HUNTING KEEPS BOISE JUDGE OUT OF COURT BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—The ballist waited for the entrance to the district courtroom today with his face puckered to say "The Court" so the attorneys and scattered few spectators would arise when Judge C. F. Koelch entered.

There was a trial pending. School districts were suing the county to compel it to pay more money for school purposes. The attorneys walked about the room, pensively. The ballist went investigating. He returned.

"The court," he said, "has gone pheasant hunting."

LINDBERGH ARRIVE AT HOME IN NEW YORK

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 23 (AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, returning home from the Orient, landed here at 9:24 o'clock tonight. They were met at the airport by a large crowd of friends and relatives. The Lindberghs were met at the airport by two cars from the household of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow. SAN FRANCISCO REPORTS FIRST CRIMELESS NIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23 (AP)—"Ho hum" yawned the night jay as he removed his brogans from his desk at 8 A. M. today and made ready for the day shift. And he had a right to "ho hum" for it was the first crimeless night anyone could remember in San Francisco. The night police said was at 6:25 P. M. yesterday in a hit-and-run case.

BOTHERSOME HUSBAND'S EXPLOITS END IN CRASH

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 23 (AP)—A bright red airplane has been bothering Mrs. Robert Quigley, but it looks now as though it will not annoy her any more. In it was her husband, who, she said, went across the state line into Illinois ahead of a warrant charging him with kidnapping. He bought an airplane, she complained, "just to taunt me with," and from the day she saw it, she was down on her hands and knees and then down over the boundary line.

Irrigation Districts Affected by Drought Expected to Meet in Capital

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—A conference of Western states irrigation districts affected by the drought will be held in Boise Tuesday to draw up plans for requesting from congress a moratorium on payments of interest and principal for reclamation works.

The conference was called by State Senator Grebe, Ada county, chairman of a committee from four Idaho valley irrigation districts sponsoring the meeting.

Grebe explained that the meeting was an outgrowth of a conference of the same kind held in Reno, Nevada, in which the moratorium question was brought up.

Representatives of California, Arizona, Oregon, Nebraska, Montana and Idaho districts have already sent in petitions for the moratorium to congress.

The meeting will bring resolutions from the local district organizations requesting the moratorium and these will be submitted to congress.

Districts to be represented are: Utah Valley Water Users' association, Oregon, California; Yuma County Water Users' association, Yuma, Arizona; Central Yuma Irrigation district, Yuma, Arizona; Gering and Fort Laramie irrigation districts, Gering, Nebraska; Washburn district, Mitchell, Nebraska; Cochen irrigation district, Torrington, Wyoming; Snake River irrigation district, Pocatello, Idaho; the Murray, Fort Belknap, Allamie Valley, Paradise Valley, and the Snake River districts of Montana; and the Minidoka, Nampa-Meridian, Wilder, New York, and the Big Bend and Langley valley districts in Oregon.

Commenting on the meeting, Grebe said all the districts represented had been seriously affected by drought, and that the moratorium was an additional reclamation development, others going for several years without payment of interest on the principal, and at the same time meet payments to the federal reclamation fund which built their projects.

MANCHURIAN CONFLICT CLOSES SEATTLE BANK

SEATTLE, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Japanese controversy in Manchuria caused the failure of a Japanese bank here today through "panic resistance" of Chinese depositors.

H. O. Johnson, state supervisor of banking, appointed a liquidator for the Pacific Commercial bank, owned by M. M. Japanese, Japanese importer and merchant, when it was unable to pay checks.

About half the bank's depositors, Johnson said, were Chinese. Since the outbreak of hostilities in Manchuria, the Chinese depositors have steadily withdrawn their funds.

The bank had deposits of about $250,000.

TRIBUNAL SETS TIME TO HEAR BOISE MAN'S CASE

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—L. L. Bolitho's plea for a writ of habeas corpus to end his confinement in the Idaho state penitentiary, while his appeal to supreme court on a conviction of a statutory charge is pending, will be heard by the high court October 28.

Bolitho, Boise real estate dealer, was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary for a statutory charge in connection with a stevedore from Jerome. He was denied freedom on bail pending his appeal.

