

WASHINGTON PRISON KEEPS BOY SLAYER

Governor Hartley Rejects Omaha Cleric's Offer to Take Care of Murderer

OMAHA, Wash., Dec. 21 (UP)—The state of Washington refused to undertake the rehabilitation of Herbert Franklin Nicoll, Jr., "bare-foot boy" slayer. Governor Roland H. Hartley informed Father E. J. Flanagan who had petitioned the executive for release that the state would not take him to his Omaha home.

The boy was convicted recently of the first-degree murder of Sheriff John E. McNeill, 60, of Astoria, Washington, and sentenced to life in the state penitentiary. The sheriff surprised him robbing a store in Clatskanie, Washington.

The governor child Father Flanagan for the manner in which he carried the Nicoll case.

"After Herbert's trial was concluded and the boy was delivered to the penitentiary," Governor Hartley wrote, "you were the only one who called attention to the boy's home."

"In my judgment, nothing in recent years has taken place so detrimental to the youth of our land as the melodramatic publicity and exploitation which attended your trip to the state of Washington and the request to have this boy turned over to your institution."

"Governor Hartley wrote the cleric he had entered the case without investigation. Referring to the large number of letters and petitions which the governor said he was impressed by the sincere sympathy prompting many persons in the concern for the well being of the boy."

"Let me assure these a well-ordered routine fills his days, and that all activities necessary to fully develop him, even excelling the opportunities of many boys on the outside," he said.

"WELL AND HAPPY"
WALLA WALLA, Dec. 21 (UP)—Herbert Nicoll, Jr., is "well and happy" as a law. Warden Clarence E. Long of the Washington state prison in custody the boy has been placed, said here today.

Governor Hartley's decision to keep him in prison was no disappointment to the 12-year-old "bare-foot boy" because he was this aware of Flanagan's efforts to gain his freedom, nor was he told of today's statement.

Christmas presents by the actors have come from all over the nation for the youngster, Long said, probably more than he will be able to use.

The lad is gaining in weight, has been getting a daily routine of study and sleep and wholesome food and literally "hasn't a care in the world," Long said.

Continued to do with Herbert as the governor said, Long said, "So far in his life here he has been thriving. He is getting the best of care."

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 21 (UP)—Father E. J. Flanagan, head of Father Flanagan's boys' home here, tonight issued a statement answering the charge made by Governor R. H. Hartley, Washington, that he had sought custody of Herbert Franklin Nicoll, Jr., 12-year-old slayer of a Washington sheriff, as a means of gaining publicity for his home.

Governor Hartley made the charge in denying a parole for the youth. The governor stated that the granting of custody of the boy to Father Flanagan would be tantamount to giving him complete release. He denied the manner in which Father Flanagan entered the case, and referred to appeals made through the press, the pulpit and through 44 radio stations, as publicity seeking means. The governor further said that the boy's past record and the testimony of well corroborated experts, "had convinced him the boy was unsafe at large."

Father Flanagan, in his answer, said "Governor Hartley was within his honored province as chief executive of the state of Washington when he denied the parole, but when he denied my efforts and my home, my home doesn't need publicity. I was surprised at the attack. To me it sounds like the political mutterings of a whipped political boss."

Father Flanagan said the appeals through the press, the pulpit and the air, "were made in an attempt to draw national attention to the terrible miscarriage of justice which placed Herbert Nicoll behind the bars for life; our appeals were made in order to encourage men and women of every station of life and creed to write to Governor Hartley, urging him to release the boy and give him a fair chance in life."

"I must say that I am disappointed in the governor's decision but I have no ill feeling toward him because he saw fit not to parole Herbert. I can't believe that Governor Hartley himself making such a venomous and undeserved attack upon me and our institution but that he has been ill-advised, and if he has not, then in my humble opinion he is making of Herbert Nicoll a political football," Father Flanagan concluded.

SALT LAKE CITY PLANS FOR GROWERS' MEETING

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 21 (UP)—C. B. Demman, livestock representative of the federal farm board, will deliver an address on cooperative livestock marketing at the sixteenth annual convention of the National Wool Growers Association opening here January 11. It was announced today.

