High Court Terms Sunday Newspaper Necessity Of Time

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 7 (AP)—Sunday newspapers are a necessity and their sale is no violation of the Kansas blue laws, the state supreme court held today.

The court upheld dismissal of charges against a distributor of the Kansas City Star at Hutchinson, who was accused of violating the statute regulating unessential labor on the Sabbath.

"From the small boy who first thought on arising Sunday morning is the comic section to the grown woman who turns eagerly to the sport page, the young daughter who peruses the society columns and father and mother who turn to the news page, the Sunday paper is looked upon and has grown to be a necessity, and this court so holds."

ENTHUSIASTIC WAVE OF BUYING FORCES MARKET PRICES UP

Values Generally Close On Crest of Week's Sweeping Advances in Wheat, Silver and Securities

(By the Associated Press) — ENTHUSIASTIC buying again swept over the leading financial markets yesterday, readily absorbing heavy week-end profit-taking sales.

Markets generally closed on the crest of a week's sweeping advances in such lines as wheat, silver, and stocks.

The stock market took the lead away from wheat, and pushed up $1 to 45 a share to new high.

Wheat dipped temporarily under pressure of profit-taking in the Chicago pit, but quickly felt the impact of fresh buying, and closed at 1.10 a bushel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Two ships were rushing to the aid of the Maudslowi, McCormack lumber vessel which went on the rocks at Point Reyes tonight, as the freighter started to break up. Jury Finds President Of Navy League Erred In Criticizing Hoover

Commission Composed of Six Eminent Men Declares William H. Gardiner's Pamphlet Contained "Many Inaccuracies, False Assertions and Erroneous Conclusions"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (Associated Press) — A verdict in favor of President Hoover was returned today by the jury he appointed to weigh the truth of statements contained in William H. Gardiner's attack upon the administration's naval policy.

Fully supporting the chief executive, the committee found that the pamphlet issued by Gardiner as president of the Navy League, charging Mr. Hoover with "abysmal ignorance" of naval affairs contained "many inaccuracies, false assertions and erroneous conclusions."

Aroused by the Gardiner attack, Mr. Hoover had charged the Navy League with uttering falsifications and said he would expect a public retraction and an apology after the committee had completed its inquiry.

The group made its report today, laying on the president's desk a 10-page report containing a lengthy letter of transmittal.

Six of Gardiner's statements were especially stressed in the letter as inaccurate. These were:

(1) That the president and Prime Minister MacDonald of England had "admittedly reached agreement never intended in their entirety."

(2) That the administration refused to allow even an executive session of the senate foreign relations committee to see the "Chicago" public opinion poll.

(3) That Mr. Hoover in 1925 delayed the building of the navy.

(4) That the administration had been ordered by congress to build a fleet of 100 ships.

(5) That the committee saw as "evidence" a letter from Mr. Hoover to the senate.

Hitlerites Oppose Reparations But Plan to Recognize Private Obligations

(This is the last of four articles by Louis F. Lochner, chief of the Berlin bureau of The Associated Press, on the growth and aims of the extreme parties in Germany, the Communists and the Fascists under Adolf Hitler. This article takes up the Hitler's private office—Editor)

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER (Associated Press Staff Writer)

UNION, Germany, Nov. 7.—Adolf Hitler does not like to sit down for an interview.

At times, however, he can be persuaded to receive a foreign correspondent for a brief "audience" and introduction. It is a matter of but a few minutes, during which the caller must make his business clear in a few words. Hitler rises from behind his large desk, advances toward the visitor and in a rather rough, hoarse voice introduces himself: "Hitler."

His secretary-adjutant stands resolutely behind him, throughout the meeting and sees to it that the caller shall be limited to a few minutes.

The same mannerisms that are characteristic of Hitler's action on the platform crop up as he speaks privately to one or two of his platform manner has become a part of him. Now he folds his arms in a military fashion, now he phrases his points by short, nervous gestures.

"Adolf Hitler," he says, "our whole purpose is to put Social Democracy in the hole. When the vote on the next point comes we will have won."

"We did it because we wanted to embarrass the Socialists and make them either unseat the Brüning government or vote against their own resolutions. Thus we put off their mask of democracy."

Confident of Victory

"We are not yet the church triumphant, we are merely the church militant. We are in the midst of a war like the Soviet war in which Frederick the Great fought himself. There may be a reprieve in the long run victory is at hand."

A menacing glance from the adjutant indicated to the caller that the time had come to be bowed out of this "standing" interview. One last question was therefore posed.

"What, in your opinion, would be the relation between America and Germany if the Nazis should assume control of the affairs of Germany?"

"It would be very easy to come to an understanding with America," Hitler replied.

"We are in accord with America except on the question of reparations, which we insist are political debts. We shall insist upon the cancellation of these political debts."

"Private debts," he continued, "we shall recognize—loans, foreign investments, etc. Foreigners who have lent money to Germany enterprising need have no fear of a Nazi regime—we shall live up to all obligations of that nature."

"The audience" was ended. With a handshake the caller was dismissed.

