LEGION BALLOTS TO ALSO FORCES WITH PROHIBITION STOPS

Discussion of Issue Follows Commander's Ruling—On Non-Political Aspect of Question Involving Liquor

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Sept. 24.—To the accompaniment of cries from the floor of "we want beer" we want beer" the American Legion today aligned itself with the forces seeking a change in the prohibition laws and asked congress to submit a referendum on the Eighteenth amendment to the people of the various states.

At the same session the veterans' organization turned down a proposal for a constitutional amendment for bonus certificates to be issued and declared its belief that all soldiers should remain at the time from placing added financial burdens on the government.

The prohibition resolution, favored by a vote of 1000 to 100 after an uproarious debate of more than a half an hour. Cheers and applause followed the adoption of the resolution. No resolution proposing beer came before the various states.

The legion's executive committee on the referendum question, as voting for it and five opposing it.

The resolution was presented by Commander Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander, frequently bled upon the small reproduction of the liberty bell in an effort to obtain order, and the speakers had difficulty making themselves heard.

Attorney Leads Legion
Just before final adjournment of the convention, Henry L. Stevens, Jr., Young Lawyers, North Carolina, attorney, led the national commander of the Legion by acclamation.

The discussion on prohibition was the first on the national convention floor in the Legion's history and was handled on under the leadership of O'Neil, who said the issue is not a political one.

The prohibition resolution of the legion's executive committee asking a referendum on prohibition was read to the convention by Dr. Neal D. Liska, Missouri and O'Neil, chairman, amid wild cheering. A minority report asking that no action be taken on prohibition was presented by Lloyd Kain, Lexington, Nebraska, and was met with a chorus of boos.

The prohibition resolution declares that the Eighteenth amendment has created a condition endangering respect for law and security of American citizenship and that the congress submit to the states a proposal for repeal or modification "with the request that each state submit this question to its voters."

Argument in behalf of the referendum resolution asserted the development of gang rule and crime and that the courts had followed the adoption of prohibition. Opponents of prohibition said that the matter with which the Legion should concern itself. They asked whether

Senator Borah Points Out Inconsistency Of Talking Peace and Arming for War

Statesman Finds Misery and Suffering Caused by Race in Armaments-Beyond Power of Words to Describe

(Special to The News)
OSCO, Sept. 24.—Why is it that, while we talk of peace, we continue to arm for war, asked United States Senator William E. Borah today in the principal address marking the inauguration of the Outlawry of War Foundation established in his honor at the University of Idaho. This foundation, bearing the name "William E. Borah Outlawry of War," was made possible by a $100,000 endowment from Belmont O. Levinson, Chicago attorney and chairman of the American Committee for the Outlawry of War. Mr. Levinson made this gift in appreciation of what he regarded as the "pivotal contribution" of Idaho's senior United States senator to the cause of world peace and to further interest in this great objective.

Taking part in the foundation inauguration was Governor C. Ben Hildreth of Idaho and Dr. Manly O. Hudson of Harvard university law school, and Dr. M. O. Neale, president of the University. Governor Hildreth found time to utter the ceremonies even though he was forced to make a quick trip to Nampa, Idaho, following the death of a school-building dedication. This university program drew a large number of visitors and attracted attention throughout the United States. Scores of persons unable to attend, wrote in advance, requesting the complete text of Senator Borah's address of world peace.

Chinese soldiers garrisoned in neighboring locations were dismissed, the cabinet stated, and a duty maintaining peace order was left in the hands of local Chinese organizations under supervision of Japanese troops.

These measures having been taken, our soldiers were mostly withdrawn.

The robbers wrecked their getaway machine a block from the bank as Jack Palmer, a tailor, fired five shots at the machine, none of the bullets taking effect.

Stealing a second machine, the robbers wrecked it in a collision and a third stolen car crashed into a post.

Their trail was lost when they stole a fourth car.

