

Dreiser Discovers "Pinto" Beans And "Bulldog" Gravy Staff Of Life For Miners

Noted Writer Also Explains Facts Concerning Pronunciation of Name as Result of Kentucky Investigation

(By The Associated Press)
PINEVILLE, Ky., Nov. 26.—What over the Theodore Dreiser investigation committee may have dug up concerning Kentucky's coal mining troubles—there's no doubt about the "pinto" beans and "bulldog" gravy.
Members of the committee—the novelist calls it the national committee for the defense of political prisoners—united both in plenty.
Not literally, of course, but when the stenographic report of the investigation is revealed, it will be spotted with such expressions as—"We've had nothing but 'bulldog' gravy for weeks," or "The Red Cross gave us only 'pinto' beans."
Early in the investigation these two names appeared in testimony by miners and their wives, and were repeated as the committee moved from town to mine camp, down one "holer" and up another.
Dreiser and his group of New York writers, unfamiliar with the Kentucky mountaineer terms, soon found it necessary to take time out and ask for explanations.
"Although the miners expressed surprise that it should be necessary, they told Dreiser that 'pinto' beans were small beans, similar in shape to the navy bean but colored like the famous black-eyed peas of the South."
Just plain, Gravy.
"Bulldog" gravy, they explained, was a simple concoction of plain

The Weather

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW—Fair, continued cold.

Minimum and maximum temperatures in the Twin Falls vicinity in the 24-hour period preceding 9 P. M. yesterday were 25 and 40 degrees, according to the report of the government weather observer here. The day was cloudy and there was a trace of precipitation in the form of snow. Wind was northerly. The barometer registered 30.2 inches at 5 P. M., 13 points lower than Wednesday at the same hour. Humidity ranged between 60 and 61 per cent of saturation.

wheat flour and water. Nothing is added to color the gravy because nothing is available in most instances.

Dozens of miners testified that the two commodities had kept them from starvation for weeks.

There may remain controversy in the mine region, but Dreiser's visit ended one concerning himself.

When press dispatches told of his contemplated visit to the Bell county coal fields, someone suggested Dreiser's name was pronounced as though it were spelled "Dreiser."

In a few days it became a "public" issue. You were either a "Dreiser" or "Dryserite."

When Dreiser reached Pineville from New York he agreed to meet newspaper men in a group.

One of the first questions Dreiser heard was "How do you pronounce your name? We've had a bit of

ARMY SALUTES COST $215,000 ANNUALLY

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 26 (AP).—It costs Uncle Sam about $215,000 annually to salute the Stars and Stripes at sunrise and sunset and welcome visiting army generals and governmental personages.
It was estimated at Eighth Corps Area headquarters at Fort Sam Houston that the powder used at the army's 300 posts throughout the nation and possessions in firing revolvers and rifles cost $205,000 a year.
It requires another $10,000 for salutes to visiting civilians and military dignitaries.

Corps area headquarters estimated it took $121 to fire a first class salute in a rising sun salute. One pound of powder, primer, cap, felt wad and 5 cent's worth of rubber paint to seal the charge.

Overhead charges such as pay of officers and men who complete the ceremony and wear and tear on equipment were not taken into consideration.

Salutes to visitors come a little higher, due to the fact that 1 1/2 pounds of powder are used. These were estimated to cost $1.47 each.

discussion about it here."

Dreiser settled the argument when he said:

"Most people put an 'L' in it and call me 'Dryser'—Others have called me Dreiser—Marie Dreiser possibly—but the name is pronounced as though it were spelled 'Dreiser.'"

One of the newspaper men who played with the party almost a week, never called Dreiser anything but Mr. Krylar.

CHAMBER SUPPORTS FRANCE'S PREMIER

and the premier's visit to Berlin as well as to Washington, was criticized by the opposition, but Laval answered all attacks with unflinching courtesy and good humor.

In the course of the debate the premier told the chamber his trip to Washington had been the best possible propaganda, since it was calculated to clear up certain misunderstandings in the minds of the American people.

"They no longer think over there that France wants to dominate the world," he said. "They know what sacrifices we have made, in behalf of disarmament. They don't suspect us any longer, for they know that France is thinking only of maintaining her own security."

