SCIENTIST PLANS TO LAUNCH PROJECTILE HIGH IN UPPER AIR

Professor Robert H. Goddard Designs 12-Foot Body to Pierce High Region

LIQUID OXYGEN ACTS AS PROPELLING FORCE

Instruments Record Temperature and Pressure of Higher Atmosphere

By F. A. COLTON (Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, July 18.—A giant rocket that is expected to explore space several hundred miles above the earth, many times as high as Professor Augustus H. Picard's balloon, is being perfected in New Mexico under auspices of three scientific institutions.

Professor Robert H. Goddard is working with the rocket at Roswell, New Mexico.

His experiments so far have met with "satisfactory success," says Charles C. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, which is backing Goddard's work with the Carnegie Institution of Washington and the Union of Scientific Societies.

The rocket will be driven by a combination of liquid oxygen and gasoline. It is expected to rise to an altitude of 100,000 feet, or about 30 miles. There is nothing to prevent the rocket, he says, from rising to many times this level.

Parachute attachment, designed to unfold automatically when the rocket reaches the limit of its climb, is expected to drop the projectile to earth safely.

These will record temperature, pressure and other atmospheric conditions at heights never before reached.

May Observer Wants Hays

Professor Goddard has been working for many years on rockets to penetrate high altitudes. He is now on leave of absence from Clark university, Worcester, Massachusetts, where he is head of the department of physics.

These records may tell more about the chemicals of which the sun is composed, the nature of its radiation, and how this affects life on earth.

Bureau Of Agriculture Enlists Engineers For Farm Aid

RESEARCH WORKERS LABOR TO BENEFIT "FAMILY FARMERS"

Government Attacks Problems of Erosion, Seeding and Rural Buildings

PROJECT INCLUDES AIDS FOR NATION'S DAIRYING

S. H. McCrory, New Chief of Bureau, Explains Aims of Government Enterprise

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Engineers, who have brought greater profits and efficiency to industry and increased comfort to the city dweller, now are to try to do the same job for the farmer.

Working in research laboratories that may be compared to those maintained by great corporations, scientists of the new United States bureau of agricultural engineering are to attack a host of farm problems. Overseeing research from within the farmers' land from beneath his feet, designing time and labor-saving machinery, planning farm homes and buildings as a structure and efficient as the best urban dwellings, and factories—these will be some of the jobs of the bureau's engineers.

The government's agricultural engineers are not meant to manage only huge corporation farms and handle new and complicated farm equipment, nor do they threaten to displace the small farmers, explains S. H. McCrory, the new bureau chief.

To serve "family farms" they will strive, he says, to benefit all the 6,000,000 farms and farm homes in the United States.

The bureau will help the farmer solve the needs of the family farm rather than the more spectacular production of the big commercial farms, says McCrory, secretary of agriculture.

The engineers will try to solve problems that can best be solved by engineering methods. These include, in addition to the design and equipment of farm buildings and machinery, problems of water supply and sanitation, mechanical control of insects and plant diseases, refrigeration to preserve farm products, irrigation, and drainage.

Buildings and machinery will receive immediate attention from the bureau, McCrory says.

There are, perhaps, three outstanding problems in the field of farm buildings, he explained.

First is the need for remodeling existing farm homes. Many of them need modernizing if they are to provide living conditions satisfactory to modern-day farmers.

Second is the need for better farm buildings. The largest animal industry in the nation, the dairy business, needs research not only in construction of dairy barns but also on related problems of ventilation, temperature control and sanitation.

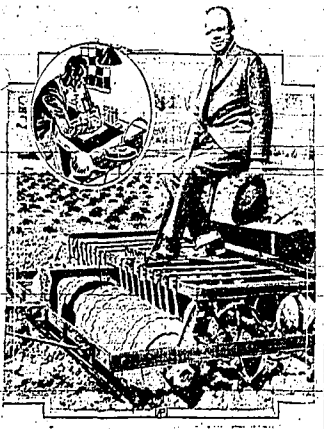

Third is the need for better dairy equipment. These affect health of cattle, cleanliness and quality of dairy products, and therefore affect dairy profits.