150 NORTH IDAHO MEN FACE JOBLESS WINTER

PORTLAND, Idaho, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Portland unit of the Portland Police, incorporated, employing about 150 men, will shut down about October 1 for several months. R. E. Irwin, general manager, said today.

Lack of markets for lumber on hand, Irwin said, caused the action. Camp employees, 350 men already have been closed.

"With a decreasing volume of business," Irwin said, "the only feasible plan is to be to cease production until stocks can be brought in line with consumption."

World's Largest Dirigible Cruises for Second Test

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 24 (AP)—The navy dirigible Akron, completed its second trial flight at 10:45 o'clock tonight, looking up to the moon, mooring mast after cruising in wide circles over the vicinity of Akron for hours 31 minutes. The take-off, flight, and landing were apparently without untoward incident.

The ground crew took hold of the 76-foot ship, largest lighter-than-air craft in the world, and had her back in her huge dock about an hour after the tied up.

Tonight's cruise lasted exactly four minutes longer than Wednesday's maiden flight. Navy officials and officers of the craft said the purpose of the second flight, to try purposes the general airworthiness of the ship and to test minor adjustments on the controls, the motors and gas cells, had been fully met.

JAPANESE EXPLAIN MANCHURIAN MOVE

Tokyo High Officials Deny
All Charges of Ambition to Acquire New Territory

TOKYO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Disavowal of territorial ambitions in Manchuria, where Japanese troops occupy various points after defeating the Chinese garrison, was announced tonight by the Japanese cabinet, following an extraordinary session.

The government said its sole aim in taking possession of strategic points along the Japanese-owned South Manchurian railway was to protect its subjects in carrying on their commercial enterprises.

It placed the blame upon the Chinese for the inception of hostilities, the Japanese government asserted it had acted quickly to protect hundreds of thousands of Japanese residents "in order to forestall an imminent disaster."

The cabinet's statement said the situation became critical when Japanese and Chinese troops clashed at railway bridge near Mukden at midnight September 18. This precipitated a conflict which spread on one day to numerous places along the line of the South Manchurian railway, with casualties on both sides.

The total number of Japanese troops guarding the railway was stated as not exceeding 10,000, while there were in juxtaposition some 220,000 soldiers.

Chinese soldiers garrisoned in neighboring locations were dismissed, the cabinet stated, and a duty maintaining peace order was left in the hands of local Chinese organizations under supervision of Japanese troops.

These measures having been taken, our soldiers were mostly withdrawn.

SMOKE FROM FIRES ON COAST DELAYS TRAFFIC

UKIAH, Cal., Sept. 24 (AP)—Forest and brush fires swept Mendocino county today, creating a pall of smoke so dense motorists were forced to use their headlights at mid-day.

At least 18 fires were burning in the county, and a dozen others, started by ranchers to save their homes, through backfiring, also were burning.

Children showed into the streets here from 20 miles away.

At Ukiah, 20 miles west of Ukiah, some 200 persons fought to save the town from a circle of flame. More than $100,000 damage had been done and many persons were forced to leave their homes.

TREASURY EXPERTS STUDY PROBLEM OF NATIONAL TAXATION

Declining Tax Receipts and Mounting Expenditures Present Dilemma Menacing Public's Pocketbook

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The American taxpayer probably will know in a month or six weeks whether Congress will be asked to dig deeper into his pocketbook.

Treasury experts are trying to solve the problem presented by declining tax receipts and mounting expenditures.

Whether it is for tax revision or continuation of the present borrowing policy with consequent increase in the public debt, President Hoover must face it before 11 goes to congress.

The president has been represented as opposed to higher taxes during the depression if it is all possible to avoid them. He has urged drastic economy all along the line, but whether this will be enough without more taxes remains for the treasury to find out.

In his last expression on taxes, given Monday before the American Legion convention at Detroit, the president warned the Legionnaires not to be misled by "those who say that we need only to tax the rich to secure the funds we need."

