JULIUS H. BARNES STUDIES PLAN FOR NATION-WIDE HELP

United States Chamber of Commerce Work Assists
In Unemployment Survey

FRIEND OF PRESIDENT SOON SHOWS FINDINGS

"Unofficial Public Servant"

Looks to Key Industries to Stabilize Job Situation

By OSCAR LEIDING
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A man who first "lasted a business" by counting pennies as a newsboy sits behind a far-reaching survey to combat unemployment.

It is Julius H. Barnes, unofficial public servant and warm friend of President Hoover, who shortly will unfold
the results of a plan for national relief.

As chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, he helped form a special committee of business leaders and economists to study possibilities of stabilizing employment through key industries.

A report of the study, which has been in progress since early last year, is expected to be completed by September 15 and October 1 and submitted to President Hoover.

Barnes, a mild man of 46, is a business leader who was devoted to public service in the World War as head of the United States grain operation and right-hand man to Food Administration director.

Despite his many business successes, he has been in the news
as a familiar figure in Washington, devoting time without salary in the interests of the country's welfare.

He is tall and maintains an excellent build by swimming and horseback riding. His eyes are bright and intelligent, and he is variably wears a double-breasted blue suit.

"My life is spent in sleep, his average being from five to six hours, and his waking hours find him constantly on the go. Associates say he has the faculty of making everything get settled.

He comes with others in free and easy, and tolerance in listening to other people's points of view is placed his way.

It is often heard at conferences meeting complicated situations on various phases of business life with reference to him.

Carrying on his own education,
he is a voracious reader, dipping into a number of magazines and largely confining his book diet to American economic history with a mastering of detective stories.

Twenty years ago he became interested in aviation, and today he travels largely by airplane.

When the World War broke out, he volunteered his services and, as the country's largest wheat exporter, was picked to allocate and direct the flow of wheat and bread to the military and civilian forces.

of the allies.
Twice president of the chamber of commerce and chairman of the board of directors since 1925, he has studied and directed organized business and now in his rigidly promote of maintenance of the level of employment.

POLICE SAY BODY NOT IMPORTER'S

Officers Dany-Corpe-Found

In Harbor That of His-

hashi Fujimura, Japanese

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A claim of a fishing shipper that body he had found and turned over to the coast guard was that of Hisashi Fujimura, missing Japanese importer, was dismissed tonight by police, who said that nothing could be done.
In an address tonight to 1100 Belmont, Police Commissioner James J.
Connelley said that the body was found in a harbor and that it is ready to continue to work for the salvation of the spirit, the glory of God and the consolidation of the kingdom of Christ.

Connelley presented the point of view from the fact that the body was found in a harbor and that it is ready to continue to work for the salvation of the spirit, the glory of God and the consolidation of the kingdom of Christ.

A letter received today by James J. Mahoney of Governor Roosevelt's office from Captain Charles W. Mason, of Port Monmouth, New Jersey, reads:

"I PICKED UP BODY SUPPOSED TO BE HISASHI FUJIMURA, JAPANESE IMPORTER. I RETURNED BODY TO COAST GUARD BOAT WHICH ARRIVED AT NEW YORK. EX-PECT TO RECEIVE REWARD WHICH WAS REDUCED FROM $10,000 TO $5,000."

Coast guard officials said radio messages to all their craft asking if an unidentified body had been turned over to them. An hour later a reply was received from Patrol Boat 23 telling that Captain Mason had found a body in the ocean two miles off Rockaway point.

The body was turned over to police of Belle Harbor, who said the body was identified as that of Vincent Lia, Brooklyn.

Fujimura vanished from the liner Belgianland August 4 as the ship returned from a cruise to Halifax. No trace of him has been found. The theories advanced by investigators are that he committed suicide or was murdered and dropped overboard.

Many planned to begin a develop-coast line with the gas line being brought from the coast to the north of Ogden.

The field has been explored for several years and results were shown in the Ogden field. The ## Exhibit Halls and Grounds Present Scene of Antici- pation on Eve of Opening of Sixteenth Farm Show

(Special to The News)

PULLMAN, Sept. 5.—Out of a generous season's abundance, Twin Falls county is assembling the choicest products of farm, orchard and garden, along with its livestock and best specimens of handicraft, needlework and cookery for showing at Twin Falls county's sixteenth annual fair, opening at Pioneer hall Tuesday and continuing for four days.

Excellent riding horses and most of the amusement attractions will arrive on the fairgrounds Sunday and Monday, coming from the Western Industry fair at Boise where they opened the circuit last week, but already there have been assembled in many of the halls the foundations of exhibits that promise to be outstanding in the annals of the county fair.

Eleven Grange and two high schools are building competitive community exhibits in produce hall,

Baldwin's Support Of Policy, Not Party, Puzzles Britons

OPPOSITION LEADER BACKS LABOR WHEN AIMS APPEAR RIGHT

Patience and Grim Determination to Follow Ideals Mark Conservative Chief

RETURN AS PREMIER APPEARS POSSIBILITY

When Speaking, Headliner in British Politics Exceeds On-Non-Political Occasions

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Sept. 5.—Stanley Baldwin is still a puzzle to his countrymen. He has been prime minister before, and it things go badly with England's new coalition government he may again take the helm.