One of the important points made by the premier was that his government was committed to settlements of German private debts by direct negotiations between creditors and debtors.

Leon Blum, Socialist deputy, had advocated linking these private debts with other questions to be gone into by the world bank committee which is to inquire into Germany's capacity to pay reparations.

The premier declared his government had refused to entertain any official discussion of such a plan. He did not mean, he explained, that the world bank would not have to consider private debts, since they would examine Germany's capacity to make payments. But the committee should not be concerned with the settlement of those debts.

RESCUERS BATTLE AGAINST ELEMENTS TO REACH INDIANS

drain corporation and the American Cotton Cooperative association. These central sales agencies for hundreds of local cooperatives have received millions of dollars in loans from the board.

Serve Notice
National farm organizations early served notice on the committee of pressure in connection with the equalization fee and debenture plans, enacted and reached in legislative halls since 1920. They ask that the farm board be retained and equipped with these additional weapons to bring the farmer on par with industry.

The answer of Senator Norris, Nebraska Independent Republican, and one of the committee members, is: "Don't try to convert us. Convert the White House."

President Hoover is opposed to the debenture and President Coolidge while vetoed the fee.

When the committee concludes its hearings, it will decide whether to sponsor a searching congressional investigation of every farm board activity. The farm organizations have urged one to "clear the air," confident the board will be stronger than ever. On the other hand, its opponents, including the American Cotton Shippers' association, contend such an inquiry would justify its assertion the board is dangerous and is defying every natural economic law.

In view of the united stand of organized agriculture, however, few believe the board's life at this time is in jeopardy, especially with a closely divided congress and a presidential election in the offing.

slope of Cerro Alto mesa. Five feet of snow on the north approach had turned back horsemen. More than 1000 Indians remain to be accounted for.

It is quite a different scene from those days when Coronado, long before the first Thanksgiving, broke the original trail up Santa Rita, constantly on guard against a surprise attack from the then marauding and warlike Navajos and Zunis.

Fear that their tribesmen are starving and freezing on the mesa is written on the faces of the Zunis at the square. They recall a prediction of their medicine men that impending catastrophes were foreshadowed by a storm of the past summer which laid bare an area of 80 square miles of Zuni reservation, destroying crops and sheep flocks. Sacred ceremonies were performed today as prayers for the safety of the Zunis and Navajos marooned in the storm.

This has been the worst storm to sweep the Zuni reservation and southeastern Navajo country since 1918 when several hundred Indians, trapped on these same mesas by a blizzard, died of influenza.

The Santa Rita and Cerro Alto mesas stand at altitudes of 7200 to 9000 feet and are barren except for occasional flat topped with stubble grass and scrub pine trees.

At Zuni reports were received that between 3000 and 4000 Navajo sheep have been frozen to death.

COFFEE WITH IDEAL FLAVOR PRODUCED BY IMPROVED ROASTING

Patented Process Insures Perfect Roast for Every Pound of Hills Bros. Coffee

Roasting, as much as blend, is responsible for the fine flavor of coffee. In fact, ordinary bulk-roasting methods often fail to give the blend "a break," because the bulk methods don't always insure an even roast. Hills Bros. invented and patented a process that overcomes this undesirable feature. It is called Controlled Roasting, for control is the principle of the process.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, controlled flow, a little at a time, so a perfect roast is procured for Hills Bros. Coffee by this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously, a little at a time. The speed of the coffee through the roasters is controlled. The temperature is controlled. These two things insure unvarying flavor—for the blend is never under-roasted nor over-roasted.

Remember that Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. It is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Aral trade-mark on the can.

CHURCH SERVICES MARK OBSERVANCE OF THANKSGIVING

Congregations Worship in Compliance With Proclamations of President and of Governor

Large congregations attended special church services of Thanksgiving day yesterday. The first service was held at 8:30 A. M. at the First Methodist Episcopal church, where the congregations of the Episcopal, Baptist, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian churches were gathered for the observance of the day. Rev. Glen W. Hutton, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, delivered the sermon of the day and the Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of the Episcopal church, presided.