The third type of building which is to receive major attention by the bureau is that of small storage structures.

Scientists of the bureau are working to design machinery that will destroy the European corn borer in the course of ordinary farming operations and that will plant seed and place fertilizer in the ground in a single process.

Such machinery can be designed, it is believed, for growing sugar beets as cheaply as with the present hand labor now generally used.

Artificial hay drying in sections where damp climates hinder drying by ordinary means, improved machinery for growing and ginning

TIME-SAVING HINTS TO AID HOUSEWIVES

MEAL PLANNING

Here are a few suggested meals which help in planning the meals:

1. Serve simple foods.
2. Serve a variety of food; this does not mean a number of foods in one day, but a variation of foods over a period of days. We live on the same thing day after day, so we must vary our food.
3. Think of the day's meal as a whole, and plan so that no meal will have an excess of any one type of food. For example, do not eat a main dish of macaroni and have rice pudding for dessert.
4. Do not have the same food in more than one form at the same meal, and try not to have it in the same form twice in one day. Bread, butter, and milk are exceptions to this, of course.
5. Provide contrast in flavor, color, and texture.
6. Some combinations of foods seem to "go together." Serve those whenever possible.
7. Foods which stimulate digestive juices should precede those which are heavy or tend to relax the flow. Therefore soup, fruit, and other appetizers, also meat, should be served at the forepart of the meal.
8. Desserts dull the appetite. Therefore they should appear at the last of the meal.
9. The last course should be such as to leave a pleasant aftertaste.
10. Keep the seasons of the year in mind in planning menus and quantities.

Grapefruit Fluff is a nice cold beverage with which to start a breakfast.

Recipe: Boil one half cup of sugar in 2 cups of water for five minutes. Let cool, then add cup of pineapple juice. One can of grapefruit juice (old) you know you could buy it in cans) and one fourth of a cup of lemon juice. Let this mixture thoroughly, just before serving add one quart of whipped cream and pour in the mixture.

Someone once said that there are two seasons for a housewife with a family—winter and summer. The winter is the season when you are without the canned products put up in the summer, though?

Here are some rules in eating vegetables that should prove helpful to Twin Falls homemakers at this season of the year.

1. Use the best products only; tough, wilted or partly decayed vegetables are hard to keep and will never give satisfaction.

2. Add vegetables may be canned in the open kettle manner, but non-acid vegetables must be canned in the pressure cooker or cold pack method to insure thorough sterilization.

3. Use more efficient refrigerators for cases for carrying perishable products to improve the quality of vegetables by the bureau's staff.

BUHL HEALTH CAMP ANNOUNCES RULING

Memorial Committee Issues
Dietum Restricting Visits

ing to Two Days a Month

BUHL, July 18 (Special to The News)—Definite action was taken at a meeting of the camp committee of the Buhl health resort camp on Friday afternoon, restricting visiting of parents and the general public to two days a month, a month during the remainder of the period that the camp will operate. Sunday, July 19, August 2 and August 16, the camp and grounds will be open to visitors. It was announced by Mrs. C. O. Smith, general chairman.

It was also decided to enforce the rule prohibiting children from entering the grounds at any time. This measure was necessary in order to prevent a possible outbreak of any communicable disease to children who are being cared for at the camp. It was also decided to restrict the sale of fish and game department in the fisherman's luck since the closing of 1930 small trout by state fish and game department under direction of M. P. Bailey, state game warden and Claude Drake, state fish commissioner. Tackle was furnished by the Buhl Rotary club. When the present supply is exhausted, Jack Zingy, manager of the Snake River Trout farm, will supply an additional supply.

Party children are now enrolled and one more entrance is expected this week. No more can be accepted this season. Mrs. Smith, announced, but it is hoped that by another year the camp will be worked out for a longer season when more children may be enrolled.

C. E. Vetter, manager of the Ramona theatre, contributing $250.00, receipts of one evening's performance, to the fund. Mrs. Smith also desires to acknowledge a merchandise credit from the Idaho Department of Game and Fish, which came unsolicited.