Thousands of Englishmen admire him. But it is admiration for his fourfold qualities and not the ideology that Lloyd George still can inspire.

For 20 years he has been in public life, and for 10 has been one of the notable figures on the English political stage.

But no English voter feels he knows Baldwin, as, for example, a New Yorker feels he knows Al Smith.

Patience is probably his chief virtue—patience and an almost grim determination to do what he believes right.

He felt that the MacDonald government was right in its dealings with India and supported that policy. When his stance was challenged he offered, in a laudable speech, to stand aside for any other leader, conservative or radical.

He became the party leader through various circumstances, and he has won the battle for the place. A quiet, hard-working member of the party, he was a cabinet minister, hardly known for his name.

When Robert Lloyd George died there was no man to call except Lord Curzon, and it was the prime minister's duty to see that in the house of commons. Thus the choice fell upon Baldwin.

Baldwin made no daring strokes of statesmanship. He did nothing terribly wrong, either. But it was at a time when the country wanted change, and he defended it by putting Labor into office.

Since then he has been the leader of the majority opposition. It has been a courageous opposition, up to the mark, and he has admitted a certain genius in his conduct of foreign affairs.

But never has it seemed that Baldwin's heart was in politics as it is in golf. Often he has expressed a wish to retire, read the books he wants, smoke a pipe, lead a decent life and raise his family.

For one thing, should he become prime minister again, it will be a party matter, and he will have to lead a party. Lord Beaverbrook and Rothermere, who attempted to split the party, learned that much.

But if he is not a spectacular leader, he is a steady one, and holds his party together. There seems small chance, with Baldwin at the helm, of the conservatives splitting into strains like the liberals.

Stanley Baldwin, for 20 years a headliner in British politics, doesn't hesitate to support his opponents when he thinks they're right. His qualities of leadership have brought him to the fore in the English crisis.

COMPARE CONSTRUCTION, QUALITY—PRICE

Because of the many misleading and confusing statements and comparisons that have been made about tire values, Firestone have furnished us with cross sections cut from the four grades of Firestone Tires and from the four grades of special-brand mail-order tires compared on this page so you can get the facts yourself. We don't ask you to use your imagination about the Extra Values in Firestone Tires—we don't make comparisons involving tests which you cannot verify except in a laboratory—we show you the comparative tire constructions and values before you buy.

We invite you to tear out this sheet containing our advertised comparisons of Firestone Tires and special-brand mail-order tires, bring it to our store, examine the cross sections, and verify every comparison and every statement we make. This is all we ask, because we know you will readily see the advantages of equipping your car with Firestone Tires.

Texas Longhorn Title-Holders Face Stiff Gridiron Test

Frogs Appear As Main Contenders In Football Race

Texas Christians and Southern Methodist Mustangs Loom as Leaders in Grid Parade in Southwest Area

(This is the first of a number of major football conferences through articles giving the prospects in the out the country.—Editor.)

By BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

DALLAS, Sept. 5.—Seven Southwest conference football aggregations, some with championship aspirations, others centering their hopes on one major combat, go into training September 10.

Some will make bids for nationwide fame by playing major interconference games such as the University of Texas against Harvard and the Southern Methodist Mustangs against the University of California. However, the big goal of the powerful Texas is a conference title.

The University of Texas Longhorns, Texas Christian University Frogs and Southern Methodist Mustangs are the three main contenders in the Southwest conference. The Rice Institute Owls have been assigned the task of furnishing possible upsets.

Texas Not Slated to Repeat

The University of Texas 1930 championship team, which won the national title, although Coach Clyde Littlefield will have a collection of all-Southwest conference material in the conference ever has won two consecutive titles.

Ernest Roy and Harris Stafford, backs, and Claude Blanton, tackle, three Longhorns who were placed on The Associated Press' southwest conference team last year, are the backbone of the 1931 team.

Coach Ray Morrison's Southern Methodist Mustangs, who were coached for their aerial attack, will be bolstered by the return of Marvin Hamman, quarterback, who was placed on numerous All-American teams in 1929 but who was ineligible last season.

Along with Hamman, Morrison will have Weiden "Speedy" Mason, a brilliant broken field runner, Bob Gilber, one of the best pass throwers in this section; "Roughhouse" Riley, giant tackle and Howard Sprague, a 220-pound rambling fullback.

Frogs Loom Dangerous

Coach Francis Schmidt's Texas Christian Frogs are expected to be the team in the side to the Longhorns and Mustangs.

Schmidt, as usual, will rely on a deceptive running attack built around Hinton Green, Vance Woolfe, W. H. Wilson, Standard Lamm, and Ben Bostick, all veterans.

Southwest conference football was placed on The Associated Press' all-Southwest conference team last season.

The Rice Institute Owls may be the surprise team of the race. The Owls turned in an splendid record last year, although their team was composed of sophomores, with limited experience. Coach Jack Meagher has his entire track back this season.

Seaman Biquines, 190 pound quarterback and one of the longest punners in the conference, is expected to be Rice's outstanding star.

University of Texas, Texas A&M, and the University of Arkansas Razorbacks are not expected to furnish serious opposition.

Barring surprises, Texas Southern Methodist and Texas Christian should go into their Thanksgiving day battles with the title in the balance.

