

John H. Bigley's Role In Bank Robbery At Hazelton Occupies Attention In Court At Jerome

Sheriff E. F. Prater, Twin Falls, Says One Defendant Acted Under Direction of Two Counties' Officers

(Special to The News)
JEROME, Dec. 15 — The part that John H. Bigley, 47, former Twin Falls Police officer, played in the Hazelton State bank robbery November 9 was the storm center throughout a day of kaleidoscopic developments marking the second day of the trial of Hazelton bank robbery suspects in the district court here today. Bigley, who drove the bandit car, and Hugh Coppinger, 21, Tennessee, who was shot in the hand robbery, are on trial charged jointly with burglary of the bank. Ben Lawley, 22, Alabama, the third man involved in the robbery was shot and killed by officers who surrounded the institution and waited for Coplinger and Lawley to emerge.

Bibley, according to testimony of Sheriff E. P. Prater, Twin Falls, Idaho, his partner in the robbery under directions of Jerome and Twin Falls county officers.

Prater was the first witness for the defense after the state abruptly rested its case at 4 P. M.

He said instructions had been given to him by officers of the two counties after he informed them the day before of the plot to loot the bank.

"If John Bibley had laid down

Bigley reported to the officers that Lawley took the gun from him on the way from Kimberly to Hazelton

The state rested after placing in evidence, over objection of Bigley's attorneys, the ex-policeman's 12-page typewritten statement which the prosecution claims he dictated in the Jerome prosecutor's office four days after the robbery, telling his part in the affair in order to "inform the proper officers of the circumstances surrounding the crime."

"I am not in a position to aid. The jury must decide. Until this statement was introduced, the evidence showed that Bigley had driven the bandit car. Now different conclusions might be drawn. On the one hand Bigley worked for the officers; on the other he says he expected no reward, but farther on he says he expected pay, not in loot, but pay."

Prosecuting Attorney Henry M. Hall abandoned an attempt to call Coppinger as a witness for the state without waiting for the court's ruling on objections by Bigley's attorneys.

Four Witnesses Testify

four witnesses testified for the state. They were H. E. Gundelfinger, Hazelton cashier whose bank has been robbed three times in the past eight years; E. C. Gleason, Jerome county deputy sheriff who arranged the reception for the robbers and returned their fire after they dis-to secure seats brought their lunches and clung to their places continuously throughout the day.

A dramatic moment in the proceedings came shortly before noon when the prosecuting attorney called Hugh Coppinger to the witness stand, and Wayne A. Barclay, Jerome Coppinger's attorney, announced that he had called the jury to the jury room.

Immediately, Frank L. Stephan, Twin Falls, of Bigley's counsel, interposed an objection on the grounds that Coppinger, as Bigley's co-defendant, could not be called to tes-

The prosecutor asked for time to consult authorities and, without waiting for the court's ruling at the opening of the afternoon sessions, he announced as a time-saving measure withdrawal of his call for Copping-

Volving objections of Bigley's legal advisors to introduction of Bigley's written statement in evidence by the state, Mr. Stephan argued that it had not been properly identified, that it was not the best evidence and that, as a transcription of state-

A FURTHER STEP

Idaho's Supreme Court has ruled that the state cannot collect all the taxes assessed against railroad property situated in Pocatello, but that the valuation of this property must continue to be spread over railroad mileage, so that Twin Falls County and every county through which a railroad passes may continue to share this portion of the taxes the railroads pay.

There is good reason, besides whatever legal argument to support the court's conclusion.

In many instances counties which do not have much railroad property within their boundaries, are heavy contributors to railroad revenue. And the railroad's income includes a margin that is paid out again to tax collectors.

The court's ruling makes plain the law is in regard to railroad taxes.

There still remains to be disposed of a contention which G. Claude Stewart, Twin Falls County Assessor, has urged for a long time: that the law that regulates the distribution of railroad taxes among the several counties should be made applicable to power companies.

PATRIOTISM AND POLITICS

Almost anything may happen in Washington this winter, with so many big issues at stake, the two parties are sure to be in a national election approaching. Voters, while fearing the worst, may as well hope for the best.