A new electric refrigerator has been located by the Idaho Power company and a refund will be made to the camp committee at the close of the season for all electricity used during the season.

All kinds of meats, eggs, chickens and fruits will be acceptable to the food committee in charge as well as the vegetables which have been so generously contributed by residents of the county.

We like to think of this store as a co-operative enterprise—

Considering it our duty to offer substantial merchandise at the lowest price, together with the best service, trusting that you will recognize our superior values and reward us with sufficient patronage to justify the low prices.

The plan is a success—

We are striving to do our part, and you are certainly doing yours. The first six months of 1931 were the greatest in the history of the store. Former sales records are broken every week and every month. Nothing less than the best values, offered to the most intelligent buying public could bring such results, and we want to thank you.

Now, as to the future—

We promise to strive even harder to serve you, to pass on to you every saving we can effect either in buying or in operating costs. We will appreciate your suggestions or constructive criticism. We welcome and urge comparison because we know every fair comparison will be profitable to you and to us.

(Associated Press Special Writer)
NEW YORK, July 18.—Can a good big man lick a good little man? Or a better little man, in the words of Mr. Jack Kearns, Kearns, let it be understood, is manager of the little man—Mickey Walker, former welterweight and middleweight champion of the world.

Some sort of an answer will be supplied when Walker meets Jack Sharkey, welterweight champion of the world, in a 15-round bout at the Madison Square Garden, New York, where he is being promoted by a group of promoters in an attempt to show that he can lose to a heavier fighter, though the odds are 10 to 1 in his favor. Walker, who is 30 years old, weighs 125 pounds, while Sharkey, who is 27, weighs 145 pounds.

Walker is working out at Orangeburg, New York, where he is being promoted by a group of promoters in an attempt to show that he can lose to a heavier fighter, though the odds are 10 to 1 in his favor.

ON THE SIDELINES by Brian Bell

As one good fighter to another, Buzz Arlett, says "Chuck" Klein, fellow pugilist, is the best he has seen. The former Pacific coast "fence buster" now doing his act in the big show has written Oscar Hill, manager of the Hollywood Dicks, sketching briefly his experience in the major leagues.

"Klein, on my bell club, is the best fighter I ever saw in my life. But don't think the manager is a great fellow and it is no task to handle him. I intend to remain up at the top of the bell club and will handle him all the time. We have a better ball club than we are given credit. There are many good hitters on the team and I have found a few contacts in the National League. There are some players in this league who would only last a few months out on the coast, Oscar."

Last year, during vacation time, most of all the football players of the University of Southern California worked in motion pictures, but only a few of the Trojans and Hollywood this summer. It seems the collection to continue, particularly when they give their clients a chance to come.

When he lands a solid punch, Walker looks at his feet and what damage has been done. He says that no fighter, though his face may be as small as a child, can control the action of his feet when his body is in motion. When he is in motion, he is in motion. When he is in motion, he is in motion.

FEATURE FLASHES FROM FAR-FLUNG FOREIGN FIELDS

Dynamite Blasts Herald "Civilization Of Steel" As Turks Open Rocky Wilderness

Kemalist Government Contracts For 510 Miles of Railways in Wild Area

By FRISCELLA KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
ANGORA, July 10.—An average of 8000 blasts of dynamite a day are blowing the rocky wilderness of Anatolia to pieces to make way for what Mustafa Kemal calls the "civilization of steel."
In four years a Sardinian-Danish group has completed more than half of the 510 miles of railways for which the Kemalist government contracted in 1927.
The two lines which this group is building are from Iznik, near Angora, to Fillos on the Black Sea, and from Perat-Pasha, near the Syrian border on the old Baghdad railway, to Diarbekir, the center of Turkey's wild eastern Kurdish provinces.
The 344 miles completed on these two lines have already, according to an official utterance, "increased the mobility of the Turkish army 100 per cent."