COACH NO "POLYANNA"

QUINCY POLLOCK, N. C. (AP)—Coach John Anderson has turned over his prospects for a winning football team here this year, and just what he expects "Edith" to do is back, but the coach says it will take a miracle to make possible a team that can win.

MEETS TEAM HALF-WAY

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Melvin Shumik, assistant coach at Marquette university, has a race for two years, but he still adheres to all variety training rules.

CAPTAINCY DISTRIBUTED

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Captaincy of Marquette university football team in the last 15 years has been represented every position on the team, but this year, however, no captain will be chosen, but field leader will be named before each game.

ALL COMPETITORS IN THE 1932 Olympic games yacht event will be members of a club recognized by the North American Yacht racing union.

Under the 1932 Olympic games rules for the sailing events, officers will be considered amateurs and eligible to compete.

CLAUDE BLANTON
L. of Texas

HOWARD SPRAGUE, S.M.U.

First practice of Southwest conference schools gets under way September 10. Howard Sprague, plant Southern Methodist university fullback, and Claude Blanton, University of Texas tackle, are two big reasons why their teams along with Coach Francis Schmidt's Texas Christian Frogs are figured to battle it out for the title.

Terry And Klein Seize Honors In National League

Bill and "Chuck" Wrap Up All Batting Marks in Circuit With Exception Of Two-Base Bingles

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Since the St. Louis Cardinals have conceded their second straight National League pennant, the most exciting race remaining for fans of the senior circuit is that between Bill Terry of the Giants and "Chuck" Klein of the Phillies, for all the batting honors in sight.

The pair, between them, hold the leadership in every department except one through Thursday's ending. "Sparky" Adams of the Cardinals, with 40 doubles, is supreme in this specialty, but Bill "Chuck" has the others wrapped up.

Terry is back at his old post as the league's leading hitter, with a mark of 348. Klein holds third place with 340. Terry has made the most hits, 149, and has the most runs, 114. Klein is the home run monarch, with 31, leads in runs batted in, with 108, and has scored the most runs, 100.

Terry finally managed to pass Virgil Davis, big backstop of the Phillies, during the past week. Davis, during the past week, held a 340. Terry has made the most hits, 149, and has the most runs, 114. Klein is the home run monarch, with 31, leads in runs batted in, with 108, and has scored the most runs, 100.

Cuyler Follows Terry

Harzen Cuyler of the Chicago Cubs comes closest to matching Terry's 182 hits. He has rapped 173, one more than Klein. "Babe" Herman of the Phillies, with 171, is third. Cuyler has hit 14 three-baggers, three less than Terry.

Klein appears certain to grab the home-run crown relinquished by "Hacker" Wilson. His 31 round trippers put him five ahead of his one-out runner, Mel Ott of the Giants. Berger, Boston, and Triggs, Chicago, are tied for third, each with 17. Ott also is runner-up to Klein in runs batted in, with 97. Terry is second in runs scored, with 104.

If Adams wins two-base honors for the year, he will have to beat out Dick Linton, the Phillies, who has 38 to his credit.

The veteran Frankie Frisch, enjoying one of his greatest years with the Cardinals, has found time to run away with the league's base stealing honors. He has pilfered 24, compared to 14 for his teammate, "Prepper" Martin, the runner-up.

Joe Mauer of the Cardinals, continues to lead the pitchers of the circuit, with 11 victories and only three defeats. His closest rival is his roommate, Paul Derringer, who has won 10 and lost six. Bill Walker of the New York Giants boasts the next best mark, 14 wins and seven losses.

Bob Odom, Philadelphia, is credited with six victories and one defeat, but he has not pitched a complete game all year. Ed Brandt, Boston, has pitched the most complete games, 13.

Carlton Frazier, Florida football star and captain-elect for 1931, was successful in his professional boxing debut. He intends to seek a career in the ring.

Coast Athletic Chief Gehrig Gets Title Of League's Most Valuable Batsman

Yankee First Baseman Faces Hard Climb To Win American Circuit Championship But Holds Five Honors

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Lou Gehrig, the New York Yankees' first baseman, has quite a climb ahead of him if he is to win the batting championship of the American league, but his right to the title of most valuable all-around batsman, right now is unchanged.

According to semi-official averages which include Thursday's games, Columbia Lea dominated five branches of offensive baseball, and ranked fourth in the percentage list, with 236. He batted in 22 runs during the past week to bring his total to 161, and put himself in a good position to reach the major league record for punching in scores which he relinquished to "Rack" Wilson last season. Gehrig held the record at 155 until Wilson surpassed him in 1930.

Oakland Whips Seattle Twice

Oaks Defeat Indians, 6-1 In Afternoon and 12-2 in Nighttime Contest

Gehrig also headed the list in scoring, with 140 runs, 10 more than he had last week; made 11 hits to boost his leading total to 185; had 101 total bases and 40 home runs; hit 14 doubles and 10 triples during the period and moved out ahead of his famous teammate, "Babe" Ruth. The other three leaders remained as they were. Earl Webb, Boston, had 55 doubles; Roy Johnson, Detroit, had 40 triples; while Ben Chapman, the Yankee speedster, had 43 stolen bases.