"Many today," he said, "think that the rich can be taxed to the point of diminishing returns, and still the deficit our ordinary and necessary expenditures would not be covered even upon a basis of here today."

HYDE PROBES VALUE OF LEGALIZED BEER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—A second arm of the federal government is dipping into the rumormongered topic of legalized beer and its possible effect upon the nation's economy.

Just about the time the American people were voting for a referendum, Secretary Hyde wrote today that the department of agriculture was initiating an inquiry as to the statistical effect of legal brewing.

The statement started "new the rumormongers" and stirred throughout the capital when Walter H. Newell, one of the president's closest advisers, said it was a beer-economy depression question.

When the truth was down away from today's development, however, it left no clearer than before the question of what—if anything—may result from the referendum or beer talk in Washington.

In a recent conversation, Newell said that at least one high official considers the talk just so much talk.

KANSAS EX-GOVERNOR FIGHTS RATE INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Former Governor Clyde M. Reed, Kansas, told the interstate commerce commission today that an increase in freight rates on farm products would be "nothing short of an economic disaster."

Testifying for 27 farm organizations, the Kansas said agriculture was without credit and farm operations were being conducted at a loss.

Speakers representing several Western railroad commissions presented similar arguments and asked the commission to demand the railroads lower a 10 per cent nominal increase.

After quoting two economists to show that the railroad problem is one of maintaining the rate of the "national transportation system is not threatened."

Reed said that the business of the country and especially the continued functioning of agriculture is in danger, he said.

Huge Dairy Display and Interesting Horse Races On New, Lighted Track Prove Main Features of Day

(Special to The News)
JEROME, Sept. 24.—Twenty-five hundred persons, one of the largest crowds ever to gather at a North Side fair, today passed through the gates to Jerome county fairgrounds, to review unexcelled agricultural and livestock exhibits and the biggest 4-H club display in South Idaho history, and many other mid-way attractions, a thrilling racing program, stunts, fireworks and dancing.

It was an all-around record-making first day: Earl P. Kennedy, manager, wary but satisfied, announced shortly before midnight.

Fair patrons were perhaps most impressed by the huge dairy exhibit, which one enthusiast termed "the largest dairy exhibit in Idaho history, and one of the best in the Northwest." The exhibit was no more than a necessary to see the display of the city's 4-H club. Dairywomen from all parts of Idaho and a few from out-of-state are showing their best dairy products.

All events of the day were run off as scheduled, smoothly and much to the delight of the throngs, with the exception of the city's 4-H club's parachute jump, "Tiny-Margaret," as she is called, was on hand ready to jump but the wind—and pilot failed to appear, having been delayed by a temperamental weather man near Pocatello, who spread a blanket of snow on the hills. Miss Margaret, determined not to spoil the schedule, promised to jump twice tomorrow, at 2:30 and 6:30 o'clock.

No Disappointment
But there was no trace of disappointment in the rest of the show. The exhibit was an attraction, every man brought thrills or laughs, to accordance with their purposes. Children and children, attending the fair, were in the line of the show. The fair was a success.

The racing program, which was a big feature of the program, was a big success. The racing program, which was a big feature of the program, was a big success.

Babson Forecasts Transportation Changes to Influence Bus, Truck, Railroad and Airplane Systems

Statistician Believes Trains And Planes Will Dominate In Long-Distance Hauling During Next 25 Years

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PAPER, Mass. Sept. 24.—It is not one of those who believe the railroads are doomed by the bus, automobile, and truck, I do, however, believe that the next 25 years will see four great trends in transportation: First, the almost complete domination by high-speed buses of commuter travel; second, abandonment by the railroads of long-haul freight traffic to motor trucks which will operate over specially constructed highways—third, the concentration of railroads on long-haul freight traffic for which they are best suited; and most efficient—fourth, continued growth of high-speed airplane passenger and light express travel.