Tutsi People's Towns

They penetrate regions heretofore almost inaccessible to man, through savage mountainous and perilous gorges. So uneven is the territory, that the laying of 24 miles of line has necessitated the building of 1330 bridges and 51 tunnels, the longest of which is 2000 feet long.

The bridge at Gueusouk, on the line to Diarbekir, is one of the big concrete bridges in the world, measuring 650 feet in length and 114 feet in height.

The building of railways in this wild country has tested the ingenuity of the Swedish, Danish, and Turkish engineers in charge, and required enormous quantities of labor. Thousands of peasant women work as stone-breakers, while the men do the work of machines.

On the carrying supplies.
The building of the railways at every 10 to 15 miles along the line one of the companies' first undertakings, and thanks to them, the ravages of malaria, typhoid, and cholera among the workers have been curbed.

The builders of these pioneer lines have had to carry civilization along with them, mile by mile, through a pathless wilderness. The building of roads and telegraph lines has preceded the building of the railways, and along these roads thousands of camels and hundreds of automobiles trucks carry construction materials and supplies.

One of the great difficulties in the rocky nature of the territory. About half of every cubic foot of rock is hard rock, and it has taken 41 tons of dynamite to blow it up.

If the lines used for setting off the explosives were put end to end, they would stretch 1364 miles, the distance from Istanbul to Bagdad.

CHINESE MAGICIAN GETS BLAME FOR TRAM DEATH

SHANGHAI, July 8 (AP)—Zou Zai-Ching, professional Chinese magician, was brought before the Chinese court of this city charged with causing the death of a woman by casting the magic word "presto."
The magician was riding a tram when the woman, trying to throw her handkerchief, was thrown from the step, sustaining injuries that caused her death.
It was alleged by the tram company doctor that Zou pronounced the Chinese equivalent for "presto" and that he had caused the woman to fall many causing the motor-man to start the car.

BIG PROFITS FORCE OIL IN AUSTRALIAN POLITICS

CANBERRA, July 8 (AP)—Reports to the federal Australian government concerning the exorbitant profits made by British and American oil companies have become an issue at the next federal election.
Motivators' organizations and certain politicians have carried on an active agitation against petroleum companies.
This increased in force when the commonwealth audit inspector revealed that one company made a net profit of 64.9 per cent.

Queen Elizabeth Gains High Favor With Belgians

(By The Associated Press)
BRUSSELS, July 10.—The most popular woman in Belgium will be 56 years old July 8. She is Queen Elizabeth.

Not only is she popular with the poor and the intelligent, but also with the middle classes, with whom she is in steady touch through social and official duties.

Even in such cities as the "exclusive" society element which goes in for sports, the queen is liked because of her modernist tendencies. Furthermore, the most advanced republican finds no fault in her.

Probably it is her interest in social work that most endears her to the nation.
Heretofore a doctor of medicine and a trained nurse above her youth, she is especially interested in campaigns against disease and in child welfare.

Not only is she a frequent visitor of medical conferences, but of hospitals for sick or convalescent children, many of which were founded at her impulse and with her financial and personal help.

Probably the most advanced republican finds no fault in her. Throughout most of the war she was in Red Cross work and played a small part in the rehabilitation of her country afterwards.

No special celebration, except a dinner within the royal family, is planned for her birthday, but the nation will join in wishing her many more.

SOVIETS SEEK HARDY CRIMINAL FOR NORTHLAND

MOSCOW, July 10 (AP)—The possibility of a great crime has been raised at 64-13 north latitude, and that in the Tukhansky region of northern Siberia, where gold has been mined at 60 north latitude.

Patrons, Alaska, lie about halfway between these extremes.
In the basin of the Yana river, they claim barley, rye and oats have ripened at 64-13 north latitude and corn, peas, potatoes, cabbage, beets, turnips, carrots and radishes grow in the river Kolyma district near the Polar circle.

Success already has crowned their experiments in some respects. They report that spring corn has been raised at 64-13 north latitude, and that in the Tukhansky region of northern Siberia, where gold has been mined at 60 north latitude.