Simmons Keeps Lead

"Al Simmons of the Athletics, although he failed to return to the wars, remained in the lead for the individual title with a percentage mark of .333. He batted in 10 runs during the period and moved out ahead of his famous teammate, "Babe" Ruth. The other three leaders remained as they were. Earl Webb, Boston, had 55 doubles; Roy Johnson, Detroit, had 40 triples; while Ben Chapman, the Yankee speedster, had 43 stolen bases.

Ouimet Defeats Westland to Win Amateur Championship

Bostonian Clubs Way To Pinnacle Attained In 1914

38-Year-Old Veteran Master
Of Links Mounts Pedestal
Vacated by Retirement
Of Robert J. Jones, Jr.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
BEVERLY COUNTRY
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 5.—Nearly a score of the most thrilling and romantic chapters in American golf history, Francis Ouimet today completed a spectacular comeback by regaining the amateur championship of the United States.

The 38-year-old Boston veteran, as popular a figure as ever abroad the links, conquered "Alfred" J. (Jack) Westland, Chicago's district champion, to recapture the crown he last wore away back in his youthful prime of 1914.

Ouimet's victory in the final round, a 20-hole match, was a repeat of the triumph which he won in 1914, when he defeated Westland in a 36-hole match. Ouimet's comeback was a feat of endurance and skill, as he had to overcome a series of setbacks in the earlier rounds.

His opponent, Westland, was a formidable force, having won the championship in 1929. The match was a closely contested affair, with Ouimet leading for most of the day.

The victory was a great triumph for Ouimet, who had been out of the game for many years. It was a testament to his skill and determination.

The match was a highlight of the tournament, drawing a large crowd of spectators. Ouimet's performance was widely praised.

Twenty Grand's Earnings Mount

Sun Beau Loses to Big Bay
In Fifty-First Running
Of Saratoga Springs Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Thundering down the stretch like a runaway locomotive, Mrs. Rayne Whitney's Twenty Grand today administered a sound whipping to the favorite, Sun Beau, in the fifty-first running of the Saratoga cup.

Sun Beau, king of the older horses and leading money-maker of the meet, ran a game race, but met his Waterloo in the big day from Mrs. Whitney's mare.

At the end of the grueling mile and six furlongs the six-year-old veteran from Kilmacshingaun, New York, barn was eight lengths back of Twenty Grand's flying horse while the Belvedere's Sir Ashley, the only other starter, finished a half length back of Sun Beau.

The race, figured to be a duel between the two kings of the turf, was merely a route for the winner of the Kentucky derby, the Belmont stake and co-holder of the three-year-old title with his only conqueror, A. C. Hooten's Mike, Sir Ashley was out in front for the first half-mile but as the trio flashed past the grandstand for the first time, Linus (Pony) McAlister sent Twenty Grand bounding out in front, where he remained.

The victory, worth $250 to Mrs. Whitney, increased Twenty Grand's total earnings to $219,925. Second place netted Sun Beau $1000 and sent his earnings soaring to $105,044.

Financially the $50,000 hopeful occupied the top place on the closing day's card, but the interest was in the Twenty Grand-Sun Beau race.

The hopeful, feature of the final day at the Spa for 27 years, went to Tick On, an $100,000 shot from Mrs. Louis M. Kaufman's Loma stable. Nineteen of the turf's ranking juveniles started the battle over the six and one-half furlongs, but when they flashed past the finish line, Tick On was two lengths in front of Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Sweeping Light, another outsider, with Polio, another length back in third place.

Nordstrom marched over Ralph Shepard, Boise, 6-1, 5-2, and Al Zimmerman, Boise, city champion, 6-2, 5-1. Gallacher also went into the final in doubles while Nordstrom went into the semi-finals.

Gallacher beat Bruce, Glenlivet, Parma, 6-0, 5-3, and E. S. Robinson, Gooding, 6-0, 5-2, neither match causing him to extend himself.

Both also won their way through the second and third rounds of doubles. Nordstrom paired with Zimmerman and Gallacher with Fred. Gallacher and Fred defeated the Gallacher brothers, Parma, 6-1, 10-8, and the two Dodge brothers from Pasadena defaulted. Nordstrom and Zimmerman defeated George Wells and George Miller, Nampa, 6-1, 7-5. Lund Johnson and Ross Sutton, Salt Lake City, defeated Walter Sturges and Fisher, Boise, 6-1, 5-2.

Fred won his way into the semi-finals by defeating Paris Martin, 6-2, 6-3, and ran into a tough battle to eliminate Johnson, 8-4, 8-6.

Sutton defeated Bill Hudson, Boise, 6-4, 6-3, and followed it with a victory over John Curran, Seattle, 6-2, 4-6, 11-9.

Jana Snow, Boise, went into the women's singles semi-finals by default. The other entries played through: Miss Edith von Madeln, Salt Lake City, defeated Fern Nolte, Nampa, 6-3, 8-3. Ruth Crowe, Salt Lake City, defeated Mrs. Ruth Phillips, 6-1, 6-1, and Mary Lee O'Connell, Los Angeles, former of Pasadena, defeated Shirley Cunningham, Halley, in one of the lightest battles in the women's division, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

"Dutch" Stanley, right and on Florida's football teams of 1928, '27 and '28, will return this year as coach of the wings.