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Cloudy, and cooler, probably rain in some neighboring sections today; fair and cooler tomorrow.

Maximum and minimum temperatures in the Twin Falls vicinity in the 24-hour period preceding 3 P. M. yesterday were 72 and 34 degrees, according to the report of D. B. Chyne, government weather observer here. The day was clear and the barometer registered 28.3 inches at 3 P. M. A light northerly wind prevailed. Humidity ranged between 83 and 22 per cent of saturation.

Back World Peace

In the closing address of the afternoon session, Miss Madge Gault, president of the Buhl group, discussed "Our Part in World Peace."

At one point in her address, Miss Gault emphasized the petition signed by Girl Reserves in all parts of the state of Idaho, bearing the world peace movement, to be presented to President Hoover tomorrow, along with petitions from all parts of the nation. Miss Gault also read reports on Girl Reserve clubs from all over the world.

At the banquet, served at 8:30 o'clock at the Methodist church, the Philo-Philo club of Twin Falls presented the "Birthdays of the Girl Reserves." In the five scenes, depicting the progress of the organization from its founding until the present, many of the girls of the Girl Reserve organization were in attendance.

From time to time as Bruce Gault, Twin Falls, showed the establishment of the first club in Oakland, California. Scene II depicted the work of the Oakland club in 1931, and was presented by the Kimberly unit; Scene III, presented by the Blue Triangle unit, Twin Falls, represented the first Girl Reserve club meeting in the Magic Valley district; Scene IV, given by the Filer group, was termed, "Youth's Dream." Scene V, given by the Blue Triangle unit, Twin Falls, closing words of the board in 1931.

The second day of the conference, tomorrow, the delegates will attend services at the Methodist Episcopal church, with Miss Barbara Gault, district president, presiding. Miss Louise Shields, Pocatello, district secretary, will fill the pulpit, and Miss Louise Shields, Caldwell, president of the Southwest Idaho district, will read the Bible.

Presidents of all the clubs represented will present the beautiful and impressive candle lighting ceremony in closing the program. The benediction will be given by a Filer quartet and a recessional, the Reserve song, "Follow the Glean."

Against Reparations

"It would be very easy to come to an understanding with America," Hitler replied.

"We are in accord with America except on the question of reparations, which we insist are political debts. We shall insist upon the cancellation of these political debts."

"Private debts," he continued, "we shall recognize—loans, foreign investments, etc. Foreigners who have lent money to Germany enterprising need have no fear of a Nazi regime—we shall live up to all obligations of that nature."

"The audience" was ended. With a handshake the caller was dismissed.

and artillery. Officials said they did not believe the Soviet government was involved, but that the man was probably one of several White Russian officers who have served in the Heilungkiang army.

Other dispatches said virtually all of the defeated soldiers of the Manchurian army, although the Japanese, under strict orders not to pursue them beyond Tachung.

Thus ended the seventh week of Japanese control of South Manchuria, which brought about the alleged failure of the Manchurian administration to protect Japanese nationals and property.

The army defeated yesterday at Tachung was part of General Ma's 20,000 men. It was a Japanese force, said to total 20,000 men. It was felt here that General Ma's army probably would not threaten the Japanese occupation, but that it was and other reports indicated other Chinese militarists in North Manchuria were on the move along the Chinese Eastern Railway. These rumors caused some concern.

POLITE REFUSAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—A polite refusal was Japan's reply today to a League of Nations request for withdrawal of its troops from Manchuria by November 16.

In a note to Artide Branda of France, chairman of the League of Nations, the Japanese government rejected as impracticable the proposal that protection of Japan's nationals and property be undertaken by the League on withdrawal of the soldiers.

Japan definitely asserted its intention to keep its forces in Manchuria, and China, gives assurance of the safety of Japanese subjects and agrees to respect Nippon's treaty rights.

The note made public at the Japanese embassy here said: "Having regard to the actual conditions in Manchuria, the Japanese government has regretfully been brought to the conclusion that the League's proposal is impracticable. The recall of the Japanese troops could not be averted by measures of League supervision."

In embolic terms, Japan announced its intention of demanding compliance with its "five fundamental principles" set down in October 24, before calling off its soldiers.

Japan throughout has refused to negotiate with Japan so long as Nippon's troops occupy her territory. While making known its firm stand, Japan thanked M. Briand, her "sympathetic concern" and expressed a desire to withdraw its troops "with the minimum of delay."

As no disposition was shown to withdraw by November 16, the League officials here saw the note as precipitating an important test of the League's power at the special council meeting which has been called by Briand for November 17.

How far the American government would go in joining with the League in applying pressure upon Japan was a matter of speculation as reports came from Geneva this morning.

17-Year-Old Dutch Youth Tells Of Impressions On Visit To America

Henri Van Hoof will have much to tell his friends when he returns to his home in Harlem, Holland.

For in Washington the 17-year-old high school age oratorical champion, Young Van Hoof has written his American impressions—Editor.