Business houses which ship goods, and people who travel, will demand greater than anything we have yet developed. They will be interested in quick transportation and they will have it. Whatever the system of conveyance. Furthermore, when Congress finally passes legislation, the railroads are no longer a monopoly as they undoubtedly were when the interstate commerce commission was formed to restrict them. They will be freed from much of the burdensome regulation from which they now suffer.

Then we shall see consolidation combining various types of transportation. In the future it will not be a question of railroads versus trucks, versus airplanes, versus motor buses, versus steamships, etc., but we shall see great transportation companies combining all of these systems. In accomplishing this, it is objectively many unmonies and in effect many companies, whether they be independent or not, will be merged into a few large ones.

Growth of Bus Lines
The big future of the bus lines lies in short-haul passenger traffic. In the past five years their gross revenues have increased from $274,000,000 to $719,000,000. Their invested capital from $187,000,000 to $719,000,000. In 1931 it is estimated they will carry 1,000,000,000 passengers. Great, as their growth has been it will be far outstripped by their advance during the next 25 years. The time is coming when each suburban center will be served by buses leaving from every five to 10 minutes during the peak hours of suburban travel and running express direct from homes to offices. These suburban lines will match the city transit subway service, both in speed and safety.

A new factor has recently entered to give them a boost. Effortless bus travel inside the city limits has been slowed up by traffic congestion. Modern city planners are now preparing to build smooth, double-level central arteries into and circling the central retail and office districts. These roads will connect with concrete arterial highways leading into suburban highways and through to adjoining cities. This means that bus travel will develop in speed and comfort to a degree that few people can imagine.

Many people have thought the trolley companies to be dead and buried. As far as using trolley cars except by subway and elevated in large cities, this is true. However, the traction companies which are smart are changing over to bus franchises instead of trolley franchises.

There are 40 cities of over 10,000 inhabitants which now have bus service. In the next five years there will be both bus and trolley service. The buses in 25 cities are controlled by the street railway companies. Interurban and suburban traction companies running into great cities will be the street railway companies, providing they can hold on now. It is the traction lines and bus routes now established that will be ready to take the new opportunities.

Moreover, in certain places where the trolley company owns its right-of-way in fee it has very valuable property for two reasons. First, it states that these rights-of-way to carry out their modern system of high-speed passenger service. Second, as with improved highways the bus lines become more profitable the traction company can sell its right-of-way for a handsome figure to independent bus companies, or can sell such property to states or cities for road building. These are unusual cases, however, because in most instances the right-of-way in fee, but merely has a franchise from the local government.

Although railroad passenger traffic has been on the down-grade since 1920, and was last year than in any year since 1900, the loss has been made up in other ways. First, the use of air travel, which has been on the up-grade since 1920, and was last year than in any year since 1900, the loss has been made up in other ways. First, the use of air travel, which has been on the up-grade since 1920, and was last year than in any year since 1900, the loss has been made up in other ways.

AUTUMN WEATHER PREVAILS IN WEEK

BOISE, Sept. 24 (Special to The News)—Normal autumn weather prevailed in the week ending Tuesday, September 22, according to the report of the United States department of agriculture weather bureau summary of weather and crop conditions issued here today.

Light frosts in open places and occasional showers were recorded. The summary follows:

SOUTHWEST IDAHO—Seasonable temperatures prevailed with frosts in the more exposed localities. Light showers fell during the middle and latter portions of the week in most agricultural localities, but were generally insufficient to be of perceptible benefit to vegetation. Some fall plowing is being done, in spite of the fact that the ground is dry and hard. Threshing of clover and alfalfa feed is under way with good yields in most localities. Potatoes are being dug, yields are fair, but there is some complaint of poor quality. With the harvest of soft fruit past the peak, orchards are busy preparing for the apple harvest. Corn and late garden crops are practically all matured. Potatoes are being planted in the few localities that had plenty of late-planting water. Potatoes are generally doing well.

