TEXAN FAVORS BAN ON AMATEUR OCEAN-FLYING

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Sept. 10. (Special to The News.)—Commenting on the failure of Don Morie and C. A. Allen to reach Seattle on a trans-Pacific hop from San Francisco, Japan, Colonel W. E. Eastwood, Dallas, Texas, said today "There should be international regulations to prevent attempts of imprudent experience with inadequate equipment attempting such dangerous trans-ocean flights."

Colonel Eastwood is the man who gave $25,000 to Coate and Bellente, French alpinists, who made the first Paris-to-New York flight and then went on to Dallas.

PIONEER EDEN MAN DIES AT AGE OF 72

Remembered events to honor Mr. Eden, who was born last November 5, when friends assembled at the home to assist him in the observation of his fiftieth, or golden, birthday.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Carrie Elson, he is survived by two sons and two daughters. The sons are Carl Elson, Eden, and Lawrence, Chandler, Colorado. Joe Elson, Burley, a retired miner.

Eden, who was born in England, arrived in this country in 1880, and has since that time been a resident of Twin Falls.

TWIN FALLS AWITS NELLIE TAYLOR ROSS

When, pre-eminently the flower administration, has been excessive tariff protection.

The Republican party, she declared, "has persecuted a majority of the people to secure its selfish gain."

It was necessary for the protection of labor and was good for the country generally. But hunger, we are told, is a sharper of the wits, and after suffering is now awakening the people to an understanding of its bearing upon economic stability, and with growing speed they are pronouncing an estimate of the Smoot-Hawley law, embodying the highest tariff enacted in history.

She asserted, wage earners and farmers use the answer to the high tariffs in the army of unemployed and the "desperate situation" into which the farmers are plunged.

"With the buying of the farmers reduced to a minimum and in addition the possibility of the wage earners emptied through unemployment, what can the manufacturers do but close their doors, or reduce production to the minimum, especially since our government has failed barriers closed to them the markets of foreign countries."

The next election will show, if I mistake not, that a vast number of American women understand the effect upon their pocketbooks of the one outstanding policy of the Hoover administration. That election will show, I think, that women have the understanding that the Democratic party, which has always been the foe of high tariff, is the instrumentality through which they may be released from its effects. From that Hoover, you remember, only a few weeks ago testified his adherence to the Smoot-Hawley law."

The local committee of the Twin Falls Democratic Women's club, who were in charge of arranging for the banquet at which Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross is to speak composed of Mrs. O. W. Witham and Mrs. W. Orr Chapman, reported last evening that inquiries received by them relative to the noon luncheon program at the Rogers hotel Saturday indicated that there would be a large number of women and men in attendance.

15-YEAR PLAN ROUTS FARMERS' DEPRESSION

PAIDGAIN, Ky., Sept. 10. (UP.)—McCracken didn't carry long in McCracken county.

Here he counted farmers and business men cooperating under a 15-year program of crop diversification, with the former "King Tobacco" in the lead.

Fifteen years ago McCracken farmers were in bad condition. There were no commercial orchards in the county. Farmers believed their soil would produce nothing but tobacco.

The 15-year program, started then, was designed to introduce on new cash crop each year. Farmers were taught to live on their farms.

Cows, once an oddity in the country, now form one of the best-paying industries. Peach growers look forward to a bumper crop. The strawberry crop yielded a tidy profit and raspberry and cherry crops have been developed.

FROGS PROVE MENACE TO HONEY PRODUCERS

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 10. (UP.)—The frog, says D. D. Chamberlain, Raleigh, North Carolina bee man, is the bee's greatest enemy.

"Impervious to the sting of the bee, the frog will bask in a hive for his prey," says Chamberlain. "Once a frog or lizard, however, gets in the hive, the bees get to work to embed the invader in wax, successfully preventing any more that would contaminate the hive and ruin the honey."

