EXODUS OF CHINESE IN MEXICO ENDS AS DEADLINE MOVES UP

Nayarit, the minister explained, and thousands of refugees are congregated at Mazatlan and Nogales, awaiting an opportunity to return to China. More than 100,000, he said, have been forced to abandon businesses and homes and are homeless. They have appealed to the legation for funds to get home. Refugees reported they were ordered to close out their businesses and get out with only a few days' notice.

WASHINGTON ACTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The American government has been prepared to employ its good offices in the Mexican-Chinese expulsion controversy. Acting Secretary Clegg of the state department said the Chinese legation had been told informally that the United States would be glad to see settlement of the dispute growing out of the expulsion of Chinese from the Mexican states of Chiapas and Sinaloa. A formal request was awaited.

There is no particular surprise in this, but in what position does it leave the spokesman of that party in view of their vehement disclaimer during three years of an endorsement for or participation in the use of religious issue in the Smith-Hoover campaign?

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—
Air mail is picking out stepping stones of the north Atlantic which can be used to connect the old and new worlds.

Trail blazing flights from North America over Greenland and Iceland indicate to postoffice officials that "carrier" routes will be ready to start in a few months. The stepping stones are being marked out by the postoffice and the airlines.

Two airlines who attempted a flight of the route, Parker Airways and the Canadian Northern Airlines, but the search for them had not been abandoned before two other fliers, Edwin L. Preston and Robert H. Collignon, stepped in to continue the search. Their goal was Copenhagen.

German interests bring rivalry to hear with Captain Wolfgang von Grosvenor and three companions on their flight from Berlin to Copenhagen, a journey to Chicago.

In the weather bureau, however, officials are fearful of the predictability of the route for scheduled operations because of conditions that prevail the year around.

Dangerous Link
"The proposed trail strikes areas of fog, storms and bad visibility," said Charles L. Mitchell, "that would be likely to give plenty of trouble."
"Aeroplane from London start to beard Iceland there is a great deal of uncertainty," he said.

"Iceland is more or less a permanent area of low-pressure and low direction on the main storm track."
The trail is within a stormy region, practically all disturbances affecting some part of the route and some affecting all of it.

"He said that the route is favorable because over-water hops are held to a minimum and could be flown easily if pilots are able to "sit down" in times of bad conditions and wait better weather.

"Waiting is not feasible, however," he said, "if scheduled operations are to be adhered to. Airplane must make better time than steamers to be successful."

Thinker Of Theories Rivaling Einstein's Schedules Trip

VISITOR CONSIDERS UNIVERSE WITHOUT MATTER, ALL FORCE

Dr. de Sitter Plans Travel In America "To Complete Education"

SCIENTISTS TERM IDEA "DE SITTER'S WORLD"

Author of "Empty Universe" Hypothesis Moves to Give Lectures In Fall

By EDWARD STANLEY

(Associated Press Science Editor)

LYDEN, Holland, Sept. 3

One of the three modern scientists who have developed theories to explain this universe is going to America this fall "to complete his education" as he puts it.

He is Professor William de Sitter, director of the observatory at Leyden (above) and professor of theoretical astronomy in the University of Leyden.

Actually, he is going to lecture at Harvard, the University of California and several other places and spend three or four months on a kind of scientific holiday, visiting the more important American observatories.

In scientific nature Dr. de Sitter stands with Einstein, and his contributions to the theory of relativity have been highly important. Among scientists his conception of the universe is known as "de Sitter's world."

The other two theoretical scientists are Einstein and Hubble. It is the latter that Dr. de Sitter now believes fits cosmic circumstances of the present astronomical age.

Dr. de Sitter's theory was worked out after the "static" theory proposed by Einstein in 1917, which was a creation with matter but without systematic motion.

Dr. de Sitter suggested the very reverse—a "static" world which had systematic motion but surprisingly enough no matter.

Compared with the infinite space in the universe, the amount of matter was negligible, the theory argued, to all intents just as if there wasn't any such thing. The motion of this universe was one of expansion, flying apart.

"Unfortunately for the theory," says Dr. de Sitter, "it didn't work out that way. It didn't agree with the actual motion of the universe. There actually is more matter in the universe than there ought to be under the theory."

For 10 years the two theories furnished material for much scientific debating and then, in 1929, Dr. Lemaitre, of Louvain, pronounced his non-static world which, so to speak, combined the best features of both.

Backs Lemaitre

Lemaitre's theory provided for matter and systematic motion, and this theory, Dr. de Sitter believes, is the best explanation for this astronomical age.