There was high mass in the Catholic church, presided over by Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of the Episcopal church, and Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of the Episcopal church, presided over the service. The service was held at 10 A. M. and the Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of the Episcopal church, presided over the service.

At the noon service of the Episcopal church, the Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of the Episcopal church, presided over the service. The service was held at 12:30 P. M. and the Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of the Episcopal church, presided over the service.

In part Rev. Hutton said: "Beloved and friends, I need not express to you in the customary manner that this is Thanksgiving day. The bountiful harvest, the fatted cattle, the abundance of shining red apples, happy laughter from many children and the joy of all signs of autumn, with but few exceptions, tell us that it is November and the day of Thanksgiving is here."

"When we think of Thanksgiving, we think of the Pilgrims, of the Indians, of the fatted cattle, of the abundance of shining red apples, happy laughter from many children and the joy of all signs of autumn, with but few exceptions, tell us that it is November and the day of Thanksgiving is here."

"Paul was here expressing a thanksgiving thought that 'I am as our fathers expressed, thanksgiving amidst the storm.'"

"When we acknowledge that God has blessed us above that which we may deserve we will begin to thank God for God. When we begin to separate the blessings of God from the curse of sin we will find how much God means to man. And when we realize the vast place that the blessing of God occupies in our lives, we will find how much God means to man."

St. Edward's Catholic Church. Taking as his theme the exhortation of the prophet of the day, Isaiah: "Let us give thanks to the Lord, our God; it is meet and just." Right Rev. R. A. Allen, pastor of St. Edward's Catholic church in his Thanksgiving sermon, stressed the conception of God as a Father, which he declared to be the possession of the spirit of justice and charity, and love of the Creator for spiritual blessings.

One hundred years hence, it will matter nothing to those who were here today, what temporal blessings they may possess at this time. "On-again Rev. R. A. Allen said in substance, 'but it will matter whether we have lived in accordance with the law of God while on earth.'"

Immanuel Lutheran Church. Services at Immanuel Lutheran church were held at 11 o'clock A. M. with sermon by the pastor, Rev. M. H. Zager. The vested choir sang "O Give Thanks Unto the Lord." Taking for his theme "Thanksgiving in Depression," and for his text Psalm 103:1-5, Rev. Zager said in substance and in part: "Intruding themselves into our national mind as we gaze over our sanctuaries on this Thanksgiving day are the glaring contrasts of vast overproduction of wheat, and long, winding breadlines in our cities; bountiful crops, yet prices too low to justify the harvest; huge sums of gold in the bank vaults of America, yet financial stringency. 'With conditions resulting from the economic disturbances which find their way into every home, the question, 'Can we really give thanks this year?' is uppermost in the minds of many. 'Gaze the Bible: 'In everything give thanks; and that means that a close survey of blessings which have come to us will convince us of the fact that in this year, too, they are beyond the powers of human computation. 'We hear and read a great deal concerning the unemployment here in America, while in England there are children 12 years of age who have not known their father to have one day of work. We groan under tax burdens, yet we are countries in the old world in which taxes are eight times higher than they are here. Foreign visitors to our shores who have read of the depression in America, remark about the wonderful prosperity they find in this country. 'In China drought, famine, floods, typhoons, war, and pestilence have brought about conditions which cause our American depression to resemble a mere irritation. 'Our locality here has been highly favored during the last year. Comparatively sound as they exist in drought and plague-ridden areas of the United States to our own, we find we have much for which to be thankful. 'True, things have not been according to the things of our hearts. We have not had the things which we have received precisely the things which it wished. 'In the economy of God even unemployment and financial difficulties must work together for good in our personal behalf if we love God. If you cannot trace God, trust Him. 'Bless the Lord, therefore, and thank him unto Him."

225,000,000 Persons Await Moslem Debate In Jerusalem

LEADERS ASSEMBLE FOR CONFERENCE ON OTTOMAN CALIPHATE

Mohammedan States' Rulers Consider Restoration of Spiritual Power

GATHERING REVIVES WORLD WAR'S ECHOES

Suspicious Glances Come From Desert Fighters In Southwestern Territory

(By The Associated Press)

JERUSALEM, Nov. 26.—Moslem eyes will be turned upon this religious capital next month when rulers of Mohammedan states from Africa and Asia are to assemble and consider re-establishment of the Ottoman caliphate.