PLANS PROGRESS FOR BURLEY FAIR

L. H. Sweetser, Manager, Announces Registration Of Many Cattle Entries

BURLEY, Sept. 10 (Special to The News)—Reservations for more cattle from outside counties than have been made at the Cassia county fair before, have already been applied for, says L. H. Sweetser, manager of the fair. It is expected that 150 head of cattle, mostly dairy stock, will be unloaded here Saturday night. As there will be a sizable complement of Cassia and Minidoka county cattle also shown, it is believed that the fair will be well filled with outstanding purchases.

The fair will open next Wednesday morning. At that time, the managers' hour for a complete exhibit of not only dairy cattle, but of sheep and swine as well. From entries received at the office of the fair board, it is also expected that the agricultural and household buildings will be well filled. Five community agricultural exhibits have been assigned space—Claremont, West End, and Paul Orange, Declo community and the Burley Smith-High school students.

Several race-horse men have already brought their runners here and quarantined them at the speed barn. Racing this year will be limited to running horses only. Many stalls have been reserved and it seems certain that more of the "jumpers" than ever before will be on hand. The speed committee announces that there will be about eight running and stunt races each afternoon. A bucking horse program will also be one of the afternoon features.

SHOSHONE AUDITOR GOES TO BOISE TAX MEETING

SHOSHONE, Sept. 10 (Special to The News)—Mrs. Venetta Albert, clerk of the district court, auditor and recorder, left yesterday for Boise, to attend a special auditors' meeting called by Governor C. Ben Ross to be held on September 10, and to continue as long as there is any business on an audit.

Fred Clark, of the tax department of the Oregon Short Line railroad, accompanied Mrs. Albert on the trip.

BURLEY ARRANGES FOR YEAR'S WELFARE WORK

BURLEY, Sept. 10 (Special to The News)—Directors of the Burley Welfare association will meet at the courthouse Friday evening for organization, and to discuss plans for charity and welfare work to be carried on during the coming year. At a recent meeting it was suggested by Mayor K. C. Barlow that the association should be organized as a charity, and that payment be made in clothing, foodstuffs and fuel. This suggestion will be taken up and discussed at the coming meeting.

Among a number of other constructive suggestions that have been made are the appointment of an employment committee, the furnishing of a truck to deliver goods to the poor, and the purchase of a new building for the association.

Fat Men

I don't care how fat you are or how much you have to get out and walk a couple of miles. If you will take one half-tablet of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 4 weeks and cut out pastries, sugar and fatty meats—You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensenly enjoy a daily walk of several miles.

While you are losing fat, you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your extra will grow slender and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 80c bottle of Kruschen Salts. It will last you 4 weeks. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work—you'll sleep like a top and probably five years longer. Kruschen at Majestic Pharmacy or any drug store in America—within the understanding that you must be perfectly satisfied or money back.

"Lucky" Craft Again Sails As Flagship of Nation's Fleet

SEAMEN'S BOO OF GOOD FORTUNE GETS HIGH HONORS AGAIN

Battleship Pennsylvania, Remodeled, Reports at San Pedro for Duties

CREW CROWS OVER CRAFT'S COMEBACK

Improvements Include Talking Moving Pictures, and New Aerial Intakes

The United States Steamship Pennsylvania, flagship of the United States fleet from 1910 to 1921 still is sailing under a lucky star. It is shown at left after being modernized again to become the flagship. The admiral's cabin will be occupied by Frank H. Schofield (right) new commander of the fleet.

By SUE MOHAMARA (Associated Press Staff Writer)
HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 10.—The battleship Pennsylvania, known as one of the navy's "lucky ships," has come into her own again.

In being chosen once more as the flagship of the United States fleet she is but living up to her tradition. The Pennsylvania is not one of those ships of ill omen which have sunk. Good luck has always followed her. Now with the new honors accorded her, seamen nod their heads and say: "I told you so!"