SOUTHEAST IDAHO—Moderate temperatures prevailed with some frost in the higher valleys which did some damage to tender vegetation. Third crop alfalfa is being cut, but early frost has retarded the growth of the second crop. Potatoes are ripening in all sections and are being dug and shipped in most of the country. Winter wheat is generally seeded and will benefit from recent rains. Beets, kidney beans and other garden crops are being dug and shipped in most of the country. Winter wheat is generally seeded and will benefit from recent rains.

Utes Seek Fourth Straight Rocky Mountain Grid Title

Utah University's Eleven Looms As Year's Champions

Armstrong's Aggregation Prepares for Another "Big" Season Following Three Campaigns Without Defeat

(This is the fifth of a series of articles giving the prospects of the leading football conferences throughout the country—Editor.)

By FRANK H. FRAWLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)

DENVER, Sept. 24.—Utah for a fourth straight title.

That's the way the Rocky Mountain conference shapes up, with preliminary training under way at 12 scattered camps. The teams will move up on the firing line for the opening games, September 28.

Three inter-sectional games mark the beginning of hostilities. Utah will meet Kansas at Seattle; Colorado university playing the Oregon Aggies at Portland; and the University of Oregon at the University of Kansas at Lawrence.

Utah's debut will be watched there at the state capital. J. Armstrong's team have not lost a game in more than three years.

Washington was thoroughly routed by Armstrong's men last year and the Utes devoted most of their spring and summer to the study of the Phoenician style of football.

Utah has a heavy team back, with plenty of speed and the enough experienced talent well distributed to be an odd item favoring to make its four sectional titles in a row.

The real challenges are expected to be met by the University of Colorado and Wyoming.

Wyoming under John (Choppy) Rhodes is the most dangerous contender. The Cowboys do not play Utah, however.

Colorado has several experienced men on hand and has acquired the services of Tom Keady, Notre Dame guard of 1930, to direct the line play.

Coach Myron Williams expects a big improvement in the blocking and tackling of his offense.

Colorado plays a second inter-sectional game at Boulder, October 17, against the University of Missouri.

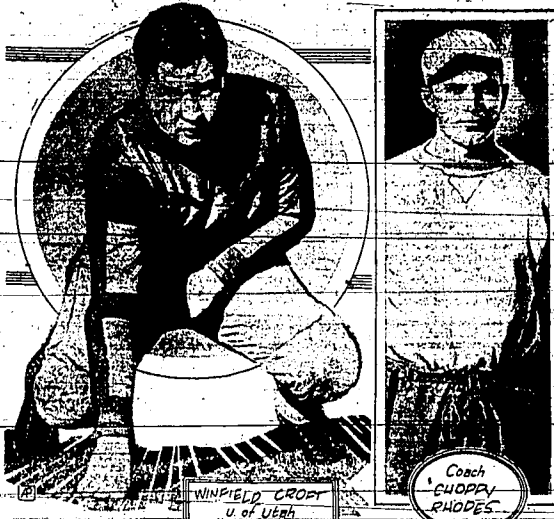

Colorado college goes to West Point, October 21, to meet Army. It is expected to have one of the best teams in the West. There are no "Dutch" Clark players. There are no "Dutch" Clark players. There are no "Dutch" Clark players.

There are three backfield positions to be filled because of injuries at Utah, and Mary Jones, all-Rocky Mountain center for three years, is missing from the line, but big Frank Christensen expects to lead the scores again this year.

Armstrong's chief worry, it appears at first sight, is the development of a blocking back to supplant Captain "White" Price.

Picture of Winfield Croft, 220-pound guard, tells the story in brief of the 1931 University of Utah grid team, figured to capture a fourth straight Rocky Mountain conference title. The team is loaded with bulk and speed. Wyoming, coached by John (Choppy) Rhodes, is regarded as a dangerous rival.