Followers of the prophet to the number of 225,000,000 will either pray for or look anxious upon this gathering.

Many of the suspicious glances are likely to come from below the southernmost horizon of Palestine. There dwell the desert fighters who acknowledge the way, as king of Israel and Sultan of the West, of Ibn Saud, ruler of modern Arabia.

World War Echoes

In the territory are the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina and chief among his supporters are the Wahabites, puritanical Moslems who never did like the idea of being under the spiritual or temporal rule of the Ottoman sultan.

Their suspicion of the December conference rest upon the fact that Abdul Medjid, cousin of the last sultan of Turkey, is the nominal caliph.

When the tribes of Arabia, Syria, Mesopotamia and Palestine brooded "Lawrence of Arabia" and fought with the allies in the World War, they started Mohammed VI on the downward path. Mustafa Kemal and his Turkish nationalists finished the job in 1920 when the republic of Turkey was proclaimed.

At that time Abdul Medjid was named caliph. His cousin Mohammed having been called by Kemal, but his caliphate was a languishing affair in Istanbul until the temporal power of the Turkish empire to back it up.

Caliph Leas Treasures

The new republic separated church from state, reduced the privileges of the Mohammedan priests, abolished the devshirme and finally, in 1924, requested Abdul Medjid to move on.

He went to France and into retirement, dependent upon the charity of pious Mohammedan rulers.

The treasure of the caliphate, hoarded for centuries in Turkey's capital, became the property of the new republic.

Immediately Hussein Ibn Ali, grand sheikh of Mecca, who had become king of the Hejaz with British support, had himself proclaimed caliph of Islam.

This did not suit Ibn Saud, who was sheik of the Hejaz, and he rallied his fierce Wahabites, driving Hussein out of Mecca. Many Arabians consider Ibn Saud caliph in fact, if not in name.

Many Potentates Rally

On the other side of the picture are such rulers as Lieutenant General Sir Mir Uman Ali Khan, a devout follower of the prophet and reputed richest man in the world. He seemingly is for Abdul Medjid.

When Mohammedan chiefs gather at Jerusalem in December they will consider restoration of the spiritual power of Abdul Medjid (lower right), former caliph of Istanbul. His daughter and niece are to marry sons of the nizams of Hyderabad (upper right) but this alliance is likely to be opposed by Ibn Saud (left), ruler of Arabia.

for his two sons have just contracted matrimonial alliances with the nominal caliph's daughter and niece. Their nuptials are to be sealed by Moslem rites and in oriental splendor in Hyderabad next month.

The sultan of Morocco, the king of Afghanistan, King Faisal of Iraq, son of the Hussein whom Ibn Saud drove out of Arabia, his brother, Abdullah, emir of Transjordan, and other rulers are to be consulted on the situation if they send representatives here or come themselves.

Re-establishment of the caliphate at Jerusalem would restore it to one of its ancient seats.

The office leaves back to the immediate successors of the prophet early in the seventh century. From this city they wielded their spiritual power for seven centuries.

Bourbons Eye Owen Young As Possible Participant In Presidential Contest

Famed Financier, Now Living in Tiny Village in New York State, Declares No Political Preference Now

By REID MONFORT
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

VANHORNESVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Against a horizon glow with possible Democratic presidential nominees has been flashed the figure of a far-famed financier. Talk of Owen D. Young as a candidate is widely distributed but apparently no state is effort being made to pledge delegates to him. In his case much of it is political.

And what manner of man is this dynamic director of his school days who says he does not seek political preference?

The answer perhaps lies in this tiny farming village of about 180 persons where he was born 57 years ago.

It was in this tiny community that he farmed as a boy and trudged to a one-room school. What he now terms his "chance box school days" began when he journeyed to a nearby academy, provisioned with a week's food that his mother stored in a cheese box.