ALFONSO OF SPAIN LOOKS ABOUT FOR HOME THIRD TIME

Closing of Hotel-Savoy in Paris Soon Compels Former Ruler to Move to Other Living Quarters

By ADELAIDE KEER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

PARIS, July 10.—Alfonso XIII of Spain, who has changed his headquarters twice since April 12, 1931, must move again.

Three months ago the Spanish royal family fled to Paris. The republicans compelled the deposed king to vacate his throne. A few days later they moved to Fontainebleau where they established headquarters in the Hotel Savoy while awaiting the last of Republican strength in the Spanish elections.

The poll brought a decisive victory for the Republican-Socialist coalition, banishing the possibility of Alfonso's immediate recall to Spain.

October 1 the little hotel where the royal exile lives expects to close the winter in accordance with its custom. Necessity thus demands that Alfonso form definite plans for housing his family and of extensive entourage.

Many Rumors
Rumor has placed the future residence almost every country in Europe. Villa by Queen Elizabeth of Belgium and by Queen Mother Marie of Rumania were considered as prospects that he might choose one of those countries as a refuge.

There were reports too that he might buy or rent a place on the French Riviera, near Spain, but his retainer, the duke of Miranda, labeled those rumors as "ridiculous."

Alfonso's recent visits to England have given credence to the belief that he will choose the home-land of his wife. His third son, Don Juan, is a student in the British royal navy school at Dartmouth; his mother-in-law, Princess Beatrice, is governor of the Isle of Wight, and political observers point to the island as a logical spot for Alfonso's residence.

Meanwhile Alfonso continues to conduct his affairs with him. He walks with his old confident sister, and his habitual smile has returned.

TINY ENGLISH CHURCH CONJURES TO WIDOWS

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—After being closed 14 years, the smallest consecrated church in England has been reopened for services.

Established several generations ago, the church is attached to spiritual comforters, in the 70 oldest widows, resident in the almshouse.

It now is a mission for the rector of a nearby church, who receives 425 annually for conducting the services.

TOURISTS USE STAMPS AS CASH IN AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, July 10 (AP)—Rare postage stamps and diamonds are being used by some Australian travelers to overcome the difficulties of their country's devalued currency.

To send 50 pounds to London costs about 150 pounds, but to send 300 pounds worth of rare postage stamps or diamonds costs nothing.

Many tourists therefore leave or abroad with stamps and diamonds in their luggage instead of Australian dollars or credit in their pockets.

Duce's Clashes With Pius. Reflect Basic Differences

By ANDRUE BERNING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ROME, July 10.—Much of the recent serious flare-up between Italy and the Vatican is due to differences in points of view between two great personalities—Mussolini and Pius XI.

The average person may consider the Italo-Vatican difficulties dogmatic and philosophical, but he can explain them in certain part by referring to the personal points of departure between the two men.

Neither champion has ever met the other. It is significant that Mussolini, living in the city, has never gone to see the pope even after the signing of the Lateran treaty.

King Victor Emmanuel III, the royal family went, but not Mussolini.

Years ago Pius Duce was a socialist and a devotee of the future, and he looked about the rule of the future.

Pius took three weeks to swallow hard and reply. Then he said: "What of all things we least expect were expectations that are heretical, worse than heretical, revealing the very essence of Christianity and Catholicism."

He was dismayed by those too intricate expressions that nothing has been renounced by the state to the church, that no control has been placed in the hands of the state for exercising vigilance over heretics.

After that people ceased to talk of a visit from Pius to the pope. The visiting premier and the independent protest continued in disregard. Two years of personal difficulties primed each for the present fray.

In his several years before the Lateran treaty he "made up" in the Vatican his dislike of the chamber of deputies and crucifixes in the schools, applied the Vatican it was dealing with a different belief and came, as he said himself, to admit the great constitutional structure and power of the papacy.

read these statements: "Born in Padua."

"The Christian religion was born in Palestine but became Catholic in Rome. If it had remained in Palestine it would have been extinguished without leaving a trace of itself."

"We have not reestablished the temporal power of the popes. We have left it just as much as we have left it to be interested in the future."