With proud memories of the days when she escorted President Wilson to France the Pennsylvania has come out of two years oblivion all dressed up again as one of the navy's newest battleships.

With Captain John M. Enoch on the bridge she glided majestically out of Hampton Roads to report her new duties as flagship at San Pedro, California. Her turret guns were gleaming and her trip odyssey was on.

A $100,000 alteration which was presented by the state of Pennsylvania to the old ship has been handed down to the new. It plans behind glass in the admiral's cabin which has been made ready to receive Admiral Frank H. Schofield, new commander of the fleet, about September 18.

Crew Happier
Members of her crew who have had long association with her are exultant over her comeback. Captain Enoch has been seen with her as navigator and executive officer. Chief Morley, mate, Murphy put in seven years tramping her deck.

But the battleship's outward appearance as well as her strength has been completely changed. All the latest improvements for keeping up the morale of the men on long cruises have been installed.

Talking moving pictures on the broad deck under the stars enlighten the still evenings. Men crowd around the gleaming, auto-feeding, which the admirals view represent old historic ships, consuming the cream of many flavors at the rate of 50 gallons a day.

Below decks they pull their coils close to the newly installed air intakes which supplant the old black "cocks" or deck funnels in supplying air pressure to the fires.

Carried President
In becoming the flagship of the fleet the Pennsylvania again is fulfilling the honor which was hers from 1910 to 1921. The first time in 1910, for President Wilson, who was embarked on the United States Ship George Washington for his historic visit to Paris.

Returning to this country the Pennsylvania remained the flagship of the commander-in-chief and flew the flag of two admirals until 1921 when she became a tactical flagship.

In 1922-23 she won the coveted battleship efficiency pennant in the battleship class for the highest combined honors in gunnery and engineering.

Roger W. Babson Declares Need Of Hour Lies In Building Morale—Strong Faith In Country's Future

Statistician Brands Practice of Spending $3,500,000,000 Annually on Academic Education and Only $23,000,000 on Training Men How to Earn Own Living as "Folly"

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 9—When a nation goes to war it is the first consideration of its general staff, and the more severe the depression, the more seriously we learn our lessons and the more surely we prepare for corresponding great periods of prosperity to follow. This is simply proven by statistical record. It never fails!

The second step "While depicting aid to the unemployed insist that the recipient do something to improve himself. Public aid without mental and spiritual aid hurts and demoralizes. It is not a matter of "if" but of "when" and "how" to do it. We have our choice between a gradual return of good business or a continuance of hard times, depending upon how soon we develop the right "morale." At this stage the depression is 95 per cent spiritual and only 5 per cent material. Statistics indicate that more than one-half of the depression is behind us and that the worst is over. We can hasten or delay the lifting of the depression according as we become imbued with the right or wrong spirit. I am sure that if everyone will refuse to "pull" and "push," prosperity will return faster than anyone now imagines.

A Practical Program
While others are arguing for this or that program to relieve unemployment, to assist the farmers, to inaugurate planned production in industry, to provide or restrict output to raise prices, etc., etc., I want to suggest a program for improving the spirit or morale of our people. First, abolish fear by teaching the law of action and reaction. Give the widest publicity possible to the fundamental truth that neither prosperity nor depression lasts forever. Get rid of the fatalistic attitude, the feeling of helplessness, which is so prevalent because of lack of knowledge of economic laws.

schools these are only incidental to the education program and have received very little publicity. Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin, California, and Texas have probably done the best work along this line, and other localities would surely benefit. Nevertheless, some educators claim that students do not utilize the schools to their full capacity. Hence, I say that we need, in each man, the spirit of "improving" themselves either in their own work or in other ways during their life time. A wider and better organized system of public employment agencies, coordinated with public training schools and co-operating with employers, would do much to assist labor and strengthen its morale.