The convention will be opened with an address by Frank J. Haggenbarth, Spencer, Idaho, president of the organization since 1916. Sessions will continue through January 13 and among the important problems to be discussed is the proposed legislation for transferring surface rights of the public domain to western states. The question is considered vital to livestock men as virtually the only use of the 190,000,000 acres involved is for grazing purposes.

night and pressing ahead on a stage effort with the hope of receiving a report of between 6000 and 10,000 words for publication on Wednesday night.

It was believed the report would contain merely a statement about the situation of Germany as it was revealed here by the Germans and the findings of three sub-committees which checked the figures submitted by the reich.

This was declared to be a complete story for the French who fought the attempt of a large bloc of the delegates to recommend cancellation of all claims held against Germany by the former allies.

It was authoritatively stated that Germany agreed to omit recommendations and to allow questions to be settled by the impending political conference.

Although diplomatic negotiations for that conference have been started by Paris, London and Berlin, the belief here was that the "meeting" might not be held as early as mid-January. It was expected the conference would be put off until a more clear idea has been obtained about what Washington might be willing to accept regarding a moratorium or revision of war debts.

BURNS END LIFE OF WEST END WOMAN

Attempt to Re-Kindle Fire
Results Fatally for Mrs.
Hazel Dorothy Clark, 29

Mrs. Hazel Dorothy Clark, 29, wife of O. E. Clark, Melon valley farmer, died at the Twin Falls county hospital at 4:46 P. M. Sunday from the effects of body burns received at her home in Melon valley early Sunday morning.

RE-KINDLING FIRE

BUHL, Dec. 21 (Special to The News)—Hazel Dorothy Clark, 29, was fatally burned, her husband, O. E. Clark, received severe burns about the hands and arms, and their three children narrowly escaped injury or death, as a result of an attempt to re-Kindle a fire in the kitchen stove at their home in Melon valley yesterday morning.

Mrs. Clark was pouring kerosene on the fuel at 7:30 A. M. in an attempt to revive the blaze when the gallon can of liquid exploded, throwing flames throughout the room and igniting her clothing.

Mrs. Clark, who was returning from the barn after doing the morning chores, rushed to her side upon hearing the explosion. Using a blanket, she extinguished the blaze of her clothing and removed her from the flaming room.

Wrapping a blanket around the upper part of his body, he dashed through the flames to the bedroom where their two sons, 2½ and 3½ years old, were sleeping and carried them to safety. On another trip into the building he safely removed their two-month-old daughter.

Then Mrs. Clark bundled Mrs. Clark into their car and sped to the Twin Falls hospital. Her death occurred about nine hours later.

Their home for the last three years had been on what is known as the Sanford ranch. Mrs. Clark was born in Colorado, the daughter of William Curtis, now of Centerville, Idaho, who is expected to arrive overland tonight. Two brothers also survive.

The body lies at the Rugg funeral parlors here, awaiting funeral arrangements, which had not been completed late tonight.

Culbertson once went down three when unvulnerable and sticky had this explanation:
"Everybody thought I had bid a psychic."

The last rubber of the season involved air straight sets before any body had any count below the line. Five of those sets, none serious, were incurred by Culbertson's side.

With the exception of one failure to bid little slam and another case where such a bid was questionable Culbertson and partner bid their hands in the main to the hilt. That is shown by the fact that they had only three over-100 hands compared with eight for the opposition.

Culbertson said:
"It was a very fine season. My partner was brilliant, as usual. I on one hand he broke my heart, by passing after I overcalled opponent's suit. But on the last hand, little slam bid in diamonds—the brilliantly redeemed himself by one of those marvelous end plays which made him famous."

UTAHN BLOCKS MEASURE TO AID HUNGER PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—The move to give 40,000 bushels of farm board wheat to the unemployed encountered a stumbling block today in the senate with King, Democrat, Utah, forcing delay in action.

Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, reported the measure drafted by himself and Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, with the approval of the agricultural committee.

Without any discussion Senator King invoked the rules to force consideration of the bill over until tomorrow. Meanwhile, reports of a change of attitude by the farm board against it were heard.