Mussolini, moreover, said he had read the Vatican the pope called for by the treaty, "the liquidation of the past and a guarantee for the future," and he looked about the rule of the future.

DAWN FINDS POLISH PREMIER AT DUTIES

Alexander Prystor's Habit of Early Rising Proves One of Revealing Traits

WARSAW, July 10 (AP)—A habit of rising with the dawn to get an early start on the day's work is one of the revealing characteristics of Colonel Alexander Prystor, new premier of Poland.

He had been in the cabinet two years as minister of labor and minister of commerce when, in May, he became head of the government in succession to Wladyslaw Goscinski.

Goscinski's resignation was over sufficient for it to be interpreted as a sign of the end of his tenure.

Mussolini, moreover, said he had read the Vatican the pope called for by the treaty, "the liquidation of the past and a guarantee for the future," and he looked about the rule of the future.

Pius took three weeks to swallow hard and reply. Then he said: "What of all things we least expect were expectations that are heretical, worse than heretical, revealing the very essence of Christianity and Catholicism."

DISTRICT APPLIES FOR FEDERAL AID

Twin Falls Road Builders Take Step Toward Paving North and South Highway

Twin Falls Highway district commissioners yesterday made application to the federal bureau of public roads for federal aid in construction of three and one-half miles of paved road on Route 23, north and south from Twin Falls.

One section of the proposed improvement, extending northward one and three-quarter miles to the Twin Falls-Jerome bridge over Snake river canyon.

The other extends southward an equal distance to Twin Falls water purification plant. The district asked for federal aid for surveying as well as paying this application.

The district's application for federal aid is regarded as a first definite step toward improvement of these sections of the road. This improvement was included in the district's road program for the current year, and decision to apply for federal aid follows a conference held with Mr. Hansen, state commissioner of public works.

Following that conference, the state road builders awarded contracts for filling Route 23 northward from the Nevada line to Rogers, and also for the filling addition avenue to the Hansen bridge.

WOMEN HONOR AGED WAR VETERAN AT PARK

Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic announced a picnic in the Twin Falls city park Monday evening in honor of the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of Florence Hart, veteran of the Civil war and resident of Twin Falls for many years.

Mr. Hart stated that he feels better than he did five years ago. He takes a walk daily and is very interested in current events and in public affairs. He served with the Army of the Potomac during the Civil war. Mr. Hart was a member of one detachment sent in pursuit of John Wilkes Booth after he had assassinated Lincoln. Although his was not the squad that cornered Booth.

The Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic here invite all members and families to attend and to bring sandwiches, covered dish, clubs and silver for their own families.

800 RAMS ENTER FOR ANNUAL SALE

Idaho Wool Growers' Association Officers Predict Successful Auction at Filer

Nine hundred rams of the Hampshire, Suffolk and Shropshire breeds will be offered at the tenth annual ram sale of the Idaho Wool Growers' association at the Filer fairgrounds August 12. It was stated yesterday by Mr. C. C. Clark, Idaho secretary of the association, who accompanied by E. P. Hinchey, Filer, representative of the University of Idaho extension, has been in Twin Falls several days making arrangements.

Arrangements have been made for staking up the animals at the fairgrounds to care for the large number of rams that will be handled there. There will be a banquet in the evening after the sale at which a number of prominent speakers will deliver talks. The program for the occasion has not yet been completed, Mr. Clark said.

GULLIVAN ADVISES RAISING OF HOGS

"My advice to people here is to break in hogs," said Dr. W. K. Sullivan, Boise, Idaho veterinarian for the federal bureau of animal industry, last evening. "There is a scarcity of hogs," he continued, "and with the amount of produce on this project, there will be enough that would otherwise go to waste to support one sow and litter of pigs on every farm. There are not that many swine here on the average. There has been no hog cholera in this county for a long time and I think an increase in the number of hogs raised here is due."

