Grain Prices Rise, Stock Values Increase, Buying Campaign Progresses and Leaders Express Optimism

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—A bulletin from the National Association of Manufacturers, which was issued today, indicated that the return of better times appears in commercial signs.

Wheat and rye prices on the Chicago board of trade were up about the season's previous high levels. At New Orleans cotton prices advanced 5 to 8 points.

Stocks led a general upturn on the New York stock exchange. More than 300 stocks advanced and only 100 declined. The advances ranged as high as 10 points. Prices on the bond market and on the curb exchange reflected the stock advances.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors corporation, said he looked for an upturn in the automobile industry in the spring.

A "greater improvement" in the business of some of the smaller retailers was reported by Dun's statistical service, which said it is maintaining the slow but gradual upturn in progress for several weeks.

The "most cheerful aspect of the situation seems to be the evidence, which continues to be offered of the possibility of adjustment of business interest in business circles centered in plans for an intensive buying campaign to be launched in the near future."

An increase of more than 10 per cent in employment in Louisville, Kentucky, was announced with manufacturing plants reporting a 20 per cent gain over June.

—Virginia's committee on unemployment reported only 20,000 jobless in that state.

In Wisconsin, Governor La Follette said he would recommend to the legislature a plan to divide jobs which would provide every individual labor for every idle person.

Halloween Recalls Feat Of Three Centuries Ago

(By The Associated Press)

ROTHENBURG-ON-THAER, Germany, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A picture of water tower down stream while the Halloween of 1931, but it's a 3-quart drink of wine that inhabitants of this picturesque town remember more than anything else since that date.

Just 300 years ago tomorrow Mayor Erasmus Much drank as his neighbor to a 3-quart drink of wine that inhabitants of this picturesque town remember more than anything else since that date.

Hard times forced abandonment of plans for a celebration this year. Yet any one familiar with the quaint walled town knows that nothing will keep the ghosts of those who made history in Rothenburg from appearing on Halloween.

The real reason that Rothenburgers have performed every Italian for the decoration of themselves and tourists is true to history with exception of the drinking episode. No actor has ever been found of emptying the caudex goblet. It all goes back to General Tilly of the Imperial army, the boy-man of Central Europe.

The devastation of the Thirty-year's war can be blamed on Tilly. His troops plundered houses, set fire to churches, and killed off leading citizens just to scare the survivors.

Rothenburg made the general respectably furious. Week after week he troops laid siege to the sturdy town walls, but the burghers and their good wives at their elbows—replied them by pouring boiling water down their backs and pelting them with rocks.

Nation's Capital Awaits Nightfall

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Halloween, for many years the half-carnival choice of holiday-makers, is today a serious business for the nation's capital.

3000 COUPLES GET BONDS IN SIX MONTHS

RENO, Nev., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Quickly and painlessly Reno divorce courts severed ties that fettered more than 3000 unhappy married couples during the first half year of Nevada's six-week divorce law.

During the same six months it is estimated that Reno divorce lawyers were enriched by nearly $500,000 and approximately $100,000 was paid out in court and filing fees.

Enriched by the last legislature as a "boon to humanity" and to meet threatened competition by Arkansas and other states, the six-week law more than fulfilled the fondest expectations of its sponsors. The state increased by 3 per cent, there was an increase of 80 per cent in high school enrollment.

ECONOMISTS POINT TO RAPID DROP IN COST OF BUILDING

Construction Expenses Diminish Faster Than Rents, Although Immediate Outlook Appears Unfavorable

(Special to The News) NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Although the outlook for the building industry is not good for the immediate future, the latest reports indicate that the cost of building is falling faster than rents, which is a favorable factor, it is pointed out by the Brookings Economic Service, Inc., which states that, after allowing for the concessions in rents that are obtainable in many parts of the country, rents would still appear to be declining faster than rents.

Under the conditions continues, it is said, prospects for revival of new building should be brighter next year in some districts than in others, even though the down trend in public and engineering construction may continue for some time.

"For the present," says the statement, "the widespread apprehension over the financial outlook is a highly important factor in holding down building operations. When the scare is over, and currency relations are stabilized, the search for proper utilization of idle funds will exert a stimulating effect, but general recovery of the building will be deferred because of the surplus space in most types and because the light over space rates is still in the offing."

Record of the building industry for the first nine months of 1931 as compared with the corresponding period of last year is summarized in the following table. The comparisons are based on contracts in terms of millions of square feet of space so far as possible, since this method is believed to give a more accurate picture than is obtainable through the use of dollar statistics which are affected by fluctuation in building costs.

