Comiskey Passes On While Asleep At Summer Home

Sports World Mourns Death of Outstanding Figure—Owner of Chicago White Sox of American League

By CHARLES DUNKLEY (Associated Press Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The sports world today mourned the death of one of its outstanding figures—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox of the American league, one of the wealthiest and most famous figures in baseball history.

The "Big Roman" as he was affectionately known, died in his sleep early today in his summer home, Eagle River, Wisconsin, after a long illness. He was in his seventy-third year, with him was his son, J. Louis Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox, the only surviving member of the immediate family.

The body of the dead baseball magnate, the only man in major league history to rise from the ranks of a player to sole owner of a club, including franchise, players and park, will be buried in the city of Chicago, the return of his son and associate in the management of the club, to be held at his funeral, have been made. It may be held Thursday.

Expressions of deep sorrow came from the baseball figures of the nation today.

"If ever a man fought to preserve the good name and honor of the game, it was Comiskey," said John A. Heydler, president of the National League.

Over Debt of Gratitude William Harridge, president of the American league, said the league owed Comiskey a debt of everlasting gratitude for his services to the game.

Comiskey's death happened to the baseball property which Comiskey left behind, remained uncertain to the future of the White Sox, with a seating capacity of 35,000, in one of the most important of the nation's sports centers.

Comiskey, 40 years old, has been associated with the club for the past 20 years in various capacities. The business manager, however, has been in the hands of Harry Craswell, who holds the title of president, but who has been in active charge for the last five or six years.

Moscow Man Gets "Buck Fever" As Deer "Bound in Rope" Darts Past

MOSCOW, Oct. 26 (Special to The News).—Not uncommon during a hunting season are stories of deer and elk conveniently tied up in the woods, but few are the hunters who have ever seen evidence of such tethering.

A good story about a big buck with rope tied to his horns is told by faculty members and students of the University of Idaho school of forestry. It concerns Harry Powell, Moscow business man, legislator, ardent sportsman, and such a good shot that he could have gone to the last Olympic games as a member of the American rifle team.

Powell and a friend were hunting far back in the Clearwater country. "Watch that deer," Powell told his friend, "and I'll chase down a big buck that I've tied up in this canyon."

Powell circled around toward the upper end of the canyon and soon scared up a deer that went crashing through the timber toward his friend.

The post-season games are better than none, but the climax of the season for each institution should be the game that for years held much of the color of its autumn sports.

The colleges of the country have responded with enthusiasm to the suggestion that as many as possible play a game for football games. This is at it should be, for the game has been a part of the life of the nation for many years.

BROKEN NECK PROVES FATAL TO RICHARD B. SHERIDAN, 21-Year-Old Athlete

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 26 (AP).—Richard B. Sheridan, 21-year-old army football star and honor student at the United States military academy at West Point, died late today of a broken neck suffered in Saturday's football game with Army and Yale.

Sheridan died at 5:30 P. M. after three hours after he was taken to the hospital. His mother, Mrs. R. B. Sheridan, and his brother, Gerald, had completed a 100-mile trip from Greenville, South Carolina, to be at his side.

Sheridan died unaware of his presence at his bedside. He had been unconscious since he suffered his injury after tackling Robert Laster, Jr., in the 30th minute.

Physicians had resorted to every means known to medical science to save his life. An emergency operation was performed in the morning and then Sheridan was placed in a respirator where he remained until his death.

Military services will be held at the academy with the funeral at 10 A. M. on Monday. A. Langston, Catholic chaplain at the academy will officiate.

DUMB BELLS

COULD YOU TELL ME THE TIME PLEASE? I'M SORRY, BUT I'M A STRANGER HERE YANKEE!

Washington player had decided that he would have to wait a while. The Boston Braves, the club purchasing his contract, has two fast midgets in his back, but perhaps the Braves will take care of this difficulty when he reports.

The big fellow with the complexion of a piece of tobacco made life miserable for American association pitchers this season, threatening to cut the close of the schedule by 400. He probably will hit the national league.

Followers of AA baseball say Shires' fielding ability improved in 1931. They declare he is now a much more competent defensive player than he was when he was in the American league.

LEW TO DEMONSTRATE Lew Posen should do well as the manager of the White Sox. He gets his share of the breaks. The colorful Portuguese is well liked by the fellow players, and he can hit with the best of the White Sox. It is helpful to know that he is a player who should be done in case of calling them.