I want to emphasize the necessity for a wider public system of vocational guidance. Depressions such as this wholly upset the normal adjustment of men to jobs. Hence, unless we pay more attention to adult vocational guidance work, and help in preparing children for college entrance examinations, we shall come out of this depression with a multitude of "square pegs" for "round holes." Hundreds of thousands of men are in all branches of business, which means wasted man-power, acting as a drag on returning prosperity. Already there are too many good carpenters making poor vacuum-cleaner salesmen; too many good boat sailmakers running gas-line filling stations; too many laborers trying to be mechanics; too many good business men making poor school teachers. Vocational guidance and training alone cannot prevent all such maladjustments, but it can do much to help the situation, particularly if co-ordinated with a comprehensive system of employment agencies. Whatever it is, we must make sure that our unemployed are being stimulated to use their time in constructive activities and whether it is training their brains or their hands, I understand that something would be accomplished by a little at a time

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow...

as so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time.

Patented, continuous process takes guesswork out of coffee roasting

Controlled Roasting produces same fine flavor in every pound of Hills Bros Coffee

"A little at a time"—instead of in bulk—is the secret

Instead of roasting in bulk, which requires guesswork, Hills Bros. roast a little at a time. The rare blend of Hills Bros. Coffee passes through the roasters evenly, continuously. This automatic, patented process—Controlled Roasting—does away with guesswork, and insures exactness. It develops every berry to the fullest—a rich, refreshing flavor!

Every can of Hills Bros. Coffee has the same flavor, and every can is fresh! Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros. vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale—can't lose its aroma and flavor!

Pour a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee. One breath of its tempting aroma, and you drain the cup and pour another. After that—perhaps another. This is coffee! Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

No can of Hills Bros. Coffee will ever "go stale." The vacuum can keeps it FRESH ALWAYS!

Race Meet Events Please Big Crowd

Speedy Horses and Skillful Riders and Drivers Provide Thrills at Track

PILER, Sept. 10 (Special to The News)—Two running races and two other events in which fast horses and skillful riders or drivers displayed their wares for the delight of a big crowd at the track on Twin Falls county fairgrounds this afternoon.

In the evening following the arrival of the Young and Corvinton teams from Idaho, there were two events in a sensational race, a standing race, and an interesting one and one-half mile relay race, besides the half-mile run on the illuminated track.

Both programs were interrupted with vaudeville and circus acts, and the Bull band furnished music. Leading the field of five entries in the first of the afternoon races, a standing race, was ridden by Glen Dale, with Summer at the reins, won the first heat of the 2:18 trot, being clocked at 2:22, and came back to win the second and third heats, 2:21 and 2:24. Grand's bay mare, Lalo, also trotted, driving, placed in the first heat, got in the money in the second, and dropped to fourth place in the third heat. Hoot's entry, Maude E. brown mare driven by Williams, finished second in the last two heats after coming in third in the first heat.

Smith's bay mare, Linwood Hall, finished in all three heats in the 2:20 pace Wednesday, fell down in the first heat of the 2:21 pace yesterday and barely got in the money, but came back to win the second and third heats of yesterday's event. The announced time was 2:18 1/2; 2:18 and 2:20. Grand's bay gelding, Billy, won the first heat and placed in the second and third heats. Halley's black gelding, Raven Hall, placed in the first heat and got in the money in the second and third heats. There were eight entries and two starters.

Three-quarter milers in today's run elapsed 1-2-3 seconds off the preceding day's time. Pollard's brown mare, Shasta Brown, Wright up, racing home to win the race in 1 minute 18 seconds. Hans's sorrel gelding, Bum, was second, and Corvinton's brown gelding, Dutch White, Stoddard up, was third. There were seven starters.

Ricks Entry Wins
Ricks entered his bay mare, Myrtle C. Helm up, to win today's half-mile run, rounding the course in 48.3-5 seconds, which was a record. It was the first time as that made by Ricks' second day entry, Twelve Thirly, a brown gelding, which leads rode to win Wednesday. Pollard's sorrel mare, Opesella, Wright up, was second in yesterday's half-mile race. Moffitt's chestnut mare, Mildred Wood, Moffitt up, was third. There were six starters.