Dr. Sullivan arrived here late Friday night from Idaho Falls, accompanied by Mrs. Sullivan and his son, Joseph, to study the situation and consult Dr. H. R. Grooms and Dr. M. G. Groves, state veterinarians, regarding conditions. He will consult with state veterinarians in this county tomorrow. He said live stock as a whole in Twin Falls county were in good condition, but urged farmers and owners to consult a veterinarian if they suspected any disease in any animal, in order that a high standard of health should be maintained.

MURTAUGH CAR CRASH DAMAGES TWO AUTOS

Cars driven by Charles D. Thomas, Twin Falls, and a man from Yakima, named Daveport, were badly damaged about 3 P. M. yesterday in a car crash at Murtaugh. Nobody was injured.

Speaking of the matter last evening, Mr. Thomas said: "It was an accident for which nobody was to blame. I and my son, Bill, were returning from the direction of Burley, and Mr. Daveport, who was accompanied by his wife and by two children, who seemed to be about 10 and 12 years old, was driving east. I started to turn into a gas station but when Daveport approached I turned back on my own side of the road. He assumed when I started to turn that I would go ahead in the gas station and guided his car accordingly. My car was almost demolished, while his car was damaged to the extent of about $100."

UNDERTAKER ANNOUNCES FUNERAL OF MCBRIDE

The body of Vern A. McBride, rider, who died Monday afternoon at Boise arrived in Twin Falls yesterday and at the Drake funeral parlors, where services will be conducted at 10 A. M. today. P. E. Drake, proprietor announced yesterday. Interment will be in the cemetery at Filer.

CLUB WOMEN OFFER SCHOLARSHIP LOAN

Rural Federation Announces Readiness to Consider Applications For Fund

The Rural Federation of Women's club is ready to consider applications for scholarship loan that will be available September 1. It was announced at a meeting yesterday at which reports were received from 13 affiliated clubs.

The history of the federation is being compiled by a committee appointed by the chairman at this meeting. Members of this committee are Mrs. C. Schneider of the Morningstar club, Mrs. C. H. Eldred of the M. P. B. club, and Mrs. Evans of the Union club.

During the business session Mrs. William Hubert, Twin Falls, was elected second vice president of the federation, to fill a vacancy caused by resignation of Mrs. Hankin Ruthford, Castleford.

The meeting discussed state and district affairs and read letters from the treasurer and endorsement fund chairman of the state organization.

CITY INSTALLS RACKS FOR PARKING BICYCLES

Six bicycle racks have been installed by the city in order that riders shall have somewhere to park their bicycles instead of standing them against the curbing. Racks so far have been placed on the street next to the curbing in front of the Riley military, the McJostie Pharmacy, the Idaho department store, the J. C. Penney store, the Schramm-Johnson drug store, and the Orphanus theatre. Each rack has places for five bicycles, except that in front of the theatre which will accommodate 10 wheels.

BAD CHECK ISSUER DRAWS JAIL TERM

Jacob Dwyer was sentenced yesterday by Probate Judge Guy L. Kinney to serve 30 days in jail and pay costs amounting to $6.80, after he had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of issuing a check without funds. The complaint was signed by Everett O'Connor, Dwyer's attorney, statutory time for entering plea and receiving sentence.

Of an estimated 2,875,000 head of cattle on Minnesota farms last January 1, about 1,511,000 were milked.

COMMISSIONERS CALL BOUNDARY ELECTION

Election of legal voters in the Kimberly independent district number 2 and in Fremont school district number 2 will be held between the hours of 1 P. M. and 6 P. M. on August 22, on the question of changing their boundaries where they adjoin, in order that the body of Rock creek may be the division line, should the voters so determine, was called yesterday morning by the board of county commissioners of Twin Falls county.

As this was taken as a result of petitions filed July 12 by residents of both districts, it was stated at the hearing that only a small body of land, less than 160 acres, will be affected by changes should they be adopted, and that it will prove beneficial to the few children in the section involved, who have difficulty in getting to school when water in Rock creek is high.

There was no opposition voiced yesterday at the meeting of the board to the calling of the election in order that the voters of the district might determine the matter of changing the boundary.
