making a contour level map of the moon, which shows the peaks of the Apennine range to be higher than any on earth.

(By The Associated Press) MOUNT WILSON OBSERVATORY, Cal., July 14.—A 100-foot contour level map of the moon is in the making here in charge of Dr. W. M. S. Adams, director of Mount Wilson observatory.

He is applying the same modern methods as was used by the war department in its airplane surveys.

This involves photographing the moon with the 100-inch telescope, projecting these photographs on a large globe here with camera of 130-foot focus, and photographing the globe with a camera set at suitable positions to produce a standard map.

It will be possible by this method to photograph the globe on one side to show the features now known only as seen at a great distance angle.

It will be shown the true picture of the great Apennine range of mountains on the moon which Dr. Adams says are higher than any on the earth, even Mount Everest.

Study Temperature

Another part of the committee's work has been a study of the temperature and light of the moon with the vacuum thermometer. It was with this instrument that Dr. S. B. Nicholson and John Pettit, radiometer here, who found a change of 348 degrees in temperature on the moon when it passed from sunlight under the earth's shadow.

"It has been found that the temperature of the moon varies from that of boiling water when the sun is overhead to that of a cold air under the lunar night," said Edison Pettit.

"A study of the cooling of the moon during an eclipse shows that the materials of the surface probably are in a poor or average condition, and behave physically like pumice. This conclusion was also arrived at by a study of the light of the moon."

Chart Craters

"Whether the lunar craters are of volcanic or meteoric origin or have some other explanation is being studied by the geologists and physicists on the committee. The general features of the craters as seen under the best conditions with the 100-inch telescope are being compared with mountains on the earth."

"In these studies the photographs of volcanic craters and the meteoric crater in Arizona play a part."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR DISCUSSES SOVIETS

Colonel Raymond Robins and San Francisco Menonites Express Conflicting Views

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (AP).—A meeting of the Christian Endeavor convention here was interrupted today by Colonel Raymond Robins, former American Red Cross commander, to Robins and chairman of the 1918 Progressive party convention held at Seattle in which he favored recognition of the Soviet by the United States.

An unexpected protest was made from the audience by Julius Stenena, San Francisco Menonite.

"I am actually sorry from a Christian standpoint for some of the things we have heard," said Stenena, "but he arose and interrupted Colonel Robins." "But this is not the time or place to answer them."

Colonel Robins had said Russia never had known the free church, and said "I personally believe that when this temporary hour has passed the free church will be permanently for religious work in modern times."

He pronounced the living conditions and labor in Russia as intolerable to the free men and labor of America, but much better than those under the czarist regime.

"Holding a study of a gathering in a New York club at which noted bankers and financiers were present, Robins told of praise given Russia by a railroad president, an electrical expert and a farm expert."

Take Exception

Stenena took particular exception to the conditions painted by the quotations from the three men.

"I am a Menonite and they have actually taken my church from Russia," Stenena declared. "Conditions in Russia today are worse than they were during the czarist government. We might just as well recognize an island of cannibals as recognize Russia."

More than 4000 delegates, in recognition of the Russian revolution, are attending the convention.

NOTED REPUBLICAN PLANS VISIT HERE WHILE MAKING TRIP

John Q. Tilson, Republican Floor Leader in Congress, Expects to Stop in Magic City—On Way—Eastward

Congressman John Q. Tilson, Republican floor leader in the United States house of representatives and a leading Eastern candidate for the speakership in the coming year, is expected to stop in Magic City on his way eastward. Tilson, accompanied by his family, probably today or tomorrow, arriving about noon, according to a letter received here from Congressman Addison T. Smith, Twin Falls, who is now in Congress. Congressman Tilson and his family are en route to Yellowstone park, the latter stated. The congressional committee of which Tilson is a member will be here August 12. In his candidacy for speakership, in the event that the Republicans gain their narrow majority of two in the house until its organization, Mr. Tilson will have as his leading opponents, Burton L. French, Missouri congressman from the First Idaho district.

John W. Graham, attorney and prominent Twin Falls Republican leader, said last night that owing to indifference of time of arrival of Congressman Tilson, no definite arrangements for his reception had as yet been made, but that he would be appropriately welcomed.

Native of Tennessee
Congressman Tilson is a native of East Tennessee, graduate of Yale of the class of 1891 and holds a degree of master of law from that educational institution, received in 1894. He served as a legislator in the Spanish-American war, but eventually graduated his studies in the military field, while showing interest in both military and constitutional studies. He is considered an authority on both of those subjects.