Nine Months Contrasts

	1930	1931
Residential	174	155
Non-residential	275	143
Total	449	298
Public Works and	1363	983
Building	1363	983
Total	1363	983

"The floor space total for all types of building," continues the statement, "is 27 per cent below even the rather poor level of 1920. Residential building has made the best comparison with last year; while the decline is only 11 per cent. Non-residential building is below last year by the wide margin of 46 per cent."

The dollar volume of public works and utilities shows a 20 per cent decline. Contracts awarded for the first half of the current month show a decline from the September rate even though a large contract from the ratio city development was included.

Too Late to Recover

"It is now too late in the year to expect much in an industry such as building. Only in a period of acute shortage of structures, such as in 1921-22, is there likely to be relatively great activity through the normally slow fall and winter season. Earlier in 1931, there appeared some favorable influences, but they have been entirely outweighed by more recent unfavorable developments. The impairment of confidence that has recently occurred discourages capital projects."

It must not be forgotten that real estate conditions at the present time contrast sharply with those of 1921. At that time we inherited a housing shortage from the war. Now we face the necessity of absorbing a surplus resulting from the current boom. Cycles in the building industry generally cover a long period of time. At least half a dozen years of sub-normal activity usually follow such a boom as we experienced from 1923 to 1929. A large portion of this poor period is still ahead and will probably be broken only by temporary recoveries.

"Early in 1931, it was possible to say that the decline in building, as distinguished from engineering construction, had stopped. Actually, gloomy recoveries took place in the spring and early summer. However, late in the summer it became obvious that general improvement was to be deferred."

World-wide Influence

The reasons for this changed outlook were not due entirely to the failure of general recovery in business at home but also to the world-wide financial difficulties—culminating in the suspension of gold payments by England as well as several other countries.

Such momentous happenings naturally made their influence felt here. The United States has sustained a loss of over $400,000,000 in gold in the past month. Simultaneously, the public has hoarded currency on a large scale. As a result, such a situation has lighted materially. Banks are strenuously endeavoring to keep in highly liquid position. Business recovery has been retarded, and the purchasing power of the public reduced further. The bond market has been seriously depressed. These developments, together with the epidemic of foreclosures, have discouraged the willingness to finance new building.

FEDERATION BANK SHUTS DOOR IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Federation Bank and Trust company declared today for the savings of laboring men, as closed today.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had since September been chairman of the board of the bank which was sponsored by the Central Trades and Labor Council and the New York Federation of Labor. Its deposit liabilities yesterday amounted to $12,770,000. Its total resources were $12,143,000.

Joseph A. Broccia, state superintendent of banks, issued a statement shortly after notice of the closing was posted at 1:15 o'clock, saying arrangements had been made with the Manufacturers' Trust company, the Clearing House association participating, by which the depositors would receive an immediate credit of 66 2/3 per cent of their funds. The plan is subject to approval by supreme court.

Liquidation is to be commenced immediately by Frederick C. Adams, a special deputy superintendent of banks, and the amount of depositors' credit with the Manufacturers' Trust company is to be increased from time to time as liquidation progresses.

Under this plan, if it receives court approval, depositors may be able to get some of their money back in record time.

"For some days past efforts had been made to keep the federation bank open," he said. "It was found, however, due to conditions altogether beyond the control of the management of the bank, it would be impossible for the bank to continue."

The Federation bank was opened in 1923. The late Samuel Compers bound to be business depression every so often," and added that "there isn't any commission or brain that can stop it."

Wiggin took the position, nevertheless, that it would do no harm to try the council idea, though he was quite certain it would not succeed.

Discusses Current Business

The New York banker, questioned by the committee for more than an hour, discussed current business problems from many angles and outlined what he considered the causes and cures.

He volunteered little information, and most of his testimony was in the form of brief answers to La Follette's questions.

Wiggin summarized the findings of the "international bankers' committee at Basel last summer as his views on steps necessary to business recovery. They were a recapitulation of the statement from which he had been quoted.

High tariffs and diversion of bank money into speculative channels were named by Wiggin as among the causes of the depression.

Questioned closely by La Follette, Wiggin denied banks were responsible for the depression, but agreed and other notables were participants in the depression. From the bank's inception until his death in an airplane accident last September, Peter J. Brady was its president.

THEIR CREDIT POLICIES HAD TURNED OUT TO BE THE CAUSE OF THE DEPRESSION

Mr. Hoover had a conference late in the day, with Eugene Meyer, Governor of the federal reserve board, and one of the president's closest advisors.