Others who qualified were: Jimmy Coleman, Philadelphia; Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis; Paul Boss, Matthew,

North Carolina; "Chet" Miller, Detroit; Bill Cummings, Indianapolis; Bill Dancer, Audubon, Pennsylvania, and Milt Jones, Cleveland.

"Hunk" Anderson Begins Labor Of Replacing Backs

"Rock's" Right-Hand Man Aims To Organize Backfield Equal In Ability To Hard-Driving Line

By JOHN W. STARR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
OLITH-BEND, Ind., Sept. 5.—"What will Notre Dame do without Knute Rockne?" To this query—put by football fans everywhere after Rockne's death last March—now reiterated in crescendo as the 1931 season approaches—"Hunk" Anderson, who was "Rock's" right hand man and now senior coach, answers:

"Notre Dame will play winning football. I can get a backfield which will come up to the mark we expect of our veteran line." Experts and fans alike agree that the Roster left in the form of bold veteran, well-trained and winning tradition, but the inspiration his tragic passing will furnish, should hold up the Irish colors for at least one season.

As the football season nears, Hunk Anderson, new coach at Notre Dame, is going over again the plays Knute Rockne left behind. With a strong line to return, his biggest problem is to find new backs to execute the intricate schemes and tactics Rockne left behind. Jack Chevigny, junior coach, is to drill the backfield. First practice is scheduled to start September 15.

ON THE SIDELINES

by Brian Bell

The football season promises to be active both indoors and out. All summer million picture companies have been busy preparing a screen menu for followers of the autumn game. With the first kick-off will come a flood of football pictures.

Howard Harding Jones, the "Head Man" of the University of Southern California, and Glenn Scobey Warner, mentor at Stanford, have made semi-educational pictures. Another company brought out a dozen Notre Dame stars and two other screen efforts will be complete in September. The motion picture business is going in for sports on a large scale, its efforts covering baseball, football, boxing, wrestling, billiards and other games.

All the football pictures are being held for the opening of the season, making it certain that the fans will not lack entertainment, either in the theatre or in the stadium.

ON THE SIDELINES

by Brian Bell

Three stands in the front rank in three classes of football endeavor, passing and carrying the ball. The first is the line, the second is the backfield, and the third is the end. The line is the most important, for it is the line that holds the backfield in place and the end in position. The backfield is the most difficult to replace, for it is the backfield that executes the intricate schemes and tactics of the coach. The end is the most important, for it is the end that scores the touchdowns and the field goals.

With work already started to build up the young player's confidence, and that is one of the reasons he never has been taken out of the game for a single play. He has gone to the college, and he has been in the line since he joined the Stars fresh from college.

He'll be ready in another year.

Each year finds college football earlier, stepping on the toes of baseball. The season is now a month before the start of the world's series—the drama—have started to boom for the autumn pastime. The sports are flowing in, to name a few, tell that the intersectional schedule is heavy throughout the country that Yale for the first time going west to play Chicago—its honor of—Alonso Stagg—University of California figure as the strongest team on the west coast. In fact, the whole half-year is getting to be a very busy time.

Notre Dame and Blue apparently is not doing things by halves. When it changes a system it does not back into the new one but goes by the horns. The result is sure to be interesting.

Down south in Dixie the biggest change in coaches takes Wallace Wade from the smoke laden air of Alabama to the tobacco belt at Duke. Wade is a coach of the Duke's force.

Wade made football history at Alabama, and the change may show another coach makes good material or material makes a good coach.

Jimmy Delort, who preceded Wade at Duke, will return to Washington and Lee where the football pluckings of late have been expected. Delort was successful in his former administration of the Generals, but there may have been French players at Lexington then than now.

Eddie Casey at Harvard should feel quite at home as a coach at Cambridge. He was a star player for the crimson. Since his active playing days were left behind, he has been an excellent staff member enough to know his way about without a ball under his arm.

Speed's Comeback
Major league baseball clubs may have changed the system of judging promising players since the ball has been changed. Time was when one question was asked, "Can he hit?" Now it may be, "Is he fast?"

Under the tutelage of Oscar Vitt, Hill has improved tremendously this year in all departments, but particularly in the base paths. He still has much to learn, however.

Every section of the football map will have new entries in 1931, and the success, led by some of the new tutors will command national interest.

Hunk Anderson, at Notre Dame, may not get his greatest test until next year or the year after. His 1931 team will be a Rockne team with the "Spirit of Rock" to carry on.

self. It is difficult to think of Notre Dame as "anything but a worthy opponent, regardless of its coach, or without any for that matter."

"Navy Bill" Ingram, now dubbed "California Bill" by the University of California has been very busy since he took care at Berkeley, making speeches on over the state, no small feat in itself, in spite of an interruption for an appendicitis operation.

The Star rooters are divided into two camps, one roaring with enthusiasm and the other hoping for a better but leaving the worst. There seems to be no middle ground, and this may be just as well for the former altar.

Starry Marmann at Pennsylvania faces a difficult situation. It is probable he will be credited with a moral victory if he comes up with a big Red and Blue apparently is not doing things by halves.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Some of the excess baggage was cleared away today in the opening round of the golden jubilee national tennis tournament, a score of the wacker entries going into the discard as a sort of preliminary to the main show starting Monday.

