SHEEP MEN PAINT GRIM PICTURE AT ZION CITY HEARING

Dr. S. W. McClure, Bliss, Idaho, Prominent Figure In Wool Industry, Warns Against Rate Raise

(By The Associated Press) SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 27.—Sheep men of the Rocky Mountain states painted a dark picture of their industry at the concluding sessions here today of an interstate commerce commission hearing on the railroads' request for a 15 per cent freight increase.

Commissioners Daniel L. Lewis and William B. Clark, who conducted the hearings here, at Portland, and San Francisco, will continue them at Chicago next week.

Dr. S. W. McClure, Bliss, Idaho, for 10 years secretary of the National Wool Growers association and previously employed by the federal bureau of animal husbandry in Washington, D. C., testified that the railroads that an increase in freight rates will mean the loss of sheep from the mountains and the loss of thousands of jobs.

Sheep men now are employing more than 100,000 men in the industry, he said, and their loss would mean the loss of thousands of jobs.

Frank Fuller, also charged with much of the same duty, testified that the wool industry would lose $10,000,000 a year if the rate were raised.

Leonard Wood Trails Famous Sire To Grave

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Leonard Wood, jr., son of the distinguished general, whose 35 years encompassed a series of tragic incidents that finally led to his death, was buried today in a funeral home.

Weakly by an attack of influenza four years ago, the son of the Major-General Leonard Wood, former governor general of the Philippines, succumbed to a sudden onset of lobar pneumonia in Bellevue hospital.

In a comparatively short life, Wood experienced the first warm glow of success as a writer and then plunged into bankruptcy.

Only a few months ago friends found him polishing brass rails on a harbor boat. He was penniless and discouraged. The death of his father in 1927 had moved him deeply.

His multi-published brother, Brigadier-General Osborne C. Wood, now governor general of New Mexico, was in the city to attend the funeral services.

Other survivors include his mother, Mrs. Louise Wood, and a sister, Mrs. Louise Wood, both of whom are in Germany.

FOUR CONVICTS KILL MICHIGAN PHYSICIAN

ed Charles Arenas and Charles Alvord, guards, to accompany them into the industrial building, where they barricaded themselves and dictated a note to Arenas which read:

"The men have officers and inmates in dormitory under guns and also a bottle of explosives. They are ready to shoot anyone who opens the door. They want the big gate opened and have auto come inside and take them out. They want to come in and drive them out with his car."

Officer Charles Arenas has plenty of explosives.

The note was thrown out a window for the warden.

Warden Green's assistant was a barrage of bullets and tear gas.

The guards held as hostages as of the prison.

A few minutes later gunfire broke out in the "C" wing of the prison and guards and state elite rushed there.

They found there, however, only a guard, dumped on the floor.

A guard, said this flounder had fired at him, and having missed, turned the gun on himself.

LOUISIANA'S HOUSE VOTES COTTON BAN

Representatives Pass Bill
To Prohibit Planting of Product During Year 1932

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Planting of cotton in Louisiana next year would be prohibited under a bill passed unanimously today by the state house of representatives.

The measure was sent immediately to the senate where it passed by a vote of 15 to 10.

The bill provides that application of the cotton seed in Louisiana next year would be contingent upon the consent of similar law by states which contained 75 per cent of the cotton acreage in 1929.

Planting of cottonseed to raise cotton, the gathering of cotton and the selling of cotton in 1932 in Louisiana would be prohibited by the bill.

The bill would empower the state commissioner of agriculture to destroy or cause to be destroyed any cotton found to be growing in 1932.

Governor Long was a spectator during the debate in the house. After his passage, he called the house session a "complete adoption of the resolution of the conference of the cotton growing states of America held in New Orleans last Friday."

The Louisiana governor said that "the other governors and legislators of cotton states will take up the cudgel for their people within the next two weeks, cotton will be sold at from 10 cents to 20 cents per pound throughout the world."

GANG OF KIDNAPERS LETS VICTIM LOOSE

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP)—A gang of kidnapers released John J. Lynch early today after holding him for a week, leaving officials to guess at their identity and whether their ransom demands had been met.

Lynch, past owner of a horse race information bureau, disappeared Thursday while en route from the Chicago office to his summer home in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. He drove up to the house at 4:30 A. M. today in his own automobile, with a seven-day growth of beard and a ravenously appetitive.

"I am not going to make a complaint to anyone," he said after a brief rest, arguing that ransom demands of $25,000 had been refused.

But associates in the turf world, which has known Lynch for years or more, circulated the word that Macy O'Connell and other friends got together $25,000 and turned it over to an agent for the gang in Chicago yesterday in exchange for his release shortly after 10 o'clock, 30 miles south.

Search for Capone
Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, refused at $25,000 had been paid and continued his search for "Scarface" Al Capone, boss of Chicago gangsters, on a charge of compounding a felony. Capone, Roche said, differed with the kidnapers and asked in effecting Lynch's release, thus becoming a party to the crime. His accused "ex-convicts and some St. Louis men."

Mrs. Lynch, prostrated during most of the week, greeted her husband as he drove up in the early dawn, with apparent relief. Lynch assured her he was in good health and spirit and ordered "lots of ham and eggs."

"SHAKE TABLE" IN LABORATORY ACTS AS CAR ON BUMPS

Points of Pain and Strain in Driving Appear to Be on Spine and Left Hip

CERTAIN VIBRATIONS PROVE EVEN SHOCKING

Purdue University Conducts Experiments Aiming to Find Causes of Tiring

(By The Associated Press)
AFAYETTE, Ind., Aug. 27.—Auto drivers may learn how to make more comfortable on long trips this summer by studying charts just completed at Purdue university.