On borrowed money he went through St. Lawrence university. He completed the three-year law course at Boston university within two years, and soon was riding the road of accomplishment.

Happiest When "Back Home"

But the soil of Vanhornesville, which his ancestors before revolutionary days cleared of woods, still clings to his feet. Friends say he is never as happy elsewhere.

Often does the tall, lean, one-time agent-general of World War reparations, with the grave, preoccupied face, leave his business behind for a visit to the modest home where his mother lived until a few months ago.

During her lifetime he seldom missed spending her birthday anniversary with her.

School His Chief Hobby

In Vanhornesville are his children and dairy farms, his milk plant.

Owen Young Sidelights

"If you are inclined to take anyone's advice, don't take it."

"Law has taught me one thing, be suspicious of facts and suspicious of people."

"First of all, I am a Democrat. One of those persons born in the party, as it were. All my people for many generations have been supporters of the liberal party."

He seems to have the knack of detachment that brings relaxation and a minimum of worry.

RELATIVES PLAN RITES FOR CASTLEFORD MAN

CASTLEFORD, Nov. 26 (Special to The News)—Funeral services for Ted Cannon, 25, resident of Castleford for 21 years, who was killed last Saturday evening in a Los Angeles automobile accident, will be held at the local Methodist church at 11 A. M. Saturday. It was announced here this evening by relatives.

Rev. Miss Eva Brown, Methodist minister, and Rev. Isaac Todd, Baptist pastor, will be in charge of the rites here.

The body arrived in Buhl today, and was taken to the Evans-Johnson funeral parlors.

Services were held yesterday at 3:30 P. M. in the Angeles Temple in Los Angeles. Mr. Cannon was a student of the Four-Square Gospel seminary, an institution sponsored by Almerie Semple McPherson Hutton.

Military rites will be accorded at the burial service. The deceased was a member of Company D, One Hundred Sixteenth Engineers, the Buhl National guard unit. Services in Buhl in the afternoon will be in charge of the Penicostal Mission there, and The Buhl American Legion firing squad will fire a salute at the burial cemetery, where burial will take place.

Panthers' Aerial Offensive Plays Conspicuous Part

Strong Line Fails to Click and East's Pony Express Backfield Goes Through Gaping Holes at Will

by MILTON A. FISHER (Associated Press Staff Writer)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving day's most important intercollegiate football game was turned into a rout here today when the powerful University of Pittsburgh machine swamped the University of Nebraska, 40 to 0, before 23,000 spectators to enhance its claim to the Eastern title.

The Big Six champions looked like a team when the Panthers' aerial offense and line plunging. Only once did the Panthers' defense weigh the Pitt eleven, threaten to score and that was in the second period when they forced the over 90 yards to Pitt's 3-yard strike through a series of forward passes.

Through Nebraska's all-American tackle, saw little action, being removed in the first period when Fletcher coached his last tackle for a point. He returned to the fray later, however, only to be replaced again.

Pitt grabbed 33 first downs compared to Nebraska's 13. The Panthers' offense was only one point down coming through the game.

Nampa Wins From Idaho Falls, 12-6, In Fourth Period

IDAHO FALLS, Nov. 26 (AP)—A blocked punt in the opening of the fourth quarter resulted in a 12-6 victory for Nampa and deprived Idaho Falls of a chance of winning the Big Ten South Idaho conference championship.

As a result, Nampa moved into second place with three wins and one defeat. They head the list with three victories and one tie. It was the second defeat for Idaho Falls against three victories.

The ball had been advanced by repeated line-drives and dashes around the ends to the Tiger 7-yard line. There Nampa was held on downs.

Idaho Falls tried two line plunges, gaining 4 yards, and then dropped back to punt. Two Nampans broke through and blocked the kick by Sundberg, fullback. The ball rolled over the goal line and B. Spavay, Nampa center, fell on it for the winning score.

Idaho Falls made a dogged attempt to even the count with an aerial attack, but could not put the ball in scoring territory. For the first three periods the teams battled on even terms, Idaho Falls having the advantage in first downs and yardage gained. Idaho Falls scored first, but Nampa came back to even the count before the half was over.

