Geneva Ends in Failure

A THREAT of war was made by the president of China yesterday the eve of consideration of the League of Nations Council.

the League of Nations Council in Geneva today of the Manchurian controversy between Japan and China. An unofficial conference of Chinese and Japanese in Tokyo was also considering the situation.

Chiang's statement was not taken seriously in Japan where a foreign office spokesman said it was merely an effort to force the league and the United States to intervene in Manchuria.

The foreign office spokesman said that the matter was one for Japan and China to settle and that China must protect Japanese residents.

Manchuria before soldiers would officials, meeting formally in Tokyo to consider terms of a settlement, not comment on the war threat.

In Washington it was understood in official quarters that the American government was waiting for a reply by the League today before taking any new steps to end hostilities. Information on the League session expected in Washington today was expected for consideration at the cabinet meeting.

No reports of further fighting.

China made the following pronouncement:

"I hereby declare that the National Government of China will not accept the League of Nations and the Kellogg-Briand pact, and will not fulfill the obligations of the League of Nations and the Kellogg-Briand pact, but if the League and the Kellogg-Briand pact fail to fulfill their obligations, China will not hesitate to make the necessary adjustments to the League of Nations and the Kellogg-Briand pact, and to safeguard the peace of the world."

Speaking both as head of the government and as president of the League of Nations, Chiang emphasized that China did not accept before the League as a sovereign state, but it was morally obligated to lay the matter before the international body as a peace measure.

The speech was believed to indicate China's attitude toward the League of Nations before taking further steps in the conference.

Chiang's warning was followed by a speech by President Chiang Kai-shek of China in a speech at Nanking was made known to the Chinese government. It was believed that the Chinese government was not surprised in China.

ENGAGE IN CONFERENCE

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Japanese government today announced that it was making today by President Chiang Kai-shek of China in a speech at Nanking was made known to the Chinese government. It was believed that the Chinese government was not surprised in China.

A spokesman for the foreign office, however, said the government did not accept Chiang's assertion that China would go to war if the League of Nations Council meeting tomorrow did not obtain "just settlement" of the Manchurian situation.

Chiang had made similar pronouncements heretofore without anything happening. The spokesman said Chiang was trying to force the League of Nations and the American government to act in China's behalf. He said further that Chiang was trying to save his "face" with the Nanking government which he believed was not sincere.

The conference was between Chinese Minister Chiang Tzu-wei and Baron G. H. D. Deneke, Japanese minister, and lasted more than three hours.

Statements were understood to have explained the fundamental principles which Japan felt should be recognized upon before opening peace negotiations.

The principles he laid down were believed to contemplate the pacification to some extent of Japanese national feelings.

This condition, it was said, may lead to Japanese evacuation of territory at present occupied outside the South Manchurian railway zone.

It was noted that Japan had prepared to enter into negotiations with responsible Chinese representatives.

LEADERS CONGREGATE

GENEVA, Oct. 17 (AP)—League of Nations leaders congregated here tonight to discuss measures to prevent a Sino-Japanese war and to save the League from the reputation of impotence.

Strengthened by the presence of the foreign ministers of Britain and France, Lord Reading and Aristide Briand—the council convenes in extraordinary session at 8:55 tomorrow to hear again China's proposals for intervention in Manchuria to "safeguard the peace of nations."

International leaders took courage from many proofs that the United States is lending full moral support to their efforts to restore peace relations between the Japanese and Chinese governments.

Since the council adjourned a fortnight ago after condemning the two disputants to restrain their troops and to avoid aggravating the situation, the Manchurian conflict has assumed much more menacing proportions.

But the council that meets tomorrow will be composed of far more responsible statesmen than the council that recently adjourned, and assurances of cordial American cooperation.

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Fair, but occasional clouds; no change in temperature.