With new contestants in the field, Parnsworth's string again won the evening's Roman standing race; Corvinton's string finished second, and Corvinton's string third.

Davis string won the one and one-half mile relay race; Young's string second and Hack's string third. The time was 2:16.

Wright's entry, Sybil, won the evening half-mile run; Pollard's Shasta Dawn second, and Bate's Honesty third. The time 49. There were five starters.

The free-for-all is to be an outstanding event of Friday's speed program with a half-mile and a five-eighths mile run on the afternoon

GUARDSMEN RETURN FROM FIRE FRONTS

Twin Falls Medical Troops
Terminate 15-Day Campaign Against Red Menace

Bronzed veterans of a 15-day campaign on Idaho forest fire fronts, Major George C. Harty and 13 enlisted men of the medical detachment of the One Hundred Sixteenth Infantry, Idaho national guard, returned to their homes in Twin Falls and Kimberly last evening. With the arrival today of Captain M. Groves, Two Falls, all members of this unit will have returned from the fire front. Captain C. W. Burger, Twin Falls, having been relieved from further service there earlier in the week.

Members of the medical detachment were the only national guardsmen called into service from this district to assist in enforcing national law upon the forest fire area, from which service, they, with other Idaho national guard units, were relieved Wednesday.

Twin Falls guardsmen, called into service on the fire front last August 26, went first to Garden Valley ranger station, and after three or four days there, were moved to headquarters at Banks. From that point medical troops were sent out to serve with national guard patrols at Lowman, Dude Ranch, Landmark, Cascade, P.O., Horseshoe Bend, Smith's Ferry and Harris Creek.

Their function was to furnish medical attention to possible casualties among the fire fighters—those who were in some instances pressed into service for patrol duty.

Heavy rains along with improvement in fire conditions that began promptly when the state troops appeared on the scene, led to the release of the national guardsmen from further service on the fire front. There was heavy rain over the district Tuesday night, and snowfall at Olathe, the returning guardsmen reported.

Though more than 50 per cent of the fire fighters were undoubtedly loyal, Major Harty said last evening there was abundant evidence of a well organized purpose to destroy the

BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Sam Sherrill is in love with Freddy Munson, reporter on the Express, but refuses to marry him because she believes she needs money to be happy and Freddy needs freedom. Frank Abbott, owner of the newspaper, asks her to marry him in a business proposition, gambling on the chance that she may later care for him. Sam finds the decision about Frank most difficult, because she is involved in her family's affairs. She has promised her dead mother to keep her half-brother, Nelson, and her stepfather, Fourth Alderson, out of the poorhouse. Alderson combines a passion for golf with poor business sense. Sam has discovered her half-brother dancing at a restaurant with the manager's wife, Martha Olive, and Nelson says he's going to do about it.

Chapter 8

NELSON STATES HIS CASE.

"Do I'm not going to do anything. I just thought that you'd be interested to know that I've seen you."

Bonny stood in front of the tavern with his long fingers clenched and his eyes smoldering. At last, he said, "I know what you're thinking. You don't have to tell me. You and Fourth can go on having an understanding affair with a servant-girl and I'll be ashamed of myself. Well, I'll tell you this. He came over and stood close beside her, blurring his words. 'I'm not having any affairs,' said Sam. 'I'm not even having anything of the kind!'"

All right, Nelson, said Sam. "I believe you. Please don't shut me out."

"And as for being ashamed of myself," he continued, "you understand that, either, you and Fourth can go on to the devil!"

He began to pace up and down, scowling, exclaiming working in his face. Sam watched him calmly. "Fourth doesn't know anything about this," she said, "and you haven't heard me. I think that I thought you ought to be ashamed of yourself, have you?"