But, although the Dutch scientist has abandoned his theory of explaining things that are astronomical moment, it does not follow that thor of the "empty universe" theory which rivals Einstein's is leaving his observatory at the University of Leyden (above) to visit America this fall. He will lecture at Harvard and the University of California.

SHOSHONE CONDUCTS HEALTH CONFERENCE

SHOSHONE, Sept. 3 (Special to The News)—Under the auspices of the Anti-Tuberculosis association a mother-and-baby conference was held at the courthouse here Wednesday, September 2.

Since the Sheppard-Towner law has been discontinued, there are no state or federal funds appropriated for the maternity and infancy work in the state. In order that this work may be continued, the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association and state department of public welfare are co-operating.

The department is furnishing the literature, which is given to all the parents taking their babies to the conference, and the association, the service of their public health nurses, whose work is paid for by Christmas health grants.

Twenty children were examined by Miss Margaret Thomas, health director of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, Boise, and the county nurse, Shoshone, Miss Stella McNeil.

TWIN FALLS AWAITS OLD CAR'S ARRIVAL

One-Cylinder Winner of First Transcontinental Motor Race Approaches City

Twin Falls will thumb the pages of Idaho's history books back to 1905 Saturday, when "Old Scout," the one-cylinder winner of the first transcontinental automobile race, will arrive in this city. By this time the race had become a national affair with the newspapers reporting its daily progress. It took Huse nearly a month to reach Pocatello, and another six days to cross Idaho, during two of which he lost his car and his car up to last. "Old Scout" was the first car ever to cross this state, and the state of transcontinental automobile racing. Huse and "Old Scout" braving the floods, rivers or trails, swamping, overturned mountain trails and other-looking like an old-fashioned bumper with the bones and whiskers missing, are together again after a generation in a good road tour. "Old Scout" is now in the hands of the Idaho Automobile club, which is making it a permanent place in some national museum. More than 5,000 persons are estimated to have inspected the antique little car since it left New York six weeks ago and it has been adopted by every major automobile club on the continent.

SHOSHONE MAN VISITS

SHOSHONE, Sept. 3 (Special to The News)—C. P. Borden left here Tuesday for Twin Falls, where he will meet his daughter, Miss Alice, who has been attending the University of Washington, at Seattle.

Nation-Wide Mobilization of Relief Workers to Aid Jobless Commences

Work in Local Units Appears Already Under Way and National Campaigns Begin

By MARQUETTE YOUNG
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—National-wide mobilization of local defense to meet the advance of a kind of war, the unemployment already is under way.

Leaders in the administration of privately organized charity have joined hands with the Federal emergency committee for employment to prepare relief for those who suffer.

Many social workers believe that the relief job will be at least as big as last winter's task, that the cumulative result of exhausted savings and credit, shattered moral and broken families will offset gains in employment.

The best available picture of last winter's task was a "hazy estimate" of one-half million unemployed, $100,000,000 to carry the load of jobs.

Edward Steiner, director of the Washington Community Chest and a director of the national association of community chests and councils, made the estimate.

"Nobody I have talked to thinks it will cost any less this year. Public and private agencies face the most difficult task they have ever encountered in peace time."

"We don't know what the winter will bring forth," said Fred C. Cronin, executive director of the President's committee, "but we believe the best approach to the problem is to organize local forces for local activity."

To this end the committee has secured the cooperation of national organizations of welfare and charity groups for a nationwide drive to aid communities in organizing their own resources and relief.

The community chests and councils will use all available resources to secure results from charitable campaigns and local public appropriations. It is expected that this will take care of the situation in the approximately 350 cities of 25,000 inhabitants and more in which the organization is established.

The Family Welfare Association, with contacts in about 600 towns, is working on the program of the national movement backing a multitude of local campaigns. The

Babson Declares Power, Light And Gas Utilities Leading Way Toward Better Times By Steady Earnings

Statistician Declares Profit in 1931 Best of All Industries and Predicts
Growth If Properly Managed

By ROGER W. BABSON
RADSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 3.—From a business standpoint the post-war and gas utilities are in a preferred position. Net earnings for the first half year tell an amazing story of success in the face of general hard times. Whereas net income of combined manufacturing and merchandising concerns was 46 per cent under last year, and railroad profits dropped 42 per cent, the utilities showed a decrease of only 3 per cent.

Several power and gas companies exceeded last year's earnings. The New England Edison Co. reported a 10 per cent increase in earnings. The New York Edison Co. reported a 15 per cent increase. The Chicago Edison Co. reported a 20 per cent increase.