The legislation would turn grain from the farm board surplus over to the American Red Cross or to any other charitable organization designated by President Hoover.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—The court jury of 12 men, after deliberating three hours and 15 minutes, tonight convicted Audrey Lindsey, 22-year-old, of the fifth degree of second-degree murder for the killing of his wife, Elizabeth Audrey Lindsey, here 22 months ago. He was considered a victory by the defense, which had feared he would be found guilty of first-degree murder, with hanging as the penalty.

The all-man jury was sought by the defense who argued that Lindsey had been continually nagged by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Audrey Lindsey, that she once served him food and that she attacked him with a butcher knife and threw hot coffee in his face before he admittedly beat her to death with a hammer.

The state referred to the recent conviction of Lindsey as the Frank Carleton wanted for 10 years for the slaying of Mike Whelan, a Woodland, Washington rancher.

The Value Of a Smile At Christmas

It costs nothing, but creates much.
It enriches those who receive without impoverishing those who give.
It happens in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.
None are so rich they can get along without it and none so poor but are richer for its benefits.
It creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business and is the countersign of friends.
It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and Nature's best antidote for trouble.
Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen, for it is something that is no earthly good to anybody till it is given away!
We wish you a very Merry Christmas.

PASTOR SPEAKS ON REDEEMING CHRIST IN YULETIDE TALK

Minister Declares Babe of Bethlehem Must Brighten Life to Bring Real Happiness For Christians

"Taking for his theme 'The Redeemed Christ,' and for his text, John 1:14, Rev. Paul W. Worcester, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, in the course of his sermon developed the idea that real peace and happiness at Christmas is derived from the brightness coming from redemption of Christ, the babe of Bethlehem, in part he said.

"Our text for today reads: 'And the word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, the glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth.'

Promises of Messiah "After the creation of the heavens and earth, let us make man in our image. God could not be God and create man to be his creature in natural attire. God is different, but in moral attributes man was created in his image.

"It would not be possible for us to have as much love as God, but we can have the same quality for it is God-given.

"Paul says love suffereth long and is kind, and envieth not, is long-suffering based upon love. If you are given to criticizing, pointing, and not having sympathy with others, you are short on love.

"Holiness is obtained and retained by the full and complete surrender of the will of God and keeping yourself lost in His love. We lose our relationship with God by willful disobedience. This was the case with Adam and Eve in the garden.

"The gift of the redeemer, therefore God promised a Savior. After standing on this promise, offering to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, Isaiah prophesied concerning Christ when he said: 'He was wounded for our transgressions. He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed.'

"Luke wrote that the announcement of the birth of the Messiah was made by the angels. Matthew tells of the wise men in the East that came with their gifts to worship Him. John tells of the world made flesh and dwelt among us. Our nation has made this birthday a time for merriment and Christmas without Christ is like a home without mother. It is not home. You may be married in all the palaces of the world, but if Christ, the babe of Bethlehem, has not come to brighten your life, you do not have true peace.

"Great men have lived and gone to their reward, but Jesus is still here. He is the great man. He was the God-man. We were reaching up for him, and he was trying to help us, but it took extreme means for him to do so, even the suffering and death of the Son of God. He became the mediator between God and man.

Behold His Glory "The glory of Christ was not His beautiful form but rather His holiness. This was His glory on the cross. Peter wanted to build tabernacles and dwell in the hills. This is the glory of every church and every individual who is in the tabernacles of the Father.

"Such men as Luther, Wesley and Taylor were examples of men with this glory, but God is no respecter of persons for we, too, can have the blessing of God if we give ourselves into His hands.

Fall of Grace "Jesus not only had grace to help Him in time of temptation but He is the giver of grace to us, too.

"When we are sick, we call for the doctor; when hungry, we call for the grocerman; when short of money, we call upon Christ who has promised to be a present help in every time of need. There are no burdens but what life can help us bear.

Can't you hear Him saying, 'Come, ye laden and I will give you a rest? When Newton recognized this when he wrote these words:

"Amazing grace, how sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me. I once was lost but now am found, was blind but now I see. Through many dangers, toils and snares, I have already come. This grace hath brought me safe thus far, and grace will lead me home."