He laughed shortly. "You may not have hated it, but I know what you think. Underneath, you and Fourth have the same old ideas about class and caste and all that sort of thing. To me, people are just people, and if I like them I don't care what they can do for me. I like street cleaning, or ditch digging, or waiting on table. I, at least, have the courage of my convictions. I suppose you and Sam suddenly weary of the whole affair. 'But if you have the courage of your convictions,' you say, 'you won't mind that you've been running around with Martha!'"

"I wonder," Bonny laughed. "I suppose Fourth wouldn't, have it. I suppose he wouldn't have the roof of his house. I suppose he wouldn't have made my life miserable with his jawing, from then until the end of time. Oh, not at all!"

"Probably you're right," said Sam with a sigh. "But I don't see why you get so excited. I don't see why you don't go on and on. You don't have to tell me. 'No, it wouldn't make trouble.' 'You won't mind that you've been running around with Martha!'"

"I won't do anything, Bonny. If only you'll calm down."

Nelson was appeased and tremendously relieved. "You're a good sport, Sam," he said gratefully. "I'm sorry I went off the handle. But just that all this jawing about social position and money gets on my nerves. I'm not to be blamed. Besides, that Martha is a nice trouble. You don't know what a darn nice girl she is."

Sam admitted that she did not. She had never really thought of Martha as all except as an individual who never seemed to be able to make a best property. She always managed to get bits of shell into the cup with a soft boiled egg. She evidently enjoyed the whole different life. "He called her a 'darn nice girl' and would have elaborated upon the theme had Sam been willing to listen. But he never, pleaded a headache and went up to her room where she could be alone to think."

Fourth Alderson had a pleasant faculty for being able to forget whatever he wanted to forget. By the time he reached home he had forgotten the frame of mind in which he had left the home of the young boy, and was high and pleased with himself in the role of triumphantly providing male.

He tossed the little heap of new bills carefully into Sam's bag and remarked, with a wave of the hand, "Well, there's that small matter of the mortgage loan settled."

Sam figured the money in amazement and delight. "That is, really, really? It can hardly believe it! She got up from her chair and kissed her stepfather impulsively. "Oh, Fourth, I don't know how I would have been!"

Fourth patted her cheek and nodded. "I know," he said gravely. "Nelson looked at the money and whistled. 'All these new bills! Maybe a man couldn't have him a time with a handful of those.' 'Maybe he could,' said Sam sympathetically. 'But he isn't going to. These little items are going to keep a roof over our heads for another half year. I think I'll start with them under my pillow to be sure of having happy dreams.'"

Sam may have had happy dreams, but she was not happy even with the thought of Fourth's contribution to the family welfare lying snugly in a handkerchief case in her top drawer.

The inevitable reaction to her exhibition of the day before had set in, and the future seemed to her a series of blank, meaningless, lonely hours. She duly went through the business of getting her dress and of eating breakfast. She noticed that Nelson seemed nervous and depressed, and that Martha's eyes showed signs of recent tears. Martha had undoubtedly been told of Sam's discovery, and was terribly frightened as a consequence. Sam told that it did not matter; that nothing mattered very much. She wondered if Freddy had already left for Chicago, or St. Louis, or was it Kansas City.

When she returned to the stable after the routine business of making breakfast, she found a yellow car standing at the front door. Sam's heart almost stopped beating when she saw it. For the car was a distinctive shade of yellow. She knew at once it was a taxi. She felt sick, sick and almost absurdly out of its element. Sam shut off the motor with a hand that trembled, and ran swiftly across the drive to the front door. (Copyright, Freeman Lincoln.)

SMITH LEAVES TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Congressman Says West Suffers From Improper Departmental System

Congressman Addison T. Smith will leave for Spokane today accompanied by Mrs. Smith, and on Saturday will attend a convention of representatives of chambers of commerce and business organizations to develop a plan by which some changes may be made in the administration and operating policies of the supervising architect office in Washington, which at present "is a real disservice against Western manufacturers and contractors, as well as Western materials, in connection with the construction of federal buildings in the West."