Minimum temperature in the Twin Falls valley in the 24-hour period preceding 9 P. M. yesterday was 38 degrees, the lowest recorded so far this year, according to the report of D. B. Cheney, government weather observer here. The weather figure for the same period was 32 degrees. The day was clear and the barometer registered between 30 and 31 per cent saturation and a light westerly wind prevailed. Sunday's night did not mark a change, and the barometer registered 30.4 inches at 5 P. M. and slightly raised between 30 and 32 degrees.

tion in the work of peace have served the League's chief to a more definite attitude.

With the influence, prestige and some commentators declare—even after the League of Nations officials tonight testified to the supreme gravity of the situation.

Dr. Alfred Z. Chinese spokesman has remained in Geneva throughout the interval since the recent council meeting, having refused the post of Chinese foreign minister in order to devote himself completely to the League action before taking further steps in the conference.

Kentucky University Japan's representative returned today and discussed the situation with Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League of Nations.

Lord Reading and Viscount Cecil of Chelwood conferred with Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League of Nations.

Meanwhile the attitude of the Chinese and Japanese spokesmen constituted an apparent deadlock.

WASHINGTON REPORT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—With Japan and China showing a disposition to substitute words for blows, the American government tonight looked forward hopefully to an early and peaceful settlement.

A report late in the day from Tokyo that Chinese and Japanese officials had agreed to meet for settlement of their difficulties by direct negotiation was seen as the most hopeful sign since the trouble began.

The development came just as the League of Nations was meeting in Geneva to discuss the situation.

A momentous test of the efficacy of the pact in the hands of the League of Nations had been expected at a special session of the League's council tomorrow.

Whether the League in the light of the latest development would be called upon to go this far was problematical and depended largely on whether the peaceful policy born out between now and the time of the meeting.

If it develops that hostile measures have been definitely replaced by a desire to get together around a conference table, both the League and the American government will congratulate themselves on having avoided a most difficult peace-making venture.

Meanwhile China has refused to settle its controversy directly with Japan for fear it would be forced to swallow terms of Japan's own making in view of the present occupation of several strategic points in Manchuria by Japanese troops.

China's apparent departure from this position hitherto firmly held, was the most surprising in view of the statement earlier today by H. H. Deneke, Japanese minister, that the League tomorrow settled the matter satisfactorily. China would resort to war.

The Manchurian situation is regarded by the United States and other neutral nations as so complicated.

But the council that meets tomorrow will be composed of far more responsible statesmen than the council that recently adjourned, and assurances of cordial American cooperation.

DAIRYMEN OF IOWA REBEL OVER TESTS

500 Men Release Scoffer at Cow-Testing Enforcement
From New London Jail

NEW LONDON, Iowa, Oct. 17 (AP)—Hatefulness of southern Iowa farmers for the state compulsory butter-milk-testing law again broke into rebellion today as veterinarians sought to begin inoculating dairy cattle.

About 500 embittered men marched on the New London jail and freed Roland Hart, 20, arrested for scoffing at Iowa national guardmen on guard in dispersing the farmers who had gathered to hinder work of the testers on the farm of one of their leaders.

The arrest of the young man followed that of Mike Hunsicker and Henry Center, who, likewise, among the group who heckled the military escort near the McKinnon farm, Hunsicker and Center were taken to Mount Pleasant, Henry Center went, under guard, while Hunsicker was placed in the New London jail.

Two others arrested were released on their promise to return home. The demonstrators were attempting to disperse the crowd near the McKinnon place, some of the protesters returned here. With more than 400 farmers from Dodge and Muskegon counties, where testing was finished in the last three weeks, and from Des Moines county, they gathered at the city park and paraded to the jail.

Break Jail Lock

There they overran the fire hall, forming the front part of the municipal building and broke the jail lock and cell bars to free the young men.

In the ensuing disturbance it could not be learned where Hart was taken. The throng took with them also the fire engine, which was used for a short distance the New London men—Hart, Hunsicker, and Center—were released.