Congress, divided as it is, nevertheless is no more divided than the rest of the country, and the several parties. The average legislator is probably as clear about what should be done as the average business man. Perhaps more so, because he is in contact with more kinds of people, in larger numbers.

Politics is being played, of course, and will continue to be. There will be a vast amount of jockeying for position, of gaining advantage and putting the other party and the other fellow at a disadvantage. It may be assumed that there will be more politics, then statesmanship. Yet there may be quite a little real statesmanship shown, if the people at home lay aside pernicious politics themselves, and insist that their representatives put patriotism first and partisanship second.

NORDIC GOSPEL IN GERMANY

They have been holding in Leipzig, Germany, a congress of the National Socialist Philosophical and Physical, which upholds Hitler's "Nazis" or "Fascist" movement. The speakers were strong for "racial purification" of the Fatherland. They describe the Nordic race as "the finest flower on the tree of humanity." They would put the Nordic at the top. In charge of the government and wealth, with a second class of less pure racial groups that would minister to the Nordics as below or serfs, and the lowest third would be gradually exterminated by sterilization. Thus there would be left a nation of "gentle" Germans.

Some of the German anthropologists are not so sure about Nordic superiority and divine right to supremacy. A speaker from Bavaria, where the race is more Alpine than Nordic, had the nerve to suggest that the great Adolf Hitler himself is not Nordic, and that this Nordic assumption is "arbitrary, mythical and unscientific claptrap."

Strong as many Americans are for this same Nordic gospel, it is a little embarrassing now and then when you read history, and find that apparently none of the great civilizations until the last three hundred years have been Nordic. There really were some things worth while accomplished in China, India, Babylon, Greece, Italy and Arabia. Our own largely Nordic culture now seems to be on top. Will it remain on top? Probably not, if we insist on kicking all the other races around.

MARYS AND LAMBS

Little Mary, whose lamb obtained immortality in local history, has died again. This time she appears as Mrs. Mary Hughes of Worthing, England, expiring at the age of ninety, maintaining to the last that she was the identical girl who followed her to school.

Loved her so, she was thirty years old at the time. According to her account, the familiar poem telling of the incident was written by Sarah Buel, later wife of the American Senator Horatio Hale, while playing with the Hughes family in North Wales.

It must be confusing to the pilgrims who visit the old school house in Massachusetts bought and preserved by Henry Ford as a monument to Mary and her lamb. History is said to repeat itself, but it is possible that the school, the girl and the lamb came together more than once.

Robert Moses Grove and Mound Mates Sparkle in Records

Official Pitching Statistics Depict Thrilling Records

Hurling Champion of American League Wins 31 Games and Loses Four Contests During Season Just Past

By PAUL MICHAELSON (Associated Press Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Robert Moses Grove and his Philadelphia mound mates gave American league pitching a new thrill last season with one of the most sparkling staff performances in baseball.

Led by their powerful southpaw, the Athletics hurling staff won 31 games with the new ball that they allowed but 347 earned runs for all nine hurlers, official pitching averages disclosed today. The staff performance, an enviable record for a single pitching staff, was the best reason why the Athletics finished ahead of the mighty Yankees in the American league pennant fight in 1931.

Grove, of course, was the pitching champion of the league with his great record of 31 victories and four defeats. His winning percentage was .866, the highest of any major league pitcher since 1900, while his earned run average for nine innings pitched was the lowest at 2.06. Vernon Coffey, young southpaw from California, ranked second with 23 wins and 10 losses, allowing, permitting but 263 during his first year with the Yankees. Grove also was the strikeout king again with 173 victims.

On the basis of earned runs allowed in 30 games or more, the "Big Ten" of the American league pitchers were: Grove, Philadelphia, 2.06; New York, 2.23; Hammett, Washington, 2.33; Hilday, Washington, 2.35; Brown, Washington, 2.35; Kestner, Washington, 2.35; Uhl, Detroit, 2.35; Karsahaw, Philadelphia, 2.37; Walberg, Philadelphia, 2.41; Fereoli, Cleveland, 2.41.