DECLARATIONS ON FILE Three declarations of intention to marry were entered yesterday on records at the office of the county clerk. Declarants, who at the same time made application for marriage licenses, were: Mrs. J. H. Brown and Juanita Weatherly, both of Kimberly; Ed. Charity and Edith Carter, both of Milner; Elmer Brown and Juanita Murray, both of Kimberly.

Babson Declares Conditions of Business Decide Elections But Politics Don't Alter Situations

Statistician Cites Figures to Prove Party in Power Has Little Influence on Fundamentals of Trade and Production, and Scores Old Bogey That Presidential Year Always Produces Serious Economic Impediments

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 21.—It is not my purpose to make any political forecast or to take sides in any political campaign, but simply to say that regardless of whether a Democrat or Republican is elected next November, fundamental business conditions should improve during 1932.

Many people are blue about conditions next year because of the old bogey that business is always bad in an election year. Moreover, they think that fears of a Democratic victory and threats of radical legislation will keep business and stock prices down.

On the contrary, it is entirely possible that indications of a Democratic victory with an able Democratic President might be accompanied by higher stock prices and perhaps the beginning of a bull market. History shows that business and securities are governed by fundamental factors, not by the whims of politicians.

The fact that production has for months been running below normal is not a sign of a depression, but a sign of a recovery. The fact that commodity prices are gradually stabilizing and that wheat, corn, and other commodities have had a substantial advance is of much more significance than congressional wrangles over the tariff, the debt, or the tax. The fact that bank failures have fallen off that real estate is being extended to foreign banks, that hoarding of currency is being stopped, and that things should be given much more weight in judging the business outlook than should political threats against the public utilities, or the stock exchange, or other financial and business interests.

Railroads Will Be Helped Of course, President Hoover's chances of re-election depend on whether business and financial conditions improve sufficiently between now and next November. In this effort, the most apt at present is the railroad, involving as they do the banks, insurance companies, and hundreds of thousands of private investments.

Hence, every effort will be made to have the roads from an epidemic of receiverships. In this effort, I believe the Democrats will co-operate even though they might like to wait till later and use the railroad as a campaign material. It would, however, be politically risky for Democrats or Republicans to obstruct measures to save the roads.

Hence, I hope for an ultimate favorable outcome of the interstate commerce commission's negotiations on loans. President Hoover's program for loans to the railroads through his proposed reconstruction finance corporation may develop into favorable legislation.

Twin Falls Scouts Publish Own Paper

A group of Twin Falls Boy Scouts issued yesterday their first number, "The Oregon Trail Scout," a six-page illustrated publication produced with a mimeograph, and filled with news of boys' activities, reports on sessions of the Snake River area council and Twin Falls Scout council of honor, and selected verses and humor.

Members of the staff are interested in journalism, and the paper says, most of the Scout leaders for Boy Scout merit badges in journalism.

M. C. Ballenger, editor, is the author of the leading editorial which opens with the statement, "At the last count of honor there were only three parents present."

Other members of the staff are Glen Moon, assistant editor; Ward Ritchie, manager; Robert Stephan, hiker and sports; Cole Mumick, Leonard Moore, Junior Ory, Leslie Burkhalter, Dick Powell, Oregon Trail Scout scribes.

The publication is to be issued once a month, if members of the staff succeed in carrying out their plans. We put out this issue as a trial, they say, the initial number, "and hope to put out many more, all bigger and better."

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL FOR MURTAUGH CITIZEN

Under auspices of the Latter Day Saints church, funeral services were held at the Twin Falls mortuary chapel Sunday afternoon for William A. Adamson, 72, resident since childhood of Utah, Idaho and Oregon, and for most of the time during the past 14 years a resident of Murtaugh. Services were largely attended by friends and former neighbors.

Blasop J. E. Allred, Twin Falls, chairman of the service, in reviewing Mr. Adamson's life story, the principal address being delivered by Frederick A. Murtaugh, Twin Falls, J. L. Hunsaker, Twin Falls, offered the opening prayer, and Bishop David A. Myers, Murtaugh, pronounced the benediction. The dedicatory prayer at the graveside was offered by Frederick A. Babson.