By HENRI R. M. VAN HOOF (Written For The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Of course I have seen very little of America, but I have seen enough for a book. That I know for already I have written much—I am to be a journalist.

The trip to Washington was not a nice trip. The train was better than in Holland, but the land was not beautiful. But I have heard people say Washington is the most beautiful city in the world, and I think they are right.

Best that I saw was the Laval coming. It was a very nice show. The Laval was a Laval—but I like better Mr. Hoover.

Such a kind face Mr. Hoover has, but I did not see him laugh. I think he does not laugh. To where Washington was born I went, but what you call old is not old for Europe—1700—that is new!

I like the taxi, but the autos are too many. Your newspapers are not newspapers, they are books—too big you can read a week. Your schools are like great offices.

Your telephones have too much meaning about them. Numbers you will have. In the picture shows you must see too much.

I do not believe in your prohibition. That you can no drink is not good, for then you do not make it worse.

I like America very much. The people are kind.

PROCEDURE IN SELECTING FEDERAL JURIES CHANGES

ST. PAUL, Nov. 7 (AP)—A change in procedure of federal court jury selection was ordered today as a result of revelations in connection with the case of the mail fraud of W. B. Foy and six associates. Court officials have been unable to determine how the name of Mrs. Genevieve A. Clark was included in the Foy's panel. Mrs. Clark, who alone held a record for acquittal must Monday why she could not be judged in contempt of court.

The government charges that before becoming a juror she failed to reveal former employment by the Foy's company.

Working Together

The reason why savings, building and loan plays such a vital part in our domestic finance, is because it is a medium for gathering together a host of interests and activities. It is the common treasury, amply safeguarded, into which some of our people put their money for others to use.

Those who use it include almost all classes—home owners, builders, workmen, supply men, men and women in every line of business and enterprise that serves the home.

Our association is a little world of finance in miniature. It has no heavy expense to sap its natural earnings.

Its processes are simple and easy to observe and understand. It is directed by those whose interest is your own, by men of high integrity and substance.

As long as our people survive, as long as our civilization endures, as long as our land and the products of our toil are needed, well organized savings, building and loan associations will continue to be profitable and worthwhile institutions.

INSURANCE WRITERS IN SOCIAL SESSION

Underwriters' Association
Members and Wives Meet
On Enjoyable Occasion

Members of the Southern Idaho Underwriters' Association and their wives, assembled at an annual "ladies' night" social meeting at dinner at the Rogers hotel last evening. The program consisted of a program of music and of talks dealing with the life insurance from various angles. Covered were for 25 persons.

Discussing the "Settlement of Estates," Frank L. Stephan, former attorney general, indicated the importance of life insurance from that standpoint, as disclosed in his 14 years' experience.

Life insurance, Mr. Stephan said, constituted virtually the entire asset of approximately 50 per cent of probate proceedings brought within the purview of his survey. Life insurance was a larger factor in the smaller estates, he said. The percentage of life insurance was greater in estates of business men and town dwellers than of farmers.

In appraisal of estates, Mr. Stephan said, only life insurance and bank accounts are listed at 100 per cent value. Farms sometimes are appraised as low as 50 per cent of the value at which they are held.

A statement lately given out by actuaries showing that only 10 out of 100 widows are left with sufficient estate to meet living expenses, Mr. Stephan said, probably would hold true in southern Idaho.

In a sparkling short talk, Mrs. W. E. E. H. related stories "A Wife's Impressions of the Life Insurance Business" and of J. W. Richman, a local insurance agent. She urged the value of membership in the local underwriters' organization.

The musical program began with a violin solo by five-year-old Shirley Thompson, and included two vocal solos by Miss Clarice Saunders, supervisor of music in Twin Falls public schools, and a piano solo by Miss Allene Pearson, member of the Twin Falls high school faculty.

The program was arranged by W. A. Thompson, committee chairman, while W. E. H. H. president of the association, presided at last evening's meeting.

SCOUT COUNCIL PLANS TOTEM POLE CONTEST

Announcement that a totem pole contest for the Twin Falls council, Boy Scouts of America will begin November 10 and close December 10, was made yesterday at the headquarters of the boys scouts by E. Russell Scott, scout executive of the Snake river area. There will be two prizes, the first one of $7 and the second of $3, it was stated. D. B. Chynoweth and Lawrence Lusk will be judges.

The following are the conditions of the contest:

Each troop is to develop several candidates from which the final selection is to be made.

This contest will be open to all first and second class scouts in good standing December 10, 1931.

Each scout that enters the contest must have the endorsement of his scoutmaster.

Each applicant is to submit a complete totem pole model, all poles to be made from four-inch square material, not over three feet long.

Each pole must be wholly constructed by the scout, the design must be original or developed from research. Each pole must be accompanied by a signed statement from the scout that he is wholly responsible for the workmanship and design of the characters on the pole and also a statement as to what the characters symbolize.

Each of the poles is to be delivered to the council office on or before December 10.

Captain Ed Kitey, Louisville State's Herald, is back in the game after breaking an arm in the first encounter this season.