Washington finished second to the Athletics pitchers in the staff earned run record with a brilliant mark of 2.35 while the New York Yankees had a record of 4.20. The other pitching staffs finished as follows: Detroit, 4.35; Boston, 4.40; Chicago, 4.63; St. Louis, 4.76; Chicago, 5.63. The White Sox topped the division of finishing last in four departments.—last in games won, pitching, batting and fielding.

Two months ago the Athletics pitched during the 1931 campaign; Fereoli and Uhl, Detroit, Washington, turning in the feat.

Net World Ponders On Wood's Future

Widespread Debate Follows Youthful Star's Renunciation of Team Captaincy

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—Future of 20-year-old Sidney B. Wood, Jr., as an international tennis player became the subject of widespread debate today with indications the fair-haired youngster would rally considerable support as a result of his difference with Sam Hardy, Davis cup captain.

Vicent Richards was among the first to come to Wood's defense, although he declined to take action into the court. He said he was not sure that apparently is in the making. "I certainly have no objection to my opinion that Wood is America's most promising player," Richards told The Associated Press, "but he will be kept on the Davis cup team."

Richards' view of Wood's ability is shared by "Big Bill" Tilden, who wrote some time ago he regarded the youngster as the most promising of the new crop of players.

It was only a month ago that Hardy relegated Wood to the list of those who have not arrived, and may never do so. Answering Hardy's Wood says in effect "I shall" and refers to his Davis cup captain to the record.

Two sides
There is considerable to be said for both sides. Hardy can point to Sidney's record in the Davis cup play of last season. The United States lost four matches in the Eastern American zone at Walter-Rose play with Sidney losing three of them, in the all-important inter-zone final with Eastern zone winner, United States was defeated, three matches to two.

On his side of the argument Wood can point to his record in 1930, when he played brilliantly in the Eastern American zone, winning both the Southeast and Southwestern invitational singles and in the Western zone, the national, and his Wimbledon championship of this year.

Coast Grid Rulers Bar Cameramen In Spite Of Protests

Graduate Managers Reiterate Determination to Enforce Ruling as Newspapers' Objections Reach Meeting

By RUSSELL NEWLAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

San Francisco, Dec. 15.—Reiterating their determination to bar newspaper photographers from the sidelines of college football games next year, graduate managers of the Pacific Coast conference announced today as protests began to pour in from metropolitan papers.

The ruling was made, it was stated, because the great number of photographers moving up and down the sidelines interfered with the game.

Unfortunately, however, it was indicated the action was taken as the result of complaints from coaches.

One spokesman said the plan was not a "nuisance," shutting off the view of coaches and generally annoying all concerned by "taking back" and refusing to obey rules.

Vicious protest was made by representatives of papers in the San Francisco bay section on grounds that pictures taken from the sidelines would be of great value to the press.

Similar protest was telegraphed to the graduate managers from Los Angeles papers.

Action on the 1931 schedule and re-naming of the conference was deferred until next year's meeting, July 28 and 29 at Los Angeles.

Radio Broadcasts
Radio broadcast of college athletic events, principally football, came in for considerable discussion, but no definite stand was taken.

Intensive effort to improve the material available from the ranks of midshipmen will be started at once, according to the plan of the graduates association, adopted at a meeting in New York just before the Army-Navy clash Saturday.

The association plans to have its scout look over football players at preparatory schools and then seek to have promising boys matriculate at the academy. After their appointment by congressmen, the prospects would have to stand entrance examinations and keep up with their studies.

Captain Wilcox cast favor on the idea today, and said that players of an average weight, 150 pounds heavier than the present run of material, should be sought.

The revised 1932 football schedule:

Choice Of Coach For Violet Team Grips Attention

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Now that the railroads have tipped New York university's athletic policies, the choice of coach for the Violet team grips attention.

Apparently the university has no desire to keep the publicity of a burning with the fuel of arguments over a new head coach but that said, the choice of coach for the Violet team grips attention.