These show that as points of pain and strain the lower end of the spine and the left hip are as sensitive as all other parts of the body combined.

They show that a certain rate of vertical vibration may be almost soothing, but rates more wearying.

They indicate that the common swish is shown by a steady hand depends upon traffic conditions more than merely those at the wheel.

These findings were made by psychologists and engineers co-operatively. The researchers were directed by Cannon Snow, professor of industrial education, and by H. M. Jackson, professor of automotive engineering.

Tired on Speedway
The pain and strain reports were obtained from 20 young men driving test cars on the Indiana speedway. Each one drove continuously for two to three hours at a time, for a total of eight hours a day at the wheel, at speeds ranging from 20 to 60 miles an hour.

Lower spine and left hip pains reported. "There seemed to be no difference between the two spots, each one furnishing eight complaints. Twelve other spots gave a total of only 18 complaints.

There were three complaints each for the left shoulder and the back of the neck; two each for the middle of the back and the left calf, and one each for back of head, right temple, right side of neck, chest, left thigh, left ankle, right hip and right calf.

Car and road apparently were not so much responsible for distribution of pains and strains as were the differences in persons.

Standard Man Employed
A new kind of "shake table" and a mechanical "standard man" furnished data on vibrations and road bumps. The table was arranged to jump up and down. Eleven women and 21 men sat on it in hard chairs.

At about one vibration a second they had the sensation of "jolting." Professor Jackson says that a low vibration at this rate may account for feelings of seasickness.

Between two and three vibrations a second were found best for comparative comfort. Fatigue of the knees and ankles was ascribed largely to difference in the rate of vibration of the body and the feet.

After vibrating 10 to 30 times as fast as the body.

The "standard man" is a box (like the driver's position) and takes for a ride over various roads. The box records automatically the rate and sizes of road shocks as transmitted to the driver's body through springs, chassis and seat cushions, and that effects of changes in vehicle design become easily apparent.

The laboratory's trying to do to these girls what your automobile does to you. They're shown on a "shake table" used in experiments to show the relation between automobile vibration and fatigue. Circles in the diagram below show points of strain and pain in driving. The numerals indicate the frequency of complaints.

FILER FOLKS JOIN AT BANQUET AND PARTY

FILER, Aug. 27 (Special to The News)—Filer social events during the middle part of the week included a banquet and a church party.

A banquet was given Wednesday evening in the basement of the Methodist church in honor of young people who are attending or have been members of the Filer rural high school and who plan to leave soon for college or to teach. The banquet is an annual affair and is given just before the opening of the new school term each year. Sixty-three guests were seated at the table. During the serving of the three-course banquet group singing was led by Miss Frances Helman, after which the program was given while Earl Ramsey, superintendent of the Filer rural high school, acted as toastmaster.

The plans of the party was a "crusade on board ship." The guests were the school for universities where students had attended or planned to attend. The first part was conducted by Shirley Coates; next was the California Institute of Technology, represented by Harry Wilson. From there the group traveled to Greeley, Colorado, to the Colorado state teacher college, represented by Gus Olsen Bunde, Virginia Snyder represented the University of Utah by stating two university numbers.

The journey then carried the group to the University of Idaho, southern branch, where Virgil Leasle told what he expected to find there this fall. The last stop was Albion, represented by Theodore Hicks. The voyage was followed with a solo by Dorothy Cae and the principal address on board ship was made by Rev. C. E. Helman. A prophecy written by a seer was then read by Miss Frances Helman and the concluding number on the program was the group song, "Idaho."

Miss Genevieve Nicholson entertained with a nicely arranged party at her home Wednesday evening for the young people or the Brethren church in Twin Falls, given in honor of students who plan to leave soon to attend college. Present were the Misses Ethel Hempenlund, Ruth Mc-

BURLEY-DECO HIGHWAY BUILDING PROGRESSES

BURLEY, Aug. 27 (Special to The News)—Grading on most contracts west on the new highway between Burley and Deco will be almost completed by September 1, workers on this highway say. Graveling then will start, under direction of A. C. Thoren, Springfield, Utah, contractor.

Concrete work is now progressing on abutments and bridges on this new cutting of the Old Oregon trail. Some of the grading work is being held up on account of concrete work, the longest time to elapse will probably be on two bridges under construction near Deco.

Most of the concrete work probably will be finished by the middle of September, with the exception of the two bridges.

Rev. Lyman Hurrey, pastor of the Nazarene church who has been conducting a series of successful revival meetings at Filer in which the Nazarene and Buhl churches have joined, will fill the pulpit of the local church Sunday morning. No definite plans as to the closing of the services at Filer have been made. Rev. Hurrey local pastor stated, there will be no service here Sunday evening.

LEAH LIPKOWITZ RENEW SOIL. MCCONNELLY, N. C. (AP)—B. F. Powers, local farmer, produced 400 bushels of wheat on two acres of land that had been treated with lime and planted to lespedeza the previous season.

FILER RESIDENTS VISIT

FILER, Aug. 27 (Special to The News)—Several Filer residents have enjoyed visits with relatives and friends during the last week.

Rev. C. E. Deal, a former pastor of the Filer Methodist church, was here to attend the district conference at Buhl and who was a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. H. Shivers, at Filer, left Monday for his home at Emmett, where he is now pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mammerning and sons, Harry, Mahlon and Emerson, and Mrs. A. H. Hemen returned Monday after a trip through Randle national park. They report this one of the most delightful and educational trips they have yet taken.

A number of Filer residents motored to Twin Falls Wednesday evening guests of the Twin Falls club. Filer Laitue and George An-