Today's disturbance recalled similar recent attempts to hinder tests in Cedar county, notably the open defiance shown by 200 farmers toward 35 sheriff's deputies protecting veterinarians. This precipitated a mobilization of 100 guardmen September 21 to enforce the law. Again, when the troops and veterinarians moved toward the town, several farmers' leaders were arrested following law demonstrations.

you" he declared at another point in his speech.

The prime minister brand Great Britain's problems to his simple hearers, warning them especially of the danger of currency inflation. He required the complex problems of national and industrial affairs, and simple problems of home keeping, government housekeeping.

"Unless you make me meet you, you are going to chaos and destruction," he said.

To an audience of chalky-faced men, who live their working lives in the bowels of the earth, testing from rich seams the coal which is Great Britain's greatest wealth, Mr. MacDonald said things he never said before on a campaign platform.

"I have not been subjected alone to the prime minister, with passion and eloquence, declared his loyalty to his cause of labor."

His birth declared those principles, he said, "I shall be Labor at my death."

That evidence was given by Philip D. Andrea, Miami Beach, Florida, who built a boat dock on Capone's winter estate, and often lunched with "Al" Capone.

The testimony appeared to interest Al not at all. He stared moodily at the ceiling or into space, dumpped on country suits and silk candy minis.

The troubles of his backyard: Philip D. Capone was silent when Judge James H. Wilkinson lectured Andrea before the income tax case resumed—but his attorneys told him all about it.

Judge Wilkinson continued the same, bespectacled Andrea's case until tomorrow, but indicated he would hold the bodyguard in contempt, Andrea went back to his jail cell, deprived of benefit of bond.

THOMAS A. EDISON SLOWLY WEAKENS

Inventor Consumes Only Six Teaspoonfuls of Food in Course of 72 Hours

By JANE KADS

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 17.—The stupor which has closed over Thomas A. Edison became more pronounced today as the aged inventor consumed only six teaspoonfuls of food in the course of 72 hours.

Mr. Edison, said Dr. Hubert B. Howe, is "definitely failing from day to day, but it is a very gradual loss."

The inventor's usual attempt to smile when Mrs. Edison has entered the sick room was missing this morning and Dr. Howe said he made no effort to signify either by tone or physical expression that he recognized the physician.

Mr. Edison's condition was practically unchanged this afternoon, said a statement at 4 P. M. from his son, Charles. He sat up for two and a half hours during the day and knew no sleep. No immediate crisis is feared.

It was explained that the sick man was moved to a pillow-filled chair to afford a change of position and assist in his circulation.

During a 72-hour period—ending this morning Dr. Howe said Mr. Edison's only nourishment had been six teaspoonfuls of steamed rice. He has eaten no fluid in a week.

This fact, Dr. Howe asserted, is allowing the uremic poisoning which is the most potent of the four diseases destroying the inventor's life, to spread its insidious source through his body. Fluids are more necessary to counteract the poisoning than food, he explained.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Edison's son, Charles, issued the following bulletin:

"In the absence of Dr. Howe I can only say that Mr. Edison has had such a satisfactory day that the family feels some slight measure of encouragement."

JEROME MINISTER DIES AT WENDELL

He was graduated from the Grove City college in Pennsylvania and the Western Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh. He was married about 20 years ago to Miss Anna Olive Brown.

He was ordained a pastor of the Presbyterian church in 1899 in Pittsburgh. Since that time he has served pastorates in Denver, Pennsylvania; Weidens, Idaho; Ladbroke and Timbath, Colorado; before coming to Jerome.

Second Invitation

He had the distinction of being invited to return to his pastorate at which he had served previously. He was planning to return to Ladbroke when the fatal illness occurred. His family had gone to Colorado, and had expected him to follow in about two weeks. His son, William, returned to Jerome in time to be with him before his death.

Mr. McArthur was a member of the Masonic order, and was affiliated with the Jerome Ministerial association and the Southern Idaho Ministerial association.

Previously, for a period of 25 years, he was a stated clerk of the Boulder.