Johnnie Dugg, this country's left-handed champion, started the "big rolling" with a 5-2, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Keith Werner, Los Angeles. Frank Shields, New York, second ranking American, overhauled Federico Bendel, Mexico, 6-0, 6-1, 6-0, and Clifford Butter, the steady New Orleans star, eliminated Earl Stollen, Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. They were the only members of the "golden" "seeded" list to see action.

Frederick Perry, Britain's brilliant internationalist and one of the tournament favorites, led the way for the four-set triumph over Julius Belisario, former inter-collegiate champion, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0.

Neither Perry's teammate, Charles R. Hughes, nor any member of the French team had a chance to unlimber today.

Forest Fire Ashes Prove Menace To Gem State Trout

BOISE, Sept. 5.—Deep concern is felt for some of the rich trout streams draining out of the wide burnt-over areas in the Boise and Payette valleys, the Selma watershed north of McCall, and the North Idaho stream drainages, because of the danger the fish will be killed by ice generated from wood ashes.

Although forest officials, and game officials as well, are looking with longing toward the rainy season, the fire will be definitely checked, they are sure, by the time the rains may wash the streams full of wood ash.

The state game department recalls an instance several years ago when richly stocked trout streams were almost swept of their fish by the ash which generated when the ashes were flushed into the stream by a heavy rain.

The figures included in Bob's contract weren't revealed, but it was generally conceded that while he was in the movie he was the highest paid star.

With an additional season's play, Lane is confident Hill will bring his cash box $25,000 more. If he should be sold now, possibly not more than $15,000 would be realized. Hill, of course, cannot be drafted so there is no risk in holding him, applies to the market for another year.

Britons Fear MacDonal's Move Means Political Suicide

DRAMATIC FIGURE STANDS ALONE IN BRITISH POLITICS

Leader's Effort to Avert Financial Crash Results In Break With Party, and Critics Consider Outcome

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Sept. 5.—Once again, J. Ramsay MacDonald is standing alone—a dramatic figure in British politics. Has he committed a political suicide?
That is the question Britons are asking as a result of his split with the Labor party because of his acceptance of the post of prime minister in the new party-nationalist government after his Labor cabinet had resigned.
A life-long pacifist, he announced in 1914 he would have nothing to do with the World War. Throughout the four-year struggle, he was styled as a traitor and made a political outcast. But he overcame this and rose to the premiership.

In Break With Party
Now he again faces the future in a lone political role, backed by only a few of his party leaders. He is in danger with the Labor movement because of the efforts of the new cabinet to help balance the budget by cutting the dole.

But what about MacDonald, the man? Here he is as the Englishman knows him.
He has a warm, Scotch manner, and a great deal of natural dignity. He is a good public speaker, an able careful debater. But he does not invite intimacy.

He has fast friends, but few personal. If any, call him "Mac" and never in the fashion that J. H. Thomas is called "Jim."
Sometimes he tells a joke, or amusing reminiscence, but mostly he is intensely serious. British-like, his statements are serious.

Age Tells on Him
Being prime minister has aged him and given him a deeper gravity. But he gets away to his Scotch home as often as he can, or to Chester, the prime minister's country home.

He isn't afraid of new ideas, even at 64, for he flies to Scotland when ever weather permits, to save time. Once it was reported he was leaving to fly, but this never materialized through his daughter, Isabel, took a course.

Books are his happiest diversion, golf his only game. He smokes a great deal. Although he prefers a pipe, anything at hand will do.
There are moments when he reveals an ironic humor. Once when rampant Winston Churchill had been booied by Laborites, MacDonald remonstrated.

"Mr. Churchill is our greatest asset," he said. "You mustn't boo him. His record is a warning."
Disasters Commission
He has no quarrel with Communism, but tolerates the wilder radicals in parliament without too many snubs.

"I don't believe in revolution," he said.
He can display a cold wrath; his smile brings crinkles in the corners of his eyes.
Of average build, he has square shoulders, a strong square head, and gray mustache and hair.

J. Ramsay MacDonald faces an uncertain political future as a result of his break with the Labor party of Great Britain over the forming of a new non-party national cabinet.

Argentina Plans To Celebrate After One Year Of Rule By Revolt Leader

By THOMAS S. GARNETT
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 5.—The general who strode into the Argentine capitol building on September 6, 1930, and ordered the head of the government to resign still is in the center of the scene.

And to observe the first anniversary of his revolutionary rule the republic will celebrate widely.
General Jose Francisco Uriburu, provisional president of Argentina, asserted when he took over the government a year ago he would hold office only until a properly constituted government could be chosen.

He has reiterated this policy publicly so often that some newspapers have referred to him as a one-speech man.
National legislative elections have been set for November 8 to replace the present provisional ruler with a constitutional government.

Members of one of the richest and most influential families in Argentina, General Uriburu has governed the republic industriously and unspectacularly except for the colorful manifestation of the military always in evidence around the Casa Rosada, national capitol building.

Bright uniforms are plentiful around the seat of government, though such are frequent, and army claims its oversight on formal occasions.
Essentially a Soldier
The provisional president's affection for the army was developed during a long military career in which he reached the highest command.

In his earlier years he was attached as an Argentine cavalryman, serving military affairs in Germany.