In his plea for habeas corpus action, he said it was improper to hold him in jail on a misdemeanor conviction while his case was on appeal to the supreme court.

ENTOMOLOGISTS TRAP 18 BUSHEL OF FLIES

FAROE, N. D., Oct. 23 (AP)—Eighteen bushels of flies—numbering about 9,000,000—have been trapped and secured by two men here by W. O. Barnes, federal entomologist, and his assistant, Adrian Fox.

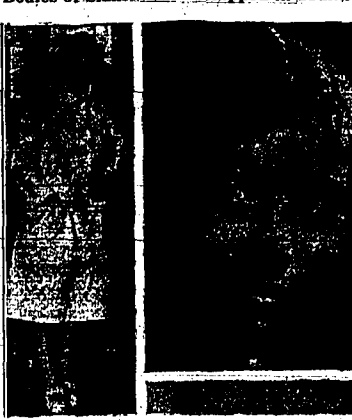

The men used 12 standard cone traps baited with liver and apple mixtures, near the point of breeding.

The discovery and market operators proclaim a distinct scarcity of flies during winter, so far as weather is concerned, should have a "bumper" fly season.

its exorbitant rates.

"The subversion of the present administration to the benefit of the government of the United States, to have it engage in business, Mr. Chapman asserted that the trouble with agriculture did not result from overproduction, as contended by the board, but in under-consumption.

"Senator Borah has said," he continued, "that the farm board has been maliciously to destroy the American farmer, it could not have done a better job than has been done. He also remarked that Mr. Luce succeeded as well in maintaining the price of farm products as he has in maintaining the price of farm implements, he would easily be the outstanding spokesman of the age.

"One other necessary step," said Mr. Chapman, "toward the restoration and maintenance of property is the abandonment of the gold standard, the remission of taxes, and the establishment of bimetalism.

The speaker stated that at the risk of being classed as a radical, he would venture the statement that continued concentration of wealth could not continue without destruction of our free institutions and resulting in ultimate destruction of our civilization."

After conferring the appointment as supreme justice of Judge Parker, who as federal district judge had handed down the so-called "Yellow Dog" decision and the majority whose votes deflected confirmation, Mr. Chapman stated that at the request of the program committee he would briefly discuss the Idaho kilowatt law tax. He praised Governor Johnson for efforts to relieve farmers of taxation. Referring to the statement that power companies would pass the tax to the consumer, Mr. Chapman said, "As a matter of fact, a great many believe that there is no injustice in the power companies carrying the tax."

black shoes and bandages on both hands. She had been locked up three days and was very tired.

From the mortuary retreat to which she had been taken from the city, she was bundled into a police automobile and taken to the police hospital for observation.

She was said to have been in a sanitarium near Los Angeles during the four days in which hundreds of police officers hunted her but that had not been established as yet.

"Her husband—the one she said—had been wounded in the encounter with Miss Samuelson, and it was said that he had been killed at the sanitarium or elsewhere since her arrest last Monday.

When the hand was being dressed, she narrowly escaped capture. The two men walked into the place and questioned her. But she managed to outwit them and escape.

It was this same old, yet uncertain, attitude that she had assumed when she checked into the hotel containing the bodies at a Phoenix railroad station.

The old attitude, modified by an evident fear of apprehension and capture, marked her appearance at the hotel when she checked in. When, only a short time after her arrival by train, she asked for the trunk from the baggage room.

It was at that point that the crudity of her actions and the tell-tale marks on her face and hands began to show, and suspicion began to point to her as the killer. The baggage room clerk, who had been from the trunk, demanded that she produce a key to throw open the trunk.

She fled, with her brother. Burroughs, who had been with her, and from that moment on had dodged the law.

The old attitude was effected through a statement published in local newspapers today, in which her husband issued her instructions for giving the trunk to the police and assured her of their legal support.

She said she had been in communication with her husband at the time he was in the trunk. He said she wanted to surrender but he was afraid to come to his own home.

The attorney suggested that they meet at the home or business establishment of the husband, and that he would be there to pick her up in his car. This was taken to the undertaking.

The arrest, however, was made independently of Judd, Russell and Burroughs, who were undertaking firm, it was said.