Congressman Smith contends that there is no good reason for bringing limestone from Indiana to construct federal buildings in the Rocky Mountain country when we have just as good building stone in the local quarry and bricks made at Burley which are as fine as every respect as bricks made in the East. He also insists that in the interest of the unemployed, local architects and labor should have preference in the states where buildings are being constructed under the federal building program.

Smith visited an instance in the repairs to the federal building in Twin Falls which cost less than $2500 where the contract was awarded to a firm of builders in Indiana, who brought four men with them, these were later discharged and local men employed, he said.

The movement the convention will sponsor has become nationwide and is of particular interest to the Northwest. Civic and commercial organizations are demanding modifications of the policies of the architect office, and the enactment of a law is necessary to more equitably distribute benefits which accrue from the public building program.

The committee on irrigation and reclamation of which Congressman Smith is chairman will convene at Spokane on Monday to study the Columbia Basin project and the Venetian Rapids project on the Columbia river, as legislation will be brought up for consideration by the Washington and Oregon delegations when congress convenes, based upon reports of engineers of the army as the result of two years study of these projects, Congressman Smith said.

"It is proposed to develop electrical energy on both these projects, the sale of which will reimburse the government for expenditures incurred in constructing them. It is argued that the need of furnishing employment and in stimulating business is of prime importance at this time, and that cheap power for small industries and the farms will aid in attracting people to the Northwest, and cre-

He is a demand for farm and dairy products. "It will be several years," he continued, "before these projects can be completed, and those who may be opposed to bringing in more land under irrigation, need not be alarmed as the policy of furnishing supplemental supply of water to existing projects rather than to start new projects will be strictly adhered to."

When the dams, reservoirs and power plants are constructed Congress will then consider the advisability of placing water upon the land.

700 PERSONS PAY TRIBUTE TO FRIEND

Large Congregation Hear Sermon on Life of Deceased Local Citizen

Seven hundred persons from Twin Falls and adjoining counties assembled in the First Methodist Episcopal church here yesterday afternoon to attend the last rites of Charles Edgar Parker, and to hear Rev. H. C. Humphrey, Gooding, former pastor here and present district superintendent of the First Methodist Episcopal church, pay final tribute to the memory of the departed. Production of beautiful flowers, artistic arrangement, harmonious with the pleasure of future life portrayed by the minister, and with the vocal selection given by A. Wilton Peck, with Mrs. Peck as accompanist, "O Love That With Not Let Me Go."

"The emphasis on this occasion," said Rev. Humphrey, "is not on death but on life. We are here to declare our faith that Brother Charles Parker is not dead, but is alive forever more. We do not sorrow as those who have no hope. Our hearts are comforted because we believe in God and in His Son Jesus Christ. We believe His word and build our faith on that Rock of Ages. We are not to render thanks to God for his life, his friendship, his good love, his integrity of purpose. We are not reproaching God for cutting him down in the midst of life, we are rather declaring our faith for the goodness of God that was evident in Brother Parker's life."

"Brother Parker has not lived in vain. This was a better town because he built himself into its life and business. He stood for a clean city life, straight dealing, honest business. He demonstrated that a man can be a successful businessman and a real Christian."

We think of him today as still living. The Lord is real, we are real, and his love and affection of his home, all the integrity of his character, all the blessings of a happy memory into an immortal, growing, widening experience of a lifetime, business, lifetime eternally."

Prayer for the service was read by the pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Elijah Hull Longbrake.

The funeral cortege was accompanied by an escort of Knights Templar composed of W. J. Potter, L. C. John A. Johnson, Dr. R. C. Parrett, Alton Benier, and L. C. Wieman, Twin Falls; H. J.