CABARETS AND BARS RISE AS HARBINGERS OF PANAMA PROJECT

Scene of Buccaneer Brawls In 1671 Reawakens as Forerunner to Building of Dam-to-Cost $15,000,000

(By The Associated Press)
PANAMA CITY, Sept. 5.—Down the Canal trail—over which the jungle has drawn a matted, twisted curtain of vines and palms—the way nearly three centuries ago, things are "on the up and up."

Along the route where Morgan and his lusty buccanniers crested and swore and starved on their way to assault Old Panama in 1671, bars and cabarets are springing up, harbingers of work to begin on the $15,000,000 Madden dam, a project designed to regulate the water in Gatun lake, water supply of the Panama canal.

The United States government will let a construction contract, probably in November. By the middle of December, when the dam has been canceled, a thousand men are expected to be at work on the site, near Alajuela.

Alajuela is outside the Canal Zone, and the dam will be built through the zone where the Panama and United States governments meet.

At the site lies east of the Panama Canal and some 25 miles from Balboa and the Pacific entrance to the waterway.

Across the top of the dam will run the highway which eventually will connect the Pacific and Atlantic seaboard.

SWEDISH OFFICE BOYS READ ENGLISH BOOKS

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 5.—A strongly increased interest in the study of English has grown up in Sweden in the last few years, quite apart from regular schools and universities.

Particularly the younger generation of office boys and girls are attending night schools in order to learn English.

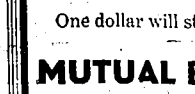

Explanation is found in the demands of the modern business world in which English is becoming the universal language of correspondence.

Closer Relations With United States Loom As Result Of Selection Of New Secretary Of State By Vatican

(By The Associated Press)
VATICAN CITY, Sept. 5.—The United States may be given greater importance in the Vatican's foreign affairs beginning this autumn.

Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, secretary of state, is expected to resign at the end of October or in November, and the Pope, it is said, is striving to choose his successor from one of the three candidates. One of these has an American background and sympathies—Monsignor Fumasoni-Biondi, notable delegate to the Vatican.

Foreign ministries of many countries are keenly watching Vatican developments. They are anxious to know who the successor of Pacelli will be and how his appointment will affect Vatican relations with themselves.

It is said in the Vatican that the new secretary of state—who occupies the next most important position in the Roman Catholic church after that of the Pope—will be a prelate not now a cardinal.

The Pope is expected to make the new cardinal a cardinal after his appointment.

This would narrow the choice to a few prelates of the diplomatic corps.

SCIENTISTS REVIEW GAINS OF CENTURY

British Association for Advancement of Science Plans Hundredth Session

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(By The Associated Press)
Scientists will lay a long, proud look back over a century's progress when the British Association for the Advancement of Science holds its one hundredth meeting here September 23 to 30.

Leading scientists from all corners of the world will attend the session.

General Smuts, the fiery Boer, is to come from South Africa to be the association's centenary president, describing it as the greatest honor of his empire could confer upon him.

From Holland will come Professor Wilhelm de Sitter, from Belgium possibly Lecomte, and from America, Professor R. A. Millikan and Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn.

Britain's leaders in science, who will take part in the sessions include: Edington, Jeans, Lodge and Hubble.

The elaborate agenda covers almost every notable phase of scientific endeavor, not only the cold abstraction, but science as it touches human lives.

The meeting's high spot is expected to come in the most romantic section of all science—the evolution of the universe.

But the agenda is much more extensive—Professor O. Elliot Smith will speak on the "Peking Man," Dr. H. S. Popenov will give the American position on scientific management, and Dr. Osborn will speak on new principles of evolution as revealed

MACDONALD DISLIKES JIMMY WALKER TOGS

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(By The Associated Press)
Britain's "best dressed man" is not Premier Ramsay MacDonald. A tailor's magazine has called him the "worst dressed premier the country has ever seen" but that title is supposed to be reserved for an earlier prime minister who always wore informal occasions.

MacDonald likes best the clothes he dons for informal occasions. He frequently wears plus fours. When duties of office demand, however, he wears parliamentary uniform—silk hat and all. He prefers tweeds, though.

GERMANS' ECONOMY DRIVE—MISSES OLD REGIME'S PENSIONS

Numerous Retired Generals And Aristocrats Still Draw Funds, Untouched by Drastic Cuts in Salaries

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Sept. 5.—Plenty of public pain, as well as private grief, is being caused by the sharp cuts of government economy in Germany.

What is like salt in the knife-cut, however, is the taxpayers' and civil service employees' realization of the fact that numerous retired generals and aristocrats of the old regime still are drawing pensions which are not in the least affected by the drastic cuts aimed at salaries from President von Hindenburg's down.

General's Still Get Pensions
According to the latest official figures 115 retired generals still are drawing pensions of from $500 to $400 annually, while numerous former cabinet ministers and other retired public officials, as well as a few retired judges, are getting their pensions regularly—without economy cuts—from the treasury of the Reich.

Elis Friedrich, second son of the ex-Kaiser, drew a military pension of $200. The was a lieutenant at the age of 12 and was legally entitled to a division commander's position when the republic put him on his death.

Oskar, the fifth son of Wilhelm II, draws a colonel's pension of $120.

General Draws $400
General Erich Ludendorff, the hard monarchist and caustic critic of the republic, draws $400 annually, and he is not the only anti-Republican retired and pensioned general.