COFFEE EXPLAINED

Hills Bros. Roast Their Coffee Evenly, Continuously... "A Little at a Time"

The ordinary way of roasting coffee is in big drums that contain several hundred pounds. This has disadvantages for it is impossible to roast each batch alike. One may be underdone—another overdone. As a result, you do not always get the best flavor—frequently, you get different flavors.

Hills Bros. patented, Controlled Roasting process—overdone coffee. As the accuracy of the continuous flow... a little at a time... so the uniform flavor of this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time. Automatically controlled heat gives every berry an even, perfect roast. The finest flavor results. It is a favor no other coffee has. Give us no other coffee is roasted this way.

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans that keep fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor, is removed and kept out of your glass. Ordinary air-filled cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trademark on the can.

MINISTERS ELECT TWIN FALLS MAN

Meeting Calls Rev. Altman to Vice Presidency and Considers Student School

Rev. Ernest R. Altman, pastor of the Southern Baptist church, Twin Falls, was elected vice president of the Idaho Baptist ministerial association, at its monthly meeting at the Park hotel yesterday to take the place left vacant by the elevation to the presidency of Rev. Victor Phillips, pastor of the Baptist church, Boise.

The meeting was attended by 23 ministers, passed a resolution of condolence on account of the death yesterday of Rev. H. S. McCulloch, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Jerome, and Mr. McCulloch, who is ill in Ft. Collins, Colorado.

Dr. Kenneth Davidson, dean of the new school of religious instruction, Moscow, established and maintained by Protestant denominational teaching for students, and Rev. C. C. Curtis, pastor of the First Christian church, Boise, were also present.

They will meet members of the Twin Falls ministerial association at 11 A. M. today at the study of Rev. Elizabeth Longbrake, pastor of the First Baptist Episcopal church, in the church here.

J. J. Handaker, Portland, associate secretary of the National council for the Prevention of War, spoke on the forthcoming world disarmament conference. Mr. Handaker said the conference which meets in Geneva, in February is the first of its kind in history.

She is a beauty contest winner of the "Miss Idaho" title and $1000 in cash as the prize, and a cup presented at the first annual southern beauty pageant at Pensacola, Florida.

Instead of taking the proffered free trip to Hollywood, Miss Anderson took part in the beauty contest and took part in the beauty contest.

Beauty Provides Ticket to College

(By The Associated Press) MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 12.—Here's one beauty contest winner who prefers an education to a trip to Hollywood.

She is a beauty contest winner of the "Miss Idaho" title and $1000 in cash as the prize, and a cup presented at the first annual southern beauty pageant at Pensacola, Florida.

Instead of taking the proffered free trip to Hollywood, Miss Anderson took part in the beauty contest and took part in the beauty contest.

Let other beauty contest winners pursue a celluloid fame. She'll turn instead to books and the further pursuit of education.

"Last year Miss Anderson was a freshman at Alabama women's college. She was born in Montgomery and received her preparatory education in local schools."

11-Year-Old Boy Soprano Carries Out "Pet Theory" of Instructor

(By The Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—An 11-year-old boy soprano who reached the first place in a vocal contest last week above him 14 other boys, is looking forward to making his first concert tour this winter.

The young artist is Russell C. Palmer, Jr., son of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal choir at Germantown and formerly a member of the choir at Holy Trinity Memorial church, here.

Musicians say it is unusual to find a singer of Russell's age with his long, clear, pure tone and his breath control and his vocal range.

Ernest Felix Potter, the boy's teacher, manager and song developer, said his "pet theory" for Russell's development.

"My theory is that any young boy can sing any piece of music that ever was written," Potter said, "and I think Russell has vindicated it."

"In line with this belief I stressed correct breathing from the first lesson, two years ago, and he has been a phenomenal chest expansion and breath-endurance are the result."

Russell's soprano instructor is a Lind's echo song and duet from "Silent Night," which he sings with Clarence Barwick Van Cleave, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Van Cleave of West Philadelphia, another pupil of Potter's.