Mrs. Judd had been at the place where the trunk was found. She was told that the trunk was in the trunk, and she was told that the trunk was in the trunk.

An open verdict was returned by the jury today in the death of Mrs. Judd, who was killed at the end of an inquest.

Although testimony during the inquest had been given by Mrs. Judd, who was killed at the end of an inquest.

The verdict was returned at the end of testimony of McInnell, who had been with Mrs. Judd, and attending authorities he would "neither add nor hinder them."

ALL-STAR CAST MAKES NEW ROMANCE OF SKIES

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 (AP)—Special to The News—"Sky Bride," a romantic adventure story of 1931 aviation, will be filmed with an all-star cast headed by the blonde Carol Lombard, Richard Arlen as the iron-nerved pilot, and Stuart Erwin, it is announced by the studio.

Written by John D. Blythe, the story is based upon modern air transport, and is described as a modernized flying dramatization of the "race to Rome and victory" type which carried Wallace Reid to international fame when he served as racing vehicle.

Direction of the picture has been assigned to Norman MacLeod, director of "Touchdown" and "Monkey Business."

Hoover Listens to Laval While Senator Borah Tells Frenchmen Versailles Pact Needs Revision

Hoover says he is not "proud" of his French.

Just before the conference got underway, President Hoover and Senator Theodore J. Quinn, one of his secretaries, left the White House in the White House, and the two men were seen in the adjoining executive offices, a statement issued by the president's press secretary.

They were discussing, solely such matters as each of the two governments can develop to expedite recovery from the world's economic depression.

No Conference

"There is no basis whatever for statements as to 'demands,' terms of settlement or any other kind of negotiations," the statement said. "Happily there are no controversies to be settled between France and America. None such exist."

Of these conversations is the earnest, frank exchange of views with a view to finding common grounds for helpful action in the promotion of constructive progress in the world.

During his day, the premier paid a reverent visit to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. His daughter, the poet and critic, went along, and the premier's wife, who was accompanied by her new friend, Helene Claudel, whose father, the poet, was also present.

Also, if these girls were in position to do so, they would have been able to see the body of the Unknown Soldier, which was being taken to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

There was only one gun—and it was Mrs. Judd. We have established that the gun found in the trunk in Los Angeles was 23 calibre automatic, and it was the same as the one which was found in the trunk in Phoenix.

Marshalling rapidly its evidence, the government signed the extradition treaty to her attorney, the county attorney's office checked off by one of the men who had been with her in the woman's story of her wound, when compared with testimony given by her husband and her sister, Mrs. Judd was treated for a wound on her head.

If, U. Grimm, who with his son, transported two trunks in which the bodies of the two women were found, to the Phoenix station, told investigators he had been with the trunk in the trunk, and he was treated for a wound on his head.

Dr. H. L. Franklin of Los Angeles, who was with Mrs. Judd when she was first arrested, said he saw her when she first arrived at the clinic Tuesday morning, the day after the slaying, with her right hand bandaged.

A. J. McInnell, the clinic said, also her right hand was bandaged when she arrived but that, after the slaying, she had her right hand bandaged.

She emerged 40 minutes later with no bandage on either hand.

Before beginning his discussion with the president, he had been told, however, that there was no prospect of America entering into any such consideration.

Such treaties are tender subjects with the senate. One who has been told that there is no prospect of America entering into any such consideration.

The question of what is to follow the intergovernmental debt moratorium, too, is an unavoidable subject in the Hoover-Laval talks. This will expire next June 30, and the last June came as a surprise to the French parliament, and required extensive political maneuvering in the French parliament, combined with some political sacrifices, Mr. Laval said to be prepared for the president's next move, if any.

One question at least the two men

BOISE FARMER DRAWS SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR SHOOTING DEER

BOISE, Oct. 23 (AP)—M. F. Burgess, Boise county farmer, was today sentenced to three months in jail for killing a deer within a game preserve, the sentence being handed down by a judge who forgave him his trespass and suspended the sentence.

Burgess pleaded guilty to the charge, declaring the preserve boundaries were so poorly marked it was impossible to find the boundary line unless it was known where they were.