Services at the chapel included singing of three numbers by a group of singers composed of Mrs. Claude Brown, Mrs. June Kirkman, Mrs. Elsie Boring, Don Kirkman and F. A. Babson. Mrs. Glen Bates played the piano accompaniment.

Interment was in Twin Falls cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Adamson who died three years ago.

Funeral services were held at the home of a daughter in Beaver Creek, Oregon, where he had gone three weeks before on a visit.

PROPOSALS "UNBOUND" WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The president's unemployment organization today termed proposals for a huge bond issue for employment relief "unbound in principle."

Chairman Clifford made public without comment a report by the committee on public works program headed by James H. Garfield of Cleveland. This organization made a study of the entire federal building plan. It found:

"That the 10-year building plan has been hatched and can be completed in about seven years;

"That federal road appropriations should not be increased but officials should be allowed side discretion in allocating the money where unemployment is worst;

"That prices authorized by congress but for which appropriations have not been made cannot be expedited to the state; there is a remedy in the present situation;

"That proposals for the issuance of billions of dollars worth of bonds to be redeemed or given states and municipalities for public works are unbound in principle.

"Whatever may have been the causes of the present condition, the common sense remedy is to stop borrowing, except to meet unavoidable deficits, balance our budgets and live within our income," the report said.

COUNCIL DECLINES LEGAL LIABILITY FOR BOY'S DEATH

Gooding Attorney Submits
$15,000 Claim for Parents of Lad Drowned in Eighth Avenue Irrigation Ditch

Twin Falls city council declined last evening to accept legal liability for the city growing out of the death of Ralph Monroe Hendrick, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leale Hendrick, who was drowned in the eighth avenue irrigation ditch between Locust street and Blue Lake boulevard last April 18. The parents asked for $15,000 besides $35 funeral expenses. Their claim, which was disallowed by the council, was presented with a letter written by A. F. James, Gooding attorney, who stated he had been authorized to institute suit, but as a matter of fairness, submitted the claim to the council before.

On advice of the city attorney, council voted to pay a $300 judgment, which district court judge last week awarded to the city. James, attorney of N. O. Anson, who sued for $10,000 damages for injuries received when he struck his foot and knee against an iron pipe projecting above the level of the sidewalk at the intersection of the sidewalk and north last February. The city attorney stated that the city's expenses had been held to a minimum in connection with the three-day trial last week, and that, in his judgment, the jury's award was not excessive.

Tax Money Comes In
Out of 1931 taxes already collected for the city, county officials have advanced to the city $23,000. O. N. Hall, city clerk, reported.

Council last evening authorized issuance of warrants to pay off $12,000 bonds, and $1612 semi-annual interest bill on the city's outstanding bonds. Bond and interest payments covered by the $19,612 warrant are payable in New York January 1. Wages of city employees totaling $475 also were paid by vote of the council last evening.

SENTENCES WAIT IN BANK ROBBERY

J. H. Bigley, Convicted With Hugh Coppinger, Gets Time to Move For New Trial

JEROME, Dec. 21 (Special to The News).—Sentences of Hugh Coppinger, Wilton, Alabama, and John H. Bigley, former Twin Falls police officer convicted here last week of robbery of the Hazelton State bank November 9, were postponed today to 2 P. M. next Saturday, on request of Bigley's attorneys who asked for time to prepare their motion for a new trial for him.

Bigley was found guilty by a jury which returned its verdict late Friday night at the close of a five-day trial.

Coppinger pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon, after charging from the witness stand that Bigley was the "master mind" who suggested and worked out the details of the robbery plot.

Bigley, according to testimony of five Twin Falls county officers, warned them the day before of the robbery plot and was working under their directions when he plotted the car carrying the bank bandits from Kimber to Hooton.

Ben Lawley, Belle Elum, Alabama, third man involved in the plot, was killed, and Coppinger was wounded by Jerome and Twin Falls county officers who laid in wait for the bandits and returned their fire when they came out of the bank with $1331 loot.

Bigley was brought from the Gooding jail and Coppinger from the Jerome jail, to the court room here today where last week they were principals in one of the most extraordinary robbery trials in Idaho annals.