The majority of the forthcoming tour has not yet been settled, but concerts will be given in New York and the South Central. The tour will start in December or January, Potter said, and last about three weeks.

COUNTY BOARD NAMES COKER BUIH CONSTABLE

Charles Coker, resident of Buhl for many years and for a long time a peace officer there, was yesterday appointed by Twin Falls county commissioners to be constable for the Buhl justice precinct, to fill a vacancy caused by death of the late J. V. Baymiller. A petition requesting appointment of Mr. Coker was signed by 50 Buhl citizens.

The appointment was announced after the commissioners were advised by the county attorney, L. A. James, that Buhl citizens had petitioned an applicant for the position, could not serve at the same time as constable and police chief.

POTATO DIET DIOS GEN STATE STOCK

Expert Claims Farmers Can Get Most Out of Tubers
By Use as Livestock Feed

BOISE, Oct. 12 (Special to The News)—Use of Number 2 and cut potatoes as stock food will net Idaho farmers larger profits than dumping the surplus grade tubers on the market at the current low prices, the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce has been informed by H. E. Drobish, of the United States department of agriculture, who has made a special study of the potato situation in the state.

Experiments conducted at the Idaho experiment station indicate a margin of 2 to 12 cents per 100 pounds in the value of low-grade potatoes as stock food over the present market prices, according to Drobish. The experiments revealed that, at the current prices for hay and grain, potatoes have a value of 25 cents per 100 for fattening cattle, and 18 and 12 cents for sheep and hogs, respectively. Returns to growers at present market prices for Number 2 and cut potatoes are estimated at less than 10 cents per 100 pounds.

Feed Substitutes Needed
Number 2 potatoes sold to buyers will be placed on the Eastern market in competition with first quality tubers and the result will be a lower price received for Number 1. Drobish believes. With choice Idaho Russets commanding a premium of 65 to 75 cents a hundred, the agriculture expert believes that the market for Number 2 and cut potatoes is endangered by a deluge of Number 1.

During this year's crop has been curtailed by drought and heat, stock food substitutes will be necessary to Idaho owners of the necessity of disposing of valuable livestock at depression prices, Drobish pointed out. A third important factor in favor of the use of low-grade spuds as stock food is that much valuable fertilizer will be returned to the soil.

Feed Values Proven
The value of potatoes as stock food has been proven through actual experience by Northwestern farmers. The tubers are not only excellent but are sold to have general tonics value. Stock eat them readily.

Various methods of feeding are employed. For cattle the experiment station recommends that the tubers be chopped to prevent choking. For sheep and hogs, however, in the case of hogs cooking is recommended. Idaho amounts to about 100,000 tons, specially at first, because any sudden change in diet is likely to cause illness in the animals. Actual experience in feed potatoes along with grain and green feed has shown that a ration gradually over a period of 30 days has found it possible to keep 100 head of cattle on the ration.

Feed trials have been detailed in the following table from the feeding trials conducted at the Idaho experiment station:

Potato Growers' Prices Increased

Our all-steel potato sorters are solving many of the sorting problems of potato growers in Southern Idaho. First introduced last fall, they have already won the commendation of dozens of sorter users. By using steel rollers and shafts on the rollers, the rollers are made to rotate in opposite directions, thus avoiding all the trouble of stretching belts and wooden rollers. Roller bearings throughout make an easy running sorter and the addition of a clutch avoids the necessity of frequent belt changes.

SYNOPSIS: Rivalry between two men for Sam Sherrill's love culminates with Sam's choice of Peak Abbott. But her family troubles continue. Her stepfather, Fourth Alderson, has made money from the sale of his invention when Sam believes worthless. Fourth is indignant over the marriage of his son, Nelson, to Martha, their maid.

COVERED STYAMATE
Peak tipped back her chin. "I have a strong feeling that I'm going to like you—like this!"

Sam put her hand on his shoulder. "Now talk to me, will you, please. Tell me about something."