One of the best methods of becoming unpopular is to try to select an all-star football team. No matter on what your selections are based and regardless of the number of the players given recognition there is sure to be disagreements among sports followers.

However at Idaho during the past 10 years there have been some players whose feats have been outstanding. A number of old stars have become immortal in the memories of Idaho football fans. These men should be unanimous choices of experts for positions on an all-star team.

Utah Work Out On Grid In The Dalles

THE DALLES, Ore., Sept. 24.—The University of Utah football squad, 23 strong, reached here tonight, after a two-hour workout for the game with the University of Washington at Seattle Saturday.

After watching the Utes in light scrimmage and seeing the speed and precision with which they carried through their plays, local fans predicted Washington would find the visitors hard to beat.

Coach "Choppy" Rhodes said all his men were in good physical condition except Oester, giant tackle. He said the Utes would give the Huskies their toughest early season game in years.

The squad will leave for Seattle tomorrow.

FIGHTS

CORRETT GETS TITLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24 (AP)—Young Corbett, Fresno, became world's welterweight champion tonight in the eyes of the California state athletic commission. Sixty days ago the commission agreed to recognize the stocky southpaw as titleholder if young Jack Thompson, Negro who wrestled the crown, had not agreed to defend it against Corbett. During the time all efforts to sign the pair failed, Corbett won decisions over the Negro.

"BUSHY" GRAHAM WINS

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 24 (AP)—"Bushy" Graham, Utes, New York, defeated "Big Boy" Battalio, Hartford, Connecticut, world's champion, in a non-title bout at Redland field here tonight. Battalio, weighed 131½ and Graham 127½.

Vines and Three Other Favorites Score On Courts

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 (AP)—Playing in form true to his numerous titles, Edwino Vines, 19, University of Southern California sophomore, won his way with three other favorites into the semi-finals of the Pacific Southwest men's singles championship here today.

The national singles champion and title defender, defeated Gregory Kasten, Newark, New Jersey, 5-6, 6-3, 6-4.

It was a good day for the ranking veteran, George Lott, the veteran Philadelphia, brought Lester Brown's victorious spurt to a sudden end by setting down the Los Angeles youth, 6-2, 7-5, Keith Oedhill, Santa Barbara, who also figured in the upsets of a day ago, fell before the ranking player of Perry, English Davis cup player, 9-7, 6-3.

George Hughes, England, was unable to cope with the surprisingly frantically service of John Van Ryn, Los Angeles, and was conquered 6-2, 6-0.

One of Vines' three championship chances was lost in today's semi-finals mixed doubles shuffle. Playing with Miss Helen Marjorie, Trojans coed from Los Angeles, he was beaten by Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, and Lott, the favorites, 7-5, 6-3.

At the same time, the John Van Ryn, Mr. and Mrs. were eliminated by Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, and Miss Edith Cross, San Francisco, 6-3, 6-1.

BROWNS DEFEAT CARDS, 7-TO-4, IN EXHIBITION

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24 (AP)—St. Louis Browns pounded Burleigh Grimes, Cardinals ace, for six runs in the first inning of a charity exhibition game here today and downed the National League champions, 7 to 4.

YANKS DRUB BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Yankees gave New York a clean sweep over Brooklyn in the charity double-header today by winning the second game, 5 to 1, after the Giants had downed the Robins in the opener, 3 to 1. Earl Ricker and Oedell Hill home runs for the Yankees.

JURYMEN PONDER MONTEITH'S FATE WITHOUT RESULT

Five-Hour Deliberations Bring No Agreement On Guilt Or Innocence Of Driver of Death Car

A jury in district court here, in which it tried the fate of O. E. Monteith, Montpelier salesman, on trial for manslaughter, went to bed in the jury room this morning shortly after midnight, without reaching an agreement after five hours of deliberations.