Few indeed are the defenders of this state of affairs in the midst of a strict economy campaign. But the unfortunate fact is that old pensions and other "honorary" acquired rights are protected by the constitution, and the constitution cannot be changed except by two-thirds vote of the Reichstag.

Since nothing like this is likely to happen General Ludendorff and the others doubtless will continue to collect his pension, untroubled by the prevailing fashion in governmental frugality, for at least another winter.

Illinois' birth rate for 1930 was 16.7, lowest in the time, but it topped the death rate, which was 10.2, also a new low.

CITY BOASTS "MOSKERS"

Among London's queer professions is that of the "mosker." A Mosker, one recently explained in court, makes his living by buying unredeemed pawn tickets and repawning the articles at a profit.

HUGE LINER IN FRENCH SHIPYARD TAKES FORM

ST. NAZAIRE, France, Sept. 5.—A big new liner, France's transatlantic "super," as it is called, is being ready for launching a year hence.

More than 10,000 of the 70,000 tons which will be the weight of the new liner have already given form to the great hull—which is 1,600 feet long. The plates of the double bottom have been riveted into place, ready to support the 100,000-ton weight of the main deck.

A special yard had to be dug at Penhoët to accommodate the great hull. In doing so a strip of land was left at the stern and which will not be removed until the "super" is ready for the water.

We will have a 1931 Advanced Model Iron Fireman operating in a Holland Vaporaire Furnace, with an Automatic Air-U-Well Fan, on exhibit in the Merchants Building. We respectfully invite you to visit our display of "The Last Word in Home Heating Comfort."

It will be interesting and worth your while to see and know how clean, simple in

The Iron Fireman has a number of patented features which put it in a class by itself. Consider these Points of Superiority and Exclusive features. We will be pleased to explain each or all of them in detail, at any time.

1. Pressed Steel Construction—The same as used in bridge and automobile construction, used only in Iron Fireman construction, possible only because of volume production.
2. Balanced Design—A chain is only as strong as its weakest link. Just so, a machine is only as strong as its weakest part. Every unit of the Iron Fireman is not only perfectly balanced in itself, but is also balanced in relation to other parts.
3. Iron Fireman Transmission—A patented feature, the only selective speed, continuous feed stoker on the market. This is the latest type hydromotive transmission, and conceded to be the ultimate in stoker construction.
4. Two-Purpose "V" Belt Drive—The same as used by automobile manufacturers, the latest development in power transmission, replacing the discarded direct drive.
5. Safety Overload Device—Simple, easily operated, giving positive protection to entire mechanism.
6. Centrifugal Motor Fan—Designed and produced in Iron Fireman factory.
7. Iris Air Regulator with Louvre Guard—Permitting air regulation at fan intake, an exclusive Iron Fireman feature.
8. Automatic Fire Banking Device—Another exclusive Iron Fireman feature, which saves fuel and keeps fires from dying out.
9. Positive Pneumatic Flame Eliminator—Prevents smoke and gas from coming back through hopper.
10. Iron Fireman Coal Reservoir—Another patented feature, made of copper-bearing rust-resisting steel.
11. Iron Fireman "Carburetor"—Scientifically designed to properly mix air and gases to obtain efficient combustion.
12. Iron Fireman Conveyor Nerve—Made by a patented process, from a special heat-resisting alloy steel, as carefully made as a carpenter's nail.
13. Iron Fireman Automatic Directing Controls—Patented controls made by and for Iron Fireman exclusively.
14. "Eye Appeal"—Since time began, the true basis of good looks has been utility. For example, the stream lines of an airplane, a fast ship or a fine automobile serve fundamentally useful purposes—beauty is the result. A clean, awkward, crude-looking piece of mechanism usually operates in a similar way. Every line, angle and feature of Iron Fireman construction has utility as its basis.

Cold Nights—

Are At Hand

ARE YOU PREPARED FOR THEM?

A ton of good coal in your bin is worth a carload in our yard, if you need it and haven't got it.

Less coal has been stored this year than ever before—it will be almost impossible to take care of the first rush.

We have a size and type of coal for your individual requirements.

operation, and economical, automatic coal heat is.

According to a national survey of Iron Fireman owners, the Iron Fireman pays for itself on an average, of every 2½ years.

Can you afford to waste what Iron Fireman users are saving?

IRON FIREMAN

GIVES

Pride of Ownership

The Iron Fireman Manufacturing Company is the pioneer and leader in its field. There are more Iron Fireman stokers bought every year than all other makes combined. There is a definite reason why.

The Iron Fireman is the only nationally-known and nationally advertised stoker on the market. Read the Iron Fireman messages in America's leading magazines: Saturday Evening Post, Time, Literary Digest and other well known magazines.

The manufacturers of Iron Fireman are of known financial standing. Ask your banker to show you their rating. Their history has been one of continued progress. This is of value to you, because, when you buy an Iron Fireman, you have the assurance that your machine will not become an orphan.

The people that you look to for the service of your stoker is equally important. The heating plant is the heart of your home; when you are out of heat in cold weather, you are in real distress.

We have factory trained service men, who are at your disposal at any time. When you buy an Iron Fireman, you are assured that if you should need service, it is ever available, and that it is prompt, courteous and competent.