Reasons why the power, light and gas utilities are doing so well are:

- 1.—The necessary character of their products.
- 2.—The diversification of their customers.
- 3.—The drop in commodity prices which enables them to buy materials and supplies at lower prices.
- 4.—Operating economies effected by interconnection and pooling of resources.
- 5.—The control of general operating expenses.

The underlying annual growth of the industry which the depression has only temporarily and partially checked, but which will push on with renewed vigor on the return of better business.

Growth in Future Assured
As long as industry continues dull, utility sales cannot be expected to do much to hold their own. Because of the industrial character of the business, the utility industry is a bulwark of strength to the business because their consumption shows steady growth. The same is true of household users who account for 15 per cent of the consumption and 30 per cent of the revenue.

When general industrial conditions return to normal, further extensive growth of the electricity and gas business is assured. Potential expansion of industrial use is also great. One reason why industrial consumption of electricity has declined only 15 per cent while industrial production has dropped 25 per cent is that manufacturers are turning more and more to electric power in place of steam.

One-third of the homes in the United States or 10,000,000 homes, are still not served by electricity. A much larger proportion have no gas.

Yet unemployment are national plans for those who suffer from enforced idleness in towns of less than 25,000 population. The Russell Sage Foundation is studying and reporting to the President's committee on the possibilities of "made work."

Pioneer Mail Pilot At 36 Chalks Up Twelfth Year As "Flying Postman"

(By The Associated Press)
SEATTLE, Sept. 3.—Harold T. (Slim) Lewis has just completed his twelfth year as continuous employee of the Pioneer Mail as a flying postman.

One of the band of early pilots who flew surplus army equipment loaned to the postoffice department, Lewis is the largest pilot in the state. He is a chiseled pilot, flying at an average of 100 miles an hour, and has flown nearly every section of the line's cross-country service, averaging more than 3000 hours flying time with the company to add to more than 3500 hours of flight when in government service.

Lewis is the largest pilot in the company's employ, standing six feet, four inches, and weighing about 200 pounds. He is particularly like to fly the line's biggest planes, tri-motored transports weighing more than eight tons.

Recently he flew a plane in which his grandfather, who had given him the plane from the middle of the Oregon by sea in 1851, and made a second trip in 1884 by covered wagon. His grandson showed how modern airplanes were piloted over the old wagon trail. In nine minutes the distance formerly traveled in an entire day by lumbering teams was covered.

Lewis is 35 years old, has brown hair, and hazel eyes. Like many airmen, he received his first flying experience in the army.

M. V. Wombles, Preston, Missouri; Coast, Carey, Idaho, and Mrs. C. W. McAllister, Heyburn, all were with Nebraska; two aunts, Mrs. C. E. for the services.

The boy's death was due to a ruptured appendix. Since babyhood, when he was born at his home in Nebraska about 12 years ago, going first to Paul and in a short time to Rupert, where they have resided since.

Surviving besides the father and his wife are the child's grandmother, Mrs. E. C. Walker, his grandparents on his mother's side, Mr. and Mrs.

WEATHER AIDS CROP MATURING IN IDAHO

Yields in Agricultural Territories Appear Dependent On Supply of Irrigation

BOISE, Sept. 3 (Special of The News).—Weather generally favorable to the maturing of crops prevailing in southern Idaho in the week ending Tuesday, September 1, according to the report of the United States department of agriculture weather bureau, in its weekly summary of weather and crop conditions.

Crop yields throughout the territory appear largely dependent on the amount of water each received. The summary follows:

SOUTHWEST IDAHO.—A week of abundant sunshine and moderately high temperatures proved favorable to the maturing of crops. As well as for all reasonable farm activities. Threshing has been completed in all the early districts and is well along in the higher and later sections. Irrigation water is being related and made to go as far as possible in an effort to save fruit and truck crops. Pastures are mostly dry and range are dry to a large degree. However, feed continues adequate and livestock are mostly in good flesh. Forest fires raged over extensive areas during much of the week, but they were mostly under control by the close of the week, although the hazard continued very high.

SOUTHEAST IDAHO.—Moderate temperatures prevailed during the week. A few light scattered showers occurred. The harvesting and threshing of grain continues, but potatoes are being planted. The seeding of winter wheat has started in some sections. The third crop of alfalfa looks good in the irrigated sections. Potatoes are doing well, but they are ripening prematurely in some sections. Potatoes are looking good. The range are dry, but still good. Cattle and sheep are doing well. Lambs are being shipped.

Notes From the Field

GOODING, GOODING COUNTY.—Fifty of sunniest crop fair depending on amount of water received; prospects for fair third cutting of hay; corn good, where watered; potatoes small and of poor quality.