Monteith and his wife and their five-month-old baby boy left the court room at midnight. They had sat alone for hours in the dimly lighted room, waiting for the verdict.

Ringling in their ears when the jury received the case at 7 o'clock last evening were doubts raised by defense counsel as to whether Monteith was under the influence of liquor when he struck and killed James Corbett Taylor, year-old Montpelier boy walking at the side of the road east of Twin Falls this evening last May 10 and whether Monteith's conduct, when the accident occurred, was different than that of any normal person under the circumstances.

Warring with these doubts in the jurors' minds were unpromising assertions that state's attorneys decried from the evidence that Monteith was driving recklessly and that he had been drinking and was under the influence of alcohol when he killed the young man to instant death.

And lodging about the conflict between these doubts and these evidences of guilt were the court's instructions that Judge Adam S. Barclay read last before the case was given to the jury.

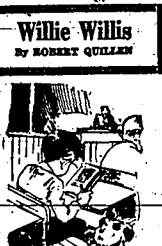

Monteith, Taylor Story

In his own behalf Monteith mounted the witness stand yesterday afternoon, after the state raised its case, to tell his own story of the tragic occurrence.

He had hoped, he said, as he steered his car between the boy on one side and another car that he was overtaking on the other, that he had avoided striking either the boy or the other car, and that it had been a rock thrown up by the wheel—not the boy's body—that crashed against the windshield of his car. Looking back after moving on to 80 feet, he said, he was horrified to see the boy's body lying on the pavement. He halted and backed his car to where the boy's body laid and said "What did I do?"

Monteith denied positively that he had been drinking before the accident occurred. He admitted having purchased at Contact, Nevada, while there earlier in the day on a business visit, two bottles of whiskey and four or five bottles of beer. He admitted also having attempted to throw these bottles out of his car after the accident, because, he said, he realized "it would go hard with me if the bottles were found in my possession." He said he had bought the liquor for medicinal use at home.

In reply to his attorney's questions Monteith traced in minute detail his movements on the day of the accident. He told of his trip to Contact and a brief stop on the return at Twin Springs, somewhere, where, he said, he saw no one, and left im-

"I had a whole dime to spend for Mountain Spring and the rest of me eat half of the peanut," mediately, driving straight north to the highway intersection at Curry and then through Twin Falls, out on the highway Route 10 to the place where the boy was killed.

Companion on Stand

Summoned as a witness for the defense, John Stockman, Kimberly, Monteith's companion on the ill-fated journey, corroborated Monteith's statements in regard to the motor-taken and the steps made. He said he was riding with his eyes closed when Monteith sounded his horn. He opened his eyes and saw the boy in front of the car, and then, deeming it impossible to avoid striking the boy, he closed his eyes and almost at once he heard the thud of the body hurled against the windshield.

Lyle Crain, Contact service station operator, testified Monteith was not drunk when he stopped there in mid-afternoon of the day of the accident.

"Put yourself in Monteith's place," was the burden of the plea made by H. P. Peterson, attorney for the defense, in his argument for the defense late yesterday afternoon. He analyzed testimony that Monteith was under the influence of liquor; emphasized the thought that there was in evidence no direct statement that Monteith was drunk; and argued that descriptive terms that witnesses had used such as "glazy eyes," "weary eyes" and staggering gait might as well be applied to the appearance and conduct of any normal person under the severe strain and shock.

"If putting Monteith in prison would bring back the dead boy," Mr. Peterson asserted, "I would say do that without delay, and so also would the accused man."

Exhibit Relics

Exhibiting the wreckage windshield taken from Monteith's car, Prosecuting Attorney O. W. Williams, in closing the state's argument, asserted that it was "emblematic of Monteith's career and of the life of this dead boy—shattered, because of lack of judgment that God gave Monteith and that liquor took away from him."

The prosecutor displayed also the bottles taken out of Monteith's car, and the overall and shoes that the boy wore when he was fatally wounded.