With the exception of one term, Congressman Tilson has served five congresses since 1909 and has served as chief clerk of the Republican party in the house for three terms. As a member of the committee on ways and means, Congressman Tilson has been distinguished for his advocacy of a protective tariff for the Republic to his constituents. He is author of a work on the constitution of the United States, written in such simple English that it is used as an eighth grade text.

His address in the house of representatives has been ordered brought for preservation at request of the military authorities on account of their technical value. Born at Nashville in 1868, Congressman Tilson, the son of a Republican in a Democratic state, he has risen high in the ranks of his party.

SOUTH IDAHOANS SEE SPECTACLE

Flaming Meteor Claims Attention of Persons Out-of-Doors at End of Day

Hordes of persons in Twin Falls and vicinity were startled at about 9:30 o'clock last night by the passage through the sky, apparently just north of the city, what appeared to be a large meteor, which made the briefest during the time of its passage. Estimates of the time of visibility of the phenomenon ranged from 10 to 15 minutes.

There was no noise such as frequently accompanies meteors especially the few which are heavy enough to retard the action of atmospheric friction until they reach the surface of the earth.

Four classes of meteorites which have been found and classified after reaching the earth and cooling are those composed of metallic iron with a small percentage of nickel; those composed of a cellular mass of iron with scales imbedded; those composed of a mass of silicates with small amount of iron, and those composed of a stony mass without any iron.

Hagen Conquers Alliss To Win Canadian Open Golf Title

Old Showman of Links Drubs Foe With One Stroke

Professional From Berlin Bows to "The Hag" at Thirty-Fifth Hole Late In Day On Toronto Course

(By The Associated Press)

MISSEGAU COUNTRY CLUB, TORONTO, July 14.—

The old showman, Walter Hagen, fought an uphill battle to conquer Percy Alliss, British "pro" at the Wannsee club in Berlin, by a single stroke in their 30-hole playoff for the Canadian open golf championship today.

"The Hag," after trailing Alliss by one stroke in the morning round with a 75 to the Detroit's 72, shot a brilliant 68, four under par, in the afternoon to win the title with a 3-4 total of 143. Alliss followed his par-equaling morning round with a 75 to tie the afternoon only to be beaten, slip into the championship with a magnificent display on the last hole.

Close battle was decided ultimately on the twenty-fifth hole. Alliss and squared the match at the thirty-fourth by making a 30-shot hole-in-one for a birdie three. On the next hole, however, Hagen's second shot failed to go down and he took a short putt for a birdie three without difficulty. Alliss' second shot rolled to within a yard of the cup but in this crisis, the British putting touch failed and the ball rolled to one side of the cup.

With the addition of two putts, Hagen's putting touch failed and the ball rolled to one side of the cup. Alliss came close to squaring the match at the home green, this long putt for a birdie three missing by a hair. Hagen played safely, carefully rolling up his approach putt and sinking the short one to leave him with the final hole with a four, thus winning the one big championship he never previously had.

"It was a heart-breaking defeat for Alliss for he had led the lead for most of the day and then he had to give up the match after being two strokes to the lead. The surprise of the day was that the thirty-third when Hagen three-putted for a birdie three, which decided the match again with his long putt at the thirty-fourth."

MISSEGAU COUNTRY CLUB, TORONTO, July 14.—

The old showman, Walter Hagen, fought an uphill battle to conquer Percy Alliss, British "pro" at the Wannsee club in Berlin, by a single stroke in their 30-hole playoff for the Canadian open golf championship today.

"The Hag," after trailing Alliss by one stroke in the morning round with a 75 to the Detroit's 72, shot a brilliant 68, four under par, in the afternoon to win the title with a 3-4 total of 143. Alliss followed his par-equaling morning round with a 75 to tie the afternoon only to be beaten, slip into the championship with a magnificent display on the last hole.

Close battle was decided ultimately on the twenty-fifth hole. Alliss and squared the match at the thirty-fourth by making a 30-shot hole-in-one for a birdie three. On the next hole, however, Hagen's second shot failed to go down and he took a short putt for a birdie three without difficulty. Alliss' second shot rolled to within a yard of the cup but in this crisis, the British putting touch failed and the ball rolled to one side of the cup.

With the addition of two putts, Hagen's putting touch failed and the ball rolled to one side of the cup. Alliss came close to squaring the match at the home green, this long putt for a birdie three missing by a hair. Hagen played safely, carefully rolling up his approach putt and sinking the short one to leave him with the final hole with a four, thus winning the one big championship he never previously had.

"It was a heart-breaking defeat for Alliss for he had led the lead for most of the day and then he had to give up the match after being two strokes to the lead. The surprise of the day was that the thirty-third when Hagen three-putted for a birdie three, which decided the match again with his long putt at the thirty-fourth."