RICHFIELD, LINCOLN COUNTY.—Hot and dry; pastures and fields drying badly; grain about all harvested and threshing well under way; yields very light; another two-day run of rain will be started September 1.

RUPERT, MINIDOKA COUNTY.—Hot, dry, cool nights threatening on with fair yields; water out of canals on north side; general outlook not good.

CAPTAINCY INTERNATIONAL.—Representatives of various teams at Marquette University last night. The United States and Canada. The trophies and track teams will be headed by Canadian athletes.

FOOTBALL GOES 'SCOTCH'.—A BERTIE N. Scotland, (P) James McGill, fullback for the Brooklyn Wanderers, will play next season for Aberdeen. He was recommended by Hume, former Aberdeen player, now in New York. McGill is a Scotman.

Gene Vinson, Mississippi state amateur champion, shot a 64 over the par-72 championship golf course at Seaside, North Carolina.

Quimet And McCarthy Reach Tournament Semi-Finals

Beverly Country Club Link Clash Affords Thrills

Slim, Scholarly Old Master of Game, at Age of 38 and Swarthy Broad-Shouldered Battler Meet Next

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Slim, scholarly Francis Quimet, one of the old masters of golf at the age of 38, and swarthy, broad-shouldered Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., New York, a born battler of the links, made the crest of superlative play into the semi-finals of the United States amateur championship today.

As a result of their two sweeping conquests in the 36-hole quarter-finals, the veteran Quimet will match his skillful veteran opponent tomorrow against the youthful challenge of 19-year-old Billy Virginia, state champion, while McCarthy will tackle the brilliant Chicago district champion, Al Simmons, who defeated Westland, 7 and 6, in the morning, and then surviving an afternoon slump to take the measure of California's top hope, Fay Coleman, Los Angeles, 6 and 5, in the afternoon.

The young Southerner was two down in the morning, after his work round of the championship, but he tied to win in the afternoon. Coleman's game and stamina showed the effects of a sudden attack of indigestion, so severe that he was given an extra half hour rest before renewing a battle in which he faltered greatly to the finish.

Yates Bows
The hottest battle of the day was fought out to the last putt on the thirty-green, where Westland finally beat off his 285-pound rival, Arthur (Ducky) Yates, Rochester, N. York, to win by a 1 up. It was a terrific struggle throughout between two fine match players. No time very they were followed by more than two holes. The match was squared six times before Westland came through with a fine par five on the difficult 37-yard home hole to settle the issue.

The surviving quartet is the most evenly contrasting set of semi-finalists that the ancient tournament has known in many a year. Quimet, who was first and oldest amateur crown away back in 1914 and who has not been a finalist since 1920, has been competing for the championship often than all the other survivors put together. He is twice the age of his next opponent, Westland. He was open champion of the United States in 1913, when McCarthy and Westland, 24 and 27 years old, respectively, were romping around with the neighbors children.

Three times in recent years Quimet has been in the final, but he has been blocked by the renowned Bobby Jones. With Bobby just a specialist now, the popular Bostonian has so much human heart to face this time, even though he meets another keen, determined southerner in the Virginia boy.

Quimet and McCarthy have played for the most consistent golf of the remaining five contenders, to reach their positions as favorites in the 1931 for the title relinquished by Jones. Quimet, 74 over the first round today was as sound, if not quite as spectacular as McCarthy's in the morning but was considerably steadier in the afternoon. Westland's 77 in the morning and 78 in the afternoon represented good but far from brilliant golf.

Sinclair Disposes Of Entire Stable
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man and sportsman, returned from the turf today when 25 thoroughbred racing horses representing the entire "lot" of his "Tennessee" stables were in training, were sold at auction at the Saratoga race paddock.

The 26 horses sold for a total of $17,000, a good average of $232 per head. The top price of $12,800 was paid by Frank Sweeney for "De-fiance," a son of "Bud Lerner," which is eligible for the Lerner stakes Saturday.

Approximately 2500 students at the University of Southern California participated in intramural sports during the 1930-1931 academic year.

Dempsey's Brother Answers Last Call

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Cecelia Dempsey, mother of Jack Dempsey, said today the former heavyweight champion would be unable to attend the funeral of his brother, Al Simmons, who died in Los Angeles. It was expected burial would be here or in American Park, Utah.

Mrs. Dempsey said Jack told her today over the long distance telephone that his labor day engagement in Reno, where he expected to return Saturday, would prevent his coming for the funeral.

"Gift For Gab" Benches Empire

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 3 (AP)—Dempsey now the umpire himself had been warned to the showers.