He quoted statistics showing increasing death rate from automobile accidents, and argued for conviction of guilty offenders to safeguard society as a whole.

In opening argument for the state, Captain J. W. Porter marshalled the evidence logically and convincingly to show Monteith was guilty of the offense charged, while J. L. Moeke, opening the argument for the defense, dealing with the same evidence from the opposite viewpoint, led toward conclusions favorable to the accused man.

SCHOOL BOY PATROL ORGANIZES IN CITY

Idaho Manager of Automobile Association Here in Charge of Movement

Schoolboy safety patrols with a view of assisting in preventing accidents in the occasion of opening or dismissing schools were organized in the junior high school, and the Washington and Lincoln grade schools yesterday by R. O. Cole, manager of the Idaho State Automobile Association, assisted by W. E. Moon, local manager, following a conference with W. B. Smith, superintendent of schools in Twin Falls, and with school principals and traffic officers of this city. The Bickel school organization will be formed at 11 A. M. today.

Control of the school patrol is over students and not over vehicles, it was stated by Mr. Cole. In case of reckless driving, reports are to be made by the patrol to the proper officers, he stated. The organization is nationwide, he stated, and includes more than 75,000 boys in this country.

Mr. Cole pointed out that the prevention of accidents involving school children is a largely within the province of the motorist, and the exercising of caution will go far in reducing the number of deaths and injuries.

"In the vast army of children who return to the streets en route to and from schools," he emphasized, "are five cases of five and six years of age leaving the protection and safety of their homes to enter an entirely new world. There are problems enough without that of the reckless driver."

Regarding duties he said:

"Patrol members are to be on school grounds, and are not organized under a city ordinance. They go on duty 10 minutes before school opening and remain until after dismissal. They leave rooms about three minutes before dismissal. The patrol should stand on the curb not on the street."

The following is a list of members of the patrol, with officers in the schools organized yesterday:

SCOUT COMMISSIONERS HEAR TWO ADDRESSES

Dr. J. N. Davis, Kimberly, had charge of a meeting of district scout commissioners of the Snake River area at the Park hotel last evening. Tracing the duties of commissioners, Dr. Davis said they involved keeping on the trail of chairman of scout committees; in touch with field executives and chiefs, visit troops in the district, seek new possible scouts in the district, help plant and water new troops and round up workers for conferences.

Dr. R. Russell Scott delivered an address on leadership in which he declared that in order to be able to lead one must have proper mental equipment. He said in part:

"Not so long ago, a group of educators came together to outline the fundamental objectives of education. They decided that seven cardinal objectives are all we have today: health, command of functional subjects, ethical character, worthy home membership, civic responsibility, vocational fitness, and worthy use of leisure time."

"Two-sevenths of this program of learning is, primarily, scouting. And, almost all the rest is closely akin to the aim of scouting. I feel that one more principle could have been added, that of developing leadership."

BOSTON GOB SEES DELAY IN CONTEST

faithful can be certain about it that October 12 will be Columbus day. Tommy Loughran may lack the giant in Ebbets field, October 3, or later, if a substitution is decided on.

After several days of complaint, Jack Sharkey appeared before four doctors at the New York state athletic commission today with an injured left finger and a request that the bout be postponed from the original date, October 1. Leon Bee, manager of Carter, vehemently opposed postponement.

The physicians found, however, that there was a swelling at the base of the little finger on Sharkey's left hand and that a few days rest would repair the digit. After much argument the commission set October 12 as the new date, ordered both fighters to post $5000 appearance forfeits by tomorrow noon, and gave Carners permission to meet some "suitable" opponent at Ebbets field October 1. Carners insisted that he needed a match to keep in condition.

So while Jimmy Johnston, the promoter, hustled around to start negotiations with Loughran as Carners' opponent on the first, Sharkey talked to newspapermen and indicated that he would not be ready to fight on October 12, either.