Joe Keeble Takes Contest Into Own Hands to Triumph

Sophomore Southpaw Halfback Engineers Two Assaults On Gallant Invaders in Olympic Stadium

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN (Associated Press Staff Writer)
OLYMPIC STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—Joe Keeble, University of California, defeated the University of California sophomore southpaw halfback, took the Southern football situation into his own hands here today, and engineered the two scoring assaults that defeated the Elmer's.

Approximately 60,000 persons huddled into the huge concrete bowl of the stadium to witness the game between the Bruins and the Bruins.

The game, played under sunshine and half under an overcast sky, was a tactical battle of wits.

Coach Charles Beckman's lighter and darker halves carried the battle to the Bruins through the entire first half, driving into their opponent's territory with a superb passing attack a quarter of times only to fumble or lose possession of the ball on downs.

Coach Bill Spaulding's eleven, in the final contest of the season, pressed to play a winning game. After being held to one touchdown through the first three periods, the Bruins came back to tie the score in the fourth.

making possession of the ball on the "Gator 42-yard line after an exchange of punts. Keeble faked back to mid-field and lifted a powerful pass to Bobby Decker, left halfback, who fough the ball away from two Florida defensive backs and was chased out of bounds on the 14-yard line.

Keeble Swings Into Action
Aubrey Groomsman crashed center two plays for 4 yards and then Keeble swung into action again, tossing a short pass to Dick Muthman on the 5-yard line. The 135-pound halfback leaped high, grasped the ball, and fell across the line for the score.

Again Florida threatened, with a series of passes from Al Rogers to Joe Hall and Jimmy Hughes, which kept the Bruins' line in a tight spot during the game, but a holding penalty ended the drive.

The final scoring drive, started from the Bruins' own 10-yard line. Coach Beckman rushed in fresh reserves but there was no stopping Keeble. It was his last play. In four carries at the line he reached the 12-yard line and on the next play hit the same spot for 11 yards to the 1-yard line.

Florida's line rose up and halted him twice as he attempted to plunge across the goal, but the third try was successful. Decker made his kick from placement good.

THOMAS' EFFORTS HELP GEM STATE

Secretary to Gooding Senator Praises Solon For Work at Highway Session

Senator John Thomas, Gooding, again proved his loyalty to Idaho's best interests in attempting to bring truck highways through Idaho, in his statement at the Idaho cut-off conference at Portland recently, said Norman B. Adkison, secretary to the senator, who stopped in Twin Falls Thursday night on his way to the national capital.

"While the senator went to Portland at the request of Southwestern Idaho citizens, he was there to represent the entire state. He had already consulted with Twin Falls citizens in regard to United States Highway Number 93 which enters Idaho near Twin Falls and goes on through the Sawtooth section into Montana. He took the stand at Portland that every good highway into the state was a decided asset and should be fought for. For that reason he was sponsoring United States Highway Number 93 which ties up with the Idaho North and South highway as well as United States Highway Number 93 through Twin Falls," Mr. Adkison continued.

Senator Thomas went further than that, in supporting Senator Odell Nevada, in his fight for the "ION" cut-off, he secured the support of the Nevada senator in the fight by Congress to build a highway in particular for the completion of United States Highway Number 93 through Nevada. Mr. Adkison said.

Senator Thomas secured the promise from Senator Odell and the number of the Nevada highway commission at the conference that the Nevada part of United States Highway Number 93 would be designated and built as soon as funds could be secured or exchanged for that purpose.

"Senator Thomas' position, as chairman of the senate committee on irrigation and reclamation, is all the more necessary to Idaho's welfare in getting Idaho's reclamation projects rehabilitated because of the possibility of losing important assignments in the house," Mr. Adkison pointed out. Senator Thomas has taken the stand in his committee and has secured the adoption of the principle in the bureau of reclamation that present projects now under way be given full water before new land is brought under water. He is working this winter particularly toward that accomplishment in Idaho agricultural lands, it was indicated.

Mr. and Mrs. Adkison are driving back to Washington. Mr. Adkison, who is the publisher of Golden Idaho magazine, stated that the magazine will go forward under the guidance of Rose F. Olsen, his assistant for five years.