If Captain Barry Wood of Harvard could be a few more exhibitions comparable to that against the Army, the selection of the outstanding quarter back of the country will be just as easy at the close of the 1932 football season as it was last year when Earl Caldwell was first and all the others far in the rear.

Sheridan died at 5:30 P. M. after three hours after he was taken to the hospital. His mother, Mrs. R. B. Sheridan, and his brother, Gerald, had completed a 100-mile trip from Greenville, South Carolina, to be at his side.

Sheridan died unaware of his presence at his bedside. He had been unconscious since he suffered his injury after tackling Robert Laster, Jr., in the 30th minute.

Physicians had resorted to every means known to medical science to save his life. An emergency operation was performed in the morning and then Sheridan was placed in a respirator where he remained until his death.

Military services will be held at the academy with the funeral at 10 A. M. on Monday. A. Langston, Catholic chaplain at the academy will officiate.

"clear road ahead!"

It's great to feel that way... and you do... when the blood has the "fit" of enough rich red cells. RECKLESS of age—be fortified with plenty of "red blood cells" and you'll be a winner. Often "that tired feeling" may be a warning... so are pimples, boils and patches. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease. A lagging appetite often leads to undernourishment and ill health. For generous S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood never was not as yet entered in the blood army's record books. Why not start taking S.S.S. today!—The larger size represents a price saving.

500 PERSONS HERE ATTEND CONFERENCE

President of Quorum of 12 Apostles Addresses Session in Stake Tabernacle

Nearly 500 persons were in attendance at the sessions of the quarterly conference of the Twin Falls stake Latter Day Saints church here Sunday in the tabernacle at the corner of Second street and Fourth avenue east, which was conducted by President J. W. Richards, Twin Falls, and presided over by Elder Rudger Clawson, Salt Lake City, president of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles. The theme of the conference was "In the Realm of the Priesthood."

President R. G. Tolman, Murrain, gave the opening address of welcome, in which he stressed the responsibility of leaders to gather in and hold the youth in the church.

W. E. Bitter of the stake executive quorum discussed the subject, "The Priesthood in Action." He said in substance: "While ours is a missionary church we need not go to a foreign country to do a missionary work. Every member of the priesthood should be an active missionary in helping to promulgate the tenets of our faith by example as well as by precept." A solo was then given by Clifford Tolman, Murrain.

Elder J. C. Newcomer, Duhl, president of the second quorum of elders in that city gave a forenoon sermon on the subject, "I Am My Brother's Keeper." He said "Today we are exerting ourselves in endeavoring to understand and necessities of life for those who are in want."

The subject, "What I have learned and most enjoyed during the past year," was treated by the following boys of the Aaronic priesthood: Rex Tolman, Murrain, teacher; Philip Olson, Kimberly, priest; Nelson Price, Twin Falls, priest. A solo was then given by Billy Clawson, member of the Quorum of Elders.

Patience Spake, Patrick Spake, Kirkman, Twin Falls, opened the afternoon session at which church officers were sustained and Henry H. Bowers, advanced to office of high councilman, and Elder E. W. Henderson to the position of one of the seven. Presidents of the Generals, Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Edna Bowers, Kirkman, Mrs. Ella E. Boring, Miss Maurine Beckstead, Miss Dorolli Kirkman, Twin Falls, and by Professor O. S. Duke, Duhl.

President Richards in his remarks exhorted the virtues of the community, and praised the cooperation given in Twin Falls city and county by those who were not members of the Latter Day Saints church. Elder Everett Goodman, Murrain, said: "The Latter Day Saints church were being broken down and that bigotry is found only among those ignorant of facts. He brought greeting from Elder E. Miller, Twin Falls, now laboring in Mexico. Elder Goodman delivered forceful sermons morning and evening, in the morning he spoke on the principle of the gospel as believed in and practiced by the Latter Day Saints church. He said his control as a ruler and said only towards would pervade the blessings of parenthood. He admonished members to take a more active part on temple work as it would mellow their hearts while rendering a service for their brethren. The session was dismissed by Patrick Judson, Tolman, Murrain.

"I can't bake like grandmother"

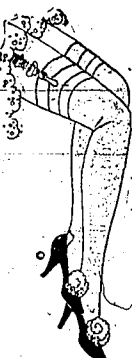

Have you ever said that? You may not be using the same baking powder she did—for that's the vital thing. She used a cream of tartar baking powder. Shortly after her time in the kitchen, cheap substitutes for cream of tartar began to appear. Look on your tin of baking powder. See if you find the words "cream of tartar." That was the secret of grandmother's fluffy cakes and muffins. Ask any domestic science teacher.