Because three personal letters failed to cure Arthur (Ducky) Sears' yen for engaging the cash customers in joint debate, President Alvin O'Brien of the Texas League notified him out a five-day suspension.

Sears, a 70-shooter at golf, sought space in a links tournament while his technique at public speaking rusted with disuse.

RAIN DELAYS GAME
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3 (AP)—With the principal honor already won by England, the three-nation lawn tennis tournament at the Germantown Cricket Club was interrupted by rain today and the final may in the series will be held tomorrow.

More than 125 golfers entered the Tennessee amateur tournament at Knoxville.

Miller Defeats Danny Delmont

Andy Mitchell Fights to Draw With James Bradock to Double Feature

DETROIT, Sept. 3 (AP)—Ray Miller, Chicago, pounded out a 10-round decision over Danny Delmont, Chicago, and Andy Mitchell, Detroit, fought James Bradock, Jersey City, to a 10-round draw in a double feature fight at Havin field tonight.

Miller weighed 155 pounds; Delmont 150. Mitchell scaled 160 and Bradock 164.

Delmont entered the ring with a patch under his right eye and when this came loose and hindered his vision he boxed it away, revealing his favorite weapon.

Like a stretch running race horse, Bradock made his best effort in the closing rounds but Mitchell had piled up enough points in the early part of the fight to hold the Jersey City fighter to a dead heat.

George Trimble, 191, Detroit, defeated Young Risko, 181, Detroit. Jack (Koko) O'Dowd, 202, Detroit, won a technical knockout over Nate Harper, 199, Memphis, Tennessee, Negro.

Benny Tonchstone, 194, Detroit, knocked out Pat McLaughlin, 181, Quantico, Virginia, in the second round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Dempsey Agrees To Meet Lomski

Will be celebrated here Labor day in two days
With Jack Dempsey meeting in Leo Lomski his first real opponent since he began his comeback attempt, the two fighters will be 40 rounds of prize fighting, motor-cycle race, a rodeo, athletic events and an all-around show.

Dempsey has been guaranteed $10,000 for his four-round "rehabilitation" fight with Lomski at the new arena, the new Madison Square Garden, 10-round amateur light heavyweight championship, and Tommy Dempsey, California.

Lomski withdrew from the Portland, Ore., fight after watching Jack Dempsey fight at "Beverly Hills" tonight. Lomski announced today he has decided to withdraw from the exhibition bout with the champion, Bruno Maino, Chicago.

Lomski said he had notified the promoter he would be unable to go through with the exhibition. The Aberdeen fighter sponsored last night boxing show.

Lomski said he had not hoped for four months and was not in condition. Of course I realize it would be to disgrace to be knocked out by Jack Dempsey, Lomski said. If it is my opinion that even at this early stage of his comeback campaign he looks ready and able to know an easy man that will stand up and fight him. However, I would rather that he be some one other than Leo Lomski.

RUPERT RESIDENTS SUE STAGE OWNER

C. P. Wiley and Gertrude Wiley, his wife, yesterday instituted suit against C. Lyon Prior, owner and driver of the stage between Twin Falls and Ketchum for the sum of $1200, for alleged damages growing out of an auto crash on the highway near a curve, this being the side of Shoshone, on the evening of August 20. Plaintiffs alleged that as they were driving north about 4:30 P. M. on the right side of the road they were met by Prior, coming toward Twin Falls, driving on the wrong side and that the collision resulted from his negligence.

They claim $200 for alleged injury to auto, $100 for loss while it is being repaired; $20 for expenses at hospital; $100 as probable cost of medicine and $1500 for permanent disfigurement and permanent injury and shock to system which they claim to be the result of the accident.

JUDGE PAROLES BUHL BOY TO OFFICERS HERE

Richard Wynn Buhl, entered a plea of guilt to the charge of forcing his father's name to a promissory note for part payment of a car which he purchased in Buhl more than two years ago while he was still a minor. Extenuating circumstances in his behalf were offered in that while he took the car out of state and used it, he later returned and turned it in and that he evidenced a determination to "go straight." Judge W. A. Babcock paroled him to J. M. Maxwell, probation officer.

The Reason—

Why we so often request your own Comparison

High pressure advertising today is characterized by exaggeration and superlatives. It is not unthinkable that many people have lost all faith in advertising statements. Claims and counter claims fly thick and fast. Everyone can't be right. But there is one person who after an exercise of judgment based upon impartial comparison comes the closest to being right of anybody. There is one person who can and does know the truth. That person is YOU. That's why we are so willing and so anxious to stand by your own comparison.
