Dwindling Earnings Figure Conspicuously In Railways' Argument For Higher Rates

Commissioner Meyer, Presiding Officer at Hearing In Washington, Blocks Effort to Inject Railroad Wage Situation Into Precedure by Declaring Salary Question Matter For United States Board of Mediation

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Dwindling railroad earnings were represented as "a potential threat to the entire financial and industrial structure of the nation" today in testimony before the interstate commerce commission.

W. R. Cole, president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad made this assertion to bolster the plea of the carriers for a 10 per cent increase in freight rates.

While hearings on the petition were in progress, the commission ordered reduction of livestock rates on Western routes, including numerous decreases.

H. A. Sandreid, president of the Milwaukee, was questioned today on the condition of the Western routes. He read minutes of statistics into the record.

An effort to inject the railroad wage situation into the hearing was blocked by Commissioner Meyer, who is presiding. An attorney opposing the increase, asked Sandreid if he did not think railroad wages were too high.

After the executive could answer Meyer interposed the present case, which was concerned with the board of present wages a railroad wages were under jurisdiction of "another body." The United States mediation board handles such questions.

Cole read a prepared statement outlining the situation of the Southern railroads. Credit standing, he said, are controlled by railroad earnings and freight charges. He called attention to the situation of the Southern railroads, which are required to carry on and one-half times their freight charges for the last year.

Earnings of Southern railroads in 1930 were only 1.25 times freight charges. In 1929 they were 1.1 times. The investment required are considered, "this figure of Southern earnings assumes the gravest importance."

Nearly 3000 school board employees have applied for payments in arrear, and some payments have been made, but Chicago banks and merchants have refused to accept the participation certificates.

Both the teachers are crying: "What to do?"

But the problem of paying the teachers is only part of the school board's predicament.

Illinois, Wisconsin, southwestern Michigan, Indiana, northern Ohio, South Dakota and the Middle Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys were to escape under temperatures of 100 degrees and over.

In Chicago the thermometer reached 98 degrees in the afternoon, within seven-tenths of the highest mark of the year. Two deaths were reported.

Spontaneous "puffs of air" Lake Michigan and a fresh rainfall in the loop were helpful against Indiana of the sun. Thousands sought relief at beaches and a large hotel corporation there open its houses to cool the city's orphans.

The Pacific coast and the South, cooled by rains along the Gulf and in Arkansas and Tennessee, enjoyed their cool breeze.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION ORDERS CHANGES APPROVED BY LEGISLATURE

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Freight rates declined to pay little more than the cost of hauling today were revised by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The rates, ordered under the Hotch-Smith resolution of congress, result in decreases in many instances. In some cases, slight increases are made.

Taking into consideration the condition of the industry as disclosed in investigation started in 1926, the commission said that "investors at this time in the Western States cannot be expected to do more than pay their own way, that is, to cancel their rates and to let the market take its course without the cost of reducing the service plus a minimum of profit."

The commission fixed rates on a dollar basis. In the Western States, the rates are fixed at 10 cents for cattle and 15 cents for sheep. In the Eastern States, the rates are fixed at 10 cents for cattle and 15 cents for sheep.

Fame Comes Overnight to Billie Burke in Assuming "Pro" Macle's Whip Detroit, 6-3, And Cardinas Bow To Robins, 4-1.

72-Hole Playoff Victory Results In New Golf Hero

Few Persons Hear of 28-Year-Old Connecticut Golfer Until Grueling Encounter With Von Elm at Toledo

(By The Associated Press)
FAME has been a little slow in getting around to Billie Burke (formerly Burrows), but when it came it came with a bang.

Few people ever heard of the 28-year-old Connecticut Lithuanian when the Ryder Cup matches rolled around this year. True, he had won the North and South in 1929, and North Carolina in 1929, and several other tournaments of more or less sectional interest.

But when the time came for the international event at Toledo, few mentioned his name in the same breath with the Ince, Whitcomb, and Sweeney. He was just one of the professionals entered in the elimination to fill out the American team.

But from that point on Burke started shooting golf that leaves Tommy Armour, British open and professional, golfers association champion, somewhat in the shade.

There has been little talk recently about Armour. "The Bobs" and his "pro" Athletic fame being that it is things which probably never that way until some new hero came up in the coming national amateur.

In the 72-hole elimination for the cup team, Burke shot a par cracking 24, and in the matches defeated Archie Compston, winner of the British team, 3 and 2, and held up his end of a winning foursome.

Following America's victory at Columbus, Burke and the rest of the professional team, Toledo, were the smoke cleared, Burke was the winner by a stroke over George von Elm, who had 14 holes of play, 10 holes of which were in two days of play.

Burke is one of the most popular men ever to win the open championship, and should have no great trouble in making his way into the ranks of the greatest players in the world.

COMMITTEES FAIL TO REACH ACCORD ON THRESHING FEE

Bean Growers' Representatives Call Another Meeting to Hear New Plan of Adjustment for Difference

Because committees representing the bean growers and threshermen of Twin Falls county, at a meeting presided over by N. V. Sharp, flax, in the commissioners' room at the Twin Falls county courthouse, last night failed to reach a final agreement relative to the fee to be charged for threshing beans this year, another meeting has been announced for the bean growers by their committee to meet at the district court room Tuesday night.

In the new meeting to which threshermen are also invited, the bean committee formally stated that agreement on the part of the threshermen is needed in order to be able to submit a plan to the next session. The statement was made by N. V. Sharp, flax, who is chairman of the bean growers' committee. The degree of divergence between the members of the committee for the bean growers and the committee consisting of William George, P. A. Hildebrand and C. E. Greer, was made public. While it is stated, the figures of 15 cents given at representing the view of the threshermen, the view of 10 to 12 cents as representing the view of farmers at the meeting last night, and the tentative suggestions of individuals and the formal statements of the bean growers' committee were on file on the matter. The figures discussed at both the meeting last night and at the session Thursday night were on what is known as a released basis; that is, that the threshing would be completed only when the beans were sufficiently clean to be in good, marketable condition.

Inasmuch as the committee of bean growers could not agree with the threshermen committee, the bean growers' committee announced that it has decided to call another meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the district court room of the Twin Falls courthouse. The committee invites threshermen to meet. The committee feels that it has other things to do, which will be laid before the meeting at that time.