In passing out sentence, District Judge C. W. Winstead updated the same department for not properly marking the boundaries of the preserve.

Burgess was arrested only after he had a forest ranger at his process at deer slaying, not knowing, he was in the preserve.

In a plea for mitigation of sentence, Burgess told the court he had a wife and seven children to take care of.

It is up to France to determine for herself the limit of disarmament.

There is little hope for real disarmament until the Versailles treaty will come by force if not by peace.

It is up to France to determine for herself the limit of disarmament.

There was talk about American political relations.

"I see a distinct difference," replied Borah, "between economic and political relations. From George Washington's 'Farewell Address' on down, that has been the policy of the American people."

Premier Laval has shown much the same interest as the French newspapers for an interview with Senator Borah. At his request, the two will confer tomorrow night at the home of Secretary Blum.

The premier arranged for this conference last night at the White House in talking with Borah and Senator Theodore J. Quinn, committee chairman was invited to the White House dinner last night at the last moment after inquiries had been made by newspapers about the fact that he had not been invited.

Giving the impression of Laval, Senator Borah said he liked him and regarded him as "direct and candid."

He believed his visit will result in good even aside from anything specific that develops. The general effect will be good because everybody likes him," he explained.

found themselves in complete agreement. This was that no written agreement could result from their conversation. They were confident, however, that some time in the future their mutual effort to promote peace and aid the world back to economic health would be reflected in definite developments.

While the men took were talking in the White House, Mr. Laval's son, who was with him, became the guest of Mrs. Hoover. For dinner, the two men were joined by Helene Claudel, whose father, the poet, was also present.

His daughter, Helene Claudel, whose father, the poet, was also present.

North Side Class B Squad Registers Another Conference Grid Victory

HAZELTON, Oct. 23 (Special to The News)—Hazelton high school football players registered another conference victory here this afternoon by defeating the Hollister eleven, 14 to 0, on a wet, sodden gridiron. The game proved to be a slugfest, with the hazelton team making the most of the slick, heavy field, which made fast runs and passes almost impossible. The Hollister team, which was the 14 points in the first quarter as the result of straight football. From that time on, the game was a scoreless affair.
On several occasions Coach W. W. Stokely's boys worked the ball deep into the enemy territory only to lose it on downs. Twice Coach Stokely's boys reached the 10-yard line and as many times they were turned back by the stone-wall defense of the Hollister team.

Rupert Romps on Jerome, 83 to 0

Runs Up and Down Home Field Almost at Will

RUPERT, Oct. 23 (Special to The News)—The South Central Idaho football team got under way here today, exhibiting to local fans a machine that ripped and tore through the Jerome eleven, piling up 83 points, the first quarter and never letting up until it held an 83-0 lead at the final whistle.
Completely overpowered, the visiting eleven watched Coach J. J. Hansen's boys romp over them, their way up and down the field almost at will, piling up the largest score registered in any South Idaho game thus far this season.
The Rupert squad, after running up four touchdowns in the first period, bringing the half-time score to 42, while holding the Jerome boys out of striking action for the remainder of the game, seemed to have as well as the first squad, for they counted 30 points in the third period and 13 in the fourth.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—Stocks rallied with spirit in today's late trading, and were closely followed by speculative commodities. Railroad bonds tended to hold back the bond market, although railroad issues did sell. The steel executives' willingness to be conservatively optimistic and the more cheerful tone of the commercial review, which felt that sentiment had moved up another notch, little effect on stock exchange prices during the greater part of the session. In the last hour, however, the lethargic market suddenly came to life and all groups advanced, bringing the gain of 1 to nearly 4 points in the principal stocks. Sales totaled 1,250,000 shares.

Early advances of a point or so disappeared toward noon, but the wide circulation given to statements at the steel institute meeting, nevertheless, the decline encountered very light selling and further advances developed by early afternoon, finally expanding into considerable strength. Basis assumed a normal level in the upturn, although in the average the industrial group took back advances.

Shares of 1 point or more, included American Telephone, Coca-Cola, General Electric, United States Steel, Allied Chemical, Atchafalaya, Consolidated Gas, North American, General Motors, International Business Machines, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Low's, American Express, and many others were up to more than 3.