FAT MEN

I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles. If you will take one half teaspoon of Kruschen salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 4 weeks and cut out pastries, sugar and fatty meats—you will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 85c bottle of Kruschen salts; it will last you 4 weeks. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work—you'll sleep like a top and probably live longer. Get Kruschen at the nearest drug store or any live drugstore in America with the understanding that you must be joyfully satisfied or money back.

W. E. Daniels of Richmond, Va., New York, writes: "After 2 bottles of Kruschen, I've removed 3 inches from my belt, feel 25% more active, my mind is clearer, eruptions have disappeared. Am 46 years old and feel 20 years younger. I get up feeling 100%. Kruschen sure is great!" Adv.

ACCUSED BURL MAN GETS ACQUITTANCE

Jury Finds Raymond Rugg Not Guilty of Larceny of Berry Duncan's Sheep

A Thanksgiving day verdict returned by a jury in district court here yesterday following all-night deliberations, declared Raymond Rugg, Burl, not guilty of alleged grand larceny of 82 sheep belonging to Berry Duncan, and valued at $410 last September 1. Trial occupied three days, the case being given to the jury late Wednesday evening.

Range law was invoked in Rugg's defense, several witnesses testifying that he had been the practice of sheepmen for many years to put their own brands on unbranded strays found in their flocks, and that one can successfully claim an unbranded sheep found in another man's flock.

Testimony was that Rugg had owned 250 stray sheep cut out of his own flock and returned to Duncan's band before he began branding his sheep on September 1.

Both bands were ranging at that time in the vicinity of Rogerson, J. W. Taylor, Twin Falls, former prosecuting attorney, was Rugg's legal advisor at trial.

RED CROSS PLANS ANNUAL ROLL CALL

Twin Falls Chapter's Committee Devotes First Day to Organization

Organization of Twin Falls Red Cross chapter's annual membership roll call campaign is to be completed at a meeting today of the committee in charge, Captain E. M. Sweezy, chairman of the chapter, stated last evening.

The chapter's directors Wednesday evening authorized an eight-day roll call campaign to be closed next Friday, December 4.

Before the expiration of the eight-day period it is intended to give the widest possible opportunity for people of the chapter's territory to affiliate with and renew their memberships in the Red Cross.

The personnel of the roll call committee is to be completed, and a plan of operation is to be worked out at today's meeting.

It is unlikely, Captain Sweezy said last evening, that there will be a chairman of the roll call, but that responsibility will be divided among members of the roll call committee.

"The committee, Captain Sweezy said, will have the advantage of advice and counsel with George F. Rogerson, Twin Falls citizen for many years who has had considerable experience in administrative work of the Red Cross.

Eleven-Year-Old Twin Falls Girl Pens Prize Story

Martha Aubrey, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Aubrey, Twin Falls, is the author of a juvenile writer's prize story published in next Sunday's edition of the Denver Post. The story is entitled, "Silver Creek."

Here is the story: All the big and little fishes in Silver Creek were excited. And why? Well, they didn't know it yet, but he just disappeared and no one knew where he had gone or what might have happened to him. All the fishes were talking about it.

Some said, "Perhaps it is the plague that killed so many of them when he has not been sick, but just disappeared?"

One day when the excitement was beginning to die away, Freddie fish went out for a swim. He came upon a nice, juicy worm and thought, "That will make a nice meal." So he nibbled at it and finally swallowed it. To his surprise something stuck in his mouth. Then he was pulled up and up until he thought he never was going to stop.

Finally he was pulled out of the water and then he did stop. He found himself looking into the face of the quonnet creature he had ever seen. He was very scared. But the thing did not harm him. It just took the sticky thing out of his mouth and let him go back into the water.

When Freddie fish got home he told all the other fish about what had happened to him. They would not believe him so he said, "If you don't believe me you can come and see me swallow the worm again."

All the fish agreed to this. When they got to the spot, Freddie swallowed the worm. Up and up he went again. Pretty soon he came back down. Then all the fishes believed him and thought maybe that was what happened to their king and that he would be back again soon.