Both of them are keeping close watch on progress of organization of the National Credit Corporation, which is expected to be started in the near future. His expectation is that it soon will be ready to start functioning on an emergency scale.

Only in the last few days, it was revealed the president is sure the $500,000,000 fund sought is soon to be subscribed. The credit pool, filled by private agencies, is aimed to help banks by enabling them to reduce securities ineligible for such action by the federal reserve system.

The report of the federal reserve board for the week ending October 28 showed that money in circulation in the United States was $3,480,000,000, a decrease of $24,000,000 in one week. It was the first drop in circulation since August 3, when there was a decline of $5,000,000.

The total, however, left the circulation $1,054,000,000 greater than a year ago. Officials said this showed that more than $1,000,000,000 in money was being hoarded in the United States.

By RUSSELL NEWLAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Knut Rockne, jr., Like Father, Finds Blocking Vital On Gridiron

Late Notre Dame Mentor's Son Explains Football Plays and Defense Work

(In years to come another Knute Rockne may be directing football teams in national fame. A son of the late Notre Dame coach of that name has started a gridiron career at a Kansas City boys' school. In the following article he tells some of the things he learned watching the "Fighting Irish" practice.)

By KNUTE ROCKNE, JR. (Written for The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 30—I have played football ever since I can remember. I got my first experience as a member of a team playing a regular schedule of games when the Fighting Irish broke school for boys in Kansas City. I began playing in the first grade and have not missed a season since then.

Last year coach used me as a half-back but this year has changed me to a quarterback. Our team is composed of boys who are 12 and 13. All while between 80 and 100 pounds.

While I like to run the ball and tackle, I believe blocking is the most important part of the game. It is every boy on a team who block one boy the ball carrier should be able to decide the difference between the other team and make a touchdown.

Usually this does not happen because one of the boys is not blocking. They must be sure to block the other team's players who are hard to block because they are quick. I used to block the Notre Dame team practice and they spent a lot of time on blocking.

Good line needed. A team must have a good line. It is not enough to have a good line in the backfield can't make much difference. I used to block the Notre Dame team practice and they spent a lot of time on blocking.

I think this is good to practice on for a certain position, he should watch some one who is good and practice that. I try to do it as much as I can. I think a few plays are enough, but they take plenty of practice to go off right in a game.

Nampa Aggregation Comes to Twin Falls For Tilt On Lincoln School Field

Probable Lineups For Bruin Battle

Probable lineup for the Twin Falls-Nampa aggregation tilt this afternoon follows:

TWIN FALLS		NAMPA

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the local Twin Falls and Nampa two of the outstanding high school aggregations of southern Idaho, each with a reputation for serious competition, will face in an exhibition that is expected to be long remembered.

Nampa, under the guidance of Coach Vernon (Skip) Silvers of University of Idaho fame, is one of the best and most powerful teams in Idaho this season—eleven, practically the same as last year, built around Holmes, a fullback who has been declared by many to be the outstanding player in the state this year.

Nampa had only one Big Ten conference game, which resulted in a 21-0 victory over the local high school eleven. After several weeks of rest, in which only non-conference games were played, the team is expected to be in good condition for the game this afternoon.

"Twin Falls has a victory and one loss in its record," says Coach Silvers. "The team is lighter and less experienced than the Nampa squad, but it is a better team than the absence of Riley, Bates, and Captain Tom, all of whom have been in the injury list for some time. Coach R. V. Jones stated late last evening.

American Falls Drubs Gate City

Damns Eleven Marches One Step Nearer to "Big Ten" Wrestling

High School Championship

AMERICAN FALLS, Oct. 30 (AP)—American Falls came one step closer to the "Big Ten" high school championship here today by defeating Gate City, 20 to 0.

C. Lawrence, proved too slippery for the Gate City boys, his constant gains around the ends and through the line resulting in most of the yardage for American Falls. He scored two touchdowns.

Pocello was forced to play despite a knee injury. He was out of the game as the line was outplayed by the local outfit, not giving the backs a chance to get into motion.

American Falls' first score came at the beginning of the second period when Lawrence smashed over the line after bringing the ball down the field on reverse-play. The Falls City team scored again on a blocked kick which was recovered by Pocello behind the line, resulting in a safety. Late in the third period Lawrence slipped through the center of the line and ran 40 yards to score.

The final score was on a 20-yard pass from Zemo to C. Ring.