"Let me see," Peak hesitated for a moment and then brightened. "I have the precise thing I want to tell you about. It's about a wedding. We'll discuss church and bridesmaids, and what. We'll decide whether it is to be next Wednesday or whether I must be married on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock."

"Wednesday? Saturday?" Sam asked very straightly. "Why?—I couldn't possibly be ready any where near that soon!"

"Look here," said Peak sternly. "I've ordered the invitations to be sent out tomorrow morning. They might be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

"Not a day sooner. Even that I'm not sure of. I've ordered the invitations to be sent out tomorrow morning. They might be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

"Of course," she nodded and smiled. "I'll be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

"What do you mean?" she asked. "I don't understand. I mean that I'll be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know," she said. "I don't understand. I mean that I'll be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know," she said. "I don't understand. I mean that I'll be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know," she said. "I don't understand. I mean that I'll be ready in a week. In that case we could be married three weeks later. That would be all right, wouldn't it?"

SCOUT EXECUTIVE VOICES CONFIDENCE

John H. Piper Expresses Belief That Twin Falls Will Respond to Call

Confidence that the drive for funds for the boy scout district of Twin Falls which begins tomorrow morning's breakfast at the Elks hotel at 8 o'clock A. M. will prove successful was expressed by John H. Piper, Spokane, regional scout executive, last night. Deciding that Twin Falls alone now has 192 scouts, he said a district with so large a membership had never failed to remain in the organization, so far as he had ever heard in 21 years of scouting. He said he was sure that the people of Twin Falls would see to it that the boys' membership was maintained in the ranks of scouts of honor, camping, patrol leadership and other features of a standardized and stabilized character such as the boy scout movement affords. He said that the average amount for each scout in the nation has been $10.50, much higher than the cost here.

BUSINESS PICKS UP FOR CLERK OF COURT

Business is better in the office of the Twin Falls county clerk of the district court, during the past three months than during the corresponding period last year, while business in the county recorder's office has slackened off some, according to a quarterly report filed yesterday by Harry O. Parsons, acting in a dual capacity as clerk of the court and county recorder. The decline in collection of recorder's fees was sufficient to pull the total of the office's receipts for the past quarter down to $118.80, a decline of $208.50 under last year's total of $329.30.

PROSPECTIVE CITIZENS NEAR GOAL ATTAINMENT

Eight Twin Falls county residents, four women and four men, who are petitioners for United States citizenship have been directed to appear in district court here tomorrow for the hearing that marks the final step in their progress toward naturalization.

In the event District Judge W. A. Babcock-Twin Falls-is detained at trial of actions beginning in district court at Jerome county, the hearings on the petitions for naturalization in the court here will be held before District Judge Adam D. Barclay, Jerome. It was stated.

P. J. Phillips, Salt Lake City, district director of naturalization, is to be here to assist in the examination of petitioners.

The list of prospective new citizens who are to appear for examination in the court here tomorrow includes: Myrtle Rose Oliver, Castleford; native of Canada and resident of this country since December, 1921. Leah Ann Taylor Stakin, Twin Falls; native of Ireland and resident of this country since August, 1912. Knut Algot Westergren, Twin Falls; native of Sweden and resident of this country since August, 1913.

BURGARS' LOOT TAKEN IN THREE TOWNS VARIES

One set of automobile license plates, 70 gallons of gasoline and two slot machines comprised the loot taken by burglars at Hansen, Buhl and Twin Falls Saturday and Sunday nights, according to reports received by authorities here.

Chris Moldenhauer, Hansen, reported theft of license plates 42008 taken from his 1926 model Dodge sedan in the garage at his residence Sunday night.

Two slot machines were reported taken by burglars who broke into the Fortune service station, Buhl, some time Saturday night.

The Lind Auto company, Twin Falls, reported loss of 10 gallons of gasoline that burglars drained out of a tank truck in the company's warehouse on Second avenue south some time Sunday night.
